The War

The nation is at war. The acts of Congress and the proclamation of the President occurred within a few days after the close of the fiscal year covered by this Report. War is not the ordinary means by which the gospel of peace and good-will among men, for which the enterprise of Home Missions stands and strives, is to achieve its triumphs. Those who through the past three years of heart-wrenching anxiety for humanity's good have yearned and prayed and striven that this thing might not be, will now readjust their activities and reshape the forms of their petitions in their hope for the future, no less confident and no less zealous for the establishment of the Kingdom of Heaven on earth. Ways and means are secondary: ends abide and are worthy of holding fast through every shock and vicissitude.

Again and again during the past three years the effect of the world disturbance and distress upon our American religious life has been the theme of speech for every Home Mission worker. Correspondents have repeatedly written asking the Board what effect the War is having upon its work. All speech thus far has been tentative. There is no final reply to the inquiry. None is wise enough nor sufficiently far-seeing to weigh all the effects upon our American religious life of events which are already creating a new world before our bewildered eyes. It is certain only that American religious and social economy will no more escape the transforming influence of these events than does the rest of Western civilization. No life is more sensitive to the tides of human interest; none is more devoted to Christian ideals impressed upon the common life of men; none may more confidently hope for the larger blessing an onward-moving Providence always has in store, even in such cataclysms as this which now overwhelms the world.

The influences started by these events will furnish the record of many a year now immediately to follow. If this record shall tell of the rapid development of a new religious program, and a new alignment of religious forces as yet meagerly if at all conceived, the Church will fare not differently from other institutions of our society. Indeed, it will be to the distinct and irreparable loss of the Church and the ideals it embodies if it shall not share in these profound transformations now in evident prospect.

The Great Republic

The clarifying of issues by the revolution in Russia and the gathering forces for democracy all over the world impose a supreme obligation upon the United States, the world's greatest Republic. A Christian democracy here, so pure and virile as to set up standards and ideals for all aspiring peoples, is our incomparable missionary opportunity. As the War is the greatest in human history, so under proper inspiration the social and political advance toward freedom in the reconstruction period following the War will be the greatest and most beneficent. All eyes will be turned upon this nation. Our doctrines of human brotherhood will be appraised anew. The vitality of the spiritual forces in our life will be given the supreme test.

The United States and Mexico

The responsibility for a wholesome religious ministry to the Mexican on our Southwestern Border is nothing fundamentally new; but, where the Mexican population had always run into the hundreds of thousands, that responsibility is pressed with a unique insistence, now that refugees from turbulent Old Mexico have increased that population beyond the million and have thrown into bold relief the flagrantly neglected opportunity for properly influencing our southern neighbors. By all that they have seen and experienced in coming across the line the refugees have been profoundly affected; but the wholesome influences thus exerted are slight compared with what might have been the international amity and brotherly good-will which would have been cultivated if the newcomers had found American citizens of kindred blood thoroughly educated, genuinely Christianized and living on a social equality with the rest of the American life about them.

A crisis has now been reached, especially in our missionary relations with Mexico. A new constitution for the republic is projected. Its elaborate program is not fully understood. There is difference of opinion as to its probable effect upon missionary work. Many believe that if its measures are strictly applied the missionary propaganda as a foreign movement will be conducted under such handicaps as to render it nugatory, if indeed it is not suppressed altogether. On the northern side of the international boundary now lies the opportunity of American Christianity not alone to fulfil its obligations to the million and more of Mexicans residing in the United States, but quite as definitely to help in molding the new-born life of Old Mexico. With a chain of thoroughly equipped Christian schools, normal and industrial, and of colleges and churches organized and operated according to our best American standards, there can be permanently fixed in the young life of Mexico those ideals which only, as we believe, can conserve lasting human values and guarantee an enduring civilization.

The United States and Latin America

Latin America as a whole is now less resentful of our national dominance, less suspicious of our motives, less inclined than for years past to interpret the Monroe Doctrine as a program of selfish aggression on the part of the United States. Some of the most powerful influences which have broken down these old misunderstandings have grown out of the national attitude toward our West Indian neighbors. Cuba is in distress over her economic problems—problems which can never be solved until there have been radical readjustments in her economic relations with the United States; but Cuban thought is now far more appreciative than formerly of the genuine sentiments of good-will which the people of the United States as a whole cherish towards her.

The act of the recent Congress which bestowed upon the people of Porto Rico citizenship in the American Republic was an event of the farthest-reaching significance. The instant response of the population in the most widespread and enthusiastic demonstrations of rejoicing ever known on the Island is some indication of the local effect of this move. But that tells only a part of the story. The evidence this act affords to the rest of Latin America that conquest was not our motive, even when the sudden turn of the Spanish-American War of 1898 brought Porto Rico under the flag of the United States, will break down more suspicion and remove more distrust than has been overcome by any single event of the almost 20 years intervening. All must ere long be convinced that the United States is not an imperial power seeking to lord it over subject peoples. The granting of citizenship in a free Republic to the inhabitants of this island who less than two decades ago were the vassals and slaves of an autocratic European power is an event of first rate importance in world history.

The Commissioner of Sanitation in Cuba recently returned from a tour of Latin America, and announced that the finest thing he had seen throughout his journeys was the public school system of Porto Rico. This boon of American influence on the Island is worthy of that estimate. When the proposal was made that the United States purchase the Danish West Indian Islands, a plebiscite taken on the Islands revealed an overwhelming majority in favor of the transfer. The motives which prompted the decision cannot all be appraised in a word; but not least among them was certainly the observation of what these intimate relations with the United States had meant to their near neighbor, Porto Rico.

New Hospital in Porto Rico

In San Juan, the capital city of Porto Rico, in the latter part of March there was dedicated the new Presbyterian Hospital under the administration of the Woman's Board of Home Missions, one-half of the $150,000 cost of which was contributed from the funds of the Home Board. At the dedication the Moderator of the General Assembly was present to take a leading part. After visiting all the principal centers on the Island, he returns aflame with enthusiasm for the opportunities to demonstrate here the real genius of our Christian civilization in our relations with Latin America.

Co-Operation in the Islands

The Evangelical Union Movement in Porto Rico, mentioned in the 1916 Report of this Board, has made distinct advance during the year. Its unfolding promise today convinces the Moderator that this opportunity to demonstrate the unity of American Christian sentiment is incomparable. As representing the strongest mission on the Island, Presbyterian Missionaries have taken a most commendable lead in this movement. The forces supported by other Boards have not been less zealous. A Union Evangelistic Movement has attained a momentum which will be only accelerated in coming months.

The Co-operative Movement in Cuba is little less significant. There have been deplorable backsets during the year, but on the whole there has been remarkable advance. In February a group of Board Secretaries joined with the workers on the Island in an important conference in Havana, as a feature of a survey now in progress. In this movement the workers of two of the strongest missions on the Island decline to co-operate. The attempted political revolution demoralized the work of all the missions and shut off some sections from communication with the rest of the Island for a time. Though now less acute, this demoralization continues in a painful degree. Unrest and insecurity will be felt for a considerable period. In spite of these difficulties the Co-operative Movement in Cuba has gone forward to the extent of having one of the Boards allocate one of its most experienced Missionaries to give his time as the Executive of the united forces in maintaining a central depository for Christian literature and a mission headquarters in Havana, in projecting a Union Evangelical publication of high grade, and in setting several joint committees seriously at work upon common problems of the missions.

The Union English-speaking Church in Havana, long hoped for, has at last been projected. The co-operation is not so complete as it will soon be; but the organization is now formed, financial resources insured, a temporary place of meeting secured, and a Pastor all but chosen as this Report goes to press. There must be little delay in building up in Havana a center of Evangelical influence which shall creditably represent those spiritual forces of the United States whose national enterprise is felt in every section and industry of the Island.

Federation in the Large

These joint activities on the margins of the Home Mission fields are only symptoms of the spirit which more and more certainly controls the Church as a whole. The demand for federation of denominations and denominational agencies grows stronger every year. The advances of the past year have been quite as notable as any preceding. The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America held its third quadrennial meeting in St. Louis in December. A new Commission on Inter-Church Federation (State and local) was formed by the merging of two previously existing commissions. The new body maintains a considerable executive staff which is already active in various portions of the country and is projecting a great national congress to promote local federations of churches. This is announced for Pittsburgh in October, 1917.

Conservation of Human Life

The Federal Council meeting also authorized the promotion of a comprehensive campaign for the Conservation of Human Life, its program covering at least four years and enlisting under the leadership of the churches all agencies and institutions of the country, industrial, fraternal, insurance and other which touch life at its very sources. It is confidently believed by scientists whose co-operation has been enlisted that with the bringing to bear of reasonable educational influences the average life of a generation can be lengthened by more than a decade. Even if but two years shall thus be added to the average life, two millions of complete lives will be saved annually from the ruck and erosion of our rigorous civilization.

Home Missions Council

At the January meeting of the Home Missions Council, its tenth annual gathering, the demand for forward movement was pressed as never before in its rapid expansion as the federated body of denominational Home Mission Boards. The briefest experience in Home Mission administration is enough to convince any one of the necessity for closer and more varied methods of co-operation. Denominational overlapping and duplication in so many of our communities is only one evidence of this demand. No large problem of the national religious life can be grasped successfully without the cordial recognition of the numerous religious agencies of kindred purpose operating in the same field, and the adoption of some practical measures by which all may work together.

A reorganization of the committees of the Home Missions Council has already borne good fruit; and a project formulated with much labor by the Executive Committee, but not yet ready for general announcement, outlines a program of joint action which goes beyond any before conceived.

Paying the Price of Co-Operation

Though interdenominational organizations are creating independent executive offices and calling agents into independent salaried positions, the large burdens which still fall upon Home Mission Board Secretaries and other denominational agents, including the workers of your own Board, should be recognized in appraising the results of their labors. The value and true economy of this policy should be recognized. In the past many an independent religious movement has "gone wild" because all touch was lost with the recognized denominational forces. The denominations were themselves not without blame for this. They were indisposed to sacrifice the time and energy demanded for their proper guidance. Now that the need of co-operative work among the denominations is so apparent, the surest line of progress and the most economical method is to allocate denominational agents for portions of their time to work out the common problems. This almost all the denominations now recognize, and the liberal contribution by Presbyterians of workers and funds to this program is matched by a similar liberality on the part of others.

Synods and Presbyteries in Closer Relation

Within the closer limits of the Presbyterian Home Mission enterprise there continues the clear recognition of the evils of too great independency of one another among the Synods and Presbyteries. City organizations for Church Extension have experienced remarkable development during the past few years. They have reached a stage where all more or less clearly recognize the need of a higher standardization. Their common problems could be worked out locally with better effect if they kept in closer touch one with another. It is a deplorable waste when one city organization labors tediously through expensive experiments which have been already tested by another city where the results might be appraised in a few hours' study. Similar observations are in point in the case of the organized Synods, especially those which administer their own funds unrelated to the National Board or to their sister Synods. To overcome serious evils here, there is large hope in the Home Mission Council now fully organized and holding its annual session preceding the meeting of the General Assembly.

This year, for the first time, the Board has collated the action of the Synods and produced a Digest of their Home Mission Deliverances. Analysed and arranged under index topics, these deliverances have been printed in a bulletin which covers more than sixty pages of a two-column, seven-by-nine pamphlet. This bulletin should prove invaluable to students of the Home Mission task, and should be in the hands of each committeeman who will be called upon to prepare a report for his Synod or his Presbytery at its coming meeting.

It is impossible here even to summarize the contents of this Digest, which in some respects must be recognized as having a value even beyond such a Report as this from the Board. It brings the student closer to the field and reflects more directly the sentiment on the field. Now that the place of the Synod as a Home Mission agency in Presbyterian economy is being emphasized, Synodical Committees may well be charged anew with the importance of their office and urged to make their annual reports accurate and worthy presentations of the work conducted within the synodical bounds.

More Active Evangelism

The announcement made last year relative to the meager showing of additions to Home Mission churches proved startling to many and prompted action of the 1916 Assembly, welcomed by the Board, by which the Board was instructed to press upon all Home Mission Churches the importance of Evangelism, and also to make thorough investigation in Home Mission Churches as to the numbers added to these churches, both on examination and by certificate.

The Board promptly inaugurated this work and, as soon as a commission was sent by the Home Board to any minister, a plan of Evangelism with a series of cards suitable for use in evangelistic effort was sent him with the request that he present the plan to his official Board, and that if it could be applied in his field, he order as many of the cards as could be profitably used. Over 70,000 of these cards have been sent upon orders from the Missionaries. While it is not known, at this time, what the result of the effort has been, the number of cards ordered and letters from the field indicate that more work and better has been done in this department of the Board's effort than ever before.

In obedience to the General Assembly's instruction, the Board is seeking from Self-supporting Synods and Presbyteries also information upon the same subject, and hopes to present to the Assembly definite results of its efforts in this direction. From a somewhat voluminous correspondence it appears that during the past year the Church, in the aid-receiving as well as in the self-supporting Presbyteries and Synods, has manifested the evangelistic spirit in an unusual degree, not only in holding many series of evangelistic meetings, but also in making an organized campaign of Personal Evangelism.

The Board has always been committed to definite evangelistic work and no doubt a similar evangelistic effort modified to meet changing conditions will be made during the current year.

Inspiring Contributing Churches

The magnifying of the Home Mission speaker among contributing churches during the year has proved the wisdom of the necessary expenditure of time and money. A hunger for Home Mission information has been revealed among the churches, which was known to exist but which it is none the less gratifying to find. As general correspondence throughout the Church has already announced, plans for the coming year are made to satisfy this laudable craving in a measure never before attempted. Churches wish to hear immediately from the fields of labor. They are not wholly satisfied with explanations from administrative agents, however eloquent they may be. The system of furloughs by which Foreign Missionaries are available from all fields at all seasons and in all parts of the home Church has nothing to match it in the program of Home Missions. Though a similarly comprehensive system cannot be managed in Home Missions, and probably should not be attempted, yet the Board is determined upon such a program as will bring the worker from the field directly into contact with the church which contributes the money for the furtherance of the cause, and presumably has more to give if fully convinced of the larger need.

Dr. Patterson

That such a program is feasible is made the more clear by the addition to the Board staff of a Financial Secretary in the person of W. R. Patterson, Ph.D. Dr. Patterson, an Elder in one of the New York churches, is a native of Iowa, where he was reared and lived enough of his life to give him a close familiarity with the spirit and hopes of the Middle West. He has had exceptional opportunity to study national problems, has served the National Government in expert organization work, is an accountant and organizer of recognized standing in the business world, and immediately preceding his coming to the service of the Board was employed by the present reform government of the City of New York in the organization of its budget. He undertakes a department of work defined by action of the Board as follows:

"He shall have general responsibility for increasing the revenues of the Board,

First. From churches by addresses, conferences, and correspondence—personally and through others;

Second. From individuals by presenting some special feature of the Board's work;

Third. By seeking annuities.

Fourth. To plan campaigns by missionaries and others with the direct purpose of securing increased offerings for the Board both by church collections and by appeals to individuals."

Dr. Dixon

The other outstanding change in the executive force of the Board during the year is caused by the resignation of Dr. John Dixon, for eighteen years Associate Secretary and Secretary. He presented his resignation in January to take effect at the pleasure of the Board, the date of the meeting by a coincidence falling on the seventieth anniversary of his birth. It is not proper here and now to record a recognition of Dr. Dixon's unique and molding contribution to Presbyterian Home Mission policy and administration. Hundreds of ministers now on Home Mission fields and hundreds of others once in the Home Mission service will read this announcement with emotions of regard and affection which the prospective retirement of no other Home Mission officer could arouse. His colleagues in office are restrained from an expression here of their sentiments of esteem and regard only by his insistence to the contrary.

Board Members

The only change in the personnel of the Board membership has been the election of James N. Jarvie, Esq., April 13, 1916, to fill a vacancy in the Class of 1917.

II The Synods

THE SYNODS

This section of the Report is designed to cover the field of all the Presbyterian Synods. The Home Mission Work in these Synods is variously related to the national work, some of the Synods being largely dependent upon funds granted directly by the Assembly's Board and others maintaining independent treasuries which wholly provided for the Home Mission work within their bounds. Still others maintain independent treasuries, but draw from the treasury of the Board for the support of certain forms of specialized work.

The statements below are arranged in the alphabetical order of the Synods, without attempt to classify them on the basis mentioned above. The plan under which Home Mission work is now conducted draws all the Synods and all the various phases of Home Mission work into increasingly close relations; and the following section aims to give a territorial review of the whole Home Mission work of the Church.

In accordance with the Board's usual custom, particular pains have been taken to obtain direct from Synodical Chairmen or Field Men statements and photographs showing the present conditions and prospects of the work within their Synods. After a correspondence covering more than two months, no reply has been received from two Synods. The Wyoming report, prepared in time by Dr. Walter H. Bradley, has not reached the Board. In five other cases various reasons, including recent appointments to committee chairmanship or membership, have been urged as making it impossible to prepare a satisfactory report.

Much condensation having been necessary in order to bring some of the statements below within the limits prescribed for this Report, readers will kindly note that the writers named are to be held responsible for only the substance of the articles appearing under their names.

ARIZONA

THE REV. H. P. CORY, SUPERINTENDENT

The Northern Presbytery of Arizona has the gigantic task of responsibility for giving the gospel to 30,000 Navajo Indians, to say nothing of a large number of Mohave Indians to whom the Presbyterian Church must minister or they will be left without a Bible, a Saviour or a God! A considerable number of Mexicans are also here, for whom nothing is being done in the way of providing a pure gospel. The Presbytery's only self-supporting church, at Flagstaff, is federated with the Methodist Episcopal Church, under a Presbyterian Pastor. Springerville is the only Protestant church in Apache County. Flagstaff is the only county-seat in the Presbytery where we have a church. Recently the church at Chloride was turned over to the Methodists because they could care for it by grouping and we could not. All fields are well supplied, except as a much larger number of workers is needed among the Indians.

In the Presbytery of Phoenix the most interesting work is that among the Pimas, where five churches support their own Indian preachers and helpers. A work has been in progress the past year among the Mexicans in Phoenix. This Presbytery has the largest cities in the State—Phoenix, the capital, and Tucson, each with about 20,000 people, and Florence, the seat of the penitentiary. Large mining, agricultural, stock-raising and commercial interests insure its rapid growth and permanent importance, for which the Church should make liberal provision. Furthermore, under the Interchurch Federation, all the territory along the Southern Pacific Railway between Tucson and Maricopa, 110 miles, and on the Santa Fe System between Peoria and Hillside, 75 miles, has been assigned to the Presbyterian Church, so far as new work is concerned.

In the Southern Presbytery of Arizona a triangular trade is pending, by which the Presbyterian church at Duncan is to be turned over to the Southern Methodists, Safford is to be abandoned by the two Methodist churches (North and South) in favor of the Presbyterians, and Cochise is to be turned over by the Southern to the Northern Methodists. This plan, agreed to by all the denominations, lacks only the local consent to come to final consummation in a very favorable adjustment of a deplorable condition. The transfer of property is involved in each instance. The outlook is hopeful. The Warren-Lowell-South Bisbee-Don Luis group is soon to be provided with a church building at Warren, where a manse has recently been donated to the Presbytery. Another manse has been built entire by the Arizona Copper Company for the Mexican minister at Metcalf.

One is overwhelmed with the magnitude of the work that needs to be done in Arizona. The State's abundant and varied resources, its rapid growth, its materialistic pull, its incoming Christians—all call for work so heroic that one fairly quivers with desire for adequate means and the men to do what the situation demands. Let the Presbyterian Church put Arizona on the map by its liberal support of American as well as Indian and Mexican work, and Arizona Presbyterians will maintain her place and influence among the gospel agencies of this country and the world.

ARKANSAS

THE REV. DR. CHARLES E. HAYES, SUPERINTENDENT

Arkansas is in the center of the Continent and in the heart of the Mississippi Valley. One State separates it from the Gulf of Mexico and the length of Illinois separates it from the Great Lakes. It has an area of 52,525 square miles, an extreme length, north and south, of 280 miles, and a total breadth of 330 miles. In places it is low and level, in places hilly, and in places extremely rough and mountainous. Along its southern and eastern borders it has an elevation of but 280 feet above the Gulf of Mexico, and along its northern boundary an elevation of 2,340 feet, the highest point between the Alleghenies and the Rockies being Mt. Magazine, in Logan County.

These differences of latitude, longitude and altitude give Arkansas as great a variety of climate and soil as are found in any State in the Union, and make it possible to supply every need of the inhabitants of Arkansas from its own soil and factories without aid from the outside. The fruit belt of Arkansas is on the west; and in many sections of the State there are coal fields, oil and gas wells, zinc and lead mines, and deposits of fuller's earth and other paying minerals. Cotton is king, but corn and other grains are raised in abundance, rice-growing being one of our great industries. Live-stock is of increasing importance. Great pine forests cover the southern portion of the State.

Of the 125 churches on the roll of the Synod of Arkansas, only 14 are self-supporting for full-time service, and 12 others for half- or quarter-time, leaving 99 dependent on the Board of Home Missions for help. All of the 99 are in groups of from two to four churches, which are hard to supply and often left vacant to the great detriment of the churches. Our ministers, however, are heroic, often attempting to cover more territory than they should. Outstations are being organized into churches in the newer sections of the State, where people are rapidly taking up land and making themselves homes, but have little money left for the churches.

Seven new church buildings have been erected during the past year, and seven churches rebuilt. Five manses have been built and two remodeled. Six new fields have been entered during the year and organized into churches. Five churches have been brought to self-support. Evangelistic services have been held in nearly all the Home Mission churches, and many were added to their membership. During the summer three tents were used for such services, the Synodical Superintendent holding two meetings, and local men many others. Splendid results were secured in the Win-One Campaign, carried on under the direction of the Superintendent, in the two months preceding Easter.

The Board's Country Life Department has taken over three fields: The Mt. Pleasant group in Jonesboro Presbytery, Murfreesboro in Little Rock Presbytery, and Kingston in Arkansas Presbytery. The industrial center of Ft. Smith, a growing metropolis on the western side of the State, has been supplied with a new man, who will give his full time to developing it under the fostering care of the Central church. In Little Rock, the capital city, a church organized last spring has been having a steady growth. The Central church at Fayetteville, where the State University is located, is the strongest church in the Synod. Its Pastor looks after the Presbyterian students there, the only Presbyterian institution in the Synod being the Arkansas Cumberland College at Clarkville, where a thoroughly modern church is now being erected, at a cost of $40,000.

During the past year the Synodical Superintendent collected over $1,000 for the Boards; dedicated two new church buildings and opened two others, raising about $8,000 on indebtedness; and pushed with vigor evangelism, the Every Member Canvass, community service and better systems of church finance.

The Synod ordered that 50 cents per capita should be the minimum for Home Missions in Arkansas.

BALTIMORE

THE REV. JAMES M. WALLACE

The Home Mission work of the Synod of Baltimore covers a very wide range. The three Presbyteries of which the Synod is composed are found in three separate political units: the States of Delaware and Maryland, and the District of Columbia. Almost every form of work is conducted within its bounds, which stretch from the Atlantic to the heart of the Alleghanies.

An important service is rendered in supporting two kinds of weak churches. The first are the newly established, which must be nourished to self-support; the second are the historic congregations—some of them over 200 years old—which on account of changed conditions need help to maintain their Pastors.

Aggressive work is carried on in mining and railroad towns, in rural communities, and among the foreigners. The foreign work in Baltimore and Wilmington is conducted in co-operation with the Board of Home Missions. The work for the Poles in Baltimore, under the leadership of the Rev. Paul Fox, has demonstrated the value of a many-sided ministry. Nine young men have already entered Bloomfield Seminary as students for the gospel ministry. For the Bohemians also a successful work is carried on, and for the Italians in Baltimore and Wilmington.

Special forms of ministry have been called for in connection with the great industrial expansion found in the large cities. New churches are being established and community centers undertaken in meeting the new conditions. The Daily Vacation Bible School has proved successful, both in reaching over 2,000 children and in opening the way for the gospel in their homes.

Fifty-eight churches receive Home Mission aid, and two have become self-supporting during the year. Forty-one ordained ministers and thirteen helpers are employed. The Presbytery of Baltimore supports a Deaconess. A number of students from the Presbyterian Training School are employed.

COLORADO

THE REV. DR. J. G. KLENE, CHAIRMAN

The Home Mission plan adopted by the Synod of Colorado provides for "each Presbytery making its own estimate, asking for its own appropriation, and appointing its own Pastor-Evan-gelist, where one is desired."

During the past year the work has been maintained at its usual level of efficiency, a fine class of men secured to have charge of the Mission churches, and faithful work done, not only on ordinary Home Mission fields but also among the Negroes, Italians, Mexicans, Indians, and scattered settlements in the dry-farming regions. From the nature of the case, such work as last mentioned, which is served by itinerating missionaries provided with Fords, does not show large returns but is very much worth while.

In a large part of the Synod new work is at a standstill. Numbers of places asking for help cannot be provided for because of lack of funds. At some of them students were used during the summer; but such work does not seem wise when there is no prospect of following it up by the placing of a permanent man on the field. In the greater part of the Synod, work already established has been held back by the cutting of salaries already inadequate. Faithful missionaries, heroically struggling on as best they can, deserve better treatment at the hands of a wealthy denomination.

IDAHO

THE REV. DR. J. H. BARTON, SUPERINTENDENT

Idaho is real Home Mission territory. During the decade preceding the last census, the State increased over 100 per cent. in population. The development of its natural resources is still causing an influx of people. New towns and farming communities need new churches and Sabbath-schools.

In our Home Mission work we are trying to combine efficiency and economy by maintaining comity with other denominations, grouping churches and preaching stations, and securing competent men. Of our 42 Home Mission churches and 16 preaching stations, 28 churches and 15 stations are in communities where no other denomination is at work. Seven of our fields consist of two preaching points each, six of three, one of four, and one of five. Ten of the ministers who serve these fields preach regularly three times a Sabbath, and during the summer one preaches four times. We are wasting neither money nor men. These fields are moving toward self-support as rapidly as conditions permit. Two of them are expected to reach that point this year. In several of them, within the last few months, there has been a decided quickening of spiritual life.

One of our imperative needs is for better salaries and equipment for our Missionaries. Salaries are the same as before the increase in the cost of living. One minister, whose field covered an irrigation project of 30,000 acres with no competition by other denominations, and who built two churches within the last year, has been obliged to give up work and go to farming because he cannot support a large family, pay rent and keep a team on a Home Mission salary. Our men are not mercenary; all they ask is a sufficient salary to enable them to live in a fair degree of comfort and to provide an adequate equipment for their work.

Most of our Missionaries could accomplish from 50 per cent. to 100 per cent. more, if they had automobiles. If the Church is to keep abreast of the progress of the world and to fulfil its mission, it must adopt modern means and methods of doing its work. The day for doing Home Mission work with a "one horse shay" is past. Inadequate equipment is false economy.

ILLINOIS

THE REV. G. K. NEWELL, ASSOCIATE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CHURCH EXTENSION BOARD OF THE PRESBYTERY OF CHICAGO

In Illinois, the third in population among the States of the Union, Home Missions are treated as a part of the work of Church Extension, which embraces also Sunday-school Work and Church Erection.

Throughout the State, the older Home Mission problem of the Country Church would be in a fair way to solution, if every such church would add about 20 per cent. to the salary of its Pastor.

Among our foreign-speaking populations, Missions have been maintained among Bohemians, Bulgarians, Chinese, Germans, Hungarians, Italians, Persians and the Spanish-speaking. New work among the Hungarians has been opened at Aurora and Elgin. It is hoped that a new Mission will soon be organized at Pana.

In the Presbytery of Chicago, the Church Extension enterprise is highly developed. During the past year, the gospel has here been preached in 11 different languages, while representatives of 24 other races and nationalities have come in contact with its Missions. The church year began auspiciously with the organization of a Bohemian church. One Italian Pastor is publishing an Italian weekly paper, which has been highly commended by Italians all over the United States. A Mission organized by the Pastor of a Mission church, holds promise of occupying a field of wider importance than that of the parent organization.

A Mid-West Conference, promoted by representatives of the Chicago Presbyterian Daily Vacation Bible Schools, with delegates from neighboring States and cities, has been organized for the purpose of standardizing the work of such schools. The literature prepared by this Conference has been made the standard, and is now published for the Presbyterian schools throughout the United States.

The Chicago Christian Industrial League has a unique program, offering work for the unemployed, food for the hungry, medical care for the sick, and the gospel for the hopeless. Its helpfulness stretches out to the farthest reaches of human need, and is made practical by stores, workshops and other industrial features. This League furnishes lodging for 162,000 men in a year, has an attendance of 75,000 a year at its Mission services, and is run at a total expense of $66,700. The astonishing part is that all the cost of maintenance except $8,529 was provided by the earnings of the industrial and hotel department.

INDIANA

THE REV. DR. JOHN P. HALE, SUPERINTENDENT

Of the 355 churches reported in the Synod of Indiana a year ago, 182 had less than 100 members each, and more than 100 of these had less than 50 each. On the other hand 20 churches reported between 300 and 400 members, 10 between 400 and 500, and 22 over 500 members each.

From their own contributions six of the eight Presbyteries are able to care for their own Home Mission churches. To assist the other two Presbyteries, each Presbytery pays into the Synod's Home Mission treasury 15 per cent. of its Home Mission contributions. Every Presbytery is self-administering. Each also sends, through the Synodical treasury, to the Assembly's Board of Home Missions 10 per cent. of its regular offerings. This year these collections were larger than ever before, amounting to $22,454.59, not including special or local gifts, or an average of 40.2 cents from each of our 55,859 members.

The year has been marked by a closer connection than heretofore between the Synod and the Home Board. The Board has co-operated in our immigrant work at Gary, and is now assisting in the survey and study of one of our Presbyteries. At its last meeting the Synod recommended that churches able to do so make offerings to the Board over and above their Home Mission apportionment by Synod, it being understood of course that the requirements of Synod are first to be discharged.

In scanning the field, many churches brighten the prospect which, long regarded as hopeless, are now revived and sometimes have even reached self-support. Such are Mt. Vernon, Trinity of South Bend, and Edinburg. The northwestern corner of the State is the portion growing most rapidly and making most urgent calls for new work. There, though a large portion of the incoming population is of foreign speech, many English-speaking churches and Sunday-schools are needed to meet the new conditions.

The immigrant population is congested about the great mills in the cities of Gary, Hammond, Whiting and East Chicago, the most rapidly growing cities in the entire country today. Ninety per cent. of our foreigners are in the Calumet region, though considerable numbers are found in the coal regions about Terre Haute, and in the larger cities like Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and South Bend.

A flourishing Mission work is done in the Hungarian church in South Bend, now nearly self-supporting, in the Hill Crest Mission, in Clinton, under the care of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Brown, and in the Cosmopolitan Mission in Indianapolis, which receives a little aid from the Synod. The point, however, at which our chief stress is now laid is the Neighborhood House in Gary, where the crowded conditions reported last year by Superintendent Ralph Cummins have become worse with every passing month. The plans then urged for enlargement have since been partially realized. The Committee is pushing the canvass for funds to complete this fall the whole addition needed. Contracts for a large part are about to be let, the whole costing at least $25,000.

IOWA

THE REV. DR. ARCHIBALD CARDLE, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF IOWA PRESBYTERIAN HOME MISSIONS

The three outstanding features of the work in Iowa may be described as follows:

1. The work of Reconstruction. Old churches in villages and country are being stimulated to larger conceptions of modern church life and work. This means the rebuilding of church plants, the adoption of better methods and the initiation of larger programs. In every case the Pastor is the key to the situation; and wherever he is a leader, success is attending these efforts. Many churches are entering upon a period of renewed vigor and enlarged service. A fair example of this is the reconstructed building and life of the Birmingham church, in Iowa Presbytery. The old building, which had served the church since 1854, has given place to a thoroughly modern building, as shown by the photographs to be found in the picture section of this Report. What is true of the building is also true of the whole church enterprise in Birmingham. The pictures show at a glance what is going on throughout the Synod.

2. The Community Center work. There is a widespread movement in Iowa to make the rural church the center of all the constructive work of the community and to fill it with the religious motive. In every Presbytery it is proposed to have one Demonstration Point, so that other churches and communities may catch the vision from seeing a successful enterprise in action. Communities everywhere are responding and eager to put the plan in operation. Notable success has already been achieved in the Argyle field, where a community wholly unorganized, containing many different religious elements, with absolutely no Presbyterian traditions, offered an unpromising opportunity. The Pastor has been on the field only eight months, but in that time a community picnic has been held with a large attendance, lectures and entertainments have brought the people together socially, the Sunday-school and the Sunday services have taxed the capacity of the building, a new business has come in, and a consolidated school has been voted. The outlook is very promising. The larger churches are taking a deep interest in the Community Center movement and are extending financial help.

3. The Home Mission Policy adopted by the Synod last fall, on recommendation of the Iowa Board, is as follows:

I. It is hereby recommended that the Synod of Iowa declare as its Home Mission Policy the following principles:

1. The employment of its Home Mission fund more largely in the support of men who have skill in handling such problems as are peculiar to our field by the introduction of better financial methods, the promotion of church and community organization, and the initiation of missionary effort in the needy and exceptional communities.

2. The assistance of needy and struggling churches by furnishing leaders to direct them in the development of their resources and programs of work rather than through annual grants of financial aid.

3. Co-operation with other denominations and religious organizations in each community for the unifying of religious effort, the elimination of useless competition and duplication of work in ministering to the needs of the people.

II. It is further recommended that for the promotion of this policy the Synod shall pledge its support of the Board of Iowa Presbyterian Home Missions in maintaining the following Standards:

1. That the salaries of Home Missionaries be increased 10 percent annually until the minimum salary shall be $1,000 with free use of manse, or $1,200 where no manse is provided.

2. That there shall be a reduction annually in the grants of Home Mission aid, proportionate to the demonstrated ability of the church receiving aid.

3. That grants of aid shall ordinarily be made only after a representative of the Presbyterianial Committee has visited the church to assist in financial and other organization of its resources.

KANSAS

THE REV. DR. WALTER M. IRWIN, SECRETARY OF THE SYNODICAL
HOME MISSION COMMISSION

The Home Mission activities and service of the Synod of Kansas are as varied as the activities of its churches and are allied with all the concerns of all the Pastors and all their people. It has had a very effective year. The Presbyterian Chairmen, who constitute the Synodical Commission, have been faithful administrators and plan-makers. The Field Force—a Secretary and two Assistants—has been busy with tasks of administration, education, inspiration, development, evangelism, vacancy and supply, leadership and organization. The offerings, though too often deferred, are expected to provide an income adequate to the projected program. A spirit of general interest and happy co-operation prevails throughout the Synod.

There is common adherence to the synodical standard of $60 per 100 members as the minimum Home Mission offering from each church. The plan to hold "church days," when an afternoon meeting of conference with church officers and leaders is followed by a popular meeting in the evening for inspiration and the improvement of the program and methods of the local church, has brought to many churches a large blessing for Pastors and people. The churches have been "well pastored," except for a few brief vacancies. Steady improvement has been made in evangelism, religious education and financial methods. Several new preaching places have been established, and a few inactive churches have been dissolved.

Some of the churches are contributing to the synodical work and also helping directly in the support of nearby Missions. Pastors are serving people in large areas. One aided church has a Pastor who is preaching at three schoolhouses, out as far as 20 miles, in each of which there is a flourishing Sunday-school. An extra grant of $100 is given because he is a "County Pastor." Two years ago aid was given to a group, each of whose churches last spring decided to become self-supporting with a Pastor full time. One of these churches, located six miles from town, has built a manse, with full basement for church, teaching and social uses. Another church aided up to two years ago and served in the afternoons by the Pastor of the town church 11 miles away, has just called its own minister at a salary of $1,000, all of which the church itself will pay.

In communities from which the young people are going, churches cannot make the desired progress, and often need assistance year after year. Yet such churches are a character- and community-asset; and, generally speaking, Home Mission Committees are so careful in administration and leadership that aid is not given unwisely or in overchurched communities.

Last year the Synod approved the establishment of the Cherokee-Crawford Parish, primarily for the people in the coal-mining camps near Pittsburg. Under the supervision of the Board of Home Missions, the Parish has now become well established, the Synod paying $1,200 toward its support. The story was helpfully told in two articles in the March Assembly Herald. Miss Margaret C. MacPhee and Miss Antonette Kush are the first workers.

The Synod also took a forward step of supervision and financial co-operation in the Iowa Indian Reservation, where the Rev. Rudolph Meier has, for five years, performed a successful work of reconstruction and community service.

MICHIGAN

THE REV. GEORGE W. BENN, SUPERINTENDENT

To a surprising extent Michigan is still Home Mission territory. Two-thirds of the State lying north of Saginaw and Grand Rapids are comparatively virgin ground. Many counties contain only two or three churches each; many towns have no church or Sunday-school, Protestant or Catholic; vast stretches of country are without religious work of any sort whatever. There are some 45,000 Presbyterians in Michigan, gathered into 263 churches; but, as 100 churches contain 35,000 of these members, the other three-fifths of our churches are comparatively small and weak. To reach this great field there are 40 Home Missionaries, two men who give their whole time to the supervision of the work in the Synod and one to that in the Presbytery of Detroit.

Among the special features of the work at present are:

1. City Work. The tremendous growth of Michigan cities, resulting largely from the automobile industry, places special responsibility upon the Church. In the city of Flint, for example, a splendid work has been developed alongside of the great Buick plant, where a $40,000 church building was dedicated free of debt in April. In the same city, near the Chevrolet plant, two Sunday-schools recently started are expected soon to develop into organized churches. In the city of Lansing a new church has been organized with the kindly assistance of the First Church, and a $4,000 temporary building erected. In a northern suburb of Grand Rapids a new congregation has been developed under the fostering care of the Westminster Church. In the city of Detroit three or four new congregations are organized every year.

2. Rural Fields. In its southern sections Michigan has suffered from the decay of rural congregations noticeable in other States. Nevertheless, one church which has been closed for four years has recently become the most vigorous in its section of the county, and is planning the erection of a $10,000 community building this summer. Another community which has been without a Pastor or even a Sunday-school for a year, has now a fine Pastor, who with his capable wife has not only attended to the religious services but has also organized a Recreation Society and Glee Club, and is otherwise transforming the life of three hundred families. Still another congregation, formerly visited only occasionally by a minister from a nearby town, has repaired its church building and its manse, is building a social hall alongside of the church, and is soon to be in charge of a young minister for full time.

3. Exceptional Classes. The lumber industry has by no means departed from Michigan. A survey made during the month of December by Dr. T. D. Whittles, in charge of the Lumber Camp Work of the Assembly's Board, revealed the fact that there are 15,000 Lumberjacks at work in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, and that timber will be cut in that region for 25 years yet. It is planned to send them four "Sky-Pilots." . . The Rev. J. M. Rogers has been put in charge of a recently revived work begun among the Ojibway Indians as long ago as 1834. He will have 500 Indians in his parish. . . . Miss Ethel Mackenzie is laboring among the Italians at Calumet. . . . The Parish Plan is instituted in the Iron River region, where there are 10,000 foreigners to be reached, with the Iron River, Stambaugh and Palatka churches as nuclei.

4. Stewardship Campaigns. In order to carry out the Synod's various Home Mission plans a larger financial support will be necessary. Between $14,000 and $15,000 are now raised annually, where for efficient management $25,000 to $30,000 ought to be raised. A Stewardship Campaign has accordingly been begun, to be carried on for three or four years. The Synodical Superintendent, with Drs. B. P. Fullerton, of the Assembly's Board, Ira Landrith of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, and W. S. Marquis of the Assembly's Every Member Committee, has visited a large portion of the State, proclaiming the gospel of generous giving.

MINNESOTA

THE REV. DR. W. R. HARSHAW, SUPERINTENDENT

In order to a proper understanding of the Home Mission problem of Minnesota certain facts must be kept in mind.

1. In the territory covered by four Presbyteries, we have a rapidly changing population. In Mankato and Winona Presbyteries the German is rapidly taking possession of the farms. In St. Cloud and Red River Presbyteries the Scandinavian tills the soil. The Lutheran Church meets the spiritual need of many communities once English-speaking but now largely foreign. There is still left, however, a percentage of people whose special needs only an English service can meet. There is not in such communities material out of which to build up a strong church. That means Home Mission aid, and for years to come. If we retire, this element will be left religiously destitute.

Within the bounds of these four Presbyteries the Parish Plan has been adopted. Churches are being grouped and given the strongest possible leadership. This means economy in administration. Where a few years ago more than $5,000 a year was being spent in St. Cloud Presbytery, today only a little over $2,000 is being used to maintain the work.

2. In the Presbyteries of Adams and Duluth we have an entirely different Home Mission proposition. These Presbyteries cover the newer part of the State. Into them there is a continual rush of immigration. Much Home Mission money is needed in order that the Church may take possession of new communities at the very beginning of their existence.

3. We have an ever-present and ever-pressing City Extension task. Three of the most rapidly growing cities of the Union are in Minnesota. In them the local Church is pushing the work in a splendid way, expending thousands of dollars in the attempt to keep pace with rapidly developing opportunities. We have, however, felt it wise to keep the Assembly's Board of Home Missions in touch with this City Extension work by asking a small appropriation each year for its maintenance.

4. The exceptional elements in our population must be cared for. The three Iron Ranges mean a constantly increasing foreign population and numberless new opportunities. The Immigration Department has done a splendid work on the Messaba Range. Then, too, there are more than 20,000 Lumberjacks in the camps of Minnesota. The Parish of the Pines has been occupied by our Church.

Under the leadership of the Field Men, three things have been attempted in Minnesota during the last year. First, there has been the elimination of a few of the least-promising churches, care being taken not, by our withdrawal, to leave a community spiritually destitute. Then the establishment of the Parish Plan in both the old and new parts of the State has been actively prosecuted. Wherever possible without injury to the work, combination has been made, the effort being to put these Parishes under the leadership of men large enough for the task. And, thirdly, a solid basis has been reached in the effort for self-support. Each Presbytery has apportioned to its individual congregations an amount sufficient to mean self-support. Every effort will be made this year to reach the goal.

MISSISSIPPI

THE REV. JOHN D. HUNTER, CHAIRMAN

Great transformations are going on in the rural sections of Mississippi. New methods of agriculture are resulting from the prevalence of the cotton-boll weevil and the dissemination of information, from the building of great public highways and the shifting of population. All these conditions but add to the importance of attention to the country church, which should be the chief servant of every rural community.

New industries and incoming families are adding to our Church's opportunity and responsibility. As shown by the report of the Industrial and Immigration Department of the Illinois Central Railroad, 124 new industries were located along the line of that one road in 1916, representing a capital of $17,139,600, and employing 5,772 men. In the territory tributary to this same road 233 families were settled during the year, representing more than 1,000 people, who have purchased in Mississippi and Louisiana 142,000 acres of land.

That the tide of immigration has turned toward the alluvial lands is still further shown by the Southern Alluvial Land Association, which, though it has not yet begun a national campaign, has received hundreds of letters from all parts of the United States from immigrants seeking new homes in the South. Tenant farmers North, South, East and West, as well as a vast influx from foreign shores (as soon as the War is over) will certainly crowd into these lands, settle in the small towns and cities along the Gulf Coast and on the cut-over lands in the lumber districts.

To the strangers who have come and to those we see coming we owe such service as we can render to furnish them a Christian home in a Christian South. And especially do we as Presbyterians owe it to them to prove that ours is not a sectional but a National Church.

NEBRASKA

THE REV. DR. W. H. KEARNS, SUPERINTENDENT

Nebraska leads again! This was the first Synod to attain "Self-support under the Board." The plan works most successfully, the Synod, while raising and administering its own funds, being in vital touch with the Home Mission enterprise of the nation. All the Mission work of the Synod is now administered by a single agency, employing a Superintendent and two Assistants. During the five years we have been a self-supporting Synod, we have not only supported our own American work but have contributed almost $3,000 to the general work of the Boards. Several years ago the Home Mission and Sunday-school work was unified under a single administrative agency, which included the Educational Work. Last fall the Synod took the advanced step of erecting a strong Educational Committee, under which all the Educational Work is now unified.

During the year, emphasis has been laid upon evangelism, better financial methods and the strengthening of churches already organized. A Synodical Evangelist, the major portion of whose salary is paid out of Home Mission funds, is greatly assisting in the solving of the problem of "the feeble church." Closer supervision on the part of Presbyteries is also having its effect. We need a more efficient ministry for our Mission churches. Better equipment is essential. Living salaries must be paid, if the best results are secured. Conferences on rural life have been most helpful to many of our ministers.

There is "much land" within the State of Nebraska to be possessed for Christ. Extension should be our key-word for the coming year. There has been rapid development in the irrigated sections of the western part of the Synod, and dry-farming methods are making the desert to rejoice. The Church must keep pace with the material progress in these sections. An effort will be made to meet the challenge of the destitute portions of the State.

The problem which is most insistent in demanding solution is that which has to do with Comity. A more practical method of denominational co-operation must be adopted, if over-churched and under-churched conditions are to be overcome.

NEW ENGLAND

THE REV. DR. W. M. TUFTS, CHAIRMAN

All our English-speaking mission work is in organized churches. Almost all of it is in cities, with good prospect of ultimate self-support. These churches have been well manned, and in finances, equipment and membership have made great gains during the year. The laymen of the churches are being organized and federated in interchurch relations, with great profit to the weaker churches.

In Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont there are about 35,000 lumber workers. The Rev. John MacInnis, supported by our Church, is the only Missionary to visit them in any regular way. He preaches, shows pictures, distributes comfort material, and encourages the injured. The men respond in a remarkable way to his ministry.

The Italian Mission in Somerville, under the Rev. J. J. Romolo, is doing well and making gains in reaching the young people of the colony. There is a regular church service every Sunday, and every weeknight in the Mission House there are classes for almost all purposes. There are 125 attending the Sunday-school. Mrs. MacKay is the American worker. The Somerville C. E. Union gives splendid aid.

The Syrian work in Fall River is doing nicely under the Rev. E. Atiyeh, who uses for his work a six-room suite, on the ground floor. Three of the rooms have been made into an auditorium with eight windows, and the remaining three into class-rooms. Over 100 persons now attend the services.

In Manchester, N. H., there is a Syrian colony of 800, whose friendship has been won by the Rev. James W. Smith, our Pastor, who has studied Arabic and enlisted the co-operation of his church. The Arabic service is attended by an average of 55. Miss Saigh, a Syrian educated in America, is the bright, competent lady employed in connection with this work.

The Ruthenian work in Hartford, Connecticut, is moving forward rapidly under the Rev. Dimetry Halenda, recently of Pittsburgh. Our church in Hartford, under Dr. John F. Johnstone, has fostered this work in a most liberal manner. Having rented the Lutheran church, they now have good congregations, with 100 adherents and 40 persons ready to unite with the church. These are a high-class people, eager for the gospel and ready to support a church of their own to the limit of their means. There are openings for Ruthenian work in such cities as New Britain, now awaiting the time when Mr. Halenda can give assistance. Half the salary of this Missionary is paid by the church at Stamford.

The Home Mission work of the whole Synod is meeting with marked success. As a Committee, we are profoundly grateful for the sympathy and co-operation of the Secretaries of the Board.

NEW JERSEY

THE REV. DR. R. H. GAGE, CHAIRMAN

In spite of wartime conditions, New Jersey's prospect is good for reaching its Home Mission goal of $87,000 this year. Almost $3,000 more has been expended this year than last upon our own work, making a total of $55,169.04 in addition to the amount sent the Home Board for national work.

In general we have to report that over 100 churches have been aided this year, including some wholly supported among the foreign-speaking peoples, whom we are now encouraging more than ever along the line of self-support. Two Home Mission churches have become self-supporting, and many others are asking less assistance. Three churches have been organized in growing communities, promising large usefulness and early self-support. One of these is at Carney's Point, a "powder town" of 7,000.

certain to continue when no longer dependent upon the manufacture of munitions. At Johnson Place a model home has been completed, from which a lady ministers as nurse, teacher and preacher for the whole section known as "The Pines." It is planned to place there a Missionary Pastor also, supplied with adequate means of transportation to touch a number of the surrounding communities.

Church Extension work is meeting with marked success in Trenton and several other Presbyteries. The Presbytery of Jersey City is pushing the erection of church buildings for its Italian and Slovak churches. Trenton is also appealing for the proper housing of its splendid Italian work. A $10,000 church building has been dedicated free of debt in the Presbytery of Newark, whose aid-receiving churches having been supplied for the full twelve months last year, show a 12 percent gain in membership. Newark Presbytery has also given the largest support to Home Missions, and has the largest Home Mission work of any Presbytery in the Synod, including its vacation schools, deaconess work, church extension among American churches, its work for the Magyars, Italians, and Germans, a very vigorous and successful colored church, and the beginning of a promising work among the Jews.

In addition to his other duties, Synodical Superintendent McClenaghan held six evangelistic meetings during the year, resulting in some 200 additions on confession of faith. One church thus visited was about to give up the struggle; but now, with 30 new members, has resumed regular services, met all financial obligations, provided for benevolences and is assured of new usefulness.

NEW YORK

THE REV. U. L. MACKEY, SUPERINTENDENT

In its supervision of the work in village and country churches, the Synod of New York is seeking by every proper means to encourage such a program of service as will fully meet the needs of the community and develop a spirit of co-operation on the part of the religious forces therein. To this end it is providing men of recognized ability to spend a period of time on the fields under the direction of the Presbyteries. Their work has been found fruitful. There is much opportunity for such work, which will call for an increasing expenditure of funds for a period, but must in the end result in such combination and strengthening of the churches as will bring them not only to self-support but to a much larger measure of efficiency.

During the last three years there has been a gradual increase in salaries until there are now but few who are receiving less than the minimum salary of $900 and house.

The Synod seems frankly to have accepted its commission from the needs rather than the opportunities for building up growing churches. For example, the Presbytery of New York, through its various agencies, is spending approximately $190,000 a year for work among its foreigners and to sustain and strengthen churches which, while doing good work, will not in the nature of the case either come to self-support or be able to contribute for extension work. This sum is in addition to the expenditures of its Church Extension Board for buildings. In smaller measure, but with equal devotion, the Presbyteries of Brooklyn, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Westchester and many others are placing the emphasis of their work upon the very needy fields that do not give promise of speedy growth. In addition to the work of the Presbyteries there is that on the Indian Reservations and that among the Lumberjacks of the Adirondacks. All these types of work are calling for increasing expenditure,—and their call will be the more insistent as they succeed in doing their work well.

The Synod expects to continue the movement already begun, which looks toward meeting the situation in a number of very rapidly growing suburbs. It feels that, however commendable it may be to do the work where the need is greatest, future work is dependent upon the strengthening of present work in the more prosperous communities. If generous support can be given at the initial stages, there are many Presbyteries in the Synod where such work will meet with speedy success.

The Synod has found great helpfulness in its closer contact with the Board of Home Missions. There is, too, a steady increase in its Home Mission contributions from year to year, although the present year shows a slight decrease in the receipts of the Board.

NORTH DAKOTA

THE REV. DR. W. H. HUNTER, FIELD WORKER

During the past year a reorganization of our North Dakota work has been completed. Instead of six Pastor-Evangelists, we now have two Field Men, who cover the whole State. This has compelled much less close supervision of the work. In the older fields, where churches are well organized and generally supplied with Pastors, progress has been made as usual; but in strictly Home Mission territory, where there is little effective organization and fields are not easily supplied, the work has suffered. Nevertheless there has been both growth and advancement.

Five fields have reached self-support, seven have completed manses, two have new church buildings, ten have enlarged or repaired their buildings, others are to have improvements (including several new church buildings), and many have received spiritual blessings that have strengthened their membership.

Our population is largely of foreign birth or training; yet the sentiment for temperance is growing, and we are making progress toward better enforcement of the law. Our foreign churches are catching the true American spirit, and helping with this as well as advancing toward better Sabbath observance.

Much work should be opened up. Frontier Missionaries and our Field Men who have investigated the situation assure us that in many places the incoming population is not supplied with the gospel. Thus, while the prospect for advance to self-support is good, new fields that should be opened will require from the Board for the coming year more rather than less funds. The very advancement of our work means need for further assistance.

OHIO

THE REV. ROBERT E. PUGH, SUPERINTENDENT

Synodical Home Missions have made steady progress during the past year. Six workers and a Superintendent have been constantly employed, and the co-operation of the Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work has continued. General reconstructive and evangelistic campaigns have been conducted in more than 40 churches, where the offerings have been in excess of former years. It is interesting to note that additions on profession of faith in Ohio churches during 1915-1916 were 8.1 percent, while in Home Mission churches of the Synod the percentage was 11.6 percent. Emphasis on evangelism is constantly increasing.

At seven points in six Presbyteries Eight-day Institutes were held, or schools of methods for church and Sunday-school workers. The State and International Sunday-school Associations gave their sanction to the program, and certificates were issued to those taking satisfactory notes on the prescribed courses. Teacher Training classes followed in nearly every school touched, and many added several points to their standing according to the standard of excellence set up by the Board.

More than 25 Daily Vacation Bible Schools were held in the Synod last summer, through which over 2,500 children were reached. Eight schools were in Cleveland, two in Columbus, one in Cincinnati, ten in small towns and mining settlements in Eastern Ohio and several at other points. Though most of the schools were in foreign-speaking communities, one was conducted in an old-established village, and with success.

A definite program for the redistribution of the religious forces of the State is in progress. Co-operation between the chief denominations has been secured, and at several rural points interesting developments are taking place. City growth has been marvelous during the past few years, especially in iron, steel and rubber manufacturing centers. Surveys have been made in growing parts of Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Canton and Lima in the interest of Church Extension. A church in Canton, being forced to change location, asked the Chairman of the Presbyterial Committee, a Synodical Worker and the Superintendent to choose and option a new site, which was purchased without protest, and on which the new building is being erected.

The Laymen's Committee of the Presbyterian Forward Movement in Ohio has brought into the Synod as Executive Secretary Dr. Moses Breeze. While this is not a Home Mission enterprise, all causes being stimulated, Home Missions will be among the first to show the effects of this new activity. Congregations and societies are being urged to adopt a specific program for their work.

The Synod at its last meeting authorized the Home Mission forces to seek a permanent fund of $500,000 as a foundation for Church Extension and for work among foreign-speaking people. First steps in this have been taken.

There is a growing tendency in the Synod to select definite objects through which organizations or individuals may co-operate in Home Mission activities.

OKLAHOMA

No report received.

OREGON

THE REV. DR. A. J. MONTGOMERY, SUPERINTENDENT

The year has been marked by continued financial depression. For about four years past the condition of the lumber market has produced an economic pressure painfully evident in the Synod along two lines of stress—congregations have been unable to advance in their own support, while the mounting cost of living has in some instances made it impossible to locate Pastors. A few fields have not been supplied, because, even with the proffered aid of the Board, the resources were inadequate. In these respects the outlook is not cheerful.

But the financial depression has brought good also. The administrative leaders of the great Evangelical denominations have been compelled to study the problems of overcrowding and church competition. As a result a Home Mission Council for Western Oregon was organized January 18, 1917, between Methodists and Presbyterians. The door was generously left ajar for other Evangelical bodies to enter, as some of them will do. It is only fair to the Board of Home Missions to record that one of the large contributing elements in this movement was The Lane County Survey, published by the Board in connection with the State University, in July, 1916. This Survey has been described as the first one which has a "kick" in it. Large space has been given to it in the press of the State, and one of the most influential of the American magazines will soon print an article featuring the Survey.

The movement to eliminate competitive churches has gone beyond the academic stage. Presbyterians in Yoncalla have retired in favor of the Methodists, while Methodists have vacated Jacksonville in favor of Presbyterians, leaving in each community but a single church to deal with the spiritual interests of all. Other changes and adjustments are under consideration.

Throughout the Synod work is carried on in German communities. There is a large Chinese church in Portland. The Indians have a strong, spiritual church at Tutuilla, under charge of J. M. Cornelison, the devoted Missionary, and one at Chemawa, the seat of the large Government School, to which Indian youth are sent from Alaska on the north, Arizona on the south and Montana on the east.

Along the Synod's 400 miles of coastline, Mr. Fred. W. Davis, the Lumberjack Sky-Pilot, has gone ministering to the men who live in the fir forests. Last year he personally distributed 3,000 copies of the vest-pocket edition of the Gospel of John, from which, as reported to him in a number of cases, generally by letter, conversion has followed. The Board's Missionary is the only one who ministers regularly to the more than 22,000 men permanently in these camps.

The Every Member Canvass has been more thoroughly made this year than ever before. The Synodical Committee sent four lessons, entitled A School of Methods for Canvassing Committees, in pamphlet form to every Pastor in the Synod. Some did not use it; many did, and with great good resulting in all cases reported.

PENNSYLVANIA

THE REV. DR. CALVIN C. HAYS, PRESIDENT OF THE SYNODICAL COMMITTEE

The Synod of Pennsylvania covers the State of Pennsylvania and includes its 20 Presbyteries. Its churches total 1,178, and its communicants 325,942. About one-fifth of the churches are aided through Mission funds. Their membership is more than the entire membership of many of the Western Synods. The Synod of Pennsylvania is self-supporting, expending annually about $35,000 through its Synodical Committee, in addition to about $200,000 raised and expended through its Presbyteries for their local Home Mission work.

Recent investigations have shown that our 283 churches aided by Mission funds during the last five years (which are found largely in the country, where the population is sparse) have made a net gain of 36.5 percent, while the churches of the entire Synod (most of which are in towns and cities) gained only 19.5 percent. Our aided churches have received 12,373 additions on profession of faith, in the last five years, or an average of 44 each. Their actual membership is now 27,588.

Our work among foreigners continues to be of surpassing interest. Fifteen of our Presbyteries are doing work of this kind, using 100 Missionaries and Colporteurs in an aggressive work among people of 10 different nationalities. Pittsburgh Presbytery alone has 46 workers among foreigners, and 32 Mission stations. There and in other Presbyteries longest at work among foreigners, rich fruit is being gathered, and some substantial churches have been organized.

During the past year, by direction of Synod, a conference was held for the purpose of unifying the work among our people of foreign speech. One result of this conference was the compilation of a list of Foreign Workers, which is now printed and available for use of any who may be interested. It is hoped that other Synods doing this kind of work will make a similar compilation, and that these lists, together with the names of Foreign Workers employed directly by the Board of Home Missions, may be kept on file in the Board's rooms for the information of Superintendents and Committees.

In January last this Synod suffered an irreparable loss in the death of the Rev. J. M. McJunkin, D.D., who had been identified with this work for more than 25 years, and was the Secretary-Treasurer and chief executive of the Synodical Committee. He was also Pennsylvania's representative on the Home Mission Council, and well known throughout the Church. More than any other one man, he has had to do in perfecting Pennsylvania's Synodical Scheme and bringing it to fine efficiency. No report for the year would be complete without mention of his name and this brief tribute to his memory.

SOUTH DAKOTA

The only report received from the Synod of South Dakota was a series of letters addressed to District Superintendent William Wallace, D.D. These letters are too personal to be reproduced here, even were it otherwise appropriate. Each shows its Home Missionary author rejoicing in the midst of a difficult work and unsuspecting that his plain, unvarnished tale proves him a hero.

One writer tells of his struggling for 75 miles through the snow drifts during the four days' blizzard in which more than one-half of a herd of 400 cattle perished. "Of course," he says, "we had no service at either place last Sunday; but the whole place is talking about my drive, and I believe I did more good in that way than I could have done if I had held the services. They see at least that I am here to do my part, anyway. And I really did not suffer a bit." In a P. S. he says that both his churches will meet their Home Mission apportionments this year.

Another Pastor, after telling of the completion of their $17,000 house of worship, on which remains a heavy debt, says: "Glad to tell you that Watertown will get off the Home Board this year. We are carrying such a heavy load that a little more or less makes no difference. So this is a favorable time to quit!"

Another Home Missionary writes of beautifying the barren church property by planting more than two dozen trees (blasting the soil with dynamite to do so) and growing hundreds of choice flowers. "In spite of the failure of the wheat crop," he writes, "our church, I think, has done very well. All our obligations have been met (besides contributions of $260 to Huron College, $150 to starving Armenians, and $125 for a cement walk around the church property). . . . We do not intend to be in Presbytery this spring. I have just had a letter from ————. I know the Board is helping him; but $25 a month does not go very far these days. So we plan to miss Presbytery, and use a little of the train fare to help one of the Master's broken-down servants."

The photographs in the picture section tell much about the Westminster church, but do not show its creditable Men's Club, its big Sunday-school orchestra, its fine choir, and other features that surprise the visitor who has reached the community only after traveling for hours over an unbroken trail, and out of sight of a house or a man.

TENNESSEE

THE REV. DR. GEORGE H. MACK, SUPERINTENDENT

The Synod of Tennessee comprises all the churches within the State of Tennessee, three churches in Georgia and the churches in the three counties of North Carolina clustered about Asheville. In this territory the white population is 1,792,444, of whom—according to the last Religious Census, 1907—there were 556,222 church members, and 1,236,222 were not members.

Synod's field, stretching westward from the backbone of the Appalachians to the Mississippi, covers mountain, valley and plain. Its work is among mountaineers of hardy Scotch-Irish stock, in mining and factory towns, in destitute sections along the Tennessee River, in the suburbs of growing cities and in promising communities where tenantry is slowly yielding to husbandry.

The Synod's mountain fields—found in the Presbytery of French Broad in North Carolina and in the newly formed Presbytery of Cumberland Mountain, covering 11 Tennessee counties on or adjacent to the Cumberland Plateau—are under the direct care of the Country Life Department of the Board of Home Missions. The Rev. Dr. W. E. Finley is Supervisor of French Broad, and the Rev. Dr. J. H. Miller of Cumberland Mountain. In these Presbyteries, in addition to the Sunday-school, educational and evangelistic efforts, good progress is seen in community service work for better churches, better schools, better homes, better roads and better farms. The ready response of an eager people to an unselfish leadership attests the fundamental character of the work done.

Another section of 14 counties, lying on both sides of the Tennessee River and stretching across the State, cries aloud for help. Of poor soil, small farms, meager resources, it is a region from which other denominations, unable there to find self-support or unwilling there to discharge a missionary obligation, have practically withdrawn. A minister of our sister Presbyterian Church has there a monthly circuit of 21 churches and preaching points! Shall we fail to respond to the call of destitution seldom paralleled in all our land?

In the seven Presbyteries in the valley section of the State, work is pushed vigorously along the familiar lines. Out-station work is bringing the gospel to needy communities and adding church organizations. Tent and school-house evangelism is pushed in well-directed summer campaigns. Community service activities and institutes are lifting whole communities and leading to better Christian life and service.

Under the leadership of its laymen, the Presbytery of Union, with Knoxville and Maryville as centers, has come to self-support and is also sustaining a Presbyterial Supervisor and Evangelist, the Rev. Dr. Robert I. Gamon. A great work is being done. In the valley section also, despite the fact that many churches, once dispossessed by litigation following the Cumberland Reunion, are paying off debts on their new churches and are building manse, a vigorous movement toward self-support is in progress. The laymen of the Presbyteries of Nashville and Columbia, at this year's midwinter conferences, voted to reach self-support in another year, and initiated plans to effect their purpose. Chattanooga has set herself to reach the goal in three years. With faithful service and continued prosperity, the end will be gained. Yet, even then, a large mountain territory will still call for generous Home Mission aid for many years to come.

TEXAS

THE REV. DR. B. A. HODGES, CHAIRMAN.

The Synod of Texas includes the States of Texas and Louisiana.

"Texas is an imperial commonwealth in territorial domain, wealth and population. Texas is an undeveloped empire, when it comes to arable lands which are not tilled and latent resources which await development." Texas is the banner State of the Union in the production of cotton, rice, live-stock and vegetables. Texas has the largest ranches and cattle ranges of any State in the Union. Texas coal fields are inexhaustible. Texas oil-and-gas-bearing lands are of fabulous value. Texas is a large lumber-producing State and has vast forests untouched. Texas produces all the cereals and fruits and vegetables of the temperate zone and many of the products of the tropics. Texas has 100,000,000 acres of rich lands untouched by plow or hoe. Texas has a population of less than 5,000,000, and could sustain a population of 75,000,000.

Except four churches in the northern part of the State, all of our work in Louisiana is in New Orleans and in Southern Louisiana, where we now have 20 preaching places, 10 of which are organized churches. Southern Louisiana offers many inducements to actual settlers. Its delta lands, rich beyond comparison, are being reclaimed and opened up to cultivation and settlement.

Such is the material basis for the Empire Synod of the Presbyterian Church. Material resources mean the opportunity to create and to accumulate wealth, which means increase of population. This is the Home Mission opportunity of the Church.

The Southwest Bohemian Presbytery reports 429 members for last year, an increase of 133, of whom 63 were on profession of faith. This work is well established. Seven ministers are serving ten organized churches and several outstations.

No one knows how many Mexicans there are in Texas. Estimates vary, some saying 400,000—that is, nearly one-half of the Spanish-speaking population of the United States is in Texas. No new work has been opened among them this year. The Church of the Divine Saviour, at El Paso, is still the marvel of Mexican Missions. The work there is hindered because of the delay in providing an adequate building. Such buildings should be provided at once at El Paso and at San Antonio.

The immediate Home Mission needs of the Synod of Texas are:

1. A constructive program for the future.
2. A larger enlistment of the laymen of the churches. "A church whose activities are dependent upon the thought and energies of the minister can never become a strong church."
3. A well organized evangelistic campaign.
4. The evangelization and Christianization of the vast Mexican population of the Synod.

UTAH

THE REV. DR. W. M. PADEN, FIELD REPRESENTATIVE

The Comity Commission of Utah is mobilizing the Christian forces of the State, and apportioning to each Church its section of the Mission field. The denominations here are allies, not competitors. Upon the Presbyterian Church is laid the whole responsibility for every Mission field we occupy outside the cities of Logan, Ogden and Salt Lake. No Home Mission force in the United States has such a free field and such entire responsibility assigned to it. Another outcome of this comity movement is our Annual Bible Conference and Workers' Council, conducted on interdenominational lines.

In three of our most needy and promising Mission centers, extraordinary efforts are making to secure adequate Mission houses or church buildings. More has been pledged for this purpose on these fields than has ever before been pledged by any three of our outside Mission stations.

Our tent meetings held each summer in the remoter corners of the State have been unusually well attended. In one village of 800, containing only one "Gentile," the average attendance during a week of meetings was over 150. We have also had encouraging results from evangelistic meetings held in connection with some dozen of our churches.

For the first time in the history of the State, Utah now has a non-Mormon Governor. Other political changes in every county and corner of the State amount to an insurrection. The people are beginning not only to think but to act for themselves. The State goes dry August 1, 1917.

WASHINGTON

THE REV. DR. W. A. MAJOR, FIELD MAN IN THE PRESBYTERIES OF SEATTLE, BELLINGHAM AND CENTRAL WASHINGTON

The Synod of Washington is big in area and sparse in settlement. A million and a half of people scattered over a territory twice the size of Ohio and Rhode Island are part of the explanation why there are not more self-supporting churches in this Synod. The people need the gospel. Home Mission work is doing more to mold the character of the people than any other force at work in the State. The Home Missionary is an important and a respected character everywhere. No other enterprise stands so well in the estimation of business men. When it is known that the Home Board is glad to send many thousands of dollars to this new State that its people may have the gospel and that its type of citizenship may be made the very best, the cause of Home Missions can but appeal to all. No returns from any business enterprise are to be compared with the returns from Home Missions in communities where the foundations of religious and educational work are being laid.

The prospects of the work in the Synod of Washington were never brighter. Covering the State of Washington and part of Idaho, the Synod is just waking to see its opportunities. With its rapidly increasing population, its churches will grow in numbers and soon go to self-support. The spiritual and business interests of the Synod are given its greatest consideration. Evangelization is first in thought and service; but the right expenditure of the Board's money is not forgotten. The best business judgment is sought, and funds are distributed only after the most careful consideration. "Will it bring results?" is always asked.

At the head of the Synod's Home Missions is a layman, Mr. J. A. Gould, the present Moderator of Synod. He has set the pace for our laymen by giving of his time, experience and judgment in the selection of men, the arrangement of fields and the expenditure of money.

Great results are expected from the Clallan Parish, just organized (March 18) in the Presbytery of Seattle, with 40 members, four Elders, five Trustees, four Deacons and five Deaconesses, and soon to be furnished a Pastor.

WEST (GERMAN)

THE REV. ALBERT KINZLER, CHAIRMAN

The German Synod of the West has a mission of its own. Though the Germans in this our beloved country are not regarded anymore as "foreigners," because their fathers became American citizens of the best type, they nevertheless need the preaching of the gospel in their mother-tongue in order to be reached and saved. Comprising as it does the German churches of the Presbyterian creed that are scattered over seven States in the Middle West, this Synod is the largest in area of any of the Synods and most difficult to serve satisfactorily by field men. Its greatest need is obviously for more Field Men.

During the last missionary year eight new churches were organized, and two churches and three manses built. Two congregations became self-supporting. The prospects for the future are very promising. During the summer months, 10 students from the German Seminary at Dubuque, Iowa, will be at work building up Sunday-schools and congregations in different States. In proportion to the number of churches on its roll, the German Synod stands fourth on the Roll of Honor in reference to becoming self-supporting.

The spiritual center of the Synod is the German College and Seminary at Dubuque, which is supplying pulpits in this and other Synods with consecrated, self-sacrificing young men. With its 300 students it certainly deserves the hearty sympathy and co-operation of all the lovers of the Kingdom of Christ on earth. It has grown from a little mustard seed into a big tree, by Divine grace and under the ingenious leadership of its President, Dr. Cornelius Steffens. May it keep on growing as a wonderful source of blessing for the whole West!

WEST VIRGINIA

THE REV. GILL IRWIN WILSON, SYNODICAL FIELD SECRETARY

The work of the Synod of West Virginia is distinctively a work of Home Missions. All but a small part of its territory is Home Mission territory. More than half its churches are Home Mission churches. Its characteristic problems, difficulties and needs are many and varied.

OUR PROBLEMS

The churches located in the rural sections are the source of supply for the churches in the cities. For them liberal support is needed to help them keep pace with developments about them. Scientific farming, district high schools, boys' and girls' clubs, and youth longing for better things—all demand attention by the Church.

A few of our churches are located in villages and towns of from 300 to 1,000 people. In such places there is special need that the Church should give to the boys and girls in the upper grades and high schools the moral and spiritual truth they must have if they are not to be lost to the higher and nobler things of life when they migrate to the cities.

The city and suburban life of West Virginia is rapidly developing. Our cities of over 2,500 increased in the last decade more than 66 2-3 per cent. We are trying to nurture their churches in the critical period of their life.

In our mountain section we have some splendid work. Today many of the regions where our Missions were originally among a purely mountain people have developed great coal and lumber industries. Our work there has correspondingly developed and become so varied as to test the best we can give in the way of men and women. The uplift has been marvelous.

We have some 200 Presbyterian students in the University at Morgantown. To the support of work among them we are contributing through the Morgantown Presbyterian church.

It is estimated that there are 125,000 foreigners in West Virginia, for whom we have well established work in Clarksburg, Fairmont, Follansbee and Weirton.

OUR DIFFICULTIES

We meet with two difficulties in our work—grouping and salaries. Our Home Mission Pastors have to serve two, three or four churches each, often from 10 to 30 miles apart. On such widely scattered fields it is difficult for a Pastor to do everywhere a constructive work, or to obtain a living salary. During the past year, however, a substantial increase in salaries has been offered, and the Every Member Canvass and Budget System has been introduced into many of our churches.

OUR NEEDS

West Virginia has a population of 51.9 per square mile, of whom 41.7 are not connected with any religious denomination.

Industrially the State is developing rapidly. New communities springing up in all sections offer great opportunities for Christian work.

To meet the needs the Synod issues a Monthly Bulletin for the purpose of giving information and of creating interest among the churches. The Synod has also entered upon a three-year program, and has set apart a Home Mission Day to be observed each year by the churches and Sunday-schools.

The funds needed for the coming year will be at least $10,000—which means that to carry on the work properly at least $1.00 per member must be contributed.

WISCONSIN

THE REV. DR. R. S. DONALDSON, CHAIRMAN

The Field Force that has cared for the Home Mission interests of the 22,000 Presbyterians of Wisconsin the past year is as follows:

District Superintendent—Chippewa, Rev. C. J. McConnell.

District Superintendent—Winnebago, Rev. C. A. Adams.

Financial Secretary, Rev. R. A. Carnahan.

Special Evangelist, Mr. Arthur O. Dowe.

Special Mission Worker, Miss Clara L. Austin.

In addition to the regular Home Mission work, urban and rural, the Synod works in churches employing the German, French and Holland Dutch languages; and co-operates with the Home Board in the successful conduct of work among the Indians, the Bohemians and general immigrant populations. A notably successful work has been done under the direction of the Immigration Department along the Gogebic Iron Range, with the Rev. Chester L. Harries in charge of the Parish.

The particular feature of the general work of the year has been that in the evangelistic field. Four years ago Arthur Dowe was an outlaw. Converted in Milwaukee, he worked in the Rescue Mission, and then felt called upon to visit the smaller towns, in which the jail had been his hotel, and to preach to the unreached man. Thus he gave series of evangelistic services in some 28 churches that otherwise could have had no special awakening. His winning personality and unique testimony won many converts, cured family feuds, and quickened churches.

The program for the coming year is to change the plan of District Superintendency, and to have Secretaries of Extension and Efficiency, who shall give their time to those departments of work that need specially to be developed over the Synod as a whole.

WYOMING

Report appears in the Addenda.

III. Specialized Work

ALASKA

THE REV. DR. JAMES HAYS CONDIT, GENERAL MISSIONARY

"Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." It is now conclusively demonstrated that "Seward's Ice Box" holds vast treasure in its cold storage vaults. The Department of Commerce and Customs, in its report for 1916, states that between the years 1868 and 1917, a period of 49 years, the shipment of Alaska products amounted to the enormous sum of $668,794,401. The argument of its riches has had its effect on the hard and stony heart of the National Government. The hope deferred of many who have had visions of a great future for this Northland, whose hearts have been made sick by Government indifference, is now reviving.

We now have a recognized Territorial organization; our Legislature is in session at the time of the writing of this report; its Educational Committees have been authorized, within the month, to formulate and put into operation a system of public schools—a right denied the preceding Legislature; the final court of appeal has affirmed the right of the Territory to raise necessary revenue by taxation upon various industries; and, perhaps most significant of all in its bearing upon the future is the rapid development of the Government railroad project, with over 100 miles already in operation, which when completed will make available the undeveloped resources of the great interior.

The most significant advance in morals during the year has been the enactment of a "bone-dry" Prohibition law. While not empowered to enact laws affecting liquor interests, the Alaska Legislature, at its session two years ago, ordered a referendum vote taken in November, 1916. Fortunately this was also the time appointed for the election of a delegate to Congress. Practically the full vote of the Territory was polled. Probably the most ardent friend of Prohibition failed in his forecast of the results. By an almost two-thirds vote the people of Alaska declared against the saloon. Congress promptly ratified the expressed will of the people by enacting a bone-dry law, which becomes effective January 1, 1918. In the formation of public sentiment and in the other activities of the campaign our Missionaries had an active part. One of the greatest obstacles to mission work, especially among the natives, passes with this passing of the saloon.

The Missionary Progress of the year may be best presented by a brief survey of the several stations.

Presbytery of Yukon.—Point Barrow. Last summer, Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Spence completed their first year at Barrow. Writing under date of August 15, 1916, the last mail from this isolated place, the Doctor says: "We have had a very pleasant, happy, prosperous year." It is truly inspiring to have this evidence of the joy of service under conditions of solitude which would depress any but the child of the King who is "about his Father's business." Probably no other such report will be offered to the Assembly this year as comes from "the church farthest north." The questions in the Annual Narrative of Christian Life and Work are thus answered:

Q. What is the membership of your church? A. Two hundred and eighty-one.

Q. How many preaching services on the Lord's Day? A. Two.

Q. What is the average attendance? A. One hundred and seventy-five.

Q. To what extent are the children and youth present? A. All there.

Q. What is the average attendance of non-members? A. No non-members.

Q. Have you a weekly prayer-meeting? A. Yes.

Q. What is the average attendance? A. One hundred and seventy-five.

Q. How many adult Bible-classes have you? A. Five.

Q. What is the total membership? A. Eighty.

Q. What special interest has there been in the congregation during the year? A. None; the interest is general all the time.

Q. What means are being used to revive and maintain family worship? A. None; they maintain it without.

Fairbanks. The past year has been the most prosperous in the history of this mission. In the amounts given to benevolence and in attendance at all services, large increases are reported. After four years of service, the Rev. George G. Bruce and wife have been transferred from Fairbanks to Juneau. To fill the vacancy thus caused, volunteers for interior work were fortunately at hand in the persons of the Rev. and Mrs. Wallace S. Marple, who in March traveled all the way from Hammonton, N. J., to Fairbanks, going in over the trail. Both in gifts and in graces, these Missionaries are peculiarly fitted to take up work in this important place.

Ruby. Excepting our own, no minister of any denomination is to be found within 200 miles of Ruby, which has been vacant during the winter. There are some 800 to 1,000 people in the town and on the nearby creeks. The Home Board is now in correspondence with a seminary graduate of this year, who will probably be commissioned for this work.

Anchorage continues to be the important town of the Government Railroad. It has a population of 5,000, a water system, electric lights, telephones, a daily paper and business houses of all kinds. Yet, three years ago, when the General Missionary made a visit to the mouth of Ship Creek, there was not a house on the town site, which was then covered with a birch forest. Here the Rev. J. L. McBride has continued his effective ministry during the year. In the heart of the little city a fine new church has been dedicated and a comfortable manse built. The influence of the church is felt throughout the community.

Matanuska Junction. In this town of 200 people, built last summer, 36 miles out from Anchorage, the Rev. John L. Hughes has made his headquarters, from which he has reached a large tract of country. There are some 200 homesteaders in the Matanuska Valley, to whom, as well as to the miners and railroad employees, Mr. Hughes ministers, traveling many miles by rail, on foot and by dog-team.

Cordova. The work here under the leadership of the Rev. A. G. Shriver has grown in importance and interest. Because of the commercial prominence of this section (due in large part to the unprecedented production of copper from the great Kennicott Mine, but also to the establishment of salmon and clam canneries) there has been a marked increase in population. The church, with its missions of Chittina, McCarthy and Kennicott, is reaching forth to supply the treasure which moth and rust cannot corrupt.

Nenana. Sixty miles down the Tanana River from Fairbanks a new railroad town has sprung into existence at Nenana, where in 1914 there was but a trading post and a single family. During the past winter 1,000 people have lived in this town, where they now have a newspaper, restaurants, hotel and lodging houses and stores. No minister has yet been placed here to serve their spiritual interests; but the Home Board is now corresponding with one of this year's seminary graduates, expecting to commission him to this work. This is a most promising field for mission work. It is expected that, because of the activity in railroad construction and of the commercial importance due to nearby coal deposits, a large town will soon be built up here.

Bristol Bay. Attention is again called to the spiritual destitution of the Bristol Bay region, which our Board has again found it impossible to enter because of lack of money. The Bureau of Education plans to establish a hospital at Kanakanak the coming summer. There being an excellent opportunity for the establishment of a mission at the same place, the Bureau offers to co-operate in the enterprise. In this section, for the past year, there has been neither priest nor preacher, and 1,700 Esquimaux have been left without the uplifted Christ. How soon will the reproach of such neglect be removed from the Presbyterian Church? Surely, in the midst of the unprecedented prosperity of the East, there must be some man of means willing to provide the money necessary to send a Missionary to Bristol Bay.

Presbytery of Alaska.—A number of transfers have been effected during the year.

Sitka. The Rev. Robert A. Buchanan is now in charge at Sitka, which because of its relation to the Sheldon Jackson School is one of the most important missions in Southeastern Alaska. A large number of additions are reported here, mainly from the school. From every native village representatives are to be found among the 150 children now being educated at Sitka. The influence of the graduates is being felt everywhere for good.

Hoonah. The Rev. George Beck has taken charge here, following the Rev. George Good, who is no longer in the Alaska work. With characteristic zeal, Mr. and Mrs. Beck are attacking the problems met in this large and backward village. Because of delay by the Bureau of Education in adjusting educational matters at Angoon, the establishment of a mission there has not seemed advisable. With the aid of the mission-boat Lois, Mr. Beck will continue to visit this field in connection with his other work.

Haines. The Rev. E. L. Winterberger and wife have continued during the year their effective work at Haines. The farm enterprise is progressing encouragingly. There is every prospect of success in reaching the purpose of making the farm support the mission.

Juneau. This is the capital of the Territory, and has become a large and prosperous town in the center of a great gold-bearing belt. Here the Rev. J. B. Stevens, after a pastorate of seven and a half years, has been compelled by ill health to resign. His faithful work will long be remembered. To fill the vacancy, the Rev. George G. Bruce has been called from Fairbanks. With every encouragement he enters upon a work which promises to be most fruitful. A general reorganization of the work along all lines is projected. A very thorough Every Member Canvass has been undertaken this year, and the Duplex system of church finances has been adopted. It is the confident expectation that this church will soon come to self-support.

The Native Church at Juneau, under the leadership of the Rev. David Waggoner, has just had the best year of its history. For the first time, this church now has a Session and a complete organization. Mrs. Waggoner has organized a W. C. T. U., the first in Alaska to be composed of native women. Problems in village sanitation and morals are being vigorously attacked, and great advancement appears along the lines of civic righteousness.

Thane. The mission here has been attached to the white work at Juneau, a Sunday-school being maintained under the direction of the Pastor of the Northern Light Church. It is hoped that this work may yet be developed into a separate church.

Skagway. During the period of decline a few years ago, what was once a self-supporting Presbyterian church here was transferred to the Methodists. The work now returns to the Presbyterians. A Presbyterian organization is soon to be effected, with the Rev. L. H. Pederson, former minister of the Methodist church, in charge. Recently Mr. Andrew Stevenson, formerly prominent in religious movements in Chicago, has established business relations in Skagway, where his influence and that of his business associates assures the continued success of our work so auspiciously re-established.

Kake. Now vacant because of the removal of Mr. Beck. It is hoped that a consecrated man may soon be found to take up this important native work.

At Ketchikan, Saxman and Loring, and in adjacent territory, the Rev. Edward Marsden has had an unusually busy year. Much of his time is given to Metlakatla, where his native people, the Tsimseans, have been adjusting themselves to the Government's new regime, patiently working out their new and trying problems.

At Wrangell the prominent feature of the year's work has been Bible study. Under the leadership of the Rev. J. S. Clark, much interest in the study of the Word has been manifested in both white and native churches.

On the West Coast of Prince of Wales Island three missions have been sustained for a number of years. Now, because of a decline in population, it seems necessary to close the work at Craig. This will remove the Rev. J. N. Coker from the working force, after several years of excellent service.

Hydaburg. Under the leadership of the Rev. J. L. Howe, the Hydaburg people have entered enthusiastically into the building enterprise, and will soon complete one of the most attractive church edifices in Alaska. The lumber has been sawed out in the mill owned and operated by the natives. The finish is to be in native yellow cedar, taken from the surrounding forest.

Klawock is one of the best organized native churches in the Presbytery. The Rev. E. E. Bromley has served throughout the year with fidelity and success. He plans to follow his people throughout the summer to their fishing camps and canneries, holding services from place to place.

Klukwan. The Rev. Fred. Falconer retains his place in the affections of the natives he has served so long. He proposed transferring to another field, but the remonstrance of the people was so genuine and sincere that he decided to remain with them.

With great effectiveness, the Rev. Dr. S. Hall Young has continued his service as the Special Representative of the Board of Home Missions. Like Paul of old, his name is in all the churches. With a zeal that puts many a younger man to shame, he has visited the churches of the entire country, presenting the claims of Alaska in eloquent appeal and arousing interest and support wherever he goes.

These are epoch-making days in Alaska. Along with the laying of material foundations for the State or States of Alaska eventually to ask admission to the sisterhood of States, there comes the supreme obligation of establishing the pillars of righteousness. This is the function of the Church and its Home Mission Board. Help us occupy "the last frontier."

CITY AND IMMIGRANT WORK

REV. W. P. SHRIVER IN CHARGE

The City and Immigrant Work of the Home Board extends into twenty States. As an indication of the national sweep of this interest, just one-half of these States are west of the Mississippi River. Whether the work is undertaken in a congested Italian colony in the metropolis or in a Bohemian farming community in Texas, in such a polyglot center as Lackawanna (N. Y.) or Gary (Ind.), at the heart of the steel industry or along the iron ranges of Minnesota or Michigan, in an industrial parish in the coal mining towns of Southeastern Kansas or in the heart of the Cascade mountains of Washington, nearly every center occupied presents more or less unique conditions from the standpoint of immigrant population or community life. A program and staff must be developed accordingly. Through such wide experiment in all sections of the country, and in such varied types of immigrant communities, the Home Board is accumulating an experience of utmost value to the whole Church.

Last year approximately $100,000 was expended by the Board in this City, Immigrant and Industrial Work, not including work among the older German populations of the Central West. Eight years ago $25,000 was disbursed. The demands for co-operation in initiating and fostering immigrant work have far outrun the Board's ability. The limited appropriation last year permitted the occupying of two new fields only, one an iron mining community in Michigan, and the other a highly promising work in an Armenian community in Fresno County, California. The Home Board's Immigrant Work in 1916-17 was distributed through eight Synods and 18 Presbyteries, 81 different communities being served. Eleven foreign languages were regularly employed, Italian, Hungarian, Bohemian, Polish, Ruthenian, Bulgarian, Croatian, Yiddish, Armenian, Russian and Arabic. Ninety-seven Missionaries (Pastors, Visitors and lay workers) were engaged in this service for periods of not less than three months each. This figure does not include volunteer or part-time club leaders and workers who are not regularly commissioned by the Board.

New York Presbytery

In New York Presbytery, the Home Missions Committee has received the co-operation of the Board in carrying on its Immigrant Work. In nine of the eleven centers of work where the Italian, Bohemian and Hungarian languages are employed, 246 members were added to the Church in the past year. The total church membership in these centers is 2,173, with 2,719 in the Sunday-school. The American Parish on the upper East Side which federates six of these centers, and which was the first of the Parishes to be organized in immigrant and industrial centers through the co-operation of the Board, has not only proved most successful in making its own work more unified, but has been an inspiration for Presbyteries elsewhere to establish such Parishes.

Industrial Parish Work

It becomes increasingly clear that the Church's ministry to the recent immigrant must be undertaken from a community standpoint. The immigrant is not to be detached from his environing community. His life and progress and that of his family is knit up with the community in which he lives. This lays a larger task upon the Church, and demands that its work in a given immigrant community shall be developed on a more comprehensive scale. It calls for a sympathetic understanding of the previous life and of the social and religious traditions of the immigrant, and at the same time demands that we introduce him to the best that this country has in civic, social and religious ideals. This principle has been the inspiration of the Industrial Parish work of the Home Board, now carried on in no less than nine important industrial communities where the new immigrant is predominant in the population.

The Industrial Parish surveys the community as a whole. It then aims to develop a program which, in the first instance, federates any existing Presbyterian churches and agencies and seeks to inspire them with a more sympathetic attitude to the new immigrant neighbors. This federation is made effective through a Parish Council. Parish or Extension workers are employed with particular reference to the adult immigrant and child life. Young American men and women are employed in this Parish work along with foreign-speaking workers. These Parish workers meet in regular conference, plan their work together and sustain each other. There are common facilities made available through a Parish headquarters, such as a stereopticon service, a Parish paper, a summer camp. Instead of a number of isolated and detached churches and missions, each carrying on its work independently, a common front is presented in a community-wide task. With our own forces thus coordinated, we are placed in better position to co-operate with other churches, civic and social agencies.

During this last year the Synod of Michigan has given over to the Board the development of such a Demonstration Parish in the Iron River Mining District of Michigan. A Parish Council has been set up under the chairmanship of Rev. Earle I. Hamlin. Presbyterian Parish work is now carried on with the Board's co-operation in three of the most important iron mining communities in this country, the Range Parish in Minnesota, the Gogebic Parish in Wisconsin and Michigan, and this latest Iron River District Parish in Michigan. During the year highly encouraging progress has been made in the Cherokee-Crawford Parish in a coal mining community of ninety thousand population in Southeastern Kansas, where Rev. Juett N. McDonald, Pastor of the Pittsburg Church, as Chairman of the Parish Council, has voluntarily assumed large responsibilities. A pamphlet is shortly to be published describing more in detail the methods employed in this latest and most significant adventure in the field of Home Missions.

Permanent Conference on Italian Evangelization

While stressing the community aspects of Immigrant Work, the Home Board has not lost sight of its racial implications. In the spring of 1916 the Board co-operated with the Synods of New York and New Jersey and a number of Presbyteries in bringing about a Conference on Italian Evangelization, held at Princeton Theological Seminary and continuing for three days. Over 100 persons were present, including both Italian-speaking Pastors and representatives from Presbyterian Home Mission agencies concerned. Steps were taken looking to the setting up of a Permanent Conference on Italian Evangelization, similarly organized. The work of the Conference will be made continuous through a series of Standing Committees. The Permanent Committee on Literature and Publication has already given helpful co-operation to our Board of Publication. A Plan for this Permanent Conference has been printed and circulated among Presbyteries concerned. Rev. Francesco Pirazzini, of the Church of the Ascension, New York, is Chairman of a Committee on Organization. He will be pleased to furnish additional information and copies of a pamphlet concerning Italian Evangelization. The Presbyterian Church has the most largely developed work among Italians, with over a hundred churches and missions employing that language. A year ago, over eleven hundred Italian-speaking persons were received into the Church upon confession of faith.

Work Among Poles

A second field in which marked progress is being made from a racial standpoint is found in the Presbyterian propaganda for the Poles, of whom there are over three million in this country, in great number drifting away from active touch with the Roman Church. The Board's co-operation, extended seven years ago to the Polish work inaugurated in Baltimore by Rev. Paul Fox, has borne fruitage in a national movement. The Presbytery of Baltimore with fine vision was inspired from the beginning with this hope. Under the continued leadership of Mr. Fox, with Rev. Joel B. Hayden, Immigrant Fellow of the Home Board, associated, the work in Baltimore has made such progress that a new social and educational building with facilities for worship is about to be erected by the Presbytery. A well-established work among Poles in Wilmington is now wholly sustained by the Presbyterian Union. There is a promising work in Lackawanna Presbytery. During the year the Church Extension Board of Chicago inaugurated a Polish work. A Polish monthly magazine of high calibre, known as the "Advance" has been undertaken by Mr. Fox and Mr. Hayden with the editorship of Mr. Czeslaw Lukaszewicz. The magazine has a circulation of 2,000.

The Home Board is co-operating in this Polish movement with desire that in its initial stages it may be inspired by a common spirit and purpose. Bloomfield Seminary is making an important contribution in a lectureship on the Polish language, history and literature, conducted by Rev. Paul Fox. The acceptance by Mr. Hayden of the pastorate of the Woodland Avenue Church, Cleveland, in a great foreign and working-people's community, will not disserve his active interest in this Polish propaganda.

Work Among the Jews

Still a third field of distinctive racial interest is the work among Jews in Philadelphia, now in its third year. This work is directly under the Trustees of the Presbytery of Philadelphia, Rev. Dr. W. P. Fulton, Superintendent. The Home Board's co-operation involves an annual appropriation of $5,000, for a limited period of years, with its Immigrant Work Office serving in an advisory capacity. The Board has also co-operated in recruiting to the leadership, Rev. Henry L. Hellyer, Superintendent. During the year, Rev. Stanton W. Salisbury, upon his graduation from Auburn Seminary, was added to the staff as Director of Religious Education. The Yiddish language and literature is employed and there is a definite work of evangelism in correlation with an educational and social work. Two hundred persons are enlisted in some activity every day in the week by a staff of three workers with such limited volunteer help as is at hand. Two-thirds of the attendance is from among boys from the ages of five to eighteen. There are seven group clubs touching the lives of more than a hundred different boys. Approximately four hundred different persons are enlisted in the seventeen different activities carried on week by week.

In the face of the well-recognized difficulties of projecting a Christian work in a city Jewish community and against the ancient prejudices of the people, the experience of these early years is thoroughly encouraging. The Presbytery now faces the necessity of providing increased facilities, better equipment and a larger budget commensurate with the task. The Board's participation has been definitely limited by the Synod of Pennsylvania. To quote from a résumé of the work by Mr. Hellyer:

"The Mission staff keeps constantly in mind one thing, viz., the finding of a point of contact whereby the Jew may be reached with the gospel. The failure to attract the adult Jew in large numbers to this time is due to such lack of adequate points of contact. An encouraging exception has been the successful operation of outdoor evangelistic services held on the church lawn throughout the summer months, when thousands of Jews at least heard the Christian message. Prejudice has been gradually and persistently broken down among the Jewish children and among a great many of the adults as well."

The Home Board frankly raises the question how far, upon the present basis of Presbyterian Home Mission work, a country-wide program of Jewish Evangelization may be successfully prosecuted, and such workers as Mr. Hellyer and Mr. Salisbury recruited and sustained in this highly specialized and baffling task.

Daily Vacation Bible Schools

The Daily Vacation Bible School Movement as an adjunct to Home Mission work has been fostered by the Home Board for six years. The Movement has grown steadily in proportions and significance. Last summer 64 schools in twenty-five cities federated their interest under the Home Board's leadership. Groups of schools were included in Baltimore, Chicago, Milwaukee, New York, Cleveland and St. Louis, where the work is definitely under the auspices of the Committees on Home Missions or Church Extension. A second important group of ten schools was conducted by the Synod of Ohio in a mining region in Eastern Ohio. Sixty-four schools reported a total enrollment of ten thousand children, of whom 1,200 were not in attendance at any Sunday-school or other religious school. This coming summer the Home Board will unite with the Sunday School Board, through its Department of Religious Education, in promoting these Daily Vacation Bible Schools. A rich literature has been created under the direction of a Committee from the Mid-West Conference of Presbyterian Daily Vacation Bible Schools.

Survey of the New England Churches

In the summer of 1916, upon request of the Synod of New England, a Survey of the fifty Presbyterian churches in the Synod was carried out, Rev. R. G. Riemann, a fellow of McCormick Theological Seminary, devoting three months to the field work. The Survey was headed up in Synod's meeting at Brookline in a two days' conference on "The Field of the Synod of New England." No Synod in the country is challenged by a more involved task. The great industries of New England have not only accentuated the social problem, but introduced in almost overwhelming number the new immigrant workers from the south and east of Europe. The present concern of the Synod is largely with the city. Thirty-eight of the fifty churches are located in cities of over ten thousand population. Of this number, twenty-two are facing typical "down-town" conditions. Synod appointed a Special Commission in the whole matter of the city church in down-town communities, charged also to inquire into the matter of the indebtedness of about $100,000 resting upon eighteen of the churches. In connection with the Survey, a new field among Ruthenians was opened up in Hartford, and a work among Syrians at Fall River. The Synod is assuming primary responsibility for the thirty thousand Syrians scattered among the manufacturing towns of New England.

Survey of San Francisco-Oakland Presbytery

Among the most significant enterprises undertaken by the Home Board in recent years is the Survey of the churches in the united San Francisco-Oakland Presbytery, identified from the outstart with a concrete and constructive program. In November, Mr. Shriver, in charge of the Board's City and Immigrant Work, established headquarters in San Francisco for a period of six months. He was at once made the acting Executive Secretary of the Church Extension Committee. The Committee and Presbytery set the following objectives:

1. To study the field of the Presbytery as a whole, as the basis of a program to be placed before our constituency, the Home Board and other national agencies concerned.
2. To build up a spirit of fellowship, unity, common purpose and co-operation among our churches and all Presbyterians about the Bay Region.
3. To further prepare the way for a permanent Executive for the Church Extension Committee.
4. To study with particular care certain fields of crucial importance which call for prompt consideration.
5. This whole Forward Movement to head up in the spring in a demonstration of Presbyterian solidarity and united purpose, with a campaign for Home Mission and Church Extension funds.

At this writing it may be said with confidence that this whole program has been carried forward with exceeding encouragement. There is promise of a new era in the work of the sixty churches of this great Coast Metropolis with their more than 8,500 members. The field presents an outstanding challenge to the whole Church.

COUNTRY CHURCH WORK

THE REV. DR. WARREN H. WILSON IN CHARGE

The Community Church and Pastor have been the center of interest among country churches during the past year. The Country Church Work of the Home Board has had no increase in field force, but a very great increase in the number of Pastors working under this office. For the past four years the Country Church Work of the Board has been a service station for Presbyteries in the erecting and maintaining of country pastorates.

1. In setting up of these Community Pastorates, the usual process is for a Presbytery to request that a certain field be taken by the Board for five years as a Demonstration Parish, the purpose being to set up a model for imitation by other churches. In every case we insist upon the minister living with his people in the country and giving substantially full time to the church by which he lives. A neighborly relation and the daily and weekly contact are essential to the building up of a country church.

A good illustration is the church at Argyle, Iowa, of which Rev. Lester H. Bent has become the Pastor. Argyle is a small village on the Santa Fe Road in the southeastern corner of Iowa. Not more than a score of families live in the village itself, but it is in the midst of a populous farming country. There has been a moral improvement in the region, and some economic improvement, but the people have generally been for years indisposed to unite with any church. At the present time the Presbyterian is the only congregation in the town; but no considerable number of its members have had Presbyterian training. There has been a Methodist church at Argyle, a Baptist and a Disciple, each of which has died out, but until within a year never a minister resident in Argyle. We offered the work to Rev. Lester H. Bent, Pastor at Harrison, a suburb of New York City, one of the most promising young men in Westchester Presbytery. He accepted and has been in Argyle for a year. With the help of the Board of Church Election, the church has built him a manse, and since the time of his coming the town has gone forward in every respect. A bank has been established; a real estate enterprise has been launched under the leadership of an Elder in the Presbyterian church; and the consolidation of schools has been voted by a substantial margin, the greatest majority being registered in the district right around Argyle, where the Presbyterian Church has its greatest influence. And yet these things have all been done without any prejudice or complaint against the Pastor or his church. The whole community has enjoyed an advance in connection with the movement to place a Pastor at this church. The generous support of the First Presbyterian Church in Burlington has made possible this enterprise under the Board of Home Missions. The contributions from the people in Argyle are from two to four times what they were under the old system of an absentee preacher on part time.

2. The Board has also had the task of maintaining the older Demonstration Fields. We now are in the fourth year of our responsibility for French Broad Presbytery in the Synod of Tennessee. All the work in this Presbytery is under Country Church Work, and the results in evangelism are appearing, which most country churches lack. Whereas the average in a Presbyterian church last year was three percent addition to the membership on confession of faith, in French Broad Presbytery it was thirty percent. The community church doctrine and service has put the Presbyterian Church in the Southern Mountains very high in the esteem of the whole population.

George H. Packard, M.D., the physician at White Rock, embodies the gospel of healing. The Presbytery is this year beginning the erection of a hospital which will embody and house the work of Dr. Packard and of Miss Mabel B. Rich, the public health nurse. At White Rock also, which is the central station of work under the Country Church Work, we have this last year purchased a farm and have organized a Rural Credit Association under the guidance of the state officer who inspects these Credit Associations in the State of North Carolina. The purpose of it is to secure money for loaning to farmers at a low rate of interest for productive purposes. The farm, which is under the direction of Mr. J. S. LeFevre, is a Demonstration Farm having as its purpose the illustration of better methods of farming for a people who must depend upon farming for their subsistence.

The first great blessing in this community service program is the blessing of souls saved. In all the work for country churches the first proof of Divine favor is in the unusual number of men and women who come into these churches on confession of faith. A good illustration of this is in the work of Rev. J. H. Gruver at Reem's Creek, North Carolina. The foundation of this appeal to the heart and to the conviction in Mr. Gruver's case is not merely his devotion and ability as an Evangelist, but chiefly his residence among the people during the past seven years. He has given his whole life to these people, and they are giving their lives to the Lord.

3. These Demonstration Parishes, the purpose of which is to show how the Country Church is to be organized, are now set up in nine States, from North Carolina to the State of Washington. Two Presbyteries in the South—French Broad and Cumberland Mountain—contain the greatest number of these pastorates, all of which are missionary pastorates among a people as yet incapable of self-support. In Arkansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Washington the churches should soon be self-supporting. But our purpose is to maintain a large and useful work rather than to shorten the period of dependence. We maintain these churches to champion the cause of the Country Pastor, to bring before all Christian folk the difficulties and burdens of the Country Church and to bring to the attention of the men in the ministry the need of resident, sympathetic and intelligent service. Above all these Demonstration Parishes are exhibiting that the Presbyterian Church is an ideal organization for developing the community.

4. The biggest single task we have is the Cumberland Mountain Presbytery. The first year of the work of the Board in this Presbytery is just ended. It was impossible under the economies of the past year to secure the needed amount for setting up an adequate presbyterial organization for these thirteen counties of mountain territory. However, the enthusiasm of the people for this new enterprise, the large audiences encountered everywhere, the adherence of school men and business men to our plans, and the generous praise and interest awakened in the new proposal—all promise a most successful campaign. We have been able to secure the services of Rev. J. H. Miller, D.D., to be the Supervisor of the Presbytery. Two young men from Lane Seminary have gone into new territory in the Presbytery—Rev. H. L. Weir and Rev. R. C. Cross. A Country Life Camp was held for one week at Cookeville, Tennessee. All the members of the Presbytery and women workers therein were schooled in the principles and in the methods of Community Service.

5. Several tasks have occupied the attention of the field force of Country Church Work. First, the raising of funds for this extending work; second, the enlisting of students; and, third, the convincing of the minds of lukewarm men in the Church itself. We have therefore during the past year approached the churches, with the consent of the Board, to secure the support of definite enterprises laid upon us by the Presbyteries. They have generously responded. There is much more of this work needed. We have preached everywhere that Old Testament righteousness and prosperity are essential to the acceptance by the people generally of the New Testament hope. The churches have responded with generous enthusiasm to their fellowship with their brethren in Western and Southern fields, to whom this prosperity in harmony with righteousness and intelligence has not yet fully come.

The great work before the Board of Home Missions is to convince men that the country church is a serviceable institution. The only hope of the country church in the West and South, where the Board of Home Missions serves is in the work of community service. The Country Pastor must stand ready to lead his people in meeting every need of the countryside. He must, like Rev. J. M. Robison at Culleoka, Tennessee, and Rev. H. L. Weir at Alpine, Tennessee, organize a road-making campaign; or like the Rev. W. E. Finley, D.D., organize a Co-operative Credit Association; or like Rev. Millar Burrows at Wallace Church, Texas, direct the work of his people on a demonstration plot for the study of diversified farming; or like Rev. O. O. St. John near Kimball, Nebraska, lead his people in the erection of a community hall as a parish house of the church out on the prairies. These are all forms of evangelism, because they speak to the heart and to the mind of the farmer. They penetrate to his knowledge of the need in his community; they explain religion to him in the terms of his daily anxieties and of his daily wants; they fulfil the Old Testament, while the preacher is every Sunday preaching the New Testament.

In all parts of the country and in every denomination men and women are arising with this hope in their mind and heart—that the church in the country will be a neighborhood society organizing and leading the people in obedience to the Lord's command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

CUBA

THE REV. DR. J. MILTON GREENE, HAVANA

What has Cuba to show after 16 years? What has resulted from her 20 churches, 15 outstations, and 18 schools? Much—very much—that American eyes cannot see and American hearts cannot fully appreciate.

Of course we must remember that results are related to causes, not only in kind but in proportion. Up to the close of 1914, the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions had spent $818,194.57 in Porto Rico, and $377,741.35 in Cuba—a difference of $440,453.22. Cuba has an area of 44,164 square miles, with nearly two and a half million inhabitants, while Porto Rico has an area of only 3,435 square miles with only a little over a million inhabitants. We had housed only three of our Cuban churches until a year since, when we added a fourth. All our other work has been carried on in rented apartments, which Cubans cannot respect as they do church edifices.

From the first the situation has seemed to demand from us careful attention to the "3 P's"—Prevision, Prevention, Provision. We have seen that, as between adults and youth, our emphasis must be upon the latter. Furthermore, as an offset to undisciplined childhood, wilful youth and convulsive manhood, as well as to the morally poisonous conditions existing in the average home, we must seek to preempt, as soon as possible and to the utmost in daily instruction and influence, the minds and hearts of the children. We have also sought to provide, both for the youth and for the adults, all the benefits of the Christian Church in her instruction, worship and activities. But for the Divine blessing, all our efforts would doubtless have been choked by the cordon of Roman Catholic schools set up all around us, and by the unscrupulous and untiring efforts of the traditional Church in the use of her Jesuitical methods.

As indicating in a word the desperate need for the instruction and care of the youth of Cuba, let me cite the fact, well authenticated, that of 300 men recently examined by one of our number for gymnastic exercises only 15 were found to be free from disease. Ninety-five per cent. were victims of the existing domestic, social and moral conditions. In contrast to these I love to look upon the groups of young people in our various congregations, educated under our influence, and in not a few cases now married and having Christian homes of their own. Then I say: "Behold the first fruits of a new and saner Cuba!" This feeling is intensified when, standing in one of our annual Endeavor and Sabbath-school conventions, I look upon the 300 delegates, hear them sing the praises of Jesus, and plan for an evangelized Cuba.

That a great moral upheaval and marvelous spiritual results are not to be expected soon in Latin America can but be apparent to all after the Panama Congress. In this warfare, we must be content with slow approaches and a system of intrenchments. With our 2,000 Sabbath-school scholars, 800 children in day-schools, 300 youth in Endeavor Societies, and 1,200 church members, we are not satisfied; no! but we cannot doubt that our policy has been justified by the results.

Among the fruits that cannot be tabulated are not only the toleration but the widely-expressed endorsement of our evangelical work as truly representing the Christian religion in its purity. The personality of our ministry and membership in general is frequently cited as a satisfactory credential of the Divine sanction upon our work. Our careful isolation from partisan politics, our conciliatory attitude toward the Roman Catholic element while outspoken in the demonstration of their errors, our philanthropic activities in the way of social uplifting, our gratuitous services wherever needed to end concubinage and to secure justice for the oppressed—all these and many such things have served to root our missionary work deeply in Cuban hearts and to promote its growth.

While I write, we are in the throes of civil revolution. For these people the difficulty in establishing a republic and maintaining self-government is that, while a majority of votes must determine the result of their elections, the great mass of the people are so steeped in Jesuitism and so lacking in intelligence and moral culture that there is little hope for a worthy choice or an honest and progressive administration of the government. Statistics show that, in a population of over 2,000,000, over 200,000 false votes were cast at the last election, and not all by one party.

Yesterday for the first time in my experience I, with all other pedestrians, was prohibited from walking near the presidential palace. It seems that bomb-throwing was feared. The Oriente Province is in the hands of the Revolutionists, four of our principal papers in Havana have been suspended, dozens of arrests are made daily in this city for conspiracy, and we are wondering, watching and praying. Several of our services have been suspended. Our ministers are doing Red Cross work. But for the Platt Amendment, not a ray of light would appear.

INDIAN MISSIONS

THE REV. DR. THOMAS C. MOFFETT IN CHARGE

No one can review the record of the past year of Indian interests without the impression that the native American race is making a decided material and spiritual advance. With the more determined and systematic efforts of the various Protestant Churches to reach the neglected tribes and to improve the established work, and under the present Federal service at Washington, in connection with the new policies adopted on the Indian reservations, an era of progress and freedom is being ushered in. The Presbyterian Church has been in the vanguard, our missions in twenty States among fifty-seven tribal divisions being potent forces for Indian uplift.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs reports 335,753 of the population of the United States, exclusive of Alaska, classed as Indians. Of these 180,504 are citizens and 292,720 are known to wear civilized dress.

Among the greatest gains to the Indian mission cause have been the confidence and the hearty relations established with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, the Hon. Cato Sells, and with his associates of the Indian Office at Washington. A notable advance move toward the betterment of conditions among the Indians, aiding them to self-support, has resulted from a visit of the Commissioner to the Indian reservations through the West. Health considerations and the suppression of the liquor traffic have been given great prominence; stock raising, and the promotion of industry from a reimbursable appropriation have been developed; the number of acres farmed by Indians has been greatly increased; and an improved vocational training and a new educational system have been worked out by leaders of the Government schools and the Washington office. This program has now been introduced throughout the Federal service.

Special efforts in evangelism have marked the year, and the additions to a number of the Indian churches have been the largest recorded for a long period. The Quiniaiekt Mission of Tohahlah, Washington, was organized into a church on February 18, with 16 members, and 12 Bible class pupils were then baptized. At the Old Dwight Mission school in Oklahoma 15 new members were received into the church on February 11. The Chippewa Mission on the Lac du Flambeau Reservation, Wisconsin, was rejoiced to have in December seventeen of the Government-school pupils take their stand in open profession of faith.

The faithful and energetic service rendered by alert and untiring Missionaries on the Indian fields is illustrated by the report of the Rev. Dirk Lay, of the Pima work in Arizona, who in one quarter had traveled 1,500 miles, made 431 pastoral calls, and with the assistance of his Indian helpers reached 700 homes in pastoral visitation and counsel. The spirit of consecration and service on the part of the Indians themselves is specially noticeable on the fields so long served by Dr. Charles H. Cook, the pioneer Missionary.

Equally impressive have been some of the reports from the newer Navajo missions in Arizona and New Mexico, where the gospel is gaining its first entrance to the hearts and lives of a considerable number of this large and long-neglected tribe of over thirty thousand Indians. The Christmas celebrations were attended by large numbers of pagan Navajos, who for the first time heard the Glad Tidings proclaimed, and shared in the gifts and services of this season.

The Iowa Mission near White Cloud, Kansas, has experienced a gracious revival, and conditions on this reservation have been transformed through the influence of the church.

One of the greatest needs of the Indian work is now being provided for by appropriations the Board has made for the educating of native ministers and church leaders. The Indian young people who have had the privileges of Governmental and Mission schools now come back to their reservation homes and churches prepared for a better type of ministry and of instruction than has, hitherto been provided. An inefficient and uneducated leadership for the younger generation of Indians cannot longer maintain the work or hold the membership. Realizing the new demands, the Board has now provided for systematic courses of training at the Charles H. Cook School, Phoenix, Arizona; at Henry Kendall College, Tulsa, Oklahoma; and at the Bible Training Department of Santee Institute, in Nebraska. In the well planned building recently erected at Santee, and under the direction of Rev. Jesse P. Williamson, new advancement is expected in training ministers for work among the Dakotas and other tribes of the Plains. This work is conducted in co-operation with the American Missionary Association, and effects comity between the Congregational and Presbyterian denominations in the Indian service. At Henry Kendall College, students from the five civilized tribes and others of Oklahoma will be received for a special curriculum of study, provision being made by the Boards of Home Missions and of Education for necessary financial aid, the College offering free tuition and instruction.

The Medical Missions to the Navajos and Omahas have been conducted with great beneficence. A special fund of $10,000 is almost completed for the new hospital to be located at Red Rock, in the Presbytery of Santa Fe. Within a radius of thirty miles from this point a territory will be served in which heretofore the Indians have had no medical or surgical relief, and the power of the Shamans has been dominant.

The building of greatly needed chapels and manses has been facilitated by the action of the last General Assembly, authorizing the Board of Church Erection so to amend its rules as to permit its granting the total amount required for aid to the Indian missions in securing houses of worship and residences. The Board has generously complied with this provision, and the equipment so essential, especially on the newer and the pagan Indian fields, will be provided.

For the Papago Indians in Arizona, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs urged that a Reservation be created, so as to prevent further settlement of outsiders in their country. His recommendations were approved, and on January 14, 1916, an executive order was promulgated, including the principal part of the country which has for generations been occupied by these Indians. Now that the Government holds the legal title to the lands, it is taking active steps to advance the interests of the Indians in their effort at self-support. Already, five day schools have been established at various points in the Papago Reservation.

The Indian Appropriation Act for the current year includes provision for two diversion dams, which will inure to the benefit of the Pima Indians belonging to the Gila River Reservation in Arizona. There is a marked contrast between the former needy condition of the Pimas and their present hopeful attitude. Ample rains during the past season have added to their comfort through more abundant harvests.

Along with the increasing spirit of independence in a material way, and more and more as the number of converts to the Christian faith increases, the Indians are learning to contribute to their church and mission efforts. It is a lesson not easily learned by a people coming out of absolute paganism, and out of a primitive life in which generosity and altruistic motives have never been cultivated.

An effort in the past few years to prevent the use by Indians of anhalonium, or peyote, has not been altogether successful. No provision of Federal law has been secured, although urged by the Indian Bureau and by many students of the Indian problem. The peyote buttons, obtained by cutting the top from a small cactus, are collected in Mexico and shipped into the Indian country. Judging from the results of efforts heretofore made to suppress its use, its devotees evidently maintain lobbyists to oppose legislation intended to place a ban on the drug.

The majority of the Government boarding schools are systematically and regularly provided with Sabbath-school organizations, Sabbath preaching, general assembly, religious exercises, and denominational instruction and nurture in the faith, the pupils being classified into church groups. This is in accordance with the rules of the Office of Indian Affairs. Recent rulings of the Commissioner have definitely encouraged the recognition by the whole Government school service of the value of missionary effort, and of more than a formal or technical compliance with the regulations providing for religious instruction. Young People's Societies, Y. M. C. A.'s and graduate student organizations are sanctioned, and adequate time is allotted for their services. Popular education has for some years been the policy of the Indian Bureau. During the present Administration a notable increase has been made in the number of Indian pupils attending the public day-schools. The fiscal year 1916 shows 28,463 Indian pupils in attendance in the public schools of the States.

A great opportunity is presented to Christian men and women through the need of the Civil Service for additional workers on the Government Indian fields. Our attention is directed to this by the Indian Office itself, which would be happy to have a larger number of capable workers, especially field matrons, available for its service. So keen is its sense of the need of Christian quality in its service that a recent Indian Commissioner began a deliberate appeal to the student volunteers to the Foreign Mission field and to the Home Mission agencies to send men of missionary consecration to take the civil service examinations. It is hoped that members of the Church will take note of this, and will co-operate for the enlisting of suitable men and women to take the examinations and enter the Indian Service.

The latest statistics gathered showed some seventy-eight tribes and bands of Indians needing Christian missions, and 47,300 Indians unprovided with missionaries or the privileges of Christian worship. The Louisville Ministerial Association, impressed with the neglect of many Indian tribes by the organized religious forces, recently passed the following resolution:

"That the members of the Ministerial Association urge in their congregations, and, if possible, in their denominations, more active attention to Indian Missions, that the serious reproach against the Christian Churches of this country of having, after more than a century of missionary enterprise, not yet reached one-half of our Indian population, may be removed at the earliest possible date."

The Indian populations of the United States offer a neglected field of opportunity for Sunday-school missionary effort. Where churches and mission stations have been established among the Indians, it is estimated that about one-third of the congregations have no Sunday-schools for the children and youth. Further than this, the schools that have been established generally lack system, no teacher training or normal instruction being furnished, and literature especially adapted to the conditions and needs of Indians being almost unknown. The supply of illustrated literature of a simple character suitable for use among the Indians is a need almost untouched as yet. Most of the tribes have no written language.

Among the Iroquois of western New York state, Rev. Morton F. Trippe, D.D., served for thirty-five years as a missionary of the Presbyterian Church, and in May, 1916, passed to his reward. Untiring in his preaching and traveling work, Dr. Trippe earned the greatest love and respect of the whole community at Salamanca, where he resided the greater part of his life, and among the Indian churches which he served on the Alleghany, Tonowanda and Cornplanter reservations. A constituency of about 1,000 Iroquois Indians is now included in seven organized Presbyterian churches in this section of New York state.

The golden wedding of Dr. and Mrs. John P. Williamson, of Greenwood, South Dakota, and the recent eightieth birthday of Dr. Charles H. Cook, veteran missionary to the Pima Indians of Arizona, gladden the hearts of all Christian workers who rejoice that these leaders have been spared through so many years of service.

The American Indian race is slowly but surely coming into the light and liberty of Christian faith and civilization. Robbed of his primitive faith with its superstitions, elaborate ceremonies and the dominance of the medicine man, the Indian is realizing that the Christian religion is his new heritage and hope. Paganism is on its last legs, and the younger generation of educated Indians has no further use for its rites and ceremonies, except here and there in the observances of outward forms and traditional customs. This is the opportunity of the Church and its missionaries to inculcate the teachings of Christianity to the whole race of red men. In spiritual, social and industrial advances the Indians have moved slowly, but during the last decade this rate of progress has been accelerated. A new spirit is manifest in Indian affairs.

LUMBER CAMP MISSIONS

Since the last Annual Report the Rev. Dr. Thomas D. Whittles has been made Supervisor of the Lumber Camp Work. Long interested in the Camp Work, he is well-known as the author of The Parish of the Pines, which tells of the life and work of the late Frank E. Higgins, the beloved Lumberjack Sky Pilot. Dr. Whittles writes:

From Maine to Oregon, in those commonwealths where lumbering is an important industry, Presbyterian Missionaries are at work among the logging camps. Other denominations have left this parish to us almost exclusively. Today the spiritual care for the Lumberjack is in Presbyterian hands alone.

The past year the Board of Home Missions and the independent Synods have supported 15 full-time Lumber Camp Chaplains, four additional workers, dividing their time between the camps and the mission churches, and one general worker. In the Synod of Washington the camp force has doubled during the year. Washington stands first among the States as a lumber-producer; and, according to the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, has 80,000 men in its lumber industry. Minnesota also has received this year a new worker and part-time aid.

Prejudice against Camp Evangelism has almost disappeared among the woodsmen. A new spirit has arisen which recognizes evangelistic efforts as helpful and welcomes Evangelists. The logging companies as well as their men favor our ministrations, and sometimes ask the assistance of the Missionaries to fight against materialism, whose propaganda is at present decidedly militant on the Pacific Coast.

Every year is a year of progress. Camp conditions show a marked improvement. Progressive corporations are spending large sums for better housing and the installation of iron beds, mattresses, shower-baths, electric lights and modern sanitation. Welfare ideas find ready acceptance. A better day has dawned. But it is impossible to tabulate results. The Lumberjack has a roving disposition and natural reticence. Yet we do know of many professed conversions, reunited families, sons returned to their homes, and inspiration to better living. Literature has been distributed to many camps, new libraries have been established, over 1,200 books having been donated for that purpose. Copies of the Scriptures and thousands of "Little Johns"—as the separate edition of the Gospel of John is called—have been distributed and welcomed.

Where the camps are near the settlements, the Lumberjacks are likely to spend their Sundays in the villages, leaving the Missionaries free to labor elsewhere. Several of the camp preachers have thus ministered to unchurched settlements, and have organized two churches during the year.

The chief hindrance to the work has been the lack of funds. The camp force should be doubled and trebled, if we are to meet the demands made by Presbyteries and Synods. A survey recently made of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, at the instance of the Synod's Committee on Home Missions, found there more than 12,000 Lumberjacks, but a field still untouched. Evangelization waits for funds. Wisconsin and California need and request such work. Oregon, with its growing lumber industry, should have additional workers. The force in Washington is quite inadequate to do the work among 80,000 men, where one of its tireless Missionaries is trying to serve a parish of 20,000 woodmen, and another of like spirit has 15,000 parishioners. And what of the Mountain States? and the Southwest? and the Southeast? In their camps there are no Missionaries today.

THE MEXICAN WORK

THE RÉV. DR. ROBERT M'LEAN, MISSIONARY IN CHARGE

The raids of Mexican bandits, the strained relations between Mexico and the United States, the massing of troops on the Border, the invasion of Mexican territory, and the atmosphere of suspicion and unrest that envelops the world today have contributed to make Mission Work among the Mexicans increasingly difficult. Even our Mission Work itself, both school and church work, has been represented as a part of a great American scheme to acquire control of Mexican industries and then to bring the whole country under the American flag.

Yet these hindrances have their hopeful side. Our Mexican ministry of the future will be a ministry tested in the faith and tried by fire. Many of the better-class Mexicans have already taken out citizenship papers. Their children are growing up under influences that will remove them farther and farther from the ideals of their fathers and bring them into harmony with those of America. Had the Christian Churches of the United States followed up the work of Melinda Rankin, the saintly Missionary who went to Mexico in the early fifties to give them "Bibles instead of bullets," and had there been expended in schools and gospel work one tithe of what has been expended in military demonstration in the past year, we would have no Mexican problem to vex us today,—no menace on our Mexican Border.

The Lord has graciously given us an opportunity to retrieve the past in the half million and more who have come to us since the revolutions began. In the children of these refugees will be found the greatest possibility of promoting a better understanding and good will between the two peoples. Coming from a land laid waste, where they have known nothing but terror and want, these children at least appreciate the safety they find here, and even if there is not always plenty, what little they have can be enjoyed in peace.

Such Mexicans as have embraced the gospel have proved models of faith and patience in trial, of reverence and sincerity in worship. Naturally more religious than Americans, they make greater sacrifices when once truly converted. The year past has been one of remarkable growth in our work in the three great centers of Los Angeles, with its Mexican population of 50,000 to 60,000; El Paso, with 40,000 (not counting Juarez, just across the bridge on the Mexican side), and San Antonio, Texas, with some 40,000. In these points there is an imperative demand for prompt and vigorous missionary work and for large outlay of men and money. Even in the smaller towns there has been a strengthening of the bonds that bind to the United States and a weakening of the ties that have bound to the traditions of old Mexico and to the faith of old Spain. We are gathering the material for the coming working force for the evangelization of the Mexican people. In Colorado we already have three generations of Presbyterians of Mexican blood, splendid material for American citizenship.

It is time for American churches to take a more active interest in the unevangelized Mexicans who surround them. The churches of Redlands, California, Rev. Nathan D. Hynson, Pastor, and of the First Church of El Paso, Texas, Dr. Charles L. Overstreet, Pastor, are grappling with the Mexican problem, coming to a better understanding between the people of the two races, and finding an uplift for both helper and helped. In the light of the Master's teaching, it is impossible to conceive of a church located in the midst of a needy, dying people and yet not stirred to give them life; yet such churches are found all through the great Southwest. Many churches that have been able to give but little proof of their right to exist would take on new life, if they would exert themselves to help their Mexican neighbors by kindergartens, night schools, teaching English and other social service preparing them for leadership in home, society, church and state.

The Mexican conditions are a national problem as well as a missionary call. Our Government will spend millions to guard against contagious diseases, whether they threaten man, beast or harvest. A few hundred thousands now would safeguard us against the physical, moral, spiritual and political diseases now threatening us from this sadly neglected people.

In not even one of the great strategic centers—Los Angeles, El Paso, San Antonio—have Presbyterians even a semblance of a building of their own for service among the Mexicans. The Roman Catholic Church is taking advantage of our neglect to win back those who have practically repudiated papal authority. They are building fine school and church buildings for Mexican use. Without even the semblance of sacrifice, Presbyterians could provide splendid institutions in these centers of Mexican life. Ten cents a year from each member of our Church—two packages of chewing gum less in a year, or one less movie—would furnish enough to build and equip three great institutional plants, which would do more to uplift the Mexican people, as well as to promote right relations between the people of the two nations, than our Army and Navy can ever accomplish at the cost of millions.

PORTO RICO

THE REV. A. ROY THOMPSON, CHAIRMAN OF HOME MISSION
COMMITTEE

Porto Rico is a new Territory—with a capital T—for now the Porto Ricans have American citizenship. Almost without exception they are very proud of the fact. This makes it doubly clear that America's duty to Porto Rico is to give her best gift—the gospel, for that is the heart of our civilization.

A hasty survey of the Presbyterian work in Porto Rico shows that we have a few stations on the northern coast, near the east end of the Island and about one quarter of the Island at the west end. We begin naturally at San Juan, the capital and also a city of 50,000 people, where all tourists land. There we find a large field and a great opportunity. The Rev. Dr. J. W. Countermine, the Pastor of the American Church, is leaving by order of his physician, after an attack of typhoid fever. His going leaves pastorless thousands of Americans engaged there in commercial, governmental and fruit-growing pursuits. Our Spanish Church in San Juan, cared for by the Rev. Angel Archilla, is a city church with a real city problem. The suburban church, at Santurce, under the care of the Rev. F. Garcia, is successfully meeting the difficulties incident to a shifting population. The nearby churches in the districts of Toa Alta, Corozal and Naranjito make a very full work for the Rev. Jose L. Santiago, whose wife conducts a successful kindergarten at Toa Alta.

The larger part of the work of the Presbyterian Church is that at the west end of the Island. There the Isabela district includes the churches of Isabela, Quebradillas and Jobos, with some 30 services a week. At Jobos (pronounced "hoboes," though its people are hard-working small landholders) we have a very faithful and active church. At Isabela, the first church to have a regularly installed Pastor, a long step has been taken toward self-support. The solid success of the work throughout the district is indisputable proof of the wisdom of present and former Missionaries in their earnest, sincere and persistent presentation of the gospel.

Aguadilla, one of the first fields occupied, is the home of our second largest church. In that vicinity, under the ministry of the Rev. E. S. Lheureux, an interesting group of seven churches is rapidly approaching self-support, the goal steadily set before all our churches. One church, already paying its total salary and incidentals, has the added distinction of a member who has brought into the church all the other members of his family.

At Anasco, the Rev. Jose Osuna has had interesting success in spite of hard conditions. An interdenominational evangelistic campaign has greatly quickened the churches and brought many into their membership.

Similar results followed the campaign at Mayaguez, where we have a Central Church, and one at La Marina, in the harbor district. Here also are located the Rye Hospital, and the Seminario Teologico Portorricense, whose students supply seven churches in the vicinity.

Cabo Rojo is an immense field, in which certain preaching places are now closed for lack of a man to supply them. There are three churches in Cabo Rojo, one in Maricao, and a chapel at Las Marias, all under the superintendency of the Rev. J. A. McAllister, President of the Seminary in Mayaguez. Two men are working and two more are needed in Maricoa and Las Marias, the latter of which is showing a marked growth and will soon need organization.

Lares and San Sebastian, a mountainous territory under the supervision of the Rev. Byron G. Sager, are noticeable for their increased interest and for the active campaign in the country near San Sebastian, carried on by a young licentiate recently graduated from the seminary.

At San German, the location of the Polytechnic Institute, Rev. J. W. Harris, President, the Rev. Arthur James has been struggling with the difficulties of a new language and of a very large field requiring constant attention. The work in this district is quite flourishing, except where interrupted in two places by prolonged illness and insufficient help.

In general we should note a most important educational work in the churches, large numbers to take part in well attended prayer meetings, thriving Sunday-schools which seriously need well prepared officers and teachers, and many fields unoccupied for lack of funds. The new Jones-Shaffroth Act gives general satisfaction. All these conditions combined impose upon Presbyterians increasing responsibility to give Porto Rico the gospel as civilization's heart and hope.

IV. Promotion and Administration

ASSEMBLY'S COMMITTEE ON EVERY MEMBER PLAN

Together with the other Boards of the Assembly, the Board of Home Missions co-operates in the promotion of the Every Member Plan among the churches. This work is in charge of the Assembly's Committee on the Every Member Plan, whose report is presented to the General Assembly through the Executive Commission.

PRESBYTERIAN HOME MISSION COUNCIL

This organization is assuming a more and more important place in the Presbyterian Home Mission program of administration. The General Assembly has now provided that it shall meet regularly during the three days immediately preceding the Assembly itself. Its acts at Atlantic City in May, 1916, were then reported in full and its recommendations appear in the Assembly Minutes

LITERATURE OFFICE

The varied work of the Literature Office is vitally connected with that of Home Mission advancement. In the program of publicity its part has to do with the distribution of literature, the circulation of stereopticon lectures, the arrangement of itineraries for exhibit materials, and the promotion of missionary education and study classes.

After 18 years of combined work, the Literature Offices of the Assembly's and the Woman's Boards of Home Missions were separated two years ago. Since then, with a slightly increased budget, the confusion attendant upon the separation has been overcome, the efficiency of the service increased and much new literature added. During the past year 15 new publications have been added, with a total of 593,000 copies, 8,614,000 pages, and $2,254 cost. The year's total distribution of free material was 678,390 copies. The greatest demand was for the Sunday-school Home Mission Day programs, of which 400,000 were used on the Sundays nearest Thansgiving Day and Washington's Birthday, the topics being Porto Rico and The Immigrant for America. The first output of The A-B-C of Home Missions was 200,000 copies. There was a large circulation of the Home Mission Week booklet and of that on Home Mission Service, a help to Pastors and leaders who "want to know how" to make effective use of the Board's literature, exhibits, lectures, stereopticon slides and mission study books.

To the already long list of superb stereopticon slides the Board has added new lectures on Porto Rico, The Lumberjacks, Country Life, and The Church in the Small Community. Other lectures soon to be issued deal with the work among the Italians, the Hungarians and the Mexicans. Altogether the Office now has 47 sets of slides, on 20 subjects. Almost 1,000 slides were colored during the year by our expert colorist, whose work is of exceptionally high character. During the summer of 1916, the prevalence of infantile paralysis caused a great slump in slide rentals, which, however, was more than made good by the demand in connection with the observance of Home Mission Week. More than 400 orders were filled altogether, a total of over 100 more than in the preceding year.

Charts are in constant demand presenting graphically and picturesquely the nature and progress of Home Mission work. Scores of such charts were added during the year to the Board's exhibits, many of them being used at the General Assembly, for Synodical and Presbyterial meetings, and in churches wishing to acquaint their congregations with Home Mission problems and results. Advice and other assistance have also been given in the preparation of charts for Synods and Presbyteries making Home Mission surveys. The large model of an Ideal Rural Community Center shown at the General Assembly last year continues to attract much interested attention.

Leaders of Mission Study Classes have been in constant touch with the office, seeking helps and suggestions. The Advance in the Antilles and The South Today were the text-books used in co-operation with the Missionary Education Movement. Their circulation, demanding constant attention, proves that there is a large and fruitful field in the Sunday-schools and the Men's Organizations alone—the only organizations among which the Board can work in the promotion of Mission Study.

MISSIONARY EDUCATION

The reduced force of the Board and the shortage of funds continues to embarrass the Board's operations in this field. Correspondence has been conducted during the year through the Literature Office, and supplies have been sent out to those seeking them, including text-books and collateral pamphlet and leaflet literature. Most of the supplies come from the Missionary Education Movement, in whose management and shaping of policy representatives of the Home Board continue to serve. Under the auspices of this Movement and the Department of Religious Education of the Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work numerous summer conferences are organized. On these programs Home Board representatives take part, conducting mission study classes, leading institutes and giving missionary addresses.

The embarrassment of this Board becomes the more acute each year as its defective organization in this field contrasts with a vigorous propaganda for missionary education that is being pressed by other denominational Boards under highly organized auspices and with large budgets.

SOCIAL SERVICE

A steadily increasing amount of the Board's work is dealing with community problems. Every phase of social service is thus touched. For two or three years there has, however, been a serious embarrassment in the lack of funds and force to push the propaganda in social evangelism. Notice has been sent the Board that Presbyteries throughout the Church, under the leadership of the Rochester Presbytery, are overturing the Assembly for the appointment of a Social Service Commission independent of the present Boards and Permanent Committees of the Assembly. The overture proposes that this Commission shall conduct the social service propaganda in the Presbyterian Church along lines similar to that conducted by Social Service Commissions in all of the other leading denominations of the country. The Board has expressed its interest in this project, and its belief that the proper conduct of the work of such a Commission would create an atmosphere in which the social work committed to the Board might prosper as never before.

STUDENT ENLISTMENT

RALPH A. FELTON IN CHARGE

Even theological students must see the need before becoming much interested in Home Mission Service. Last summer the Board sent 44 students to work in Home Mission fields during their four months' vacation. These men were enthusiastic about their work. One hundred and eighty members were added during this short time to the churches they served. Families that for years had been without pastoral care received much help from these young men. In many places life is lonely and uninteresting; but, with their activity and enthusiasm, these students made 7,000 calls, provided for social needs, and conducted nearly 300 recreational enterprises.

But the best side of this summer work—in fact the chief reason for the Board's undertaking it—is the effort to enlist the students themselves for Home Missions, so that they will take up such work upon completion of their theological studies. Conferences are held during the year at colleges, universities and theological seminaries for the purpose of getting men to volunteer for missionary service in the home land.

The spirit of sacrifice found among the students is most encouraging. As one of them expressed it: "Here at college we hear more about service than anything else." Impossible as it seems for the Church ever to overtake its task of securing right leadership, there is much at present that is most hopeful.

V. Interdenominational Co-operation

It is as unnecessary as it is impossible to outline here the numerous organizations and activities now bringing the Protestant denominations into co-operation. The development of these is now very rapid. Every year reveals a new phase. The progress cannot be too rapid. The consciousness that the great tasks of spiritual regeneration are impossible with divided forces is now pressing home upon all. The farthest reaching plans now formed are all too inadequate to marshal as one host the religious forces of the land. As stated in an earlier portion of this Report, officers and other representatives of the Board are much occupied with interdenominational duties. No attempt is here made to review the organization and activities of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America whose work is reported at length in its own publications. Among other organizations with which the Board and its representatives are closely related are the following:

Home Missions Council

This organization is of denominational Home Mission Boards and is not to be confused with the Presbyterian Home Mission Council mentioned above. Each annual meeting surpasses in importance its predecessor. This Council has completed its tenth year. The Annual Report, available at a nominal charge, embraces about two hundred and fifty pages. An appendix reviews the earlier years of the Council's history and thus with earlier volumes puts in print a complete record of its work. Mention is made in the introductory portion of this Report of the large significance of the Council's projects for the early future.

Missionary Education Movement

This agency exists to promote missionary education and to supply literature required by the denominational Missionary Boards, both Home and Foreign. During the past year it has added largely to the books, pamphlets and accessories of mission study.

Committee of Twenty-Eight

This is a group of the number indicated, representing Home and Foreign Mission Boards of the United States, seven each chosen by the Home Missions Council, the Council of Women for Home Missions, the Conference of Foreign Mission Boards, and the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions. The Committee is entirely advisory but embodies a fellowship and a concert of plans which insures an advancing efficiency in pressing the missionary appeal. It has successfully projected united programs of missionary education for several years past and has mapped out similar programs for several years in advance. The theme for 1917-18 emphasizes the Italians as a representative racial group in America, and Africa and primitive forms of religion abroad. The standard text-book for mission study classes, treating of the Home Mission theme, has been prepared by Professor Mongano, a leading Italian Evangelical in the United States. It is a work of unique merit and should be studied by young people and adult groups in all the churches.

For 1918-19 the theme chosen is "Christianity and the World's Workers," on which both Home and Foreign missionary agencies unite. The author of the standard text-book in Home Missions is Professor Harry F. Ward, whose influence for social and industrial justice is probably not surpassed by that of any other Evangelical leader.

Plans are forming which shall articulate mission study during the year 1919-20, with a four-year campaign for the conservation of human life now in progress under the leadership of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ.

1916-1917

The preliminary "Estimate of Need" received from the various Synods and Presbyteries and for the conduct of the work in other fields not allocated to them, showed that the aggregate sum of $1,288,000 would be required to meet the contemplated budget of the year, and the expenditure of this amount was approved by the General Assembly.

As against this sum, and after a careful review of the estimated receipts for the year, it was found that the Board could not reasonably anticipate an income which would warrant such an enlarged scale of work, even though the need and urgency demanded it.

The budget was finally reduced to the approximate sum of $1,000,000, and appropriations were made on that basis in the confident expectation that a corresponding income would be received to provide for the accepted budget, but, owing largely to the failure of the Board to realize on a large legacy payable within the year—due to the inability of the executor to dispose of certain real estate—and to a decrease in anticipated gifts from individuals the income for the year failed to meet expectations. The following summary gives the financial result:

Total current expenditures for the year .....	$968,630.10
Income from all sources .....	908,638.13
Deficit for the current year .....	$59,991.97
Indebtedness with which the year began .....	91,056.23
Leaving a debt, as of April 1, 1917, of .....	$151,048.20

In hopeful contrast to this accumulated debt, two encouraging features may be noted:

The total income from living sources shows an increase in every item, as compared with one year ago, of $19,011.83; of this advance $14,055.30 was contributed by the churches and $3,950.99 came from Sabbath-schools.

The permanent funds of the Board have been increased in the sum of $190,540.71, due mainly to two unusually large gifts from donors who desire their names withheld. This splendid addition to the permanent funds assures the Board of a substantial increase in interest on its invested funds during the next and succeeding years.

The following statement will be both interesting and illuminative:

SHOWING OF THE JOHN S. KENNEDY FUNDS AS OF MARCH 31, 1917

Woman's Board of Home Missions

		<hr/> $ 175,905.12
		<hr/> $ 1,178,605.34

Leaving a balance—invested in securities, based upon their market value at time they were delivered to the Board by the Executor of ..... $1,516,758.87

While the securities received from the Kennedy Estate have been listed both in the Board's ledger and in its Annual Report under the head of "The Securities" at their par value, there has been rendered from time to time a separate showing of the John S. Kennedy Funds as given above, wherein it is specifically stated that the securities, based upon their market value at the time they were transferred to the Board, aggregates the above-mentioned total.

From the securities originally received the Board has set aside $1,000,000.00 in par value thereof designated as the John S. Kennedy Permanent Fund, the interest thereon only to be used for the current work of the Board; the remainder was set apart as the John S. Kennedy Reserve Fund. With the exception of about $39,000.00 in securities purchased by the Finance Committee, the latter Fund consists of the identical securities received from the Executors of the Estate.

Before making further appropriations from this Reserve Fund the Finance Committee investigated the value of the total securities of the two Kennedy Funds in the possession of the Board and found that, according to market values on the date of investigation, there had been a shrinkage of $394,000.00, from their market value at the date of transfer to the Board. Of this shrinkage $280,025.00 is properly chargeable against the securities which have been set apart for the John S. Kennedy Permanent Fund of $1,000,000.00. On the basis of current market values therefore there remains a present surplus of but $122,700.00, the full sum available from the Kennedy Reserve Fund and which amount the Board has appropriated for next year's work. If, now that this Fund is apparently about to become exhausted, the Church fails to provide the required income from live sources that will be needed to meet the projected expenditures of the Board for the coming year, it will necessarily result in a serious retrenchment in the work.

For several years the Board of Home Missions has been endeavoring to find a suitable man to be its financial representative in the matter of securing increased offerings from churches and individuals. The Rev. Moses Breeze, D.D. was called to this position, but after a little over a year's service, resigned on account of ill health. After a long search, the Board's attention was called to William R. Patterson, Ph.D., who has been elected Financial Secretary.

Dr. Patterson was born and lived on a farm near Cedar Falls, Iowa, until 1885, when he took up a four years' course in the Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls; became Superintendent of Schools at Montour, Iowa, until 1893; the following five years he was engaged in special studies and post-graduate work in the University of Pennsylvania, and in the Universities of Halle and Berlin, Germany, where he acted as a representative of the Department of Labor of the U. S. Government. For several years he was expert examiner for the Bureau of Municipal Research and during the years 1910 to 1914 was Assistant Commissioner of Public Works of the City of New York.

Dr. Patterson entered upon his duties December 1, 1916, and at once began a thorough study of the work and its many phases, in order that plans for the coming year might be carefully and fully developed in preparation for an aggressive presentation to the churches of the Board's projected work with its ever increasing opportunities and for the obtainment of pledges from Sabbath-schools and individuals for the support, in whole or in part, of some special field or object under the care of the Board.

In the pages which follow will be found the Balance Sheet, Certificate of the Auditors and the usual statements covering the Income and Expenditures of the year.

Respectfully submitted,

HARVEY C. OLIN, Treasurer.

CONTRIBUTIONS IN DETAIL

The usual detailed statement of contributions from Churches and Sabbath schools received during the year ended March 31, 1917, is omitted from this Report, owing to the increased cost of paper and the large expense connected with the printing of so great an amount of detail matter, and to the further fact that during the year detailed reports at the close of each month have been sent to those who have requested such data.

The Treasurer will be glad to forward, upon request, a detailed statement of contributions received from any Presbytery or Synod, to any who have not had such information furnished them.

IX. Addenda

The reports from the Synods of Alabama, Kentucky, Missouri and Wyoming were received too late for insertion in their proper places in the preceding pages.

ALABAMA

THE REV. DR. F. L. WEAR, CHAIRMAN

This year the churches of the Synod of Alabama have labored under greater difficulties than for many years past. On account of floods in many sections last summer and of unusual cold last winter, many of our congregations have found it hard to meet their obligations. A part of the territory in northwestern Alabama is religiously one of the most destitute to be found in the South. The people there are widely scattered, the school and church buildings are poorly constructed, and the ministers and teachers for the most part are sorely lacking in preparation for their work.

In spite of the handicaps, our church work moves on, and foundations have been laid for still better work. The past year was the best we have ever known: manse were built or paid for, churches were repaired, country-life institutes held, surveys made of churches and their stations, one or two churches have come to self-support, and community clubs—canning clubs, pig clubs, corn clubs—have been organized. Many congregations have adopted special methods to increase their subscriptions to benevolences and to current expenses. Families have set aside an acre for the Lord, and children have been given pigs, calves, hens and garden patches for church purposes.

Strong congregations are making special efforts to help weak ones. One city preacher preaches at night to rural congregations nearby. In co-operation with the Sunday-school missionary, Sunday-schools are being organized in the vicinity of established churches. Good roads and better schools are advocated by churches and ministers.

One hundred and twenty-three members have been added to Home Mission congregations by certificate, and one hundred and seventy-eight on confession.

KENTUCKY

THE REV. DR. FRANK J. CHEEK, SUPERINTENDENT

The first Presbytery organized west of the Alleghany Mountains was that of Transylvania, which now forms part of the Synod of Kentucky. Being organized by the Synod of New York and Philadelphia, it came into existence at least two years before the General Assembly, just as by order of the same body churches were organized in Ohio and Indiana before these States were admitted into the Union.

The Synod of Kentucky now consists of five Presbyteries for white people and one small Presbytery for colored people. It contains between 12,000 and 13,000 members.

This Synod has been more or less dependent upon the Board of Home Missions ever since the division of the Presbyterian family in connection with the Civil War. If all branches of the family in Kentucky were united, the missionary operations of the Church could easily be carried forward, although the mountains in the eastern part of the State are a vast undeveloped territory for Presbyterianism.

The ingathering last year was larger than usual, and creates hopefulness for progress along all church lines. With great enthusiasm the Synod of 1916 ordered a campaign for self-support in all its missionary operations. In this effort the Board of Home Missions agreed to help in every way, and also to furnish the salaries and expenses of two field men. The campaign is planned to begin in Louisville June 3d, and to cover the State in two weeks. Large results are hoped for, and spiritual blessings upon all churches.

The Kentucky type of Presbyterianism is old and conservative, but virile. Presbyterian wealth is not found in our branch of the Church,

MISSOURI

THE REV. DR. C. C. M'GINLEY, SUPERINTENDENT

The past year Missouri has come to self-support under the Board. Having been a dependent Synod from its organization till now, this forward movement has unified the Synod, and brought great rejoicing and a large sense of self-respect and of power. Presbyterian Committees are organized and active more than ever before. The work is vigorously administered by the Synodical Committee and the Synodical Superintendent, the needs being everywhere carefully considered, and the responsibilities divided among the members of the Committees. Regular committee meetings are held and reports are expected.

Missouri is a great and needy Home Mission field. Here we have the Mountaineer, the Mormon, the Foreigner, the Miner. We have large city problems and rural church problems, both accentuated. We have a foreign population of 230,000, representing 25 nationalities, mainly resident in St. Louis, where we have a foreign work of which we may justly be proud. Of the entire population of the State, 63 per cent. is unchurched, and almost half the children of school age are not in any Sunday-school.

During the year past emphasis has been laid upon evangelism, the Synod having a plan which it is working out with splendid results. Under the direction of a Synodical Committee on Evangelism, the Rev. Dr. William T. Bartlett is giving all his time to evangelistic work.

Special interest has also been centered upon the rural church. About 60 per cent. of all our churches may be so classed. For these a definite program has been suggested, the effort being made to get them to think for themselves in terms of an annual local program. Country life institutes and group conferences covering the whole State have been held during the year.

For the coming year the Synod of Missouri has been selected by the Board of Home Missions for special work looking toward the raising of the general efficiency of work and workers, and the making of self-support strong and popular for all time to come. Each Presbytery is urged to adopt a compact grouping system or Home Parish plan, and then to furnish each group or parish with a manse.

There is much land to be possessed in Missouri, but the outlook is hopeful and encouraging. The whole situation is a challenge to the great Presbyterian Church.

WYOMING

THE REV. DR. WALTER H. BRADLEY

The Synod of Wyoming, organized in 1915, is the youngest Synod in the Church. The State of Wyoming is developing rapidly and presents boundless opportunities. Farming, dry-farming and irrigation are bringing settlers by the thousands. Oil discoveries and developments are bringing other thousands. Stockmen were never so prosperous as now. The mining of coal, minerals and asbestos employs constantly increasing numbers.

Nearly all the immigrants are from the East. Many of them seem to have left their religion and some of their morals behind them when they came West. The type of religion found here is perhaps not just the same as that common in other parts of the country. The Westerner is as free, open-hearted and open-handed in his religion as in everything else, and far more willing than his Eastern brother to join in community movements and to enter community churches. Many of the newer Presbyterian churches thus have the name "community," or "union," written into their articles of incorporation. Some comity movements are already in operation, and a movement that is to include the principal denominations of the State is well on the way toward realization.

The Commonwealth of Wyoming is large and as yet sparsely settled. Its magnificent distances between towns and the cost of communication are a bar to the rapid development of church projects; but there is progress. During the synodical year ending in 1916, four new organizations were formed, with a total membership of 112. Three of the churches bear the name "community." The churches of the three Presbyteries gained in membership last year: Cheyenne, 25 per cent.; Laramie, 9 per cent.; Sheridan, 4 per cent.

Wise and aggressive leadership will plant the flag of the Cross in every settlement as it develops, and will call the church there formed by some recognized Christian name. Not always—nor more often than the principles of comity will permit—will that name be Presbyterian.

THE HOME MISSION COUNCIL

To the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.:

The Home Mission Council erected by your action of 1914 met in Dallas Texas, May 14, 1917, with representatives from thirty-five Synods present.

After organizing, printed reports and verbal statements were received from the Board of Home Missions through Secretaries and members. Synods and Presbyteries also presented similar reports and statements. These matters were referred to appropriate committees, and after careful study and full discussion were acted on by the Council, and we beg leave to submit the following:

FINDINGS OF THE COUNCIL

POLICIES

1. The Council expressed its delight in the care and efficiency with which the whole work of the Board, as it came before us, is being conducted.

2. The Council affirms its belief in the principle of a General Secretary of the Board of Home Missions, and requests the Assembly to amend the plan of organization inaugurated by the Assembly of 1914 to conform with this principle.

3.* The Council believes that, under the action of the Assembly of 1914, declaring the principle of self-administration of the work by Presbyteries and Synods within the limits of the bulk appropriation made by the Board, the Presbyteries and Synods have the right to determine the purpose to which unused balances and additional appropriations shall be put within the limits of the same department.

4. The Council expresses to the Home Mission Board its conviction that an adequate field force is necessary to the prosecution of Home Mission work in most of our Synods; that the force now employed should be increased rather than reduced; that the budget for the year should be adjusted so as to retain at least the present status of this essential agency.

5. The Council would urge upon Synods and Presbyteries in their placing of field men or other special agents, that they emphasize the principle of special fitness for particular service.

6. The Council urges the Assembly, through some of its present agencies, the Executive Commission or other, to definitely lay upon the hearts and consciences of the Synodical and Presbyterian Home Mission Committees, and of the Churches themselves, the matter of an adequate support for the present missionary and field force before enlarging work or entering new fields.

7. The Council recognizes with pleasure the policy of the Board to shape a special program of help for Home Mission situations of special need. Its present co-operation with the local authorities in San Francisco-Oakland Presbytery calling for enlarged expenditure of funds under specialized leadership in order to accomplish a really adequate and worthy result, and all similar efforts, have the hearty approval and endorsement of the Council as programs of service worthy of the great cause we represent.

BUDGET

1.* The Home Mission Council, realizing the crisis that is confronting the Home Mission interests of our Church, respectfully recommends to the General Assembly that the Home Mission Board be authorized to organize a special campaign to raise two million dollars for the Home Mission work of our Church this year.

2. In view of the high cost of living, the challenge of the national crisis to the Christian Church and the special appeals for new work among Mexicans, Mormons and foreign-speaking peoples, the Council believes that our missionaries would be greatly embarrassed and the work seriously crippled by the adoption of a policy of retrenchment at this time. We, therefore, recommend that the original estimate of proposed expenditure of $1,300,000.00 be approved as the minimum estimate for the year, and that the Board be asked to advance to this minimum during the year as rapidly as newly developed resources justify.

3. That the General Assembly be recommended to authorize the Home Board and its agencies to enter at once upon a forward movement and campaign of education throughout the Church to raise the above-mentioned funds.

4. That the General Assembly urge the Synods and Presbyteries of the Church to co-operate in every way possible in this movement.

5. That the General Assembly commend the Board of Home Missions for the larger program proposed to the Church in the appointment of Dr. Patterson as its Financial Secretary.

6. We recommend that the Board of Home Missions be requested to credit Home Mission Synods and Presbyteries with the amounts collected by the field men, as well as the contributions from the Churches.

VARIOUS MATTERS

1. The Home Mission Council recognizes the importance and exceptional character of missionary work among Mormon people, and, in view of the special responsibility of the Presbyterian Church for this work, recommends to the Board of Home Missions the taking under special advisement of means whereby the physical equipment of the fields can be increased and improved.

2. In view of the large and increasing Mexican population in the Synods of California, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, the present Mexican population being now at least 1,000,000, the Council would strongly urge upon the Home Board and the Synods concerned the importance of making large plans for the evangelization of the Mexicans; and that in the new and enlarged financial campaign this cause may have proper consideration.

3. It is the judgment of the Council that the Board in its Student Enlistment Plan should undertake, out of its Enlistment Fund, the support of the student work only in such Presbyteries or Synods as may desire its aid in such work; that all other Presbyteries or Synods desiring to manage their student work shall provide in their regular estimates for such work; and that all such Presbyteries or Synods be urged to maintain the standard of remuneration adopted by the Board.

4.* The Home Mission Council would respectfully request the Assembly to instruct the Committee on "Board of Sabbath School Work" to consider the relation of the work of that Board and the work of the Home Mission Board, and to formulate such a deliverance for the guidance of the two Boards as will bring about a close and sympathetic contact of the field operations of the two Boards, and thus secure such organization in Synods and Presbyteries as will harmonize the work at common points and raise the efficiency of the Sunday School Work and the Home Mission work to the highest point.

5. In view of the prevailing conditions of overlapping so frequently found in Home Mission territory, that this Council request the General Assembly to deliver, through the proper agency, a declaration touching the weaknesses, wastes and sinfulness of the Churches of Christ in this matter, and an appeal to the Christian world in such ringing words as will challenge the attention of the religious and public press for the development of a righteous sentiment.

6. The Board reported on its inquiry into the number of members received by Home Mission Churches on examination. The figures show greatly to the advantage of the Home Mission Church in many sections. In one Synod the Home Mission Churches received 11.6 per cent from this source, as compared with 8.3 per cent by all the Churches of the Synod. In another Synod the Home Mission Churches made a net gain on membership in five years of 36.5 per cent, while the entire Synod gained 19.3 per cent. Evidently the evangelistic note is loudly sounded in Home Mission work.

7.† The Council recommends that Synods and Presbyteries invite the Assembly's Board to send in its men and literature to carry on a campaign for the fuller education of the people in Home Missions, and, where the Churches and the Presbyterial Home Mission Committees so agree, to appeal for contributions for work under the support of the Board.

8. The Council has prepared a blank which it hopes may be widely used in gathering information from self-supporting Synods and Presbyteries, to whom the Secretary of the Council is directed to send it. Uniform information gathered by the Board from other Synods and Presbyteries will enable the Council to present a comprehensive statement of the Home Mission activities of the whole Church.

A RESOLUTION

BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED: "That the Home Mission Council express to the General Assembly, in its findings, our confidence in the earnest desire of the Board of Home Missions to work out the policies authorized by the Assembly, and pledge our loyalty to do all in our power to further its great cause."

*The General Assembly referred this section to the Committee on Sabbath School Work.

†See Section A. 3 of Standing Committee's Report.

A committee of five was appointed to confer with the Board and the Assembly's committee, and to further in any way the work of the Council during the interim between its meetings.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Report of Standing Committee on Home Missions

The Standing Committee on Home Missions makes the following recommendations to the General Assembly for its approval and adoption:

A. AS TO THE HOME MISSION COUNCIL

1. That the findings of the Home Mission Council be approved with the following exceptions:

Section 3 under head of Policies, which is otherwise provided for;*

Section 1 under Budget, which is changed to read: "A special campaign to increase its revenues to one and one-half million dollars for this year;"

Section 4 under heading Various Matters, which is referred to another Committee; and

Section 7, which is otherwise provided for.†

2. In view of various overtures and resolutions before the Committee on Home Missions, touching our relation to the work of other churches in the Home Mission field, we recommend:

a. That the Assembly emphatically endorse the finding of the Home Mission Council (No. 5 under Various Matters); and declare its conviction of the "weaknesses, wastes and sinfulness of the Churches of Christ" in the "overlapping so frequently found in Home Mission territory" and in small towns and villages; and

b. That every Presbytery and Synod, and every agent of Presbyteries and Synods, be solemnly charged to hold sacred for themselves all interdenominational agreements in matters of comity; and that Synods and Presbyteries facing such problems seek to work out for themselves through federations, local unions, or otherwise, some means of fraternal co-operation in line with principles which express the mind of Christ.

3. Instead of Section 7 under the head of Various Matters, we offer the following:

Resolved: Because of the decreasing resources of the Board and the rapid growth of the Home Mission enterprise, the General Assembly makes the following provisions:

a. That the Board shall have direct access to every church and Sabbath-school to present its claims and to secure an adequate offering; and

b. That this Assembly, in laying upon the heart and conscience of the Church the duty of increasing contributions to the Home Mission Board, requests Ministers and Sessions to call the attention of Presbyterian men and women who have money to bequeath to the work this Board is doing in Christianizing America, and to furnish the Board with the names of persons who might be influenced to leave legacies to the Board.

4. That the Home Mission Council be instructed to report, at subsequent meetings of the Assembly, on Friday of the first week.

*See section B. of this Report.

†See section A. 3 of this Report.

B. AS TO THE ORGANIZATION OF THE BOARD OF HOME MISSIONS

That, after three years of trial of the plans of administering the work of Home Missions devised by the Assembly of 1914, said Plan has been found unsatisfactory; and

That, on recommendation of the Board, this Plan be amended in the following particulars:

Section I shall be changed to read:

THE EXECUTIVE

The work of the Board shall be entrusted to a General Secretary, two or more Secretaries, such Directors of specific work as may be necessary, and a Treasurer. These executives shall meet in council, under the presidency of the General Secretary, to formulate policies to be recommended to the Board, to determine under whose supervision they shall be executed, and to consider the general work of the Board.

THE GENERAL SECRETARY

The duties of the General Secretary shall be: To co-ordinate all departments of the work, to present the policies of the Board to the Church, to promote the raising of funds, and to have general oversight of the work of the Board and of the Directors of specific work.

THE SECRETARIES

There shall be a Secretary with headquarters at some Western center, with general supervision of the Board's work in aid-receiving Synods and their Presbyteries, save as such work is specifically assigned to some other oversight. Synodical Superintendents who are elected in co-operation with the Board shall confer with and assist this Secretary. He shall have an Assistant in charge of work among Mexicans.

There shall be a Secretary at the New York office, in charge of the relations of the Board with all self-supporting Synods and Presbyteries, with supervision of the work in Alaska, Cuba and Porto Rico, and in Logging Camps. He shall have an Assistant in charge of Work among Indians.

DIRECTORS OF SPECIFIC WORK

There shall be a Director of Work among Immigrant Populations and of Church Extension within Cities.

There shall be a Director of Church and Country Life Work.

THE TREASURER

The Treasurer shall care for the funds of the Board, under the direction of its Finance Committee.

Section II shall be omitted.

Section III shall be amended to read:

SELF-ADMINISTRATION IN PRESBYTERIES AND SYNODS

Each Presbytery and Synod shall have the right of initiation, direction and control as to Home Mission Work within its bounds, and as to the choice and location of its appointees; but in the matter of appropriations the following principles shall be observed:

The Board shall credit each Presbytery or Synod with all funds received from it during the preceding year, provided such are required, which the Presbytery or Synod shall have the right to administer, in co-operation with the Board, final authority being lodged with the Presbytery or Synod.

An additional appropriation may be made by the Board, out of its other funds, to the Presbytery or Synod, as its needs may require and the ability of the Board warrants, which the Presbytery or Synod shall administer in co-operation with the Board, final authority being lodged with the Board.

This Plan shall go into operation on the first of October, 1917.

C. IN GENERAL

1. That Overture No. 555, from the Presbytery of Philadelphia, relating to the importance and the direction of Jewish Evangelization, be answered as follows:

We recommend: That the Presbyteries which wish to engage in such work lay the matter before the Board of Home Missions, which shall give it sympathetic consideration; and

That the General Assembly authorize and instruct its Board of Home Missions to select an Advisory Committee from among those throughout the country who feel the burden of this need, which Committee shall assist in perfecting plans for a comprehensive Plan of Jewish Evangelization under the Board's direction, and in raising funds adequately to support such a program.

2. That the Sundays immediately preceding Thanksgiving and Washington's Birthday be designated for special Home Mission programs in the Sunday-schools and for special offerings to the Board.

3. That the Minutes of the Board and its Annual Report be approved.

4. That the following five Ministers and six Laymen be appointed to membership in the Board of Home Missions, being the Class whose term expires in 1920:

Ministers:

Wilton Merle Smith, D.D.

Woman's Board of Home Missions Thirty-eighth Annual Report

The Woman's Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. has the honor of presenting herewith its Thirty-eighth Annual Report.

The year 1916-17 has been one of steady progress rather than of striking events. With incorporation came changed policies, added responsibilities and countless opportunities. The aim of this second year of incorporation has been to put into effect these policies, to meet these responsibilities, and to grasp these opportunities. Notwithstanding the fact that there have been many urgent appeals for help in our own country and imperative calls for relief among the nations at war, the Board has brought the work of the year without curtailment to a successful issue. This achievement has been rendered possible only through the generous approval and hearty co-operation of thousands of Presbyterian women throughout the United States.

The organization of the Board reaches the individual woman through the synodical, the presbyterial and the local home missionary society. Reports of the year from these show that the constituency of the Board consists of approximately 174,700 women organized in 5,152 local home missionary societies, 119,079 young people organized in 5,138 societies, and 50,552 children organized in 2,218 Light Bearers, Little Light Bearers and Junior Christian Endeavor Societies.

ORGANIZATION OF WYOMING SYNODICAL SOCIETY

The Board has the privilege this year of announcing the organization of a new synodical society. Through the faithful efforts of field secretaries and presbyterial officers, and particularly through the definite work done by Miss Abby H. J. Upham, Field Secretary, more than a sufficient number of woman's missionary societies were organized in Wyoming to meet the requirements necessary to the formation of a synodical society. In May, 1916, at the meeting of the Board, held in connection with the General Assembly at Atlantic City, a telegram was received announcing the organization of Wyoming Synodical Society.

CUBAN SPECIAL

Owing to the increased interest in the Spanish-speaking people as a result of the reports of the Panama Congress, the Woman's Board asked as the "Special" for the year $25,000 for advance work in Cuba. Awakened to the deplorable conditions among this ignorant and superstitious people by their study of the Spanish-speaking people, the women of the Church responded most loyally to the call, and raised $21,694.65. Advance work in Cuba will be done with the distinct end in view of raising up a strong native leadership through the influence of Christian education.

HONORARY AND LIFE MEMBERS

During the year 1916-17 the names of thirty-three new honorary members representing ten synodical societies have been added to the list. Seven of these come from Baltimore and California, six from New York, three from Minnesota and Pennsylvania, three from New Jersey, and one each from Idaho, Illinois, Texas and Washington. The Board has now two hundred and thirty-seven honorary members.

There have been added to the roll of life members seventy-eight new members, representing eighteen synodical societies. Baltimore heads the list with twelve new members. Then follow Pennsylvania with eleven, Illinois with ten, New York and Ohio with eight, California with seven and New Jersey with four. Kansas, Michigan and Tennessee added three new members to the list, South Dakota two, Colorado, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, Texas, Washington and West Virginia one each.

GENERAL COUNCIL

Throughout the year the Woman's Board and the six Women's Foreign Boards have co-operated in all efforts along organization lines. During the Chicago Conference there arose so many important questions regarding methods of work, particularly in joint societies, that it was decided to appoint a committee to meet each year to consider the questions that should present themselves from time to time. This committee, composed of six members from the Woman's Board of Home Missions and one member from each of the six Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions, is now known as "General Council of the Woman's Boards of Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A." The purpose of General Council is "to secure a larger vision of the mission work of Presbyterian women, and to unify as far as possible the policies and methods of the Woman's Boards." In its meetings this year General Council has considered recommendations from the different Boards and has referred to the Boards for ratification recommendations concerning matters of joint interest. Through this program promotion in methods of procedure, in policies and in practices has been along the same lines in all auxiliaries.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN FOR HOME MISSIONS

The Woman's Board co-operates not only with the other

Woman's Boards of the Presbyterian Church, but also with the Woman's Boards of Home Missions of eleven other denominations in the Council of Women for Home Missions. The distinct object of this organization is "to create community, interdenominational, Christian fellowship in home missionary interests; to stimulate interest in and to increase knowledge of home mission fields and conditions by a thorough study of home mission textbooks through study classes and lectures." For the carrying out of this purpose the Council has the following standing committees: Home Mission Day of Prayer, Home Mission Study Courses and Literature, Home Mission Interests in Schools, Colleges and Summer Conferences, Home Mission Interests Among Children, Home Mission Interests Among Immigrants, Home Mission Comity and Co-operation, and Home Mission Summer Schools.

The Woman's Board of Home Missions has been honored this year by the election of Mrs. F. S. Bennett, President of the Board, to the presidency of the Council of Women for Home Missions.

THE ORGANIZATION

To the presidents of synodical societies the following questions were sent in the hope that the information received would serve not only as a record of the year's progress but also as an inspiration to all those who are meeting the same problems and overcoming the same difficulties:

I. What has been most encouraging during the year? How has it been achieved?

II. What has been the greatest hindrance during the year? How are you overcoming it? To what extent?

III. Give your estimate as to the value of the literature subscription plan, the star plan, The Home Mission Monthly apportionment plan. In organization promotion. In securing funds.

The replies show that, on the whole, the year has been an encouraging one, that in spite of the many earnest appeals from the outside the societies have not allowed their interest in the work to which Presbyterian women have long been consecrated to flag, and that, although there is still the problem of the uninterested, each year more and more women are being enlisted in the cause of home missions.

From Arkansas' president, Mrs. R. T. Phillips:

"The advance has not been startling in Arkansas' Synodical Society during the year just closing, but there has been a steady gain. If all prayer, pains and effort could be weighed in an earthly balance or measured by inches, the result would be a fine showing, but that does not belong to a printed report with its facts and figures.

"Mission Study has increased over last year. The most encouraging feature has been in work among the young people. A large place is always given in synodical and presbyterial meetings to conferences with young people. As a result two young women have decided to prepare and offer themselves for special work for Christ and His church either at home or in foreign fields."

From Baltimore's president, Mrs. Douglas P. Birnie:

"As I have gone about I have been impressed by the loyalty, self-sacrifice, and interest of the small givers; and I know this condition is better riches for the Board than temporary subscriptions. If I judge correctly, our chief discouragement comes from the difficulty of arousing those who are trustees of large wealth to their duty to make large gifts.

"These days which demand sacrifice and the highest patriotism for our native land should bring great strength and help to the home work, for who can trust in armies and battleships if the country is without 'the whole armor of God'? To this end I would see the women of our churches spend their best energies in interesting the boys as well as the girls, boys from primary to high school age, in the work of Home Missions. Whatever the state may do for our youth by way of training for protection and defense, let our church teach its sons as well as its daughters to fight for the 'righteousness which exalteth the Nation'."

From California's president, Miss Julia Fraser:

"Our greatest encouragement during the year has been the splendid loyalty and devotion of women in auxiliary societies, expressed by growth in number of societies, membership, gifts, and an increasing number of societies making equal quarterly payments, even when to do so required borrowing money. This has been achieved by prayer and work.

"My secretaries of literature generally are most enthusiastic over the literature subscription plan. One says, 'If it were followed, the enthusiasm of our constituency would know no limits and our great work would forge ahead by leaps and bounds'."

From Catawba's president, Mrs. D. J. Sanders:

"Aside from our regular work of contributing to the Boards we are giving a scholarship of sixty dollars to Ingleside Seminary. This scholarship, known as the 'Ruth Carr Scholarship', rotates through the Synod of Catawba. We start some poor girl every year; if she shows herself worthy, the school finds further support for her.

"I am planning to attend the presbyterial meetings when they are within reasonable distance. Our people are poor and our synodical contingent fund is very weak. We consider this a very great hindrance, as there is no better way to stimulate weak societies than to visit them, and no surer way of increasing the number of our societies than to secure the co-operation of our ministers in organizing societies where there are none."

From Colorado's president, Mrs. J. G. Klene:

"The year of 1916-17 in Colorado has been a year of adjustment rather than of accomplishment, though we feel that there has been something done along the latter line as well. We have had a rather unusual organization heretofore. The work was considered joint Home and Foreign, but we had separate presidents, vice-presidents and corresponding secretaries for each. For a year we have worked toward a more complete union, and since October, 1916, have had but one set of officers throughout. This is proving very acceptable; those who bear the responsibility feel that the work is no harder and that the results are more satisfactory."

From Idaho, Boise's presbyterial president, Mrs. J. H. Barton:

"Our greatest encouragement has been an increase in gifts and a slight increase in membership all along the line. The auxiliaries and the Christian Endeavor societies made an increase of 33 1/3% in gifts. It has been achieved by diligence on the part of several officers and by the faithfulness of a few pastors."

Kendall's presbyterial president, Mrs. L. A. Haley:

"Kendall Presbyterial Society is the smallest of the three societies in Idaho; yet we have, I believe, more Mormon influence to combat in our territory than the other two societies have."

"Two of my societies disbanded last year, Soda Springs and Aberdeen. As they were so widely scattered, it was utterly impossible for them to hold their meetings. The other societies, however, are thriving."

Twin Falls' presbyterial president, Mrs. George Bristol:

"Some of the local societies have made splendid advancement, as in the cases of Twin Falls and Moroa. Our report, forwarded to you about March eighteenth, shows an advance in membership and magazines taken."

From Illinois' president, Mrs. Albert G. Beebe:

"Most encouraging has been the fact that there have been better methods of work along all lines, increased interest in young people's and children's organizations, well attended presbyterial meetings, and increased loyalty to Board recommendations. This has been accomplished through correspondence and through the educational work done by the synodical president at eight annual presbyterial meetings."

"The literature subscription plan is of great value to all women in all societies. The new Home Field Extra keeps one in touch with all fields each month in such a way that the interest of the regular reader cannot lag."

"Acquaintance with the officers and women throughout the synod has enabled the president to suggest and help as she could not do without this close touch."

From Indiana's president, Mrs. F. F. McCrea:

"Our young women are showing more interest. Our women, too, are more interested than ever before. This is due we think to visitation of local societies by presbyterial and synodical officers and the 'One Day Institute'.

"There is, however, apathy in some sections concerning real mission study. We are trying to overcome this by attractive presentation at presbyterial and district meetings."

From Iowa's president, Mrs. S. J. Brown:

"Iowa cannot be called a 'joint society', as there are separate presidents, vice-presidents and treasurers for the home and foreign work, but all the work of the secretaries is combined. The past year there have been distinct secretaries for Missionary Education, Extension and Freedmen's work. Our Secretary of Literature reports that she heartily approves of The Home Mission Monthly apportionment plan. She thinks the star plan has not met with as general favor and prefers a standard of excellence. She especially commends Miss Rue's 'Tools in Type' and thinks that that page alone makes The Home Mission Monthly invaluable for secretaries of literature. She is also a believer in the use of the leaflet subscription plan in local societies.

"What of our discouragements? There is still much land to be possessed. Iowa is a land of big corn fields and big men and women. Although more and more of these citizens of our state are realizing the bigness and worth-whileness of missionary work, there is still the problem of the uninterested. A systematic plan of campaign for new societies and increase in membership has been started for this year, the result to be announced at synodical meeting next fall. We think we are helping to overcome the indifference due to lack of knowledge by our little Iowa paper, The News Bulletin."

From Michigan's president, Mrs. J. K. Mitchell:

"The Home Synodical Society of Michigan is happy to report an encouraging year of service. The local societies have been more particular in the preparation of their programs, and more desirous of having their own members take part in their meetings. Current Events are very popular with us and are used by the women at the prayer meetings; in this way the information reaches a large number of people. We have tried to emphasize the devotional periods and have held more Thanksgiving and Praise Services than in any other year.

"One hindrance we have to contend with is the outside call for service and the idea that local needs are really our home mission work. We have tried to urge the great need of greater loyalty to our own denominational responsibility.

"Our system of apportionments has met with a wonderful response. We are urging the use of pledge cards and the twelve envelopes for all local societies, and try for monthly payments when it is at all possible.

"Our Mission Study classes have been most interesting and are actually becoming popular; the keen interest and the hearty response of the earnest members have been an inspiration to the leaders.

"There is a great joy in the work when we can have unity of action and service. 'Prayer, Praise and Service' is our motto."

From Minnesota's president, Mrs. W. C. Weld:

"The determination with which each presbyterial society has striven to reach the goal set for it by the synodical officers at the beginning of the year gave evidence of the encouraging results to be expected in Minnesota. Most loyally were the recommendations sent out by the Joint Conference received and put into practice.

"The problem of introducing missions into churches where there is not a woman's missionary society has been solved in certain localities by presenting a program at the Aid Society. The result has been that through knowledge of our work a considerable sum has been received toward its support.

"One of the most encouraging results of the year has been the increased interest shown in our young people. Many new Westminster Guilds have been organized. Many young women are presenting themselves for missionary work and are filling both synodical and presbyterial offices most creditably."

From Mississippi's president, Miss Kate McGuire:

"I am glad to be able to say that our synodical has taken some rapid strides along the line of progress. We have worked diligently for uplift and interest, and can see results in many ways. Our women are becoming more and more interested, more consecrated—the two main things to awaken them to their responsibilities and duties in the work.

"One great hindrance to our progress is lack of more willing workers, but time, much earnest prayer, and education will overcome that. We need more training, better training, to bring our people to see their duty in missions. Through mission study and magazines we are to bring this about."

From Missouri's president, Mrs. G. P. Baity:

"Missouri is most happy over her advance in organizations, study classes, magazines, prayer books and missionaries. Apportionments and 'Cuban Special' were met.

"Forces that have stimulated this result are:

1. Apportionments sent out in September.
2. The Standards of Excellence.
3. The magazine apportionment and star plan.
4. Definite instructions from the Woman's Home Board to synodical officers at regular intervals.
5. Consecrated, faithful officers, presbyterial and local, who met in conference regularly, some monthly, others quarterly, to round up all departments of the work.

"Prayer is the key that unlocked many doors."

From Nebraska's president, Mrs. J. B. Butter:

"What has been most encouraging during the year?

Apportionments met.
Increased use of the Mission Study books.
Enthusiastic acceptance of the Standard of Excellence.
Few changes in the efficient presbyterial official force.

"What has been the greatest hindrance during the year?

Uninterested Christian women.
Unorganized churches.

"The star plan and The Home Mission Monthly apportionment plan have proved beneficial in Nebraska. One naturally will endeavor to attain a goal placed before one, and the secretaries of literature have appreciated having a definite aim toward which to strive."

From New England's president, Mrs. William D. McKissick:

"The most encouraging work from the presbyterial societies was that the women were 'giving and doing more'. In one presbyterial several of the woman's societies sent young people as delegates to Northfield and Pocono conferences. This was a new departure and a good one we feel. There has been a greater interest in the young people's work.

"How has it been accomplished? By the earnest work of our four presbyterial presidents. They have personally visited the local societies in their presbyterial society and have stimulated and encouraged them so that an increased interest has been the result."

From New Jersey's president, Mrs. C. L. Thompson:

"The New Jersey Synodical Society has moved along much as usual. Perhaps the most encouraging feature is the interest taken in the executive meetings and the increasing interest in the methods of organization. I have invited each presbyterial president to bring as many of her officers as she can to the executive meetings.

"The plans for pushing literature are good, but can be worked better, I think, in places rather more remote from big cities than most of New Jersey is."

From New Mexico's president, Mrs. A. M. Thomas:

"Each presbyterial society of New Mexico has more than met its total apportionment for the year just closed. The young people's societies have made a twenty per cent. gain over last year's gifts.

"Our vacant offices we trust will soon be filled with earnest workers. May the coming year be crowned with answered prayers as have been those years which are past. Increased attendance at synodical meetings, several very successful study classes, and a better understanding of methods of work are among our encouragements."

From New York's president, Mrs. George C. Yeisley:

"Our encouragements during the year have been many. There has been a great advance in interest in mission work all along the line, especially among young people. The growing interest is attributable to the effort of the Boards to interest the young people and to attendance at summer conferences. It is interesting to note that one of our largest societies has been graduated from the class of young women's societies to the class of women's societies.

"I have a feeling that there is a deeper interest in and devotion to our work; this perhaps may not add to financial so much as to spiritual results. In my opinion this is due to the earnest, untiring and unstinted work of every officer from those at '156' down through the various ramifications of the organization. There has been greater mutual interest between my officers and their workers.

"Great interest in our presbyterial box work resulted last year in contribution of $250 in value to San Juan Hospital."

From North Dakota's president, Mrs. Oliver C. Johnson:

"What has been most encouraging during the year? The large attendance at the synodical meeting last October in Fargo with the deep spiritual atmosphere of the sessions. How has it been achieved? By widespread advertising and invitation, by having a large number on the program, and by the spiritual messages of synodical participants and Board representatives."

From Ohio's president, Miss Helen L. Keil:

"One of the most encouraging features of the Ohio Synodical Society has been the co-operation throughout the synod, achieved, we believe, by the gathering of synodical officers and presbyterial presidents at our January executive meeting. Another means to this achievement has been the Synodical School of Missions at Wooster, bringing together, as it did, not only the officers, but a large representation of women and young women from over the state. At Wooster a period each day was devoted to conference on the work of the synodical society. This was particularly helpful as there were present women representing fifteen presbyterials. The fellowship of these women from many sections, made possible by a week together, will be of inestimable value in bringing about a new understanding."

From Oklahoma's president, Mrs. G. D. Willingham:

"We are beginning to get results from the School of Missions which has been held in Oklahoma City each June for several years. The work that we feel needs our greatest efforts, because of its great importance, is the young people's and children's work. We hope to be able to make a better showing another year.

"The women of Oklahoma Synodical Society are anxious to co-operate in every way possible to help our Boards meet the unparalleled opportunities of America in this great world's crisis."

From Oregon, Portland's presbyterial president, Mrs. J. W. McMichael:

"The most encouraging thing is the great awakening and real interest in so many of our auxiliaries. Our monthly presbyterial meeting has been a great help in keeping all the societies in touch with the work, and each month the attendance is growing. The last two months it has been over two hundred. In organization promotion we have each new society adopted as far as possible by a presbyterial officer who tries to attend all their meetings and helps them in every way possible.

"In securing funds our chart records a ten per cent. increase with a blue star and a doubling of any line of work with a gold star. We have been made very happy by a goodly number of gold stars."

Willamette's presbyterial president, Mrs. C. H. Sedgwick:

"The most encouraging feature of the work has been the faithfulness of the officers and individual members in interesting as many as possible in the various phases of the missionary work so that the apportionments have been reached.

"The greatest hindrance has been a continued lack of interest on the part of some church members with the result that needed funds have been withheld. This has been overcome in a measure by numerous means aside from interesting meetings. Illustrated lectures, missionary socials and the Efficiency Campaign, in which the million dollars for missions in Christian Endeavor is a part, have all enlisted new friends and added to our contributions to Home Missions."

From Pennsylvania's president, Mrs. W. E. Geil:

"The most encouraging feature of the year to me personally is the fact that I am writing this letter in Asheville after ten days' study of our splendid mission plant here. The missionaries have been more than kind in giving me pleasant opportunities of seeing the work: two wonderful days were spent right out among the mountain folks in Miss John's bungalow. It surely is a wonderful inspiration to go back to the executive duties of the synodical society after such a demonstration of the worth-whileness of our mission schools.

"The splendid way our Young People's Secretary and Westminster Guild Secretary are developing the work which they began only a year ago has been most encouraging. Their first annual report showed good work and was full of inspiration. There has been increased interest in our Student Work, brought about largely by Miss Laughlin's helpful suggestions at our synodical meeting last October. We decided to send, as a gift from the synodical society, a picture to our two Presbyterian Colleges in Pennsylvania, where girls are studying, Wilson and Grove City.

"Another interesting thing is that we have sent a Victrola with a good assortment of records to each of the following schools: Menaul, Wasatch, Normal and Collegiate Institute, and San Juan Hospital."

From South Dakota's acting president, Mrs. M. E. Van Nuys:

"Our synodical is a joint society as are all our local societies.

"We believe the Standards of Excellence that have been accepted by our synodical, presbyterial and local societies will be a great help in our work.

"We have two new officers this year, a secretary for missionary education and also one for extension work; we are expecting good results from them.

"We are thankful for an advance in financial gifts in the past year; we are certain that this small gain represents a large advance in interest and effort on the part of our women."

From Tennessee's president, Mrs. A. H. Dailey:

"Tennessee Synodical Societies report encouragement all along the line, not in any one thing in particular, but growth in each department, manifested by additions in numbers, interest and gifts. This has been achieved, sometimes in the face of difficulties, by earnest, faithful work on the part of officers and members.

"One of our aims for our presbyterial societies is payment of pledges in advance, in order to reduce the interest our Boards have to pay on borrowed money and so practically to increase the value of our money.

"Of outstanding interest is the number of young people who have consecrated their lives to the Master's service. Not all of these are on record, so that it is not possible to give figures, but the promise for Tennessee's future is one that gladdens our hearts. When our young people are devoting themselves to Christ's cause, we may well sing, 'Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow.'"

From Texas' president, Mrs. W. B. Preston:

"There has been no marked advance in any one department, yet there has been advance in all departments, and this was brought about by a larger number of presbyterial officers faithfully working at their jobs.

"The greatest hindrance is that so many women put other things rather than missions first, hence we lack leaders for children and young people's organizations and for mission study classes. To overcome this condition the loyal ones are more loyal, seeking in every way to make the interested woman out of the uninterested woman.

"The making of Christians out of the Mexicans flocking to our doors is the burden on our hearts."

From Utah's president, Mrs. G. W. Martin:

"This year was the thirty-fifth anniversary of our missionary organization. The Corresponding Secretary reported:

18 Local Societies,	5 Contributing Stations,
6 Light Bearers,	3 Westminster Guilds,
6 Christian Endeavor Societies,	1 Junior Endeavor.

This makes a total of thirty-nine organizations with a membership of three hundred twenty-five contributing to Home and Foreign Missions."

From Washington, Central Washington's presbyterial president, Mrs. Rees Jones:

"The work in Central Washington Presbyterial Society has gone on this year very much as usual with its lights and shadows. We have one new woman's missionary society, one Westminster Guild, and one Circle this year with good prospects of another Guild and two Light Bearers with which to start our 1917-18 year."

Olympia's presbyterial president, Mrs. J. W. Nichols:

"We know that there has been a marked increase in interest in several of the local organizations, that there has been an increase in membership and an increase in the average attendance. Perhaps the children's work languishes the most. In these days of such varied activities and such numberless ones I for one cannot feel like crowding the children any more. However, there are several flourishing children's organizations."

Spokane's presbyterial president, Mrs. D. B. McClure:

"We feel as a presbyterial society that the interest has been greater this year. The most encouraging fact has been a better attendance at our meetings. This has been brought about by personal invitations from the presidents or secretaries of the societies. There are more young people interested in the Westminster Guilds and Young People's Societies."

Wenatchee's presbyterial president, Mrs. E. L. McCartney:

"For our presbyterial society, I would report our greatest difficulty as a permanent one, the vast extent of territory and consequent difficulty of keeping our societies in touch with the departments of work. It has been found impossible to have executive meetings unless all the officers are from the societies at Wenatchee or Cashmere. This is not a wise solution of the problem and for the coming year I am going to ask for the adoption of this plan—a division of the presbytery into districts geographically and the electing of a vice-president to be personally responsible for the work of all departments in her territory and to make quarterly reports to the various secretaries. She will also be expected to visit churches having no societies and wherever possible organize the same into some branch of missionary work."

From West Virginia's president, Mrs. G. I. Wilson:

"District Conferences have been held this year with fine results. The local woman has been reached and interested. Our aim in each presbyterial society is to interest the uninterested woman. 'Each one win one' is being tried. Prayer meetings are held that prayer may be offered for the uninterested."

"Four new scholarships have been pledged for the Pattie C. Stockdale Memorial School. Our women are deeply interested in this school and take great pride and pleasure in it. As these girls are our own girls, we feel that they deserve not only our prayers and interest but our gifts to a large degree as well."

From Wisconsin's president, Mrs. W. O. Carrier:

"Our encouragements have been increase in Westminster Guild organizations and in mission study in all departments, a summer conference planned where both study books will be taught and to which both women's societies and young people's will be urged to send delegates, a large number of auxiliaries aiming to make the Standard of Excellence, and the Extension Department carried on with more encouraging results than ever before. Our chief difficulty is in getting leaders for young people's and children's work."

From Wyoming's president, Mrs. R. A. Morton:

"The most encouraging thing that has occurred during the year is the formation of two new societies. That may not seem much of an achievement, but when things are in their beginnings it is at least a favorable symptom.

"The greatest hindrance has been the lack of a field worker. We need so very much to have some one who could go over the state to organize and to inspire. Distances are great, and the communities small. We have tried to do what we could by correspondence. I have written personal letters to all local societies and to presbyterial officers. I have had very cordial letters, giving detailed information from nearly all local societies. The presbyterial presidents have been splendid, and have co-operated heartily with me. I feel that a beginning has been made. The older societies have grown in membership, too, and I am sure that during the coming year we should be able to increase our gifts."

FROM HEADQUARTERS

For the unification of the work and the promotion of activity along the most effective lines the Board has established at headquarters the office of general secretary and assistant, of secretaries for missionary education, young people's work, student work, publicity, and of editor of The Home Mission Monthly. Through this division of administration there are secured the diffusion of the knowledge of the work of the Board by means of mission study among the women and young people of the church; the direct approach to young women who, while at college, are not in touch with the missionary activities of their own churches; and the constant appeal of the printed page, of notices and articles on various fields in church papers, of leaflet literature with its information from the field and its helpful suggestions for organization promotion, and of The Home Mission Monthly, with its regular visits to the homes of Presbyterian women.

The respective officers have prepared full reports of the conduct of the work in the various departments during the year 1916-1917.

Missionary Education

The following report has been prepared by Mrs. M. J. Gildersleeve, Secretary for Missionary Education:

Progress is indicated by awakened interest, interest by definite activity. Judging from the correspondence of the past year mission study is making definite progress while the missionary propaganda is causing an increasing demand for the services of field secretaries and speakers far in excess of the number available. Both these lines of missionary education, the first, the securing of definite knowledge through definite study, the second, the carrying of the message to the organization by expert leaders, have their own particular value. The aim is the development of local leadership that the organization may be brought to the highest standard of knowledge and efficiency.

Field Secretaries

These birds of passage, flitting about over the great country, seem to fly on angels' wings and carry with them the word of cheer, of courage, of onwardness—this is proved by the words of gratitude which find their way to "156." The reports from the secretaries themselves speak modestly of their efforts and the results from such, but those who know of the value of their services can well appreciate the amount of inspiration that has been given through them.

The larger part of the time of Mrs. Aldrich is spent in California, for the loyal, enthusiastic women of that long state are eager to know the latest approved methods. However, last spring was given to some presbyterial societies in Oregon, Washington, and Idaho, and September was spent in itinerating in Idaho and October in the newly organized Wyoming synodical society.

Last spring Mrs. Davis attended the meetings of the presbyterial societies in Wisconsin and made a tour in South Dakota; in July and August she attended Summer Schools at San Marcos, Texas, and Hastings, Nebraska, and in the fall and winter worked with the Educational Campaign in Montana, Iowa, and Illinois.

In April Mrs. Wiber made a presbyterial tour in Missouri; during the summer months she attended Summer Conferences. During October and November she attended the meetings of various synodical societies and in January had study classes in Louisville, Kentucky, and Washington, D. C., presbyterial societies. The Mission Study Drive in St. Louis preceded her series of presbyterial meetings in Michigan this spring.

Last spring Miss Upham made a most satisfactory itinerary in Wyoming, representing Home and Foreign Missions, the Woman's Board of Home Missions and the Board of the Northwest uniting in the campaign there in the interest of efficiency. A trip through Utah, followed by some weeks of rest, preceded a strenuous campaign in October when she organized the new synodical society of Wyoming and attended the meeting of the Montana Synodical Society. She then went into Washington and Oregon for local itineraries. On March 15th she started for meetings of the California presbyterial societies.

In addition to arranging itineraries for field secretaries the Secretary for Missionary Education planned for representatives at 30 synodical meetings, at 209 presbyterial meetings and at uncountable local meetings.

In addition to the officers who visited synodical and presbyterial meetings the Woman's Board was represented by others who readily aided in compassing all meetings possible. Among those may be mentioned Mrs. D. E. Waid, Mrs. Clarke Tillinghast, Mrs. J. T. Tracy, Mrs. H. B. McAfee, Mrs. D. F. Diefenderfer, Mrs. N. Hankemeyer, Mrs. Smith Ordway, Miss Jennie Moore, Miss Beulah Wilson and Miss Elizabeth Harris.

Mission Study

The world problem demands a world vision. A world vision is found in the study of missions. It is said, "There is no better indication of the great strides which the mission cause is making than the number of volumes issued yearly on the subject of missions".

Mission study has been to the front this past year in the outward march to catch the world vision. Some features which were emphasized during the year should have special attention.

The Relay Class, i.e. the one day teaching of the whole study book with a different teacher for each chapter, has proved the solution of the problem of the mission study class in several places for those whose time will not permit of the weekly class. The presbyterial societies of North Philadelphia, Chester and West Jersey held a most enthusiastic relay class, its special object being the training of leaders for study classes in their local churches.

Junction City, Kansas, held a very successful interdenominational class in November as a result of the enthusiasm of one woman who caught the inspiration of a Summer Conference. "We had a real feast in Junction City. One of our members attended the Winona Summer Conference and was so delighted that through her our Interdenominational Union was interested in mission study and a class organized with Mrs. H. L. Hill as leader. We had a total enrollment of 262; Presbyterians 114, Methodists 57, Christians 19, Episcopalians 18, Baptists 15, German M. E. 11, Universalists 7 and Congregationalists 5 (many coming from small county churches for one day). It was quite an undertaking, but a grand success. This was the very first School of Missions of this kind in Kansas, but I assure you it will not be the last. Did it pay? Yes, yes and many times."

The Washington, D. C., class which is held in January of each year had Mrs. D. E. Wiber as leader with 356 members in attendance. The pageant which won the hearts of old and young alike closed the month of mission study campaign in that presbytery.

In the First Church, Princeton, New Jersey, the women were organized into six classes under different leaders. In a Pennsylvania church the women were organized according to districts; the several groups held reading circles and then united in a one-day session to review the book.

The Minnesota synodical secretary writes: "The Home Missions Reading Circle with the one public meeting reviewing the book is meeting with favor in small towns and rural districts. The relay class also meets a need. The lecture and discussion class is another favorite."

Of mission study in California we read, "Mrs. W. W. Squires, president of San Joaquin presbyterial society, never fails to press study class work as she visits the auxiliaries and every presbyterial officer has conducted a study class. Isn't that great team work?"

St. Louis, Missouri, reports a Mission Study Drive in the young people's societies of the presbytery with written examinations at the close of the drive and prizes given for the best papers.

First Church, Joplin, Missouri, reports three classes aggregating 150 members ready for work January 1st.

A notable awakening of interest among the secretaries of missionary education in synodical and presbyterial societies is the most encouraging result of the year's work. While the increase in the number of classes may not indicate this fact, yet correspondence and the ready responses to suggestions given mark this sign of progress. Accurate records of mission study classes seem beyond the possibility of attainment as yet. Credit is given, therefore, only to such classes, the enrollment cards of which have reached headquarters.

From these we find:

816 mission study classes,
266 program meetings,
145 reading circles.

Westminster Guild reports:

328 classes,

making a total of 1555.

Special mention should be made of the five synodical societies that have reported the largest number of classes:

Pennsylvania, New York, California, Ohio, Illinois.

Others who have done good work are:

Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, Minnesota, Tennessee.

As much consideration has been and is still being given to enlisting the interest of librarians in town and city libraries to the placing upon their shelves of books aiding in the preparation of current subjects for mission study, the Council of Women for Home Missions at its annual meeting offered the following recommendation to extend this service for the help of children:

"That local missionary societies see that the public libraries contain the most thrilling and inspiring Home Mission biographies and stories for children and that lists of these books suitable to junior and teen age be put into the hands of the children; and, further, that leaders of children's societies be urged to promote the circulation of these books by reading contests."

Educational Campaign

The Educational Campaign, carried on in co-operation with the Board of the Northwest, started in Wisconsin in September and has met with increasing success. Montana and Iowa were visited in November and December, while Indiana and Illinois occupied the greater part of February. Macomb, Illinois, showed the best attendance, the popular meeting at the close having an audience numbering three thousand. A new experiment is being tried in Minnesota, Nebraska, and North Dakota, that of holding the presbyterial meetings in connection with the Educational Campaign.

Summer Conferences

Practically all of the Summer Conferences of 1916 which requested such were provided with field secretaries as mission study leaders.

Another year is ended. Who can reckon results accomplished in lives quickened, in ideals strengthened, in aims reaching heavenward, all of which will outstay the flight of time hurrying on to the great eternity of unlimited service.

Young People's Work

The following report has been prepared by Miss M. Josephine Petrie, Secretary for Young People's Work:

A review of the printed records of organized missionary work among Presbyterian young people must present to the casual reader a vivid mind-picture of an ever-moving, continuous procession. To the one interested in young people there is much to stimulate and much to arouse speculation as to the future missionary work of the church. The unusual occurrences of the past year in our country's life—the calls for loyalty, for Christian patriotism, for alert thought and clear judgment as to America's place and influence in the world—in the world-wide confusion and sufferings, for definite personal service—all of these combined appeals have not aroused the spontaneous spirit of larger giving to home missions hoped for from the young people, and this report of results would not be possible but for the splendid skill, sympathy and co-operation of the secretaries chosen for this specific work. Each year the force is increased until the roster now stands as follows:

SYNODICAL SECRETARIES

For young people's societies.....	33
For children's organizations.....	11
For Westminster Guild.....	20

PRESBYTERIAL SECRETARIES

For young people's societies.....	252
For children's organizations.....	89
For Westminster Guild.....	56

Of this total one hundred and fifty-five are new to the work. Special attention is called to the number of Children's Work secretaries, most of them appointed during the year. Four from the ranks of young people's secretaries have been commissioned by the school department for work under the Woman's Board.

An encouragement of the year has been the correspondence with new secretaries who have shown eagerness to serve efficiently; unfortunately others have grown discouraged because of the futile "watchful waiting" for help from other officers. The originality and cleverness of many of the young people's secretaries is a continual joy and inspiration. Their ingenuity is taxed today in a way that was undreamed of ten years ago. There must be frequent innovations. It is not only a day of variety in organizations and in methods for work, but the demand is more and more insistent for methods which are entertaining as well as instructive. Some of the "plays" issued by the Boards have been adapted and given local or presbyterial "color". Banquets, luncheons, suppers, Rallies, Institutes, "Drives," illustrated lectures, a "Missionary Clinic" (care of the young), and even "Movies" have been provided by leaders. The "Hour" allowed for the presentation of young people's work at synodical and presbyterial meetings has been extended and has become more spectacular. In fact, an entire session is frequently set aside for this phase of the work and the programs and announcements read: "The Annual Meeting of the Woman's and Young People's," etc. Leaflets must be more attractive to the eye even though paper and printing are far more expensive than ten years ago, for they are used as "place cards," as souvenirs, for the making of posters, etc., etc.

Other Forces

The spirit of unrest on the part of older people, their demand for variety, their scattering of interest and effort, all of these are found in a more intensive degree among the young people. Women's societies are in a measure dependable, but the young people move from one organization to another. Take, for instance, the young women's societies. One synodical report noted a decrease of ninety-six of these societies, but an increase of twenty-three Westminster Guild Chapters. The love of change causes a lukewarm condition, but if discovered in time the tactful "big sister" will suggest a change of name and repeatedly the Westminster Guild methods have been adopted and have proved the tonic needed for reviving groups. A number of these societies and several Chapters of the Westminster Guild have been merged into the women's societies during the year. The Intermediate and Junior societies have turned a new page since the last report. Mission Bands, Light Bearers and Little Light Bearers have celebrated another birthday, and some of the teen age have become Circles of the Westminster Guild. Several such groups have been organized by Chapters, the older girls acting in the capacity of patronesses. This constant renewing must always be reckoned with in a story of work with young people's organizations and it should also be remembered that the columns of money gifts must vary accordingly. The report of last year gave the constituency of this department as about 9800 organizations. This number has increased during the year, but frequent reports also reach us of disbanded societies. The Westminster Guild growth is a more accurate record and this year there are reported one hundred and five new Chapters and eighty-nine new Circles.

The field secretaries have been especially helpful in the north-west territory, where the work is being done presbyterially and locally until such time as synodical organizations are effected. The young people's secretary of the Board has been put in immediate touch with all new organizations and has endeavored to make real the welcome to these groups of young people and to demonstrate the fact that distances between them and their home mission headquarters are not great as business-like methods are followed.

Finances

The first recorded gifts for Presbyterian home missions from Christian Endeavor societies date back to 1888 and amounted to $32. The first itemized report was printed for the fiscal year ending with March, 1893, and the total was $8,000. It is of interest that these societies advanced at an average of two thousand dollars annually until 1907—ten years ago. Then the records began to swing slowly in the other direction. The reasons are many. The change in personnel—a new generation now comprising the membership—the many new organizations, the innumerable appeals for funds especially for “welfare work”, social service, or other local propaganda, the readiness to follow strong, definite leadership which too frequently comes from outside their own churches, the lack of tactful, intelligent guidance on the part of those who should be their natural leaders.

Mention should be made of the efforts to secure transfers to young people's organizations of the scholarships and shares formerly held by Sunday Schools. It has been disappointing that plans have not been developed in presbyterial societies for making good this loss to our treasury. Nor was there general response to the suggestion for a special thank offering from young people's societies looking toward a partial return for the large loss of gifts from Sunday Schools for the general work of the Woman's Board. A few of the secretaries made a special appeal for the thank offering and the “Flood Relief Fund”, prepared their own programs and gave generously of their time and talents.

The following figures tell their own story of the past fiscal year, but as comparisons of the contributions are made it should be remembered that the closing of the books of the presbyterial treasurer three weeks earlier than formerly is much more difficult for the young people than for the well-organized women's societies.

$24,902.14	Young People's societies (including Junior and Intermediate)	$25,624.90
$22,606.50	Y.W.M.S., Bands, Light Bearers and Little Light Bearers	$21,570.03
$11,693.82	W. G. Chapters and Circles	$12,572.72

$3,099.31	For Immigration
	For Buildings

$1,300.39
$1,255.13

Total	$62,323.47

"Extras"

These figures do not indicate all that is given by Presbyterian young people's organizations, and work with the young people may be better understood if we record here a few of the objects for which this Board has been asked to give credit this year in the home mission report:—Red Cross Work, American Relief Work, $200 for a piano "for the chapel," $50 for "Our College," $50 for "a Local Union Worker," $60 for "our Union chapel," $12 for "Traveller's Aid," $450 for "Fresh Air Home," $100 for scholarship for "student of our college," etc.

"Practical Work"

Many boxes and parcels were sent to the schools and hospitals of the Board, especially at Christmas time. The Westminster Guild Chapters have been most generous in gifts to their home mission stations—the only criticism being that many of the gifts are "too expensive." In these days of heavy cost for medical and school supplies and equipment it would be well if this outlay of money could be sent to the current expense account for hospitals and schools.

The Printed Page

The following items indicate some of the methods used for holding the interest and gifts of the young people. The printed leaflets and pamphlets of the year were:

- Home Mission Hints for 1916-17 (two printings)
- Home Mission Hints for Westminster Guild
- "The Home Mission Preparedness Camp"
- "The Wheel"
- Home Mission Stations, Number II
- "Wireless Messages" (2 editions, 24 pages each)
- Letters for Juniors, Bands, Little Light Bearers and Intermediates.
- Registration blanks, study enrollment cards
- Birthday cards
- The annual report in leaflet form
- New pledge blanks
- "The Home Mission Ladder," revised and printed for the sixth time.
- "Making Progress" (second printing)

In addition to these publications six programs were written for the annual set of "Twelve Missionary Programs for Christian Endeavor Societies," the usual pages for The Home Mission Monthly have been furnished, material covering at least four pages for each of the three issues of the Westminster Guild Bulletin and a leaflet for the February topic—"The Seven Ages of the Indian."

Other Helps

Typewritten pages have been duplicated and sent forth as follows: Letters of general instruction for synodical and presbyterial secretaries to the number of 2900. Such messages directed the distribution of field news, announced the study work and helps, the programs, the objects for gifts, the change in the date for closing the treasurer's books, the filling out of report blanks, etc. Synodical presidents have been supplied with duplicate copies of such letters of instruction to their secretaries for young people.

The home mission course of study was announced to Westminster Guild Chapters and Circles through 1700 typewritten letters. "Follow up" work with the delegates to summer conferences required over 1500 pages, and many such messages were also sent to those who registered for institutes, conventions, etc., and to the lists of volunteers or "Life Work Recruits" for mission work. About 1400 letters from missionaries have also been sent to local societies contributing to their support.

The increasing numbers of applications from young women for mission school or community work under the Woman's Board are guarantee that the correspondence and publications for the young people are effective. All such applications are referred to the school department.

To the field correspondents who have so graciously and generously responded to requests for these messages, grateful thanks are given.

Standard of Excellence

The numerous Standards of Excellence have been most confusing. In addition to those adopted several years ago in certain synodical and presbyterial societies and the "Uniform" standard sent out after the conference of the Women's Boards in Chicago, there is issued by the United Society of Christian Endeavor a "Standard for Increase and Efficiency", which has grown in popularity. The patient tact of some of the young people's secretaries is shown in adjusting and adapting the former "standards" to the one now recommended by the Mission Boards.

Mission Study

To some the progress of mission study in young people's societies is disappointing, but it should be remembered that the vast majority of members are either in school or busy in stores, offices and so forth. This year the book and supplement published by the Council of Women for Home Missions have been recommended. The records for the Westminster Guild are the only study enrollment cards kept in this office, and these indicate the study of "Old Spain in New America" by 249 Chapters, while 75 have studied twelve other home mission textbooks. A member of the Westminster Guild Committee of the Woman's

Board is the author of the Circle book, "From Plaza, Patio and Palm." As the home mission study came second in order for the year many of these groups have not yet finished these textbooks and others have reserved the home study for spring and summer meetings. A pleasant penalty for announcing in the home mission leaflet the foreign study courses has been the number of orders for books and leaders' helps with the money orders and checks to be endorsed and forwarded to the proper distributing centers. It has been an interesting duty of the year to serve as a "clearing house" for many earnest inquirers along innumerable lines of service.

In Closing

There is abundant reason for encouragement in the foregoing report of the year, although there may be some disappointment that contributions of money indicate no phenomenal advance. The causes supported by the Woman's Board of Home Missions challenge one's courage, loyalty and highest type of Christian patriotism. They appeal to young people now as never before, and the coming year of service will be the best in the history of this organization if there can be full confidence and co-operation among all agencies and leaders of the young people of the Presbyterian Church.

Student Work

The following report has been prepared by the Secretaries for Student Work, joint officers of the Woman's Home and Foreign Mission Boards:

Ever widening and alluring openings for work among college girls have come to us during the past year. Our chief drawback has been lack of time and strength to avail ourselves of these opportunities. Access to colleges has been gained much more readily than formerly. Instead of having to ask for entrance, we receive more invitations unsought than we can accept.

We have been in thirty colleges, two medical schools, and two training schools for nurses. Ten of these had never before been visited by a student secretary. During these visits we have spoken one hundred and thirty-four times, and have interviewed three hundred and forty-four girls. At each college we have made a special point of meeting our student volunteers and of putting them in touch with the Candidate Secretary of the Board in whose territory they reside. We have talked to many students who are seriously considering foreign and home work. During this year some of our girls have started to foreign fields, and others have become workers in home fields.

The Young Women's Christian Association summer conferences have meant great things for our work, as an unusually large number of Presbyterian girls were in attendance. Miss Laughlin attended the conference at Silver Bay and Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. At Silver Bay she taught a class of one hundred girls in "Comrades in Service". Miss Hoff went to Blue Ridge, Eaglesmere, Pennsylvania, and to Estes Park, Colorado. In all, four hundred and seventy-four of our girls were reached at these five points. Other representatives of our work covered the Seabeck, Washington, and Asilomar, California, conferences most ably.

In follow-up work every effort has been made to accomplish tangible results. On our alumnæ list were the names of over five hundred girls who were graduated in June. In the hope that through a personal touch we might assist these girls in taking up some phase of church activity, we wrote letters by hand to all of them. A questionnaire return post-card was enclosed asking such questions as the following:

I. What part have you ever taken in the activities of your church?

II. In what form of church work are you most interested?

We received two hundred and fifty-two replies. From these we have gleaned very illuminating information:

213 had taught in Sunday School.

138 had been active in Christian Endeavor, but only

62 had been connected with missionary work.

One of the most encouraging developments of the year has been the interest evidenced by the women throughout the country. They have had "Student Work" put on their programs, have been most kind in inviting the Student Secretaries to speak, and have co-operated so willingly that our task has been rendered very much easier.

In addition to college activities, Miss Hoff was asked to explain Presbyterian Student Work to women of the Lutheran Church (General Council) at Philadelphia; she was also invited by Dr. Cochran to take part in the Pre-Assembly Conference on Educational Work at Atlantic City last May. She also spoke a number of times in the meetings of both Woman's Boards held in connection with the General Assembly, and later appeared upon the program of the Philadelphia Biennial at Baltimore. Student Work in the person of one or other of its secretaries has attended five synodical, five presbyterial, and eighteen auxiliary meetings.

Women from near and far have written about girls in various colleges whom they wished us to know. Many have informed us of girls who were definitely at work in some local, presbyterial, or synodical society. More of our alumnæ are being used on programs and committees, and as officers. Imagine our delight the day we saw three young college graduates installed as officers in one presbyterial society!

In New York the Woman's Board of Home Missions and the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions both entertained the alumnæ and undergraduates living in and near the city. Quite a number of students who became interested at Silver Bay have appeared at "156" for various open meetings of the Boards. All these efforts on the part of the women to become acquainted with the girls will surely bring telling results.

The new Graduate Training School for Church Workers was started in New York City last October by the Rev. William P. Shriver, the Rev. Jonathan Day, D.D., the Rev. Norman M. Thomas, the Rev. Kenneth D. Miller and others at the head of our Presbyterian work among foreigners. Our particular share in this venture has been to select outstanding girls desirous of active service in this department of church work and eager for a year of such training. It was most gratifying to be able to supply ten out of the sixteen girls who formed the first class. These girls were met on our visits to Vassar, Mt. Holyoke, Wilson, Northwestern University, University of California, and the University of Illinois. Theoretical knowledge derived from the prescribed course of study, together with the practical experience of a year's residence and work in our Church Settlement Houses will prepare them to be head workers in such houses, to organize and establish new parish houses in communities of foreigners, and to be assistants to pastors of churches in which there is a large foreign element. It means much to us to have this channel of active service opened into which we may direct girls interested in this line of work.

During the year two facts of progress have stood out as being worthy of note:

1. Local societies which have sent girls to summer conferences have been visibly enriched by the missionary zeal and stimulus brought home to them.

2. When women have taken trouble to reach girls by personal calls or any friendly presentation of the work, they have been met with appreciation.

More keenly than ever do we need the assistance of every woman to inspire every girl to take up her share of the work of the Master. May He "graciously grant unto us new possibilities of service."

Publicity

The following report has been prepared by Miss Helen A. Ballard, Publicity Secretary:

The daily record of work in the publicity office the past year shows that the time has been spent in writing, editing, revising and publishing booklets, leaflets and other literature; in building up a correspondence news service with a representative of each local field station for the purpose of securing interesting and up-to-date news items for publicity use; in keeping up the regular publication of the "Scholarship News", issued semi-annually, and the "Home Field Extra", issued monthly; in sending out press notices regarding field or headquarters activities to the New York and nearby city dailies, as well as to the Presbyterian and other denominational papers; in writing and securing from field workers special articles for publication in periodicals; and in speaking on the work of the Woman's Board at local, presbyterial and synodical meetings.

The Home Mission Monthly

The following report has been prepared by Miss Theodora Finks, Editor of The Home Mission Monthly:

The thirtieth year of The Home Mission Monthly has been unlike any of its predecessors. The phenomenal rise in cost of publishing, resulting from war conditions, has presented hitherto unthought-of problems. Though many small magazines in our country have been forced to discontinue publication, and others, large and small, have made large increase in subscription rates, The Home Mission Monthly has been able to continue publication without increasing rates to subscribers. In spite of an added expense of hundreds of dollars in the one item of paper, and the arbitrary increase in cost of producing illustrations and in other items, it has been possible to transfer to the General Fund of the Woman's Board $500, which sum makes the total amount turned into the Board's treasury during the thirty years of the magazine's existence $43,000.

At the beginning of the year the subscription list numbered 37,362 and the aim was to secure before the close of the year a round 40,000 subscriptions. The fact that the thirtieth anniversary of the magazine was to be celebrated in November gave added incentive. Societies throughout the country entered into the spirit of the occasion and the birthday month was marked by "magazine showers", "birthday cakes", prompt renewals, and a fine increase in subscriptions which continued to the end of the year.

The continuance of The Home Mission Monthly Apportionment Plan for securing increase in subscriptions has met with co-operation on the part of secretaries for literature and has brought encouraging results. By March 31st 329 local societies had reported success in meeting the apportionments assigned them by presbyterial secretaries for literature. While complete figures concerning presbyterial societies that have met The Home Mission Monthly apportionments are not yet in hand, sixty-five have sent notification of their success. Complete figures will be published in the July Home Mission Monthly. During the last days of March the subscription list was watched at headquarters with intense interest. The goal of 40,000 was actually in sight, yet who could tell whether the lacking number would arrive before March 31st, the close of the fiscal year? On March 27th it stood at 39,230, leaving 770 to be received in the last four days. Each day the mails made steady addition and the year closed most happily with a list of not only 40,000 but 40,500. Results are the best sort of evidence of the fine work of secretaries. The thirtieth year may well be called a successful year, showing, as it does, the results of earnest endeavor on the part of many, and fittingly crowns the years that have gone before. An historical review of the thirty years was presented in the November Home Mission Monthly and later a reprint was made so that the information so frequently desired for preparation of magazine talks at meetings might be available to all. Other helpful literature was issued by The Home Mission Monthly during the year: "The Business of Being Secretary for Literature," designed for increasing efficiency; "Invitation" slips to aid in securing subscriptions; coin envelopes to accompany these; presentation cards, that the magazine might be more generally used as a gift at the holiday season or for birthdays. Attractive circulars describing the Apportionment Plan were also issued and many personal letters went from headquarters to synodical secretaries for literature. The effort has been to provide all possible aids for secretaries.

Editorially the same general policy as formerly has prevailed. The constant effort has been to keep busy women well informed concerning the big happenings in the world of Home Missions through the presentation of concise articles accompanied by illustrations of special value, the latest word concerning interdenominational affairs, also to present suggestions that fit each reader's ability and readiness to serve, that the magazine may thus become an essential tool for the women of our Church.

Literature Department

Any record of appreciable increase in the use of the publications of the Woman's Board of Home Missions may be accepted as evidence that interest in the work of the field is growing. It is therefore with very especial gratification that the Literature Department reports a marked advance along all lines during this year just closed.

Receipts from the sales of all literature reach $9,475.17. This is an advance of $485.95 over those of one year ago, which then were the best ever presented for the Woman's Board.* Seventeen synods share in this increase. New York maintains her record as the best patron, having purchased publications to the value of $1,824, an advance of $306, and Pennsylvania stands next on the list, having taken supplies amounting to $1,391, an increase of $123. The largest part of this increase is mainly due to the larger distribution of text books for mission study, of which 13,200, or an increase of 2,710 copies, have been supplied, chiefly to study classes; to the sales of Prayer Calendars, of which societies had taken 24,400, or an increase of 4,400 copies, by the last day of the fiscal year; also to subscriptions for leaflets, to which lists have been added 250 names, making in all 965 societies that now receive the publications monthly. In addition there is a growing subscription list for the "Home Field Extra".

These results, it may be believed, are due largely to the splendid spirit of enthusiasm that secretaries for literature have put into their efforts to win the five points of the Star Standard recommended to them by the department. Many societies that aimed for the standard but were not successful in winning stars have contributed a substantial portion to the sum total of the year's gain, and it is hoped they may be counted in the honor roll next year. Two hundred and twenty-five achieved their goal. Of these, 65 received Silver Stars and 160 Blue Stars.

The presbyterial societies attaining Silver Star honor are Amarillo, Chillicothe, Iowa City, Kansas City, Newburyport, Peoria and Salt River; Helena, Houston, Lake Superior and Washington City presbyterial societies have been awarded Blue Stars.

School Supplies from Societies

This year many societies have added to the comfort and pleasure of missionaries and pupils by gifts to hospitals and schools. Some of these gifts have been very practical. Three hundred and twenty-seven boxes containing bedding, curtains, clothing for babies in hospitals and pupils in schools, hospital supplies and domestic science equipment were sent. Three hundred and nineteen yards of carpet and one hundred and seventy-one rugs were provided for different stations. Fireless cookers were sent to a number of our community workers. Other gifts, not so practical, brought pleasure to both missionaries and pupils. Victrolas, with a goodly supply of records, were sent by different societies. One hundred and seventy-eight societies remembered our missionary family at Christmas time with gifts of candy, games and books.

*Last year's net receipts were $8,989.22. The total figure $10,078.84 included receipts from outstanding bills.

THE MISSION FIELD

The Woman's Board of Home Missions exists for the sake of the field and is responsible for the conduct of the work. The following report has been prepared by Mr. Marshall C. Allaben, Superintendent of Schools:

Uppermost in the minds of all as the end of another fiscal year approaches is a feeling of profound gratitude to Almighty God that the record of the past twelve months is one of unabated progress in the mission field. It has truly been a time of "storm and stress," but the manifold spiritual blessings of the year undoubtedly reveal the guiding hand of Providence. A particular occasion for devout thanksgiving is that for the first time in a number of years the ranks of the missionary force have not been broken by a single death.

An interesting chapter in the year's history and one that is worthy of special mention is the completion of the new Presbyterian Hospital building at San Juan, Porto Rico, which was dedicated on March 27th with most impressive ceremony. This building represents the fulfilment of the hopes and prayers of faithful men and women through many years of untiring effort. The future of this institution with its complete and modern equipment is full of promise for unlimited service in supplying the medical needs of the surrounding native population. Another encouraging feature of the year's work has been the completion of the school building at Dwight Indian School, Marble City, Oklahoma, which will be dedicated April 27th. This building, which will provide commodious classrooms, manual training work-rooms and household arts laboratories, and a splendid auditorium, will more adequately meet the needs of this school.

The record of the year, however, may not be said to be devoid of alarming features. A most disastrous flood visited the Asheville Farm School and Dorland Institute in July, creating damages estimated at $12,000 to $15,000. The response to the appeals for a flood relief fund have been most gratifying, and will enable the Board to repair at once at least a portion of the damage done. Another misfortune in the mountain field was a fire in October which completely destroyed the Harlan School dormitory and necessitated the transfer of the students to Dorland Institute. The Mexican field has also suffered loss by fire. At Trementina, the chapel-school building was destroyed with the loss of all of the contents. The school and church work is being conducted in the teachers' home until arrangements are made for their new quarters. Still another cause of grave concern both to the field force and to the Board has been the soaring prices of food stuffs, building materials, and many other supplies. One of the most encouraging features of the year, however, has been the response made by the executive officers in the various schools and hospitals. It has been most gratifying to note what Careful management and extraordinary economy have accomplished without the impairment of the health of pupils or patients. While the outlook for the coming year is even more ominous, it is hoped that by the inauguration of a more extensive system of co-operative buying, the exigency may be effectively met.

ALASKANS

Sheldon Jackson School, Sitka, Alaska. This school is now completing its sixth year in its new home, and in May will send out the largest graduating class in the history of the school. The faculty reports a very great pride in the personnel and the accomplishments of this group of young men and young women. So enthusiastic are they themselves over their work and so encouraged has Superintendent Johns been over their mental progress, that the Board is now considering the advisability of adding one additional year of high school work so that these young people may have further training. Mr. Johns makes the following interesting statement: "One important event of the past year is the fact that the first Alaskan native has been granted United States citizenship. It is significant that all the natives who made early application for their papers were closely associated with Sitka school during their formative periods. What emphasis should be placed on training these young people for active Christian service who are to share with us all the full responsibilities of suffrage and leadership in our great commonwealth!" The unabated progress of the spiritual life of the Sheldon Jackson School, together with the intensified growth notable in all departments, constitute a source of great pride to those Presbyterian women who have had so large a share in the support of the work. Superintendent Johns' report reflects unbounded faith in the training of the youth of Alaska for greater usefulness and American citizenship through Christian education.

Haines Hospital, Haines, Alaska. This little institution is doing splendid work for the natives of southeastern Alaska and Dr. Craig reports unlimited opportunity for service among these needy people. He writes as follows: "Our Presbyterian hospital at Haines has twenty beds. There were times during the recent epidemic of measles when it was necessary to place two patients in some of the beds, that we might accommodate those that were dangerously sick. We sent the convalescent children to their homes as soon as possible in order to make room for others. Many of our patients had pneumonia, ear diseases and other complications. During the past year, we treated more patients in our hospital than ever before. Not only do we strive to relieve their physical sufferings, but we unceasingly endeavor to instill in each patient's mind a few of the most common principles of hygiene." While it will not be possible to solve the health problem of this section until the Government assumes greater responsibility in that direction, it is a source of gratitude that this institution under the Woman's Board is privileged to have a share in this great work.

INDIANS

Boarding Schools

North Fork, California. Of the smaller boarding schools, North Fork records a year of exceptional progress under the leadership of Miss Hart, the new principal. Miss Hart writes: "One of the real results of our mission work can be plainly seen in those of our new girls who have older sisters at the mission. They are able to grasp the ways of the school very readily and learn English much more easily than the other students—a fact which is undoubtedly due to the influence of the older sisters at home." There is ample evidence that consecrated devotion is winning many victories over ignorance and superstition in this little school way up in the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Wolf Point, Montana. Mrs. King, the principal of this school, is now completing her twenty-fourth year of service here. Overcrowded dormitories testify to the appreciation on the part of the Assiniboiné Indians of the work being done so devotedly by Mrs. King and her faithful band of co-workers at this station. It is well to note that Mr. and Mrs. Smith, respectively farmer and matron, are also missionaries of long service at Wolf Point. They are now completing their fifteenth year of service.

Kirkwood Memorial, Ganado, Arizona. The following brief summary of the outstanding events of the year is afforded by the following report received from the principal, Miss Orr: "Of material changes at Kirkwood Memorial, there have not been many during the year 1916-17, but though these few are doubtless small in the eyes of the outside world, they have loomed large in point of added comfort to school and workers. A seven-hundred-foot sewer laid from the girls' dormitory and the laundry to the big arroyo has probably solved the most serious of the plumbing problems for some years to come, and is arranged with a view to connecting with other buildings when it becomes necessary. A small adobe barn has provided comfortable quarters for horse, colt and cow, a tool and harness room, and a loft which is ample for the storage of hay and grain. A flimsy partition knocked out of a very inadequate woodhouse, and the use of two stray window sashes has provided a good shop where the outdoor man works wonders in the way of repairs on everything from an engine to an indestructible doll which belies its name. A Ford machine opens a door of possibility which affords high hopes of accomplishments hitherto beyond our reach. We see ourselves ploughing the desert sands, penetrating the mountain secrets and becoming familiar with our field in a manner not possible before the advent of the Ford. Of literary achievement there is, of course, nothing save that our little ones are eagerly and successfully pushing through the door which leads from Navajo to the all powerful English language. Much effort has been made to give the Gospel of Jesus Christ a firm hold upon these small Navajos, and also to provide them with at least a few messages to their heathen relatives. The earth and the air are full of problems, many of them serious, but there is no reason why wise, persevering, and consecrated efforts should not be crowned ultimately with splendid results."

Dwight, Oklahoma. Superintendent Robe writes that the schoolroom work, although hampered by lack of proper facilities, has been a decided success. The completion of the school building, which according to present plan will be dedicated April 27th, will meet this deficiency. In spite of the lack of proper equipment during the transformation of the Old Dwight into the new Dwight, the work has gone forward with remarkable success. An enrollment of one hundred and twenty-four students for the year testifies to the appreciation of the Indian people of eastern Oklahoma of the work being done under the able leadership of Superintendent Robe, who is now completing his twenty-third year of service among the Indian people.

Tucson, Arizona. The capacity of this school has been taxed to its utmost during the past year and it has had to refuse admission to large numbers of needy Indians. A school building, a refectory, a hospital and enlarged sleeping-porches are needed by way of additional equipment to meet the situation adequately. When it is considered that this school is the only Protestant boarding school among a population of twenty-five thousand Indians scattered over a territory larger than the state of Connecticut, the Board's responsibility for the education and Christianization of the Papago Indians in this section assumes an added importance.

Community Stations

Lapwai, Idaho.—San Miguel, Arizona.—Neah Bay, Washington. Letters from these stations indicate the spiritual growth of the people and clearly show the opportunities for enlargement and extension of the activities of the faithful missionaries who are laboring at these stations.

MEXICANS IN THE UNITED STATES

The work among these people has assumed an added importance as a result of the disorder along the border this past year, and the constantly increasing number of Mexicans who are coming from Old Mexico causes a new missionary problem in this southwestern territory. The work of the Woman's Board among these people is confined to New Mexico and the one school for Mexican girls in Los Angeles. Reports from this field have been a source of deep inspiration and there is every reason to believe that these Mexican children who are daily developing strong Christian characters will occupy important places in the social, economic and religious life of their people.

Boarding Schools

Menaul, Albuquerque, New Mexico. This school reports a full registration under the supervision of its leader, Mr. Harper C. Donaldson, who was transferred from Wasatch Academy to take this important position when Mr. Ross withdrew July 1st. The results that have accrued under his leadership have been most gratifying. There is a lively and energetic Christian Endeavor, conducted entirely by the boys, which supports one bed in the San Juan Hospital. There is also a self-supporting Sunday School. As a result of special meetings conducted in the school last year by the Rev. Carlos Cordova, a former Menaul boy, thirty-nine boys took their stand for right living, and thirteen united with the church. Such response to the religious side of the work truly affords deep inspiration for greater effort in the future. Although Menaul still stands in need of much more equipment in the way of buildings and furnishings, the work of this school in training the young people of New Mexico for Christian citizenship has gone forward with ever increasing success from year to year. There is every indication that the place of this institution in the development of the state is bound to be one of marked importance.

Allison-James, Santa Fe, New Mexico. A slightly decreased enrollment is shown at this school owing to the reorganization of the work which was effected there at the beginning of the year. There is every reason to believe, however, that there will be a full enrollment when the school opens in the fall. Special emphasis is being placed upon the industrial courses which have been provided for training in cookery and domestic art, and the importance of homemaking is being stressed in a very emphatic manner. Miss Buxton, who was transferred from Los Angeles to assume the responsibility of principal of this school, is already making much headway in her large community problem, which is to do for the girls of New Mexico what Menaul is doing for the boys. Miss Buxton writes: "Our work progresses slowly, as all work must which has such heavy odds of ignorance and superstition to combat; these are foundation years. May there be reared by the generation of tomorrow, upon what is built into the generation of today, the splendid structure of an educated and Christianized New Mexico."

Forsythe Memorial, Los Angeles, California. Miss Smith, the new principal, has been very much encouraged by the increased interest shown by the people year by year. There have been this year many more applications for admission than could be accepted. In making the transition from the old school with a capacity of twenty students to the new school with its total capacity of seventy, it has seemed advisable not to proceed too rapidly, and therefore the attendance at any one time is limited at present to sixty. This school will enter upon its third year in the new building next fall and at that time will be prepared to receive the total enrollment of seventy girls. This work plays an important part in meeting the immigrant problem among the large Mexican population of the city of Los Angeles.

Medical Work

Peñasco, New Mexico. The report from the Rincones Medical Station of the work instituted here last year has been most encouraging. When the station first opened, Dr. Taylor encountered strong opposition on the part of the Roman Catholics. By patient effort, however, this has been largely overcome, and the people realize now that the mission doctor is ready and able to help them in time of sickness. Now the doctor, whose headquarters are at Peñasco, has patients in at least twenty-four plazas and his work is constantly growing. In a recent report he makes the following statement: "New Mexico is often spoken of as the 'land of crosses' but that is only true as the people make it so. I believe that the Rincones Medical Station has a great work in the future in removing some of these crosses by relieving suffering and preventing it by teaching hygiene and improving sanitary conditions."

Embudo, New Mexico. Miss MacKenzie who is in charge of the Brooklyn Dispensary Hospital at this station writes as follows: "The principal and important events in Embudo within the last year have been the completion of a small hospital, and the arrival of a physician on the field. Up to this time, the people in the plaza and surrounding districts were in dire need of medical aid. Once in a while they would call a physician from afar, but the majority would not because of inability to pay the high charges, so the alternative seemed to be to die. In a number of cases, they ran the risk of taking the patient in a big wagon over rough roads, a distance of thirty miles, to the nearest doctor, but at the present time medical aid is within reach of all."

Trementina, New Mexico. At Trementina there has been erected a small hospital building under the supervision of Miss Blake. The outlook is most hopeful for a large and increasing development of the opportunity to supply the medical needs of the people of this plaza. It is hoped that before long there may be a new school building to take the place of the one destroyed by fire last November.

Ranches of Taos, New Mexico. Miss Yeats has been stationed here as visiting nurse and has rendered excellent service in the plaza, supplementing the work of Dr. Taylor and co-operating with him in every way possible. At the same station

Miss Russell has been carrying on school and community work and reports hearty response by these Spanish-speaking people to the efforts put forth on their behalf. Children who have never been at mission schools before are enthusiastically learning Bible verses and gospel songs. An encouraging feature of the work is the fact that this year two boys are attending Menaul and four girls the Allison-James School, and the prospects are that more will go next fall.

Day Schools

Agua Negra, New Mexico. This school has this year become settled in a new building and is enjoying a complete and modern equipment. The school work is making rapid progress, the attendance being so large that some have had to be refused admission.

Chimayo, New Mexico. While the enrollment is not so large as that of last year, the attendance has increased. Six of the pupils enrolled last year are now attending Menaul and Allison-James and reports indicate that they are doing good work. Dr. Taylor of Peñasco has kept in close touch with the medical needs of the plaza and may readily be summoned when necessary. The people are placing more and more confidence in his work and are beginning to realize that he is genuinely interested in their welfare.

Chacon, New Mexico. This school has had a very fine year. The school work has been most encouraging. The enrollment has reached sixty and many have been turned away because of lack of room. The attendance has been regular in spite of long distances to cover, and the extreme cold weather on the tops of the Rockies. Six of the former pupils are now at Menaul and others are preparing to go later. During the year nine of the pupils have united with the Church. This is a cause for much encouragement. It is particularly interesting to note that Miss Rolofson has to say on the attitude of young men regarding the saloon question: "At the vote in this section on the saloon question last fall, although the election went in favor of saloons, it was a hopeful sign to see almost all the young men stand against the saloon in the canvass and on voting days."

Embudo, New Mexico. The school work at this station has been carried on by Miss Sutherland and Miss Smith, formerly of Menaul. While the enrollment is not materially increased this year, the average attendance indicates a greater interest on the part of the community in the work that is being done for it.

Pyle Memorial, Taos, New Mexico. The work of this school has been carried on during the past year by Mr. and Mrs. McKean. Mrs. McKean was formerly under the Board in the Mexican field, and it is a pleasure to count her again among the ranks of teachers. The interest in the work has been good and the attendance regular. There is every indication that until the public school, which is controlled by the Catholics, raises its standard of work there will be need for the mission school in this plaza.

El Prado de Taos, New Mexico. Miss Craig, who is now concluding her twenty-eighth year of service at this station, aptly summarizes the importance of the work by the following statement: "The light that shines from this school and other mission schools is the only true light that many of the people have."

Truchas, New Mexico. Truchas seems to have had more than its share of epidemics this year and the consequent continued illness has interfered considerably with the school work. Dr. Taylor has been able to be of much assistance at such times, but he has found it difficult to overcome the barriers of ignorance and superstition that prevail. Miss Dutton writes: "The hard part of dealing with contagion among these people is that they believe disease to be sent from the hand of God, and if it is His will that their children be stricken, it must be; therefore, why regard quarantine or try to be careful."

MORMONS

The keynote of the missionary problem in Utah is suggested by the following statement made by one of the Board's community workers: "So far as spiritual results are concerned in our work here, it is simply a case of just keeping on keeping on." This is just what the Woman's Board has been doing in Utah for the past quarter of a century, and those who are well acquainted with the situation believe that the spiritual results are being made manifest in a wonderful degree. The development of the splendid public educational system of the State has limited the openings for the Board to use day-school work as a means of entry into Mormon communities. This has necessitated the withdrawal of most of the teachers from such stations and the concentration of effort upon the two boarding schools, New Jersey Academy and Wasatch Academy. The results which are being obtained by these institutions in the way of the development of community leaders are unmistakably bright with encouragement.

Boarding Schools

Wasatch Academy, Mt. Pleasant, Utah. Dr. McKirahan, principal of this important institution, summarizes the outstanding events of the year as follows: "As a result of the active work of the Christian Association, the holding of special meetings, and the personal work of the teachers, eight pupils joined our church on profession and a larger number indicated their desire to lead a Christian life. I think it speaks well for the work of the school that nine of the ten members of the class of 1916 have gone to college or other institutions for advanced training. While the total enrollment is about the same as last year there has been an increase in the number of boarding pupils as well as regular Academy students. The securing of an extra high school teacher, the new boys' dormitory, the teachers' home, and the increased accommodation in the Academy building have made it possible to do more effective school work. While there are no large numbers to report, either in conversion or increased enrollment, and while there have been some special discouragements, yet, on the whole, I think we are each year getting a better hold on the situation and are better able to master the problems that confront us."

New Jersey Academy, Logan, Utah. The story of the year is well expressed in the following report by Miss Mary Martin, newly appointed principal of this institution, and daughter of Dr. George W. Martin, veteran missionary in the service at Manti for more than thirty-five years: "To the great joy of the returning workers the enrollment at the opening of the year showed a notable increase in the boarding department comprising fifty per cent. old girls as against but forty-two per cent. last year. The proportion of Latter Day Saints in the entire school enrolled since September, 1916, is forty-seven per cent., thirty-six per cent. of the number in the boarding department. Thirty communities are represented in the enrollment. This means that one or more lives from each of these localities is under the influence of the kind of training their homes cannot offer them. What the effect may be can only be conjectured unless we fix our hearts upon a goal and pray for definite results with faith in God's power to do greater things than we hope for. The task that lies before New Jersey Academy is to train the girls who enter to know and love God's will and to find out how to serve their home towns when they return with the impress of the Academy upon them. If a leader can be developed from each representative of a community, how large a work has been set on foot for carrying the good seed into unsown ground! Whether Logan will continue to use the Academy as a high school for the girls of the town or not, the regions round about will send their daughters to this school, so advantageously located, so suitably equipped, and so naturally the choice place for a girl to attend for the sake of home influences, with the possibility of spreading her advantages when she returns home. Our slogan 'Fifty girls in the boarding department for next year'."

Day Schools

Salina, Utah. A day school has been conducted during the past year in connection with the community work. It is evident, however, that the public school is meeting the educational need of the people and that the Board's work can now be confined entirely to community work.

Panguitch, Utah. This school reports the best year in its recent history, having an enrollment of sixty-nine and an average attendance of forty-nine. The worker here urges that the school be continued because of the real need which it meets and even asks that the work be enlarged by the addition of another teacher.

Monroe, Utah. Recent work from this school brings the message that the work is steadily progressing, and that the people of the community each year show greater appreciation of the efforts of the two faithful workers on this field.

Ferron, Utah. This school reports satisfactory progress during the year. New domestic science equipment has been added and pupils as well as parents have manifested increased interest in this particular department of the work. During the past year there has been erected at Ferron a new public school building modernly equipped which will eventually serve to meet the educational needs of this community, and will no doubt sooner or later affect the Board's policy at this station.

Community Stations

Gunnison, Utah. Miss Curtis, well able to judge because of her twenty-nine years of service among the Mormon people, expresses her regard for them in the following statement: "We may well hate the degrading system and influence of Mormonism, but never the Mormon people as we know them."

St. George, Utah. The appreciation of the community of the work being done at this isolated station in a temple town is evidenced by the following statement from Miss Lowry: "When the day before Christmas, citizens of Monroe presented us with handsome gifts in appreciation of our lives and services in the community, we felt that our Mormon friends had shown the true Christmas spirit."

MOUNTAINEERS

Particularly gratifying has been the showing of the work among the mountain people in the fourteen community stations and nine boarding schools, which represent the stations conducted by the Woman's Board in this territory. Perhaps the most significant feature of the year in this field has been the inauguration of new policies at various stations to meet the advanced economic conditions brought about by the onrush of civilization.

Boarding Schools

Harlan, Kentucky. After the fire which destroyed the Harlan school dormitory at Harlan, Kentucky, it was deemed advisable not to rebuild directly in Harlan but to locate at some other point in Harlan County. As a result plans have been evolved for a new Harlan County project to be known as a Community Life School. This will have as its basis community development, spiritual, intellectual, and economic. To this end it will conduct a co-educational boarding school department for sixty pupils, minimum age twelve, grades five to eight inclusive, with one half day for academic work, the other half for industrial training, all instruction to be of the most practical nature and aimed to fit students for their probable environment, at the same time preparing the exceptionally gifted for the county high schools or other institutions of similar grade; it will provide public school instruction by assisting in the development of a model public school at the expense of the community and under its direction; it will provide a four weeks' mid-winter extension course for pupils so environed that longer attendance is impossible, and a four weeks' course along Denmark folk school lines for adults, both married and single; it will maintain extension work during suitable seasons and in varying neighboring communities along general lines of work; it will provide through the nurse and home science teacher an instructive program of sanitation and medical relief for as wide an area as may be feasible; it will, moreover, develop and maintain Sunday Schools and Bible classes at as many points in the immediate vicinity as may be covered from the central plant and promote the religious growth of the general community by every practicable means. The plant will consist of model cottages provided with sleeping-porches, a small dispensary building, and a central school building so arranged as to make possible auditorium facilities for community gatherings. The location of this school is based on the thought of distinctively pioneer missionary effort which will involve placing it in an isolated community practically unreached by educational or religious forces. Great stress will be laid upon a policy of co-operation with the state and national forces, that are now working in the field of community betterment. The co-operation of the State Health Department, of the State Agricultural Bureau and of the National Department of Agriculture will be earnestly solicited. The institution will serve as a center for demonstration work on the part of these various agencies. The inauguration of canning club work and other similar community enterprises will naturally come under the home science department. In a word, this school will provide a genuine community center from which shall radiate in its abundant influence the manifold power of the all-sufficient gospel of Jesus Christ, interpreted in such terms as to meet every human need.

Langdon Memorial School, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky.—An interesting feature in connection with this school is the model cottage for practice housekeeping, which has just been equipped and put into operation. Here the girls are receiving practical training in homemaking and are already taking a keen interest in the work. Miss Stewart writes as follows regarding the spiritual development of the girls: "The Christian work of the school has been most encouraging. Fourteen have been received into the Church within the five months since school opened. Others have made a public profession of faith and are waiting to return to their own churches. The zeal with which these young converts have taken up their new duties as Christians and their willingness to speak a word for Christ is inspiring to us who are older in the Christian life."

Normal and Collegiate Institute, Asheville, North Carolina. An important event in the history of this institution was the appointment this past year of John E. Calfee, as President. Mr. Calfee by training and experience is particularly well fitted to assume this important responsibility, since he was reared in the mountains and has devoted his whole life to the study of mountain problems and the needs of the people. His basic theory is that the education of the South should be so adapted as to meet the needs of people in rural communities. He has made the statement: "My one desire is to see the mountain people economically free and efficiently religious. These are contributions in social progress that the school should intentionally plan to bring about." The Normal and Collegiate Institute is having a large share in meeting this great problem of rural education by developing young women as strong Christian characters to serve as community leaders in the church, the home and the school. One county superintendent has said, "The best teaching in the county is done by the Normal girls." They deliberately choose to teach in the poorest schools and in the remotest sections, because there the need is greatest and the work hardest. Mr. Calfee writes, "They are brought to see or realize that education is not an individual and selfish matter but a special power which is held in trust, and that they owe it to their community to share the blessings of education with them." The course of instruction is so arranged as to train these young women to cope with existing rural conditions. The model cottage has been most successful this year. It is a typical mountain cottage which has been overhauled, painted, and arranged in a most attractive manner by the girls of the household arts department, the idea being to remodel the cottage in a way that would be possible for any mountain home. The courses in agriculture and manual training are most successful and much enthusiasm has been shown in this part of the work. There has been an active interest taken in the Y. W. C. A. work, which is conducted largely by the girls, and a wholesome religious atmosphere pervades the entire school.

Asheville Home School and Pease Memorial House, Asheville, North Carolina. Under the able leadership of Miss Stephenson this school is continuing to make its influence felt throughout the whole mountain region. Miss Stephenson has the girls under her guidance during the most impressionable years of their lives and is carrying out with remarkable success the peculiar function of the school, which is primarily to mold these young girls into strong and useful characters, bodily, intellectually and spiritually. Of the members of last year's graduating class seven are in the Normal and Collegiate Institute, two are in high schools elsewhere, one is capably filling a position on the Asheville campus, two are in the homes of their parents and are helpful members of the community, one is married, another is engaged to be married, and another is earning money to continue her school work. Of the sixteenth member of the class Miss Stephenson writes, "The most beautiful and talented one of the class was drowned in the flood at Biltmore, July 16th, but we know to be true the word of the minister spoken on the day of her burial, 'Her life is not lost'."

Farm School, Asheville, North Carolina. Out of the ashes of the disastrous fire of December, 1914, "phoenixlike" has arisen the new Farm School with its four new buildings. The school is rapidly regaining its former enrollment, and has had a most successful year. It gives promise of even greater development on the new plans that have been devised for the extension of the vocational courses. It has been a particular source of encouragement to note that the farm has this year, in spite of a big crop loss due to the flood, been operated at a profit.

Bell Institute, Walnut, North Carolina. This school has had a very satisfactory year. It has been filled to capacity from a long waiting list of those who have had to be refused admission before. The general health of the teachers and pupils has been good, and there has been a spirit of co-operation on the part of all in the performance of the necessary tasks. There have been a number of accessions to the Church among the student body, and a splendid opportunity has been given to all of these mountain girls for the development of Christian character and leadership. Miss Griffith writes, "The leaven is working, for both in our community here and in the communities from which our students come strong evidence is manifested of the progressive, enlightening influence of Christian education."

Laura Sunderland Memorial, Concord, North Carolina. This school is accomplishing for the girls in the region of Concord what the Home School is doing for those in and near Asheville. Miss Montgomery reports that effective work has been done in the Christian Endeavor Societies and that the pupils have taken an active interest in the meetings. All of the pupils with the exception of nine are church members, three having joined this term. It is interesting to follow the nine graduates of the class of 1916: two of these girls have availed themselves of the opportunity of entering the Normal, two are teaching and are planning to go to the Normal next year; two others are at work in a factory, hoping eventually to attend the Normal. All are identified with the church and community betterment work, and one has a large Philathea class in a mill village where she is recognized as an earnest spirit-filled leader.

Dorland Institute, Hot Springs, North Carolina. The outstanding event at this school during the past year may be said to have been the disastrous flood which entailed such heavy loss to the farm and crops. It was only by a persistent, untiring effort on the part of the faithful workers on the field that the school was opened in September for regular work. A month later when the Harlan school dormitory was destroyed by fire it seemed best to transfer the students to Dorland for the remainder of the year. Miss Shafer reports a splendid spirit of loyalty and co-operation on the part of the boys and girls in the face of these emergencies. The progress of the school work is most encouraging and the enrollment is larger this year than during any previous year. There is every indication that the school not only is growing in numbers, but is each year extending its influence to more and more remote mountain districts.

Mossop Memorial School, Huntsville, Tennessee. The work at this school has gone forward with marked success during the year, especially in the household arts department, where the girls are making rapid progress in sewing and cooking. It is hoped to enlarge the scope of this department still further another year, so as to give regular instruction in dairying and gardening. The work is still hampered by lack of equipment and suitable accommodations, but it is hoped that in the near future this need may be met.

Pattie C. Stockdale Memorial, Colcord, West Virginia. The task of this school is summarized by the following statement made by Miss Robinson, principal: "The girls received in our school come mostly from typical mountain homes, and our effort is not to train them away from the accustomed environment, but rather to inspire them with a desire to return and minister to the needs of the community by promoting better economic conditions, cultivating a desire for a more varied social life, and teaching how to give proper attention to the established laws of health." Particular attention is given to the spiritual need of the students and the reports of their constantly developing Christian lives have indeed been gratifying.

Community Stations

Wooton, Kentucky. An important advance in the work in Kentucky has been made by the location of Miss Rose McCord, formerly principal of the Langdon Memorial School, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, in a community work at Wooton in Leslie County, Kentucky, projected along lines similar to those outlined for the Harlan County Community Life School, without, however, a boarding school department. Since Leslie is regarded as one of the neediest counties of the entire state, much interest will be felt in the development of this work. Owing to difficulties experienced in choosing from a number of very needy localities, the decision was not reached regarding this station until March 13th, and the work could not, therefore, be begun during the past fiscal year.

Cortland, Kentucky. Miss Loudon writes that the Sunday Schools have been well attended throughout the past year. The people in all the surrounding neighborhoods have manifested a spirit of helpfulness and a great interest in all that concerns the work. Mothers' Meetings, Girls' Clubs, Sewing Clubs, with Bible lesson at the close of each, a Circulating Library and the making and receiving of many calls make busy days for the worker.

Manchester, Kentucky. The continued interest which the community shows in the various activities at this station indicates that the work is making steady progress under the capable and enthusiastic leadership of Miss Reid and Miss Goodhand. In December there was opened a branch railroad from Barbourville to Manchester, passing within a few hundred feet of the mission. As the communication with the outside world had before been by wagon or horseback over twenty-four miles of very bad roads, a trip that could hardly be made in one day, the coming of the railroad will doubtless bring about a new activity in the community.

Travelers Rest, Kentucky. This station was opened in October by Miss Hemphill, formerly worker at Green Brier, Kentucky. The people of the community have shown a splendid spirit of co-operation since her arrival on the field and the work is going forward with most encouraging prospects.

Jewett, Tennessee. So handicapped was the Board's representative here by the activities of the "Holy Rollers" that about Christmas time she felt impelled to ask that she be relieved in the summer. There have since, however, been many encouraging developments, and it is gratifying to note that Mrs. Wilson expresses a desire to remain another year.

Juniper, Tennessee. The work here has been revised under the leadership of Miss Sara E. Cochrane, a veteran missionary in the Board's service. Fifteen of the boys and girls of the community are enrolled in the boarding schools conducted by the Board. The return of these young men and women as Christian leaders in the community gives promise of a bright future for Juniper.

Ozone, Tennessee. Here we have reports of great activity among the young people under the leadership of Miss Orbison, who took charge of the field in the fall. Her efforts to bring about a helpful spirit of co-operation in the community are evidently proving successful.

Rocky Fork, Tennessee. At this station, conducted so successfully by Miss Jennie Moore, special effort is being made to strengthen the social and industrial work of the community. There is an eagerness on the part of old and young for wholesome recreation, and Miss Moore is meeting the situation with splendid results. The moving picture outfit and the victrola provided by societies have brought new pleasure and stimulus into the lives of the neighbors of the community house.

Sycamore, Tennessee. The work at this station during the past year has been carried on successfully, especially among the young people and children. They are bright and responsive to the teaching of the word of God and do not hesitate to take their stand as followers of Jesus Christ.

Vardy, Tennessee. An important event at Vardy during the past year was the opportunity given to twenty of the children to enter the Asheville and Hot Springs schools. This is indeed an inspiring record and should be attributed to the persistent and faithful efforts of Miss Rankin.

Brush Creek, West Virginia. From this community there have gone one boy and eight girls to boarding schools under the Woman's Board. The interest in wholesome amusements has also manifested itself at this station, and social evenings are set aside for the young men and women where games of various kinds are played. It is hoped that another year there will be a well-equipped playground for the young people of the community.

Clear Creek, West Virginia. Miss Harris is rendering most effective and inspiring service in this community. There seems to be no limit to her capacity for work. She makes the following interesting statement: "During the past year I have journeyed on foot over mountains, roads and trails for three hundred and thirteen miles; on horseback nine hundred and twenty-four miles. I have received three hundred and ninety-eight callers in the home and have made three hundred and ninety visits among the people."

Dorothy, West Virginia. Under the leadership of Miss Newcomb the work at this station has been steadily growing in interest. It has been somewhat handicapped because of the lack of a church building, but the material for that purpose is now on hand and the work on the building will soon be begun.

Dry Creek, West Virginia. The community has shown a spirit of helpfulness and co-operation by contributing toward the necessary improvements on the church property, and also by better attendance at the church services. Mr. Reaugh, the worker at this station, is ministering to the needs of the two communities, Dry Creek and Rock Creek, with his devoted wife as a most helpful co-worker. There are from sixty to seventy families in these communities, and Mr. Reaugh reports increasing interest on their part in the various activities of the station. An encouraging feature of the year has been the spirit of helpfulness and co-operation which they have shown by their contributions toward the necessary improvements on the church property.

Hahatonka, Missouri. The Clingan sisters, who have done such splendid pioneering both in West Virginia and Missouri, report most encouragingly of the possibilities for the work in the Ozark Mountains. They write: "No one could be engaged in Christian work in the Ozark Mountains without being convinced that these people are what they are through sheer neglect for generations, but with it all we do not find them lacking in intellectual power or physical strength. We are not able to predict to what heights these people may climb under Christian influence and environment."

Osage Iron Works, Missouri. Community work opened up under the Board by Miss Darby and Miss Bebb last spring at this station in Camden County received a warm welcome. The people responded readily to the efforts put forth in their behalf. There is now a live Sunday School in the community with an average attendance of about fifty and a Christian Endeavor Society with an average attendance of about forty. The field has been richly blessed during the past year and the workers look forward to the future with great hope.

CUBANS AND PORTO RICANS

While it has not been possible for the Board to extend its work in Cuba during the past year, it feels its responsibility for enlarging the educational facilities on that island, and hopes that some definite steps to that end may be taken in the near future. With the completion of the new San Juan Hospital an important advance step has been taken toward meeting the medical needs of the natives of Porto Rico.

Day Schools

Guines, Cuba. The enrollment during the past year has been the largest in the history of the school. An encouraging feature of the work has been the support given to the school by families who were hitherto prejudiced but who are now recognizing its service to the community. The parents have manifested an increasing desire to place their children in a boarding school and are urging that a boarding department be opened in connection with the school.

Nueva Paz, Cuba. This school is daily extending its influence in the community and is filling a definite need, especially among the poor people. That these Cuban children appreciate the work that is being done for them is evidenced by the following report made by Mr. Gonzales, who is in charge of the school: "Perhaps you would like to know something about the intellectual capacity of our Cuban children. They are especially privileged in this respect. They learn with marvelous rapidity and have a great liking for music, nearly all of them manage to sing in a sweet and attractive manner. Nearly all of them know what they owe to their generous American friends in the North. We try to take care to formulate in their hearts the gratitude which they owe you, and I hope that some day some of them will be able to manifest it in words."

Sancti Spiritus, Cuba. An important change inaugurated in this school during the past year has been to have the boys and girls recite in the same classes rather than in separate classes as heretofore. This innovation has been entirely satisfactory, and the reports are that the work has been better and the attendance punctual. The enrollment this year has been the largest in the history of the school. The building will not accommodate all of those who apply for admission and many have to be turned away.

Marina, Mayaguez, Porto Rico. Much is being accomplished at this station in the way of community betterment. A visiting nurse devotes her whole time to the medical needs of the people and a Porto Rican physician holds a clinic at the mission once a week. In addition to this there are two hundred boys and girls daily attending the day nursery, kindergarten, primary and industrial classes, and there is every evidence that the work is going forward with remarkable success.

Aguadilla, Porto Rico. The following report from Miss Preston, who is in charge of this station, is most interesting: "The departments of the work are (1) basketry, (2) lace, (3) kindergarten, (4) day nursery, (5) visiting nurse, (6) sewing and game classes. In the basketry and lace school these arts are taught by competent native teachers. The materials are furnished and when the product is salable the pupils are paid a fair price for their work. By means of this industrial work, fifty boys and girls have become not only self-supporting, but have been able to help with the maintenance of the family. The kindergarten has developed increased interest on the part of the parents. This department has established a sympathy between the workers and community and has brought us into close contact with the people. It is slowly but surely establishing a play spirit among the little children that has before been unknown. Our day nursery is a 'real home' for the little tots. Here they receive proper food, play, and rest, and a noticeable improvement in a child's health and conduct can be seen after he has been in the nursery a short time. One of the most important parts of our work is that being done by the visiting nurse. She is untiring in her efforts to relieve physical suffering, and is always mindful of the fact that the healing of the soul is of more importance than that of the body. Her work gives her many opportunities to take the story of Christ's love into many homes. The sewing classes are meeting a very practical need. These girls have great skill in hand-work and yet have not known how to do the simplest sewing. The game classes and physical work are accomplishing the ends for which we have hoped. The children are learning to think and act more quickly, to co-operate more readily and pleasantly with each other, and most important of all to develop and control their will power. If the love of fair play, a sense of true moral values, and above all the power and habit of will to act on these can be developed in our boys and girls, it will be of immeasurable value for the uplift of the community."

San Juan, Porto Rico. No better summary can be made of the work that has been carried on during the past year at the Presbyterian Hospital than that given in the following statement by Miss Ordway, the superintendent: "The number of hospital patients in a single year has increased from 454 in 1907 to 744 in 1916, the total number during the decade having been 5,872. In the same time the growth in the number of patients treated in the clinic has been even more strikingly remarkable—from 6,812 in 1907, a steady increase year by year, up to 29,933 last year, a total of 158,764 during the ten years. It is here much of the charity work of the hospital is done, those receiving treatment through the clinic paying three cents, or five cents, or twelve cents, or twenty-five cents, or nothing at all, as they are able. Nearly five thousand operations have been performed during the ten years. Surely no more conclusive argument than this rapidly increasing usefulness of the hospital is needed to prove the wisdom of the Board in New York in appropriating the large amount of money which has been expended on our beautiful and adequate new building, soon to be occupied. Besides caring for the sick, the hospital has been conducting training classes for nurses, the pupil-nurses working under the direction of the American graduate nurses. At first it was difficult to find girls who wanted to learn the profession of nursing, owing to the lack of understanding of the work. It was thought to be more the work of a servant than a profession, and while these ideas prevailed it was very difficult to get candidates for the training classes with sufficient education to take the course. All this is changed now; we have plenty of applicants for our training group and the girls are of a higher order. About seventy nurses have been graduated since the training class was started and there are at present twenty-one nurses under instruction. Our entire class passed the Insular Medical Board examination last April! Our district nurses do the same kind of work that is done by them in the States. Each has a bag containing medicines with all the instruments and sterile supplies necessary for an emergency case. The nurse goes into the homes of the very poor, and if necessary takes sheets, pillow cases, and clothing from hospital supplies to make the sick comfortable, and teaches the mothers how to care for their children, that they may grow to be stronger men and women, better fitted to earn their daily bread than the anemic, emaciated beings of which there are so many hundreds, yea thousands in Porto Rico. The demand for district nurses is more than we can supply."

Thus closes the story of another year of ministry to some neglected peoples of the homeland on the part of Presbyterian women. The darkening horizon betokens a crisis for our people such as we have never known, and this may call for supreme sacrifice in every quarter. It should be a cause for deep satisfaction that the ranks of Christian American citizenship have been greatly strengthened by the blessed ministry of Presbyterian women through the agency of this Board. While a new task will confront the constituency in the event of war, there must be no turning aside from the work at hand. Increased efficiency must be developed to meet both old and new demands, and with it all will come unshaken faith in the divine plan for world redemption. That we may each do our share, God grant us "open minds, aspiring hearts and responsive wills"!

Miss Edith Grier Long, General Secretary of the Board since 1914, presented her resignation to accept March first a position of unusual opportunity in connection with the Young Women's Christian Association in New York City. As Miss Long's association of many years with the home mission work of the Church, first under the Board of Home Missions and then under the Woman's Board of Home Missions, rendered her particularly well qualified for the office of general secretary, it was with deepest regret that the Board accepted her resignation.

Although there have been no striking events to record, except the completion of the San Juan Hospital, the work even during this year of national crisis has not stood still. The Board has kept the charge entrusted to it by the women of the Church; synodical, presbyterial and local officers write of a spirit of deep consecration among the women, made manifest by increase in organizations, in membership and in gifts; letters from the field show that the sincere devotion of the women of the Presbyterian Church has found expression in the lives of the boys and girls in the mission schools.

Cuba Special

For the special for the year 1916-1917—advance work in Cuba—$21,699.65 was received; for flood relief work in the mountains of the South, $6,928.73. Contributions for these funds by Synodicals and Presbyterials are included in the column marked "Buildings" on pages 70 to 81.

Apportionments

Apportionment books for Synodical Societies were prepared during the summer months and mailed to Synodical Presidents September 15th. These books contain a detailed financial statement of receipts by Presbyterials, lists of salary and scholarship pledges, apportionments for the new year—in fact, a full report of finances within the bounds of each Synodical Society.

Field Work and Traveling

The field work and traveling expense fund is used to defray expenses of speakers provided for local, presbyterial, and synodical meetings, and for the salaries and traveling expenses of Field Secretaries. As receipts for this purpose are used to replenish the fund mentioned, no credit for the same is given in contributions for regular current work. During the year $916.31 was received from various organizations, thus reducing the amount charged to this fund by that much.

Salary and Scholarship Department

The work of assigning objects to societies for the purpose of raising gifts for the work of the Board is cared for in the treasury under the salary and scholarship department. The salary of practically every one of the workers on the mission field has been assigned in this way. Societies are notified of changes which occur at the end of or during the year; workers are notified of their supporters; and receipts are checked up from time to time in order to see that pledges are being kept.

Scholarships at $75.00 and $100.00 a year, and the support of a bed in a hospital at $120.00 a year, are popular in societies where it is impossible to assume so large a burden as a teacher's salary. Over fifty new scholarships and an additional $815.00 in shares were received during the year. The total amount per year now pledged, including both full scholarships and shares, is $92,415.77.

Honorary Members

One hundred dollars over and above regular contributions, paid into the treasury of the Board at one time, is required for an honorary membership. Thirty-three honorary members have been added to the roll within the last twelve months, making a total of 237.

Life Members

Twenty-five dollars over and above regular contributions, paid into the treasury of the Board at one time, is required for a life membership. The year 1916-1917 has increased the enrollment of life members by 78 names.

Home Mission Monthly

ACTION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The Eightieth Annual Report of the Board of Foreign Missions and the manuscript volume of its Minutes for the year ending March 31, 1917, were presented to the General Assembly in session at Dallas, Texas, May 1917 and were referred to the Standing Committee on Foreign Missions.

The Committee presented to the General Assembly its Report which was adopted. The Report and recommendation submitted are herewith presented:—

In presenting its report on the work of the Board of Foreign Missions, the Standing Committee is deeply impressed by the exceptional character of the conditions under which the work of the year has been done and the complex nature of the problems raised. It wishes it were possible for the entire body of the General Assembly to share this impression and that there were time to present the facts which a careful reading of the Eightieth Annual Report of the Board brings into view. It commends the circulation and study of the report throughout the Church.

The Committee submits the following Resolutions for adoption:—

1. That the Minutes of the Board for 1916-1917 which have been examined by the Committee and found in order, carefully and accurately kept, be approved.

2. That the accounts of the Treasurer for the year 1916-1917 which have been examined and found carefully kept and properly audited be approved.

3. That the Assembly would again place on record its appreciation of the splendid work done by the Woman's Boards, noting especially that their contributions for all purposes have amounted to a total of $646,114.03, being an increase of $63,539.71 over those of the year 1915-1916. The Assembly notes with gratification the plans for a closer relationship between the Assembly's Board and the Woman's Boards, and express its indebtedness to the women of the Church for their spirit of harmony, loyalty and generosity, which has become an indispensable part of the success of the Foreign Missionary Cause.

4. That the Assembly expresses its appreciation of the admirable organization of the Board of Foreign Missions, realizing the largeness and complexity of its work, demanding as it does, extraordinary care and discretion in its administration.

5. That the Assembly notes with profound gratitude to Almighty God the unparalleled blessing that has attended the work of Foreign Missions during the past year. Never in the history of Missions has there been such a turning of men towards the Gospel of Christ. Instead of being a hindrance, the world's war has stimulated the interest in the Gospel. On the dark backgrounds of the world's strife, the message of the Master has been revealed in sharpened outlines, as the only final means of securing permanent peace. From Japan, Korea, China and India comes the report of great evangelistic and mass movements. From Syria and Persia records of faithful and heroic service on the part of the missionaries which have broken down prejudice and are destined in the near future to become the means of flinging wide open many doors for missionary activity. From Latin America comes a call growing out of the closer trade relations between the United States and Latin America for the immediate proclamation of the Gospel, especially to the student classes. The vision of this need has been greatly enlarged and quickened by special study during the year. From Africa, Siam, and the Philippines Islands there are stories of churches and schools over-crowded and fields white for the harvest. The Assembly recognizes with solemn awe, the hand of God in the signs of the disintegration of Islam, the growth of national consciousness among the increasing number of the peoples of the world and the consequent need of strengthening the moral foundation of governments, and accepts this condition as imposing an imperative responsibility upon it to proclaim the principles of Christ as alone able to solve the world's problems and establish permanently the Kingdom of God. Missions as the antithesis of war constitute the Church's contribution to the needs of the hour and its magnificent opportunity. In the largest and most profound sense of the word Christ must be proclaimed as the Savior of the world.

6. That the Assembly view with concern the increasing weight of the burden laid upon the Board as a result of the conditions created by the war. First of all, under a call which unmistakeably came from God, the Board assumed responsibility at least temporarily for the work laid down by some Missionary Societies incapacitated to carry on their labors. Add to this the disturbance in financial matters whereby the cost of financing the mission stations, was raised by not less than $250,000. This increase is further augmented by the larger cost of travel, hospital supplies, freight, etc. All this together with some other extraordinary expenditures, must be met by an increase of financial support on the part of the Church. But the financial need is paralleled by a need equally great of well equipped workers in sufficient numbers to occupy the vacant fields. Here, too, the new interests brought into view by the war, together with the motives stimulated, have created new demands the pressure of which threatens to interfere with the supply. The situation calls for the most careful thought of the Church and is earnestly commended as a subject of special prayer and sacrificial giving.

7. The Assembly sends its greetings to its representatives in the forefront of the battle line and pledges its support and constant prayer and would also appeal to the young men and women in our schools and colleges to enlist in this great spiritual warfare, reminding them especially, that at this time loyalty to country may express itself as truly and effectively in volunteering to devote their lives to the spread and permanent establishment of the principles for which this nation is fighting, as in taking their places in the ranks of battle.

8. That in view of the new and serious problems which the Board is facing in the educational work of several of its fields, resulting from the passage of new laws relative to government control of Educational Institutions and the consequent secularization of all education, the Assembly approves the continuance of the policy hitherto followed of the maintenance of Bible teaching and religious services in all mission schools, as long as it is legally permissible.

9. That the Assembly notes, with special interest, the Board's policy of securing more efficient local administration in the various mission fields, including the largest amount of democratic self-government in the missions, and recommends that whenever conditions permit, or render it advantageous, in the judgment of the Board further steps be taken in the same direction, especially in the case of its larger missions.

10. That the Assembly urges all our Churches and Sunday-Schools to engage in systematic missionary education, making use of the plans and materials recommended by the Board, particularly those offered for the current fiscal year relating to Africa. In accordance with the action of previous Assemblies, all our Sunday-schools are urged on the Sunday nearest Christmas, and both Churches and Sunday-schools on Easter Sunday, to contribute a special offering to Foreign Missions through our Board. As a means of deepening missionary interest, it is urged that Sunday-schools in consultation with the Board apply their Foreign Mission gifts to specific objects, such as shares in the support of individual missionaries or gifts to particular stations, known as the "Station Plan."

11. That the Assembly call the special attention of the Church to the success of the special campaign undertaken by the Board during the past winter and spring. This campaign was devised for the purpose of raising $1,000,000 for advance work, approved and inaugurated by the General Assembly of 1916. Seven principal cities were visited. Aided by the Woman's Boards and a devoted group of missionaries home on furlough, who cordially cooperated, the Board has secured up to March 30th a total of $565,000 in pledges. The approach of summer and the outbreak of the war has temporarily interrupted the work but plans are already laid for the further prosecution in the fall, and the Assembly is asked to approve this further effort to raise the entire sum. The spiritual values of these campaigns have been of greater significance than the splendid financial results.

12. That the Assembly note with interest the enlarging number of Churches that have adopted the Every Member Plan of giving to the benevolent objects but would call attention to the fact that there are still many of the churches which make no contribution to Foreign Missions and would urge every Church either self-supporting or not, to bear a share in the maintenance of the work.

13. That the Assembly would call the attention of the Church to the great and providential opportunity for service which God has opened to the Board of Foreign Missions, owing to the fact that in the work of relief in Armenia, Syria and Persia, the Board has been almost the sole medium of communication with these fields and the channel through which funds to the amount of more than $2,000,000 raised in the United States from various sources have reached the suffering victims of the war.

14. That in this moment of supreme suffering and ever increasing horror, we lay upon the hearts of all our people the burden of this sorrow and human agony and urge the pastors to present the appeal of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America and of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief in a plea commensurate with the awful responsibilities involved and the magnitude of the opportunity for a self-sacrificing response in the name of humanity and of Jesus Christ, and that a special offering be made on Memorial Sunday or some early date thereafter, over and above the regular contributions to missions.

15. That the Assembly notes with mingled sadness and thanksgiving for their faithful services, the passing into their eternal reward of fifteen of its faithful workers in the field. This honored roll includes the names of some of the veterans longest in the service. The Rev. W. A. P. Martin, D.D. LL.D., of the North China Mission was appointed in 1849 and served for 67 years as an educator, statesman, author and missionary. The Rev. J. M. W. Farnham, D. D., of Central China Mission was appointed in 1859 and had served 58 years at the time of his death. The Rev. C. B. Newton, D. D. of the Punjab Mission was appointed in 1867 and died April 11, 1916, with 49 years of service to his credit. The Rev. Horace G. Underwood, D. D., LL. D., who served from 1884-1916 deserves special mention as the founder and builder of the Korean Presbyterian Church. The Rev. S. G. Wilson, D. D. of the West Persia Mission was appointed in 1880 and died last July, a martyr to the cause of relief work among the Armenians in Persia. Mrs. William S. Nelson had served in the Syrian Mission since 1888; the Rev. C. A. Killie in North China since 1889; Mrs. William M. Baird in Korea since 1890; Mrs. Gilbert McIntosh in Central China since 1892; Mrs. William H. Dobson in South China since 1897; Mrs. William H. Gleysteen in North China since 1904; Miss Elizabeth Anderson, M. D. in Central China since 1907; Miss Anna G. Reed in North China since 1913; and Miss Edna Brack in Shantung Mission since 1914-16.

The term of office of the following members of the Board have expired, they are recommended for re-election in the Class of 1917-1920.

Rev. George Alexander, D. D.    Mr. Henry W. Hodge.
Rev. John F. Patterson, D. D.   Mr. James M. Speers
Mr. John T. Underwood            Mr. D. W. McWilliams

The Rev. John Fox, D. D. has resigned on account of impaired health. The Committee recommends the election of the Rev. W. Y. Chapman, D. D. of the Presbytery of Newark to fill the vacancy in the Class of 1915-1918. The Rev. Minot S. Morgan, having resigned on account of removal to Detroit, Michigan, the Committee recommends the election of the Rev. Robert Gardner MacGregor, D. D. of the Presbytery of Westchester to fill the vacancy in the Class of 1916-1919.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ANDREW C. ZENOS, D.D.,
Chairman.

INTRODUCTION
EIGHTIETH ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS
OF THE
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

---

The Board presents herewith to the General Assembly its Eightieth Annual Report. The work of the year has been less disturbed by the war than any one could have ventured to believe would be possible. The actual conflict has not this year touched any of the Mission fields of the Board with the exception of Africa, Syria and Persia. In the first year of the war, China was the scene of conflict in the neighborhood of Tsingtau. After the capture of Tsingtau by the Japanese, however, the Far East was left undisturbed by actual fighting. In Africa, after long and bloody struggle, the French and British troops drove out the Germans and took possession of Kamerun, which is now under the political control and government of France. Since the cessation of hostilities, missionary work has gone on uninterruptedly under French administration as it had previously gone on under the German government. In Syria there has been as yet no actual warfare between the Turks and the Allies, although this may come if the progress of the British troops northward from Egypt through Palestine is continued. In Persia the Russian troops have been in control of the province of Azerbaijan, where the Urumia and Tabriz stations are located, but for most of the year the Turkish troops have been in possession of Kermanshah, Hamadan, and Doulatabad. The missionaries have remained at their posts in these centers, rendering all the service they could to all classes of people in their time of need. The Turkish troops appear now to have withdrawn entirely from Persia, so that the Syria Mission seems to be the only one that is likely to be seriously involved in the war area during the coming year.

The war has lifted men's thoughts from petty concerns and forced them to see that world issues are the dominant questions of humanity. A few years ago we were tempted to think that our real problems were local problems, or national questions related to social and industrial justice. Now we see that the real problems are universal, and that they are not economic but moral, and that the great work of the Church is the work of proclaiming to all the nations the pure Gospel of peace and good will, of justice and righteousness and truth, and of the Kingdom of holy obedience and friendly service. There is hope that old and inadequate views of the Gospel and its work in the world are passing away and that men may have faith in the coming of the new order which only the Gospel can bring in. One of the new missionaries sent to Africa the past year writes of a German motto over the door of the hotel at Duala, "The old falls, the times will change, and new life will blossom from the ruins."

In each mission field, the opportunity and the urgency alike are more pressing than the Board has known them in all the eighty years of its history.

CHINA.—When the year opened, the clouds of the impending restoration of monarchy seemed to fill the sky in China. The forms of republican government had already largely disappeared throughout the provinces and the national Assembly in Peking had been dissolved, although the name and ideal of republic still prevailed in the national organization. But so strong was Yuan Shi Kai's position and so great the influence of the conservative element about him and throughout the nation that even the best informed of the Chinese and of foreigners in China anticipated the enthronement of Yuan Shi Kai as Emperor. A mood of discouragement and hopelessness seemed to be settling down over the whole nation. The saddest feature of all was the blow which had been given to faith in unselfish and patriotic leadership. Yuan Shi Kai had pledged himself to the maintenance of the republic, and for many months had kept his pledge, with the result that Chinese skepticism as to the patriotism of its great leaders was beginning to give way and there was a prospect that the nation might be strengthened by a living faith in loyalty and unselfishness. Yuan Shi Kai's readiness to accept the throne gave a mortal blow to this spirit of trust and pride and left many of the young Chinese with the feeling that they had no leaders who could be trusted once they were placed in positions of temptation. The new currents of life, however, were running with more depth and fullness than any one knew, and a greater upheaval than any of the past might have come if Yuan Shi Kai's sudden death on June 6th had not removed what the hearts of the people began to regard as a menace, and opened the way for the accession of the Vice-President, Li Yuan-hung. The new President had the confidence of the country and his conduct since his accession to the Presidency has strengthened the nation and his influence in the nation. In July, mandates to re-convene the parliament were issued, restoring also the provisional constitution of 1912, annulling the arrangements made by Yuan Shi Kai, and appointing a new Cabinet of all parties. The problems of the new republic were not solved, but the wound which Yuan Shi Kai, had inflicted was in some measure healed and China appears to be making real progress in dealing with her enormous difficulties.

The effort to make Confucianism the established religion is not abandoned, but there is little prospect that it can be made successful. All the Christians are united in their position, and issued last year the following appeal:

We, the representatives of the Catholics, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Congregationalists (English and American), Methodists, and Independents, in the name of 3,500,000 Christians, make the following appeal to our fellow-countrymen. For the past two years the subject of Constitutional Law has been under the consideration of our Government. In Section XIX, Art. II, it is proposed to add: In our National Schools, Confucianism is to be considered the only basis of true morality.

We think that this proposed law is an invasion of the rights of the citizens of the Chinese Republic. Freedom to worship God according to his conscience is a privilege that every man should enjoy and the passage of such a statute would infringe this right, and in the end make trouble among our people. In general there are four strong reasons against this unjust clause:

I. It revives the exploded monarchical idea.

II. It opens afresh the invidious, pre-Republic distinction between "people" and Christians.

III. It hinders progress along democratic lines.

IV. It engenders hatred and bitterness among the people of different religions in China.

There are other strong objections. We point out the danger to the Republic if this question that has in past history proved a curse to European nations is brought up now. Why fight on these old battles in China among our people represented by the five-coloured flag? Confucius was one of our honored sages; our country for two thousand years has really had no Constitutional Law, but her people have been given religious freedom. Confucius lived twenty-five hundred years ago, but morality existed before Confucius. We do not mean to abrogate the teaching of the sage. Our objection is against making his teaching the only basis of morality. Yuan Shih-kai has passed away, and this law smacks most disagreeably of an effete monarchism. The strife between Christians and "people" under the old régime should not be renewed and this law will sow the seed of discord among the Chinese.

And so in the spirit of Jesus our Saviour, we make this appeal to all our fellow-countrymen in the hope that it will be seconded by all who desire peace and good will in China.

Some of the foremost leaders in the Confucianist movement have been young men educated in Western universities. The Church at home is losing a great opportunity in not winning to Christ while they are here the thousands of students from the nations of Asia and South America.

President Li Yuan-hung has taken a much more openly friendly attitude toward Christianity than Yuan Shi Kai, although the latter had had his sons educated by missionaries. While Li Yuan-hung was still Vice-President, he was interviewed on the subject of Christianity and said plainly that after a fair trial Confucianism was found to be ill-suited to the needs of a Republic. "The system necessitates an autocrat," said he, "and the three kang and five lun of Confucianism must be thoroughly investigated before a Republic can go on with efficiency. The principles of equality and freedom inculcated by the Christian religion are bound to prevail in China. The young men and women in this land who have been taught these principles are to be depended on. They make good, strong citizens of the Republic." It has been since reported that the President considers the sacrifices to heaven, which the Emperors made and which were made by Yuan Shi Kai as incompatible with the Republic.

The most impressive fact in the situation in China is the universal readiness to hear the Gospel. Everywhere the missionary is respected and welcomed as a friend. A missionary writes from Western China:

The missionary has been the trusted and sought-for man. His home has been the place of refuge in many instances, his mediation has been desired and accepted, and he himself has passed in safety through dangerous districts." Another writes: "In one city the Yunnanese were attacking Szechwan soldiers. At the request of the local magistrate and the gentry the foreign missionary with the Chinese pastor left the city in the face of the firing of the Yunnanese, protected only by a huge white flag with the words 'Gospel Hall' and two red crosses on it. The firing stopped. The two men crossed the river in safety and were able to arrange terms by which the Szechwan troops evacuated the city and the people were spared. The remarkable thing is that in all such cases it was at the request of the people or of the authorities that action was taken.

The following extracts are samples of many statements: "The door stands wide open for evangelization of all kinds. There is great willingness to listen and less opposition than ever before." "China has never been so open to the Gospel as today." "The willingness to consider the Gospel and its claims has never been so great as during the present year."

The Chinese Minister to the United States, His Excellency, V. K. Wellington Koo, in an address in Chicago on December 19th, 1916, bore generous and unreserved testimony to the services rendered by the missionaries and China's grateful appreciation of them:

But even more significant than the trade relations between our two countries has been the work of American missionaries in China, than whom no class of foreigners are more friendly, sympathetic, and unselfish in their attitude toward the Chinese people. The spirit which has underlain and still underlies the relations between China and the United States is nowhere better illustrated than in the devotion of this comparatively small group of Americans to their useful services in China, and in their readiness to uphold the cause of justice and fairness. Dr. E. C. Bridgeman was the first American missionary to reach China, arriving at Canton in 1830. His work was typical of that which has been and is still being carried on in China by other American missionaries. His interest was not confined to the propagation of the Gospel, but extended to the work of education and writing. He founded the Chinese Repository in order to make China better known to the outside world, and also undertook to translate the Bible into the Chinese language. From his time down to the present, less than ninety years have elapsed, and yet, during this brief period, American missionaries who followed Dr. Bridgeman have achieved, in the interest of China, a record of service which properly deserves the gratitude of China and the admiration of the world. Like their pioneer, they did not confine their activity to the work of evangelization, but interested themselves as well in other equally important fields of service.

As religious teachers they have made the Christian faith known to the countless millions of Chinese who had not heard of its truths before, and thereby gave them a new hope and a new source of inspiration. It is impossible to estimate how much happiness and comfort they have brought to those who found life miserable because of its lack of spiritual vision.

For the introduction of modern education, too, China owes a great deal to American missionaries. It is a general conviction on the part of the Chinese people that through their translation into Chinese of books on religious and scientific subjects, through their untiring efforts in establishing schools and colleges in China, and through their work as teachers and professors, American missionaries, in co-operation with those from other countries, they have awakened the interest of the Chinese masses in the value and importance of the new learning. To a great extent the present widespread educational movement in China is traceable in its origin to the humble efforts begun a few decades ago by the Christian evangelists from the West. I am reliably informed that there are today as many as 4,650 schools and colleges in China established or supported by American missionaries. Several of these schools and colleges are among the largest and best-managed educational institutions in the country.

In the field of medicine in China, American missionaries have rendered an equally important service. Their hospitals and dispensaries, nearly four hundred in all, not only give shelter, comfort, and peace to hundreds of thousands of the sick and suffering, but also serve as centers from which radiates with increasing luminosity the light of modern medical science.

Closely allied with, and yet distinctly different from, their work as messengers of the gospel is the influence of the missionaries as a factor in the social regeneration of China. Many of the epoch-making reforms, such as the suppression of opium and the abolition of foot-binding, have been brought about with no little encouragement and help from them.

I have outlined the work of American missionaries at some length in order to show the broad scope of their activities and the utter unselfishness of their purposes. Some of them devote five or ten years to China, while others spend their whole lives there; but whether for a longer or a shorter period, they all do it with a desire to do good, and without hope of gain to themselves—beyond the gain of satisfaction in service rendered and duty done. These men penetrate the inland parts of the country, mingle with the people, and live as members of the local community. Neither hardships nor difficulties deter them. In the last half-century troubles sometimes arose between them and the local people, but they were always peaceably settled—settled without the dispatching of a naval or a military expedition on the part of the United States, and without the loss of political or territorial rights on the part of China. So by contrast and comparison the people of China have long come to recognize the difference between the missionaries from the United States and those from certain other countries, and for this reason they have manifested all the more readiness to receive and welcome them with open arms. Nothing which individual Americans have done in China has more strongly impressed Chinese minds with the sincerity, the genuineness, the altruism of American friendship for China than this spirit of service and sacrifice so beautifully demonstrated by American missionaries.

In the reports from all the Missions of the Board in China there is only one note, the note of great courage and faith. The concluding paragraph of the report of the Forward Evangelistic Movement presented to the China Continuation Committee at its meeting in Shanghai, April 27th to May 2nd, 1916, expresses the conviction held throughout all our Missions:

It is with the spirit of prayer and consecration that this report should close. The Church of Christ faces a great open and possibly passing opportunity. The past few years have demonstrated that this opportunity is not confined to the great cities but exists in every part of the country where men have shown that they have a vital message answering to China's need today; it is not one class, but all classes, students, gentry, merchants, farmers, soldiers, that are eager to hear good teaching; it is not one man, but both Chinese and foreign evangelists in increasing number, who are successfully bringing the Gospel to these eager people; it is an opportunity limited not by forces or influence outside the Church, but apparently limited only by the life and activity of the Church itself.

The Committee is meeting at a time of great political unrest and uncertainty. These circumstances may in many places forbid large public meetings; they may determine the methods of evangelistic work, but they do not destroy our opportunity. Testimony is now coming in from centers that are most disturbed, showing that the evangelistic opportunities there are greater than ever. Men's minds are sobered, and in great earnestness they are seeking for light and truth that may help them in this day of great crisis. Commercially, politically, educationally, China is changing with extremely great rapidity. What of her religion? The times appeal with great urgency to the Church of Christ to bring to China that which alone can satisfy the deepest longings of the people—the knowledge of God and of the Christ, who reveals the Father in His infinite glory and love. China is ready. The Church in China is awakening, aroused to her opportunity, not fully prepared, but willing to go forward. Missions are sympathetic but handicapped by the lack of suitable evangelistic workers. The unprecedented opportunity demands a corresponding extraordinary response on the part of the Christian Church and the missionary movement. Vastly increased resources, especially of duly qualified men and women, and also large financial resources, which can make the best use of the men and women, who are available or can be trained for this work, should be given to China without stint and at the earliest possible moment. Prayer in the spirit of sacrifice, and great faith that cannot be discouraged, will give to the Church that power that will win China to Christ.

JAPAN.—The year has seen also a great political change in Japan. There is still much complaint in China against Japan, and in Japan against the United States, and in the United States against Japan, but on the whole the situation appears to be less difficult now than some time since. There is, however, a great deal of work to be done both to remove suspicion and to secure righteous political action before the attitude taken by Baron Shibusawa in a recent cablegram to the United States is made the general spirit of Japan and China and the United States. His cable read:

Misrepresentation of Japan's attitude may create temporary suspicions in our country, but time must reveal the truth that there never has been greater or more general desire in Japan for friendly relations with your country than at present, and also the realization here of the high motives which actuate the dealings of the United States in the present world-wide complications.

We hope this friendly feeling on our part will in time become understood by your people and suspicion give place to confidence and trust. Our recent economic expansion is publicly emphasized as essential to the building up of good relations with the United States, our best customer, and with China, our second best. To bring into closer economic relationship China, Japan and the United States not with the idea of the selfish exploitation of any country but for the ultimate benefit of all these countries will not only result in closer business relationship, but will help to a general better understanding.

In Japan we are ready to co-operate to the extent of our possibilities. I have advocated for three years the doctrine of co-operation. I am glad to see its realization.

The revival of Shinto observances in connection with the Emperor's coronation did not have all the serious effects anticipated. It is the awakening of Buddhism even more than of Shintoism, which seems to be raising new hindrances to the evangelization of Japan. A "Buddhist Association for the Protection of Japan" has been organized with the following principles:

1. We resolve to exalt the original ideas of Buddhism, to strive for the peace of the world, and to promote the principles of humanity.

2. We resolve to realize the purpose of attaching emphasis to religion and of unifying the spirit of nationalism.

3. We resolve to establish a religious institution founded upon our peculiar national character and history.

4. We resolve to investigate current religious problems both at home and abroad and to give unity to Buddhist public opinion.

5. We resolve to foster reverent moral ideas as the foundation of education and to elevate the sentiments of the people with respect to sincerity and whole-heartedness.

6. We resolve to establish the moral foundations of commerce and industry and to give emphasis to the importance of self-awakening and aspiration among the people.

7. We resolve to foster virtue among the laboring class of people and to provide a way by which self-improvement may be realized by them.

8. We resolve to develop religious faith and foster personal character among the young people and to exert ourselves for the improvement of popular morals.

9. We resolve to foster virtue among women and to bring about a reform of family life.

10. We resolve to enterprise benevolent and reform activities, in order to realize Buddha's ideal of pity."

The methods of Christianity are freely borrowed. Buddhist Sunday Schools are being rapidly developed and Christian literature imitated. Buddhism is meeting Christianity with new apologetics. One of its defenders, Mr. Daito Shimaji, finds fault with the Christian teaching, that God's will should be done and that men as belonging to a common humanity should co-operate with each other. Mr. Shimaji says: "According to Buddhist teaching the will of the race or of the ideal is founded upon the will of the nation or the national ideal. For example, even though Buddhists say something concerning the beginning and the destruction of the world, they do not ascribe it to the will of God; they ascribe such consequences to the motives of men controlled by the national will or ideal. In opposition to the Christian teaching that national changes are due to the will of God, the Buddhist point of view is that national changes are brought about by the working together of the wills of men living in nations. Or, put in a simple way, the progress of a nation, according to Christian teaching, is to be explained as being a manifestation of the will of God, while, according to the Buddhist view, it is a manifestation of the people who constitute the nation.”

Buddhism is also engaged in a controversy with Shintoism, but the great religious force which it confronts is recognized to be Christianity, and many different methods of attack are now in use. In a magazine called the “Dai Kokumin” or “Great Nation” there appeared last August a “Christian Expulsion Number”:

This appears to have sold so well as to justify the enterprise of the publishers, for the September, October, and November numbers have been entirely devoted to the same end.

The cartoons on the cover constitute a shocking attempt to inspire hatred of Christianity and contempt for it by an outrageous representation of the Christian religion symbolically as a human-headed dog, or of Christ himself as a monster with the upper part like a man and the lower part like a dog, nailed to a cross and threatened with destruction by the uplifted foot or the clenched fist of a figure representing the aroused spirit of Japan fighting victoriously to rid the country of a hateful and dangerous intruder.

The contents correspond to the grade of intelligence and decency exhibited on the cover. Some of the articles, indeed, display a considerable degree of acquaintance with Christian thought, and arguments are freely drawn from the extreme Higher Criticism show that among well informed scholars it is agreed that the Old Testament is mythological, that the patriarchs are unhistorical, that Jehovah was nothing but the God of Thunder on Mount Sinai, claimed by the wandering Hebrew desert tribes as their uji-gami, or national deity, etc., etc.

The greater part of the text of the magazine, however, is taken up with skillful appeals to the national prejudice, with indignant denunciation that the Christians should believe God Almighty to be superior to the Emperor, with unblushing and criminal slander against prominent Christian men, with malicious retailing of all possible difficulties and scandal among Christians, and with interviews in which prominent men express their disapproval and dislike of the Christian religion.

The forces behind this propaganda are not yet known. They seem to be directed especially against the Purity Society and the ideals and activities of Christianity in this regard. Some of the interviews attributed to prominent men were pure fabrications. Mr. Nishikubo, General Superintendent of Police, demanded an apology from the editors, and a repudiation of the words ascribed to him, and the apology appeared in the September number of the magazine.

Count Okuma has been speaking some plain words of the Buddhist priests. In an address published in the September number of the Shin fukyo, a Buddhist magazine, he declared:

The fact that Buddhism is making very slow progress these days is to be explained by what we have just said. There are very few Buddhist priests now who are thoroughly versed in the teachings of the Buddhist religion, while there were very many such priests in the past. At present there is little knowledge, little virtue and little faith possessed by the majority of Buddhists. The priests of today have commercialized their religion and think only of food and clothing. With praiseworthy efforts the priests preach the law before man, yet they have no convictions in their own souls, so their preaching is devoid of influence. Besides no one knows what the priests are doing in secret. They commit deeds which cause even low class people to blush with shame. Of course such evils existed when Sakya Muni was on earth and in later times. But the evils were cleansed away through the influence of high minded priests who made their appearance from time to time. The Buddhist world at the present time is without such men of high character, and as a consequence evils remain and reforms are not carried into effect. According to present tendencies in Japan, Christianity is gaining in prestige and momentum, while Buddhism is declining. This state cannot be ascribed to the inferiority of Buddhism as compared with Christianity. It is a question as to whether high personal character is on the side of the Buddhist priests or with the Christian preachers, and as to whether Buddhism or Christianity is better adapted to the times.

"It is sometimes said," adds the Japan Evangelist, "though by persons who speak without knowledge, that Christianity is making no progress in Japan. In reply to a criticism of this nature, attention may be called to the words just quoted. Marquis Okuma, who was then the Premier of the Empire, told a Buddhist audience to their faces that the Christian religion was steadily making progress in Japan and that Buddhism was steadily declining. As a testimony to Christian missions and churches, the Premier's words should have great weight."

Meanwhile the Japanese show no disposition to turn backward. Rabindranath Tagore visited Japan last summer, and his message was a protest against the spirit of the life of the Western peoples and an appeal to the Japanese to turn from their modernist tendencies. Tagore held that the "civilization from the West had poisoned the life of Japan and that the Japanese people should return and retrace their steps by attaching once more importance to the soul of the Orient and by entering into the spiritual life characteristic of former times." This appeal fell, however, upon unresponsive minds. The eyes of the Japanese are in quite a different direction. A deputation of Japanese school teachers who were visiting America called at the Board rooms during the year, and one of them left a statement of the educational principles which he had drawn up, which were to be observed in the Middle School, of which he was the head. This was the statement:

Believing that the chief end of education should be to lay a firm foundation for character, and build it up in pupils who are afterward to become the mainstay of the state and society, we aim:

1. To instruct the pupils in our school in such a way as to enable them to understand the present state of our country and of all the world from every point of view, and to acquire that common sense, applied to both national and international affairs, which is necessary in society as it exists and as it is to be.

2. We aim to so discipline the pupils as to inspire them with the virtues of sincerity, faithfulness, diligence, self-control, self-respect, purity, nobleness, courage, daring, independence, and public spirit.

3. By physical training in our school we inculcate in the mind of the pupil the important principles of sanitation, exercise and training, and foster their growth in physical strength.

4. In short, by "Living Education" we wish to enable the pupils in our school to value practical knowledge and diligence, and to develop a noble spirit of co-operation, and to apply this knowledge in real life; therefore we arrange our course of study with this object in view.

Large areas of unmet need are developed each year in Japan as the missionaries more carefully study their fields. A few years ago the vast untouched village population was brought out clearly, then the special populations revealing depths of moral need which challenge the conscience of the nation, and now the attention of the Missions has been drawn to great sections of rapidly growing cities which are as yet unoccupied. Of the 880 Protestant missionaries in Japan, 215, or practically one-fourth, reside in Tokyo, but even with this large body of missionaries there are five wards of the city with a combined population of 965,000 which have no missionaries living in them. As a student city, Tokyo perhaps stands in the first place among the educational centers of the world. In its universities and private schools and special schools of university grade there are over 35,000 students, while middle schools and other institutions of the second grade enroll even more. In the ward of Kanda alone there are said to be over 100 private and public schools and universities with 30,000 students in attendance. The evangelistic campaigns in Japan have continued with undiminished interest and fruitfulness. One of the most efficient evangelists has been Mr. Kanamori, now a member of the Salvation Army. One of the missionaries writes of him:

He belongs to one of the oldest and most famous groups of the early Christian converts in this country. This is the so-called Kumamoto Band, and it was a company of forty students in Kumamoto who, in January, 1878, pledged themselves to follow Christ. When they were baptized, a number of these young men took Christian names, and Mr. Kanamori added that of Paul to his original name. He later went to the Doshisha, the Congregational mission school at Kyoto, took a course in theology, and worked for some years most successfully in Okayama. After that he became professor of theology, and as such began to read up on the most recent German theology, with the result that he was completely swept off his feet by the rationalistic New Theology, Higher Criticism, etc. Not long after that he published his new views under the title, 'The Present and Future of Christianity in Japan,' and retired from the ministry. The rationalistic German mission at that time asked him to come over and work with them, but he could not bear to devote himself to breaking down what his former colleagues were trying to build up, and preferred to give himself to lecturing on thrift, which he did for many years with conspicuous success.

He remained in this state of spiritual darkness for twenty years, until the death of his wife brought him and his children into great trouble, but after passing through these deep waters he came out again with a clear and firm belief in the old-fashioned gospel. He told me that he had arranged his affairs so as to provide for his family, and now had determined to devote the remaining years of his life to preaching the simple gospel throughout the country, as he had once preached the principles of economy.

Shortly before he came to speak for us he had completed a book of one hundred and eighty pages, in which the whole Gospel is presented in the simplest possible language. Any Japanese who can read at all can understand this book. I read it through and was astonished that Japanese could be made so simple and at the same time so clear and forceful. I think it must be the simplest Japanese that ever was printed. No one but a master could have written so simply. It is said that when he had finished the first draft he read it all to a primary school boy and that he altered all the passages which the boy failed to grasp. He did not tell me this himself, but it may well be true.

The contents of it are to me more surprising than the style. The book takes its stand on the Holy Scriptures in both Old and New Testaments with the same confident appeal that a man might make who never had heard of any 'new thought.' No Dutch dominie could state the central doctrines of our religion in a more absolutely orthodox, scriptural, and evangelical manner than they are given in this little book. In addition to that, it is interesting, and thoroughly adapted to the common people in Japan. The man who wrote it evidently knows his countrymen

The intellectual and moral response of Japan to the Christian message is greater today than at any time since Missions in Japan were begun.

CHOSSEN.—The outstanding event of the year is the heavy bereavement which the Mission and the Board have sustained in the death of the Rev. Horace Grant Underwood, D.D., LL.D., October 12th, 1916.

He was first in various ways. He was the first ordained missionary to Korea. He baptized the first convert in 1886. He opened the first school, also in 1886, "The Jesus Doctrine School," it was called. He organized the first church in September, 1887. He administered the first Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, in his own house, on Christmas Day of that year, only seven communicants being present. In the same year he made the first of those long itinerating tours into the interior which, continued by him and his successors, spread the knowledge of the Gospel far and wide in Korea and resulted in groups of believers in hundreds of towns and villages. He began the first literary work of Christian missions in Korea and in 1889 published the first of the long list of volumes with which he and other missionaries have enriched the literature of missions. And he was the first to open the Scriptures in written form to the Koreans, his translation of the Gospel of St. Mark in 1887 first making the Word of God accessible to the people.

He rejoiced most in his evangelistic work. He preached the Gospel not only in the City of Seoul, where he resided, but also among the many villages of the adjacent region. A district of diocesan proportions was under his care and he did in it the work of an apostle—holding meetings, baptizing converts, conducting Bible conferences, organizing groups and churches, ordaining elders, settling disputes and consulting leaders. He often walked upon these tours, slept in the wretched Korean huts or inns, and exposed himself freely to physical hardships from which many a man would have shrunk.

At home the great services of Dr. Underwood were generally recognized. He was a lecturer upon the Stone Foundation at Princeton Theological Seminary in 1908, and on the Deem's Philosophical Foundation at New York University in 1909. He was a member of the Royal Asiatic Society, and New York University conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1890 and of Doctor of Laws in 1912. He was a man of conspicuous ability and force of character. His convictions were intense and his temperament enthusiastic, but his spirit was catholic and his vision broad.

Dr. Underwood was among the last of the pioneer missionaries. Hardly any non-Christian land now remains to be opened. Very few missionaries are left of those who went to the great mission fields in the days of beginnings and they are rapidly passing from our sight. There were no foundations laid, no translations or apparatus of any kind prepared for them to make their work easier. They had to do everything for themselves in circumstances of great difficulty. That they builded well the strength and proportions of the rising churches abundantly prove. It is for those who have come after them and who are called of God to carry on their work, to show like faith and devotion, and to pray that a double portion of their spirit may rest upon us to the end that the good work so well begun may be performed "until the day of Jesus Christ."

Grateful and reverent mention should be made also of the Rev. Graham Lee, D.D., who died at Gilroy, California, on December 2, 1916, and who had been one of the greatest missionaries of the Korean church.

Dr. Lee was born at Rock Island, Ill., June 2, 1861, and educated at Lake Forest and Princeton Universities, and at Hartford and McCormick Theological Seminaries.

When he arrived in Korea in 1892, there was but one church in Pyeng Yang Province, and but one in Whang Hai, the two provinces in which he was afterwards to do his great work. For several years he was located in Seoul, and then in 1895 he moved with his family to Pyeng Yang where he labored until ill health required him to retire from the work and return to America in 1912.

Dr. Lee was admirably fitted for pioneer missionary work. He had learned the trade of plumber as a young man, and had an excellent knowledge of mechanics. The first mission buildings in Pyeng Yang were erected by him, and were at the time models of wise missionary construction. He was an evangelist of intense fervor, admired and beloved by the people, and a leader in all the forward moving work of the Mission. He was a man of purest character and his devotion burned with a consuming flame. Never will his memory be forgotten by the Korean Church.

Chosen is still passing through a period of transition and adaptation to new conditions which have been described in former reports. The Japanese have firmly established their authority in every part of the country, and they have introduced material improvements on a large scale and of undoubted value. Chosen now has excellent systems of highways, railroads, telegraphs, courts, currency and education. The position of the missionaries is not an easy one, with the Japanese on one side strictly enforcing laws which involve great changes in the structural organization and personal lives of the people, and with the Koreans on the other side more or less troubled by the control of another nation and chafing under regulations unfamiliar, however wise they may be. The missionaries must walk a narrow path in order to retain the confidence of the Koreans and hold the confidence of the Japanese.

The educational regulations of the Government-General are being steadily pressed. The Missions of the Northern and Southern Methodist churches have decided not to avail themselves of the ten-year period of grace given by the Government-General but to conform at once. Our own Mission, in common with the Mission of the Canadian, Australian, and the Southern Presbyterian churches, have deemed it wiser to avail themselves of this period of grace. We are able to report that the new Union Christian College at Seoul has been granted a charter by the Government which insures its early development along lines which are satisfactory to the Japanese authorities and to many representatives of the missionary enterprise. While it does not concede all that we had hoped for, it nevertheless makes concessions to Christian character and teaching which all the co-operating Boards regard as substantial. The general work of the Mission is being steadily pressed along all lines of activity. There were 4,987 additions last year and 17,434 others were enrolled as catechumens.

The passing of the period of isolation from the rest of the world, the wider contacts of the present time, the change not only in governmental but in economic and social conditions, and the inrush of new and greater temptations—all these are bringing strain upon the faith and devotion of the Korean churches and they deeply need our sympathies and prayers.

Dr. William Adams Brown and Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, members of the Board of Home Missions, visited the Far East during the year, and Dr. Brown writes of his impressions of the fruitfulness of the work in Korea:

It would be difficult today to find any community, even in the United States, where in proportion to the number of their inhabitants, the Christian churches exercise a more powerful influence. In Pyeng Yang I attended the Sunday School of the Central Presbyterian Church. Three sessions were required to accommodate the scholars who in each filled the main audience room to its capacity. At the first session more than four hundred men and older boys were in attendance, at the second, six hundred women, while the same number of children of both sexes attended the final sessions. And the Central is but one of seven Presbyterian churches in Pyeng Yang, while the Methodists have a work second only in importance to that of the Presbyterians. At Syen Chun, fully half of the population are Christians, and from both centers an active evangelistic campaign is being carried on, in which the workers are largely volunteers serving at their own charges.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.—This is the New Era in the Philippines, politically, industrially, ecclesiastically, religiously. The inauguration of the first Philippine Congress provided for by the passage of the Jones bill in the United States congress, took place at the Ayuntamiento, the government headquarters in Manila, on October 16th, 1916, and was a memorable occasion, attended by the heads of departments of the Philippine Government, representatives of the U. S. Army and Navy, the consular representatives of foreign nations and a vast throng of citizens of all nationalities and from every section of the Islands. The exercises took place in the open air in front of the Ayuntamiento and after the congratulatory cable from President Wilson was read, Governor General Harrison read his message to Congress, and thus was formally inducted that body which has in its hands practically everything relating to the internal affairs of the country. On the whole it is a fairly able body of men, while a good percentage are men of unusual ability and strength of character.

The Senate has passed the divorce bill and the measure is now before the House. The Philippines have never had a divorce law, due to the power of the Roman Catholic Church in the Islands, but the indications are that this bill will become a law. Two grounds are given for the right to secure divorce, adultery and a continuous seven years' desertion, and the right of redress and the grounds for action apply to the husband and wife alike. Two things were revealed during the discussion of the bill in the Senate. The first that the grip of the Church on the Philippines in things political and governmental is lost. In a public address some time previous Mr. Quezon had accused the Church of attempting to control affairs of government and warned its leaders of the disastrous consequences if it persisted. Then in the Senate's consideration of the divorce bill on two occasions he repeated the accusation against the Church, the second time reading two letters from the Bishops of Tuguegarao and Samar, in which, he said, they had demanded with arrogance his vote against the bill, and again denouncing with the utmost vehemence the ecclesiastical interference, and carrying the Senate by storm to a strong majority vote in approval. Twenty-five years ago the Roman hierarchy determined and even dictated the actions of the government in the Philippines. The second revelation made during the progress of this debate was that the marriages in the Islands solemnized under Protestant auspices far exceed in number those performed by any other authority, if the statistics of the city of Manila may be taken as a basis of judgment. For the year 1915 the records show 2003 Protestant marriages, 530 Roman Catholic, 201 Aglipayano and 29 civil; for the year 1916, Protestant, 2226; Roman Catholic, 476; Aglipayana, 241, and civil, 69.

The Philippine Mission is included in the Latin-American Expansion Fund, and it therefore has a part in the campaign which the Board has been conducting throughout the year. Special emphasis has been given to the needs of Silliman Institute. This important institution has an attendance of over 800 boys and young men, and last year it had to turn away 400 others for want of room. Indeed, there is not adequate room for the present attendance and many of the boys have to sleep in the school rooms and on the porches. It is proposed to add a girls' department, as there is no provision in all that part of the Philippine Islands for the education of girls under Christian auspices, and already there have been about 300 applications. The Filipinos have given enthusiastic support to the Institute and have themselves contributed 50,000 pesos toward the enlargement fund, a sum which means as much to them as a triple amount would mean to us. The Board is endeavoring to secure $50,000.00 for this purpose in the United States, of which only about one-half has been secured at this writing.

An interesting feature of the annual meeting of the Mission in October, was a visit from Senator Butu (Hadji Butu), a Mohammedan, who represents the Mindanao and Sulu District in the recently organized Philippine Senate, together with his interpreter and attendant. He addressed the Mission in the Moro dialect (through an interpreter), expressing his good wishes and appreciation of the work of Evangelical Missions in the Philippines, and assuring the missionaries of a warm welcome in his district whenever they have opportunity to go to the southland. One of his sons has attended Silliman Institute, and he said that he has another young son whom he expects to send to Silliman.

The enrollment at Silliman for the year has been 834, the largest in the history of the institution. Of this number 179 have been in the College proper. There are seven young ladies in the High School course and one in the College course. Probably if there was a dormitory and a capable matron, the number of girls applying would fill it. It is interesting to know that former Silliman students are holding political offices as follows: One Governor, 1 Deputy Governor, 1 Assemblyman, 7 Mayors of towns, 4 Vice-Mayors, besides an unknown number of city councilmen. The 15th Founder's Day was pleasantly observed. During the fifteen years, 62 have received the degree of A.B.; of these one is a pastor, seven are studying in the United States, ten are students in the University of the Philippines, fourteen are teaching, nine are agriculturists or merchants, seven are in government positions, and four have died. "Through all the changes the Silliman spirit seems to remain; it ever stands for righteousness, truth, loyalty and success. The Bible is still our central Book, and with it still comes the Master's blessing. May He use it till in each field of this Mission go men to preach the Gospel and men to live it until His Kingdom come."

The Missions in the Philippine Islands continue to set churches everywhere a good example in co-operation and union. In Ellinwood Seminary at Manila students from the Methodist, Presbyterian, Disciples, United Brethren, and Christian and Missionary Alliance Missions are studying with the one view of going out to preach the common Gospel of Christ. The young men of the Seminary co-operate with the girls of the Ellinwood Girls' School in conducting Sunday Schools in eight different centers.

SIAM.—This country does not often figure in the world's daily news, and therefore it receives less attention from the public than countries like China, Japan and other Asiatic lands which are more prominently related to international affairs. There are no wars, or revolutions, or great famines in Siam to challenge the interest of the world. The Government of the country, under the leadership of the King, is moving smoothly and prosperously. Our Mission work is very important. Our missionaries there have long labored in isolation, but while they have done a quiet work from the viewpoint of a daily newspaper, they have done an exceedingly valuable one from the viewpoint of the Kingdom of God. They are very happy now on account of the Siam Expansion Fund, which we hope will add $50,000.00 to their equipment. Already enough has been secured to make possible the realization of the long prayed for new station at Chieng Rung in the extreme north, just across the China line, and also to strengthen the evangelistic work in the great capitol city of Bangkok.

Other generous gifts have been made for the new medical college and its affiliated hospital and dispensary in Chieng Mai. $48,000.00 have been contributed for this new plant, and the alumni of the Medical Department of John Hopkins University of Baltimore are planning to support another member of the foreign staff.

Relations with the high officials of the government continue to be close and friendly. In December, Chieng Mai Station was visited by His Royal Highness H. R. H. Phanu Rangsi, Field Marshal of the army and an uncle of the King. He visited the Leper Asylum, the Prince Royal's College, the Girls' School, and the Hospital, giving Tcs. 100 to each institution. He was very friendly and at a reception, which he gave before leaving, he drank a toast to "The American Missionaries who are doing so much for the Country."

Another distinguished visitor was Dr. J. P. Norris of the International Sanitary Commission. After his visit to the Leper Asylum, he wrote in the Visitors' Book:

I am very glad to have been able to visit this institution, which is a monument of truly religious service. The Institution is much more than an Asylum—an excellent hospital well planned and built and under skilled and kind medical direction, affording treatment on modern lines to those afflicted with leprosy. Many of the cases examined are responding satisfactorily to treatment, and in some cases their condition warrants a belief that they will be cured.

Our Mission Press in Chieng Mai has celebrated its semi-centennial. With the exception of a small commercial press, it is the only printing press for the more than 12,000,000 of the Lao speaking people of Northern Siam and Southern China. It has made the whole of the New Testament and eleven books of the Old Testament available to these multitudes, and it has brought out many millions of pages of books and tracts which have been widely distributed, the output in a single recent year having been 11,610,000 pages. It would be difficult to overestimate the silent but pervasive influence of such an institution.

In spite of the fact that the Presbyterian Church has been working in Siam for more than three-quarters of a century, extensive regions are still either wholly or partially occupied. Bangkok, a city of 800,000 people, has only one missionary free to give his entire time to evangelistic work, all the other missionaries being identified with the schools and the Press. The one ordained member of Tap Tèang Station has charge of a field equal in area to a strip of country 50 miles wide and extending from Cleveland, Ohio, to Philadelphia, Pa. The one missionary at Lampoon has a field containing 193,295 people. Siam urgently needs more missionaries and money to provide for residences and the means for pushing their important work.

One of the King's brothers, Prince Mahidol Songkla, is now in America, where he is taking a seven-year course of study in sanitation and hygiene with a view to returning to devote himself to improving the conditions of life in Siam. It has required no small measure of courage for one of the leading Princes of the Kingdom to choose such a sphere of activity, and all who have met him have been greatly pleased with his modesty and good sense and ability. Shortly after reaching America a newspaper interview with him appeared, in which he said: "I came here because I believe I can learn most here and because we need American sympathy and help. We want to trade with you and want you to take an interest in us. King Vajiravudh is the only independent Buddhist sovereign in the world, and as such is regarded as the chief champion of the religion of Buddha. Nevertheless, no foreigners are more welcome in Siam than the missionaries. They have done wonders for us, and the Presbyterian Board has greatly aided our educational authorities. Their deeds are the kind that will live after them, a constant inspiration for good." On December 28th, His Royal Highness was the guest of the Board of Foreign Missions at dinner, and spoke with the greatest appreciation of what the missionaries had done in Siam and the way they had borne themselves in helpful and sympathetic service. Dr. McKean, of Siam, who was present at the dinner, responded in behalf of the missionaries.

His Majesty, the King, continues his energetic work in behalf of his country, and continues ardently to urge upon the people loyal adherence to their ancestral religion. At the same time he is, as his father was, thoroughly friendly and sympathetic toward the missionaries, and in his royal speech on the occasion of his birthday on January 1st, referred as follows to the Leper Hospital of the North Siam Mission:

The Leper Hospital of the Christian Mission in Chiangmai, towards which our Government also contributes financial support, experienced some difficulty during the year from lack of sufficient funds for its maintenance, through the falling off, on account of the war, of charitable contributions which it used to receive from abroad. To meet this difficulty special financial assistance was given by our Government, in order that this useful institution may continue to be maintained for the benefit of the public.

INDIA.—In India, as in China and Japan, the year has witnessed an important political change. Lord Hardinge's Viceroyalty ended in April, and he left India having won for himself a place in the affection of his people such as few of his predecessors have enjoyed. "The outstanding feature of his viceroyalty was his clear recognition that the paramount issue confronting Great Britain in India is the relation of India to the rest of the empire. He definitely and publicly identified himself with Indian interests, notably in a speech in November, 1913, when he expressed his sympathy with the passive resistance of Indians in South Africa to the immigration law in that Dominion. Recognizing the strength of Indian sentiment regarding indentured Indian labour in various crown colonies, he secured the assent of the home government to the eventual abolition of the system. He gave great attention to the development of education, and during his tenure of office the expenditure on education was nearly doubled. The confidence which he enjoyed was a valuable imperial asset on the outbreak of war, and his bold policy of trusting the Indian people has been justified by its results.

"The signs multiply that a new spirit is awake in India. In the political sphere it finds expression in an increasing demand for larger powers of self-government. In social matters the ferment of ideas continues, such questions as the elevation of the depressed classes, the education of women, temperance and marriage reform occupying a large place in the minds of the educated classes. There is also a growing interest in the industrial development of India. In response to the desire for the development of the natural resources of the country the government has appointed a commission to investigate industrial openings and possibilities. All these aspirations and activities have been stimulated by the war, which in India as in Europe is bound to bring about a far-reaching transformation."

In the first years of the war the British government deemed it sufficient to require that the consent of the British Embassy in Washington should be secured before missionaries went out to India. Now, however, the government has required that the cases of all missionaries desiring to go to India, even of those returning from furlough, must be submitted to the British government in India by mail, and consent obtained by mail before missionaries sail. This has required a delay of some months for necessary correspondence. In further precaution the British Embassy has informed the Mission Boards that His Majesty's Government must hold every missionary body responsible for every member of its staff in India, and that, should any such member be considered to have acted in a manner hostile to the Government of India, as by law established, the Government of India must be considered as justified in ordering the expulsion from India of the entire mission involved.

Acting in accord with other missionary agencies, the Board has addressed the following letter to the British Embassy in Washington:

In harmony with a communication which we understand you have already received from Dr. J. L. Barton upon the subject of the relation of American missionaries to the Indian Government, and especially the points covered by the Ambassadorial communication dated January 23rd, and communicated in substance to the Foreign Mission Boards of the United States, in which warning was issued to all American missionaries in British India to commit no act hostile to the Government of India as by law established, and in case American missionaries are considered to have acted in a manner hostile to the Government of India, the Government of India must be considered as justified in ordering the expulsion from India of the entire mission involved, on behalf of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States I would respectfully make the following statement:

This Board has already forwarded the substance of the contents of this communication from the British Embassy to all of its missionaries in India with directions that strict heed be given to its contents, and has also directed its Missions that if there are in those countries missionaries of this Board who can not heartily and cheerfully abide by the conditions as therein set forth, they should at once return to the United States. The Mission organizations have also been requested to take note of any doubtful cases and see that all such, if there are any, either comply with the requirements of the Indian Government or withdraw from the country.

This statement is made to assure Your Excellency that it is the purpose of this Mission Board to comply not only outwardly, but in every other way, with the request of the Indian Government, both as far as its old missionaries are concerned and so far as relates to those who are newly appointed.

At the same time we can not refrain from calling the attention of your Excellency and the Indian Government to the fact that in the whole history of the mission work of this Board in India, no one of its missionaries, so far as we are informed, has been charged with any act of disloyalty to the Government, while missionaries of the Board have received decorations from the Government of Great Britain for distinguished services rendered the Government in the country.

At the present time there are approximately two hundred and sixteen missionaries of this Board in India; some of these have lived in the country for many years, and others are of the third generation of men and women engaged in this service. Their homes are there among the people for whose education, elevation and Christian enlightenment they have given their lives. We believe all of these are absolutely loyal to the Indian Government. Large and important institutions have grown up which have, under missionary direction, become identified with the country and its general development. They have been established and maintained at large cost to American beneficence.

In view of these facts and others that might be named, we would earnestly request, in case a missionary of this Board, or even more than one, should be considered to have acted in a manner hostile to the Government of India as by law established, that the offender or offenders should be made to bear the penalty of their deeds and not the large body of innocent colleagues in the Mission.

We realize that a great war is being waged and that conditions are abnormal, and yet it would seem to us and the many American friends of these Missions unnecessarily harsh and cruel to expel the Mission from the country and sacrifice the work and investment of years because perchance one or more members of a Mission have conducted themselves unworthily of their calling and profession.

We would, therefore, respectfully urge that the Government of India deal with the offender in all cases and permit us to co-operate in removing the guilty party, and that the innocent should not be made to suffer for the guilt of the few.

We are aware that the communication here referred to was not made with the expectation that in the Presbyterian Board Mission in India or in any other American Missionary Society there would arise an emergency calling for such drastic action, and yet it seems fitting, upon our part, to put on file with the British Embassy this statement, setting forth our side of the subject and urging favorable consideration of the same.

Deep changes of social ideal and religious sentiment are taking place in India as the following extract from an address by the Maharajah of Darbhanga, dated January 14th, 1917, will illustrate:

I would in this connection, ask your indulgence to speak a few words about the question of what are called the depressed classes. There is no reason why one caste should look upon another caste below it in the social scale with feelings of contempt or neglect. The belief in the eternal law of Karma leaves no room for such a feeling.

Our ancient sages have introduced the system in recognition of the law of heredity and combined it with spiritual, moral and religious training simply in order that the duties may be most efficiently performed.

Today if there is one tendency more significant than any other that characterizes young India, it is the desire to emulate whatever is thought to be the best and most striking in Western art, thought, religion, and social customs. This is certainly a most laudable emulation if it is not merely confined to an imitation of the superficial, transitory and apparent virtues, but of whatever in spirit and essence is their excellence. Why, for example, should we imitate the mere habiliments and the mere external habits and mannerism of the West? Instead of such thoughtless imitation, let us, I beseech you in all earnestness and sincerity, turn out thoughts from the apparent to the real and imitate the Englishman in his enthusiastic love of duty, his untiring energy, co-operation, organization, scrupulous cleanliness, regularity and orderliness, and devotion and self-sacrifice in the cause of his country, and nay for the good of the world. Let us like-wise follow his example in the tenacity with which he clings to his own customs even when he comes to live in strange lands, in the deep respect that he manifests in his religion and which is evidenced by the millions he pours forth for the propagation of the Gospel, by the churches he erects wherever he resides and by the spiritual zeal with which Christian Missionaries and preachers carry on the duties of their profession in every land they visit. Let us follow his example in a patriotic fervor with which he cherishes the name and pride of his country.

Being Hindu how can we doubt that the British have been sent to rule over us by the God of our Fathers for rescuing our races from the degradation and disintegration with which we are threatened? How can we ever question that the British nation has won the right to rule over India as a result of its Karma and not as the outcome of sheer chance or luck which gave it the upper hand over potentates weakened by internecine strife.

India is taking a steadily increasing interest in the education of women and also in primary school education in the vernacular. The Hindus have opened a new University at Benares to be founded distinctly on the religious basis of Hinduism. At the first meeting of the University body the Vice-Chancellor announced that the total sum promised for the University was about £643,500. Agitation has begun in favor of Conscience Clauses in the government educational rules for aided schools and some are urging that aid from public funds should be withdrawn from educational institutions which make religious instruction an integral part of their curriculum.

Various evangelistic campaigns have been carried on in India and already rich fruitage is being gathered from the work in the Presbyteries of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of India. The aim of the movement has not been primarily to organize large meetings, but rather to lay upon individual members of the Church their responsibility and to stimulate them to undertake and carry forward such efforts as are well within their power. One of the missionaries writes:

The subject foremost in our thoughts just now is the Evangelistic Campaign. It has laid hold of the imagination of the Church as nothing else has before. Every day the enthusiasm is increasing. The most encouraging feature in connection with it is the development of leadership in the Indian Church. In former days whenever any effort like this was undertaken the Missionary was the foremost figure. All was planned and arranged by him. Everything depended on him. Everybody looked to him. Nothing could be initiated without him.

Now there is a new spirit among the men. The campaign in this station is entirely in the hands of a Committee, on which there is but one missionary, a lady missionary. One of our students is the convener. He is proving himself quite a Commander-in-Chief, and things are moving as never before. We just keep in the background and look on. A new spirit has taken hold of the men. They are beginning to feel that it is THEIR Campaign. They are responsible for its success and they are straining every effort to do their part to achieve that end. Things are happening now that never happened before. They see things with new eyes. They are beginning to understand what our Lord meant when He said, 'Lift up your eyes and behold the harvest.' And the people around them are beginning to wonder what all this means. The doors are open as never before.

The problems of the Mass Movement increase year by year and in proportion as such evangelistic campaign as the present one develop, the problems of the village work will increase yet more. The report of the India Council says:

"In the mass movement areas we are faced with a dilemma. The task of assimilating so many people and effecting church organization is so great that many of our district missionaries hesitate to baptize new people. The dilemma, briefly stated, is this. On the one hand there is the danger of building up an ignorant Church like that of the dark ages and, on the other, if we refuse to baptize new people, the Church is in danger of losing the aggressive evangelistic spirit. The only way of escape, in our opinion, is through the development of leaders in the Indian Church, both lay and ordained, and through large reinforcement from America of ordained missionaries, the latter being a present urgent need."

One of the missionaries adds:

"The next ten years in India are to be full of great events. There is to be a great upheaval, social, religious and moral—and to some extent political. The outcaste people, 50,000,000 strong, are being literally thrown into the lap of the Christian Church. We can have a church of 15,000,000 people in India in ten or fifteen years, if we make our plans on a sufficiently broad scale."

Dr. J. C. R. Ewing completed during the year his fourth term as Vice-Chancellor of the University of the Punjab. The Tribune of Lahore reported the meeting of the Convocation of the University held on December 23rd, 1916:

The Convocation of the Punjab University on Saturday was a brilliant and picturesque function. His Honor the Chancellor presided, and among the distinguished visitors present were His Highness the Maharaja of Janua and Kashmir, the Honorable Sir Edward Maclagan and Lady Maclagan, and His Highness the young Raja of Kalsia State. The educated community of the province was fully represented on the Fellows' dais and in the body of the Hall. The notable feature of this year's Convocation was the conferment of the Honorary degree of Doctor of Literature on the Rev. Dr. Ewing, Vice-Chancellor. The new degree means not merely an addition to the many degrees the eminent Vice-Chancellor possesses, but signifies in a very marked manner the signal success which Dr. Ewing has attained in his administration of the University, which has been characterized throughout by tact, sympathy and courtesy. The immense popularity which he enjoys and the universal esteem in which he is deservedly held were made manifest when after receiving the degree Dr. Ewing entered in his new robes. The whole assembly cheered as one man, and the applause continued for several minutes. Another feature was the conferment of the degree of Bachelor of Arts on two ladies who had qualified themselves by examination. The learned Vice-Chancellor in his address discussed the problem of wider openings for our graduates, and suggested greater attention towards agriculture, trade and commerce, urging the University to establish the degrees of Bachelor of Agriculture and Commerce, and with that view to make necessary adjustments and regulations with regard to the Lyallpur Agricultural College, and to arrange for the founding of a College of Commerce with funds to be provided by the liberality of captains of industry in the Punjab. He next made a feeling reference to the war which he rightly said had turned selfishness into sacrifice, and personal interests into heroism. He made a thrilling appeal to the Graduates of the Punjab to rise to the call of the country and to show a similar self-sacrifice and heroism not only in the pressing interest of war, but also in the common, every day interest of life.

The India Missions are anxious that the work in India, and especially the immense opportunity for evangelizing the low caste people should be laid upon the heart of the Church in a special campaign.

PERSIA.—As already intimated, Persia has been the Mission field of the Church most severely harassed during the past year by actual war. The problem of relief has taxed to the uttermost the time and strength of the missionaries in Urumia and Tabriz. The strain of the situation and the prevalence of disease in consequence of suffering cost the lives of two of the missionaries in 1915, Mrs. McDowell and Mrs. Shedd, and the Board has now to report the death of the Rev. S. G. Wilson, D.D., as the result of typhoid fever, contracted by Dr. Wilson while engaged in relief work among the Armenians and Syrians. Dr. Wilson had been in the United States when the war broke out, but as conditions became acute and men were needed to care for the destitute people, leaving his family in America he returned. The American Consul in Tiflis testified to his unrivalled ability as a buyer of supplies, and with equal skill he saw that the supplies were distributed so as to reach the greatest amount of suffering and need. His death was mourned as a public disaster in Tabriz. Great meetings were held by the Armenians in commemoration of his unselfish ministry, and some time afterwards the following resolutions were received by the Board, signed by the leading representatives of the Armenian community:

To the Illustrious American Board:

On September 29, 1916, there was held in the Memorial School, at the call of a special committee, a service in memory of the Rev. Samuel G. Wilson, D.D. A large assembly of Armenians of both sexes gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to the late Dr. Wilson's memory. The following addresses were made concerning Dr. Wilson's life and character:—

As a Teacher, As a Minister, As an Author, As an Administrator, As a Humanitarian.

The closing address was made by the Armenian Bishop, the Right Reverend Meliktangian, who praised in the person of Dr. Wilson the Christian and humanitarian work of American Missionaries, especially, in Turkey and Persia. The benediction was also pronounced by the Bishop.

But before this the audience unanimously expressed their desire for this committee to transmit to your Board, on behalf of the Armenian community, their deep grief over Dr. Wilson's death and gratitude for his humanitarian work in general and especially for his services to the Armenians.

This committee in coming forward to express the deep and sincere sorrow of this community at Dr. Wilson's death as well as its heartfelt gratitude for his services to humanity, especially to the Armenians, trusts that your Christian Missionary Board will be able to send others of the sons of America, like Dr. Wilson, disciples of Christ, worthy of their high calling and consecrated to the consolation and healing of the many wounds of wretched humanity.

Our West Persia Missionaries, serving as field representatives of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, have disbursed with careful efficiency and unselfish devotion, approximately five hundred thousand dollars within the last two years; in addition they have expended many thousands of pounds contributed by British relief organizations. Donors and recipients alike have shown utmost confidence in and appreciation of the relief operations supervised and conducted by the missionaries. Tens of thousands of starving refugees have been fed; thousands of quilts have saved many thousands of the destitute from the freezing cold (one large quilt for five or six, sometimes eight or ten, persons); clothing has been provided; seed, plow animals and implements have been furnished by gift or loan according to circumstances, for the rehabilitation of destroyed or neglected farms, gardens, groves and vineyards; ransoms have been paid for the life and release of the Russian Orthodox Bishop and of many girls and young women carried captive. Tirelessly laboring day and night, loyally serving their God in caring for His needy children, the missionaries engaged in this relief work have commended the Christian cause and life in a forceful and unmistakable manner to the thousands of various races and creeds who have been aided and to the uncounted numbers in many parts of the world who have heard of this heroic, Christlike service. The heaviest burden has come to the Urumia missionaries. Tabriz station allocated temporarily a few members to the Salmas plains to help save the remnant of the Nestorian-Chaldean people which fled there from the mountains of Eastern Turkey. For much of the year, Hamadan and Kermanshah stations have been within the Turkish military lines and so practically cut off from outside intercourse; the tide of battle has flowed and ebbed across these stations several times and the missionaries without fear or favor have tried to help the sick, wounded, hungry and defenceless of each side. We may well rejoice in the worthy service of our representatives in Persia and we must continue to support generously this needed relief work which is financed through the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, on which five of the members and officers of the Board serve.

The energies of some missionaries have been so absorbed in the actual, necessary work of relief that there has not been adequate strength available for the evangelistic work, but all that could be done has been done, and the presence in the Urumia and Salmas plains of the people from the Kurdish mountains, together with the fact of their responsiveness of heart in view of the loving help which they had received, have opened unusual opportunities for evangelization. The missionaries have given assistance also to starving Mohammedans as well as to the Christians and a great softening of prejudice and antagonism has been the result.

Throughout Persia an unprecedented tolerance is growing up, and Mohammedans have not only a new freedom to accept Christianity, but are dealing with an unheard of boldness with Islam. Early in December an incident occurred in Tabriz which is representative. In one of the Persian schools in the city two Mohammedan teachers got into a religious argument, and one of them kept quoting from the Koran. The other who is a free-thinker saying, "What is the Koran anyhow?" took a Koran that was there and threw it into the stove! There was a tremendous outcry; the man was seized and carried before the authorities and one of the chief mujtahids of the city demanded of the Crown Prince that he be hanged. Some people wanted to close the bazaars and some say there was talk of a mob gathering to destroy all the schools in the city! Another chief ecclesiastic, a rival of the first, opposed punishing the man and said that if he didn't believe the Koran it was his own affair. Thus far the man has not been hanged, though he is still under arrest.

In Teheran there has been unusual access to the Mohammedans. In the Boys' School out of 540 pupils, 350 are Mohammedans, and in the Girls' School out of 340, 150. Of these a number have accepted and publicly confessed Christianity without persecution. Of the 22 native teachers in the Boys' School, 9 are converted Mohammedans, of whom two were Mullahs (priests). The medical itinerants have been welcomed everywhere, and again and again been befriended by Mohammedan ecclesiastics. Persia lies in the midst of the Moslem world and this central stronghold of Islam is slowly weakening before the beneficent, persistent impact of the little army of the King of life and truth and love.

SYRIA.—During the past year the blockade of the Syria coast has become more and more rigid. Communication has practically ceased, although a few letters and postal cards have reached this country after long delay. A recent letter received during March was mailed at Syria over a year ago. Such information as the Board has been able to obtain came through the courtesy of the United States Government, and the Ambassador at Constantinople. Even this has been of a meagre character. The situation was still further complicated when the diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany were severed. The question immediately arose what effect this would have upon our Mission work in Syria. Evidences have not been lacking since the beginning of the war that should America and Turkey sever relations the property of the Mission might be imperiled. Recognizing this, communication was immediately opened with the Ambassador at Constantinople urging special over-sight not only of the property but particularly of the welfare of the missionaries. A small committee was also formed of those representing the Missions in Syria and including former Ambassador Morgenthau, whose special work should be to keep informed through government sources of the slightest movement that would endanger the missionaries. As a result a cable was received from Constantinople asking whether the Board would direct its missionaries to come home provided the government could make arrangements to bring them by the use of a government warship or the relief ship which had been sent out and was then at Alexandria. The Board, following precedent in former years, and knowing that the missionaries were the best judges of the necessity of leaving their work, sent the following answer:

“Presbyterian Board wishes appropriate arrangements made for the departure from Syria of such of its missionaries as might desire to leave—this applying also to the Syrian Protestant College. Final decision regarding departure is left with the missionaries themselves. Would appreciate ambassador informing missionaries fully of situation.”

No word has been received stating that the missionaries were returning, but on the contrary intimations have come that they are remaining at the posts and the work is going on uninterrupted. Through the aid of Jemail Pasha, the chief official of Syria, the schools have been enabled to provide themselves with grain, olives and oil for a year, and they are reported as having a large number of pupils, particularly the Girls' School.

The question is frequently asked as to the possibility of the United States and Turkey going to war, and as to the effect that this would have upon our Missions. Every inquiry that has been made and also the opinion of careful students of the situation would indicate that the Turkish Government will be very loathe to go to war with the United States. America has been Syria's best friend, and in times past when all the nations were using her to carry out their own selfish purposes, America has stood steadfast as the representative of service in the name of humanity. America's interests have been almost entirely human interests, and if a break should come Turkey would be deprived of what would seem to be her last friend among the nations. For this reason Turkey will be loathe to sever relations with the United States and even if forced to do so it would not necessarily result in a declaration of war.

Mention should also be made of the service which America has rendered to Syria in the forwarding of funds to the friends and relatives of the Syrians in the United States and Canada. The Armenian Syrian Relief Fund has continued to serve the stricken people of Asia Minor. Our own Board has had the privilege of continuing the transmission of funds given by Syrians in the United States, Canada and elsewhere until we can report that on the first of February we had received $1,957,996.84. As relations became more doubtful, the Board felt it necessary to notify Syrians in the United States that there were likely to be long delays and that it could not pledge itself to immediate transmission. In spite of this, additional funds came in until on the first of April $1,985,824.89 had reached the office. On the first of April the Board was again able to forward funds, and there is no doubt that the volume of contributions will still further increase. The effect of all this will never be known until the war is over. One can indicate it, however, by two or three quotations from letters which have been received, the meaning of which cannot be exaggerated: the first from a Syrian lawyer in Sioux Falls who writes as follows:

This is to acknowledge receipt of your receipt of the forty-five dollars which is to be forwarded to Abraham or Najeeb Karoun, Karam, Bookah County Syria, and to sincerely and exceedingly thank you with all other members of the Board for their loyal devotion for the cause of humanity. As a Syrian who was converted to the Presbyterian Church with all members of our family in Syria since my infancy, hereby do express my pride in my Church for what it has hitherto done and shall in the future do in behalf of the forsaken, subjugated and oppressed.

I do not intend to take your time by my (this) letter; but merely to thank you and to assure you of my sincerest gratitude and appreciation for what you have done for me.

I wish I was strong enough on English so I could explain to the Board what I really feel for all your important services to the unfortunate Syria, but God will pay you in the Glory.

I am, my dear sir, a man of humanity, awaiting for your photograph if possible to you to send it to me, to honor the pages of my paper with it, as the great rescuer of the poor Syrian.

Word has been received that the relief ship "Caesar" has not yet reached its destination at Beirut. The German Government, when communicated with, was unwilling or unable to guarantee its safety in passing through the prohibited zone in the Eastern Mediterranean. The United States Government was unwilling to order it to proceed from Alexandria lest, disaster falling upon it, it might become a casus belli with the Turkish Government. In the meantime there can be little doubt but that the suffering on the part of Syrians has increased and is likely to be still more severe. The burden of Syria's sorrow must have rested heavily upon the hearts of our missionaries, and it will be necessary when the war is over that the force shall be strengthened and that those who have been through this strain shall be given time for recuperation.

AFRICA.—When we think of the war cloud which has passed over and note the rapid development of the work with a smaller force than we have had for five years, there is through and over all the one feeling of gratitude to God for His wonderful mercies toward His servants in their endeavor to serve Him. "We are grateful for the arrival of the new working force, also for the safe home voyage of those who had passed through such trials as were placed upon them by the anxieties and privations of the war. We are grateful for the preservation of this great work, and most of all for the stirrings of the Spirit among the people,—for the numbers coming into the Kingdom, and for the many who have fallen and are coming back for restoration. Our people are eager for help in their Christian lives and many calls came to us, not only from our present occupied field, but also from the regions beyond, to 'tell us of the Words of God,' and we feel that it is a day of wonderful opportunity, carrying with it also great responsibilities."

One of the encouraging features of the Church work at Benito is the presence of representatives of so many different tribes at the services. There has been an average attendance of 17 Fang at the Sunday morning services at the station, and this may be taken as representative of all the Churches of the district. At one of the mid-week prayer meetings five different dialects were heard. Many times during the year, from the Governor General down to the lowest official at Benito, the missionaries have received courtesy and favors that the officials themselves admitted were, in a way, the return for favors shown them in the matter of medical attendance by the missionary.

The income of all the churches of Batanga district for the year is but a little over $100.00 owing to the devastation of war, and in this emergency the Mission is assuming the temporary burden of supporting the 19 native ministers and Bible readers at a cost of some 270 Francs ($54) per month. At the suggestion of the Educational Committee, and approved by the Executive Committee, a French school was opened at Batanga in October. It numbers 19 boys gathered from all stations in Cameroun, and is doing commendable work in preparing teachers for the future. Only those on the ground from the moment of reoccupation know fully what it meant to rescue Batanga from nearly two years of devastation by war and from the rank tropical growths of Africa. The wonted order of the station grounds has not yet been fully restored, and depleted buildings and roofs still call for the restoring help of hands and material. The work of reconstruction has been made the more difficult by the unusual amount of Batanga's customary interruptions, and by the great scarcity in the food supply.

Considerable itineration has been done by various members of Efulen station with good results. This period has been rich in blessings to the Church. At no time has greater interest in the things of God been seen. The average weekly attendance at the various points since July has been between 8,000 and 9,000 per Sunday, for the entire Efulen field. There are 40 native evangelists and Bible readers at work. These men are being paid a total of $87.00 per month. Thus about 9,000 people are regularly ministered to at a monthly cost for native workers of $87.00.

While the European nations have been pitting black man against black, and the white men upon whom the people had heretofore looked as representing law and order and peace had turned to killing each other, the church at Elat has stood as a lighthouse pointing out the way to better things. The present membership is 4674. The Bible readers have been able to remain at their posts, with the exception of a few weeks as the Germans withdrew on the arrival of the French and English forces. The offerings during the last six months have been about equal to that of the previous six months. This shows a very commendable spirit on the part of the Christians, since money has been becoming steadily scarcer, and the price of cloth and salt has been very high. The church has now 122 Bible readers in the field. These have been under the supervision of six theological students, who have done good work in caring for as many districts. Besides these six men, the church has furnished a student for work in the Metet field and three for Fulasi. In addition to these 10 men there have been 16 students in the class at Metet; so that the church has now 26 men looking forward to the gospel ministry.

“There have come repeated calls to us from the people south of the Campo for Bible readers. In short, they are literally saying ‘Come over and help us.’ It has not been that we have not had the Bible readers to spare, or men who were willing to go; it has not been that the church has been unable to support work there; but the missionary force has been so low that it has not been possible for a man to visit that field, and it did not seem wise to send native workers into the unsettled field without being able to superintend their work.”

Thirty-one village schools were in operation. In 21 of these which were visited, 2233 boys were enrolled.

The damage done to the Frank James Industrial plant and its materials during the occupancy of the buildings for military purposes, is estimated at over $1000 and this does not take into account the difference between invoice price on materials appropriated and the price for which these materials might have been sold. Classes in tailoring, chair making, carpentry, blacksmithing and repairing, printing, and operating the saw mill have been carried on while the new industry of hat making and of helmets is meeting a pressing need and is popular with the natives.

In spite of the low-hanging war-clouds, MacLean Station (Lolodorf) has closed one of the best years in its history in point of increase in attendance, accessions and offerings. Not a single item of last year's report but what has been surpassed this year and that in a time when the contrary might have been expected. The Bible Readers increased to 50, and we could increase it much more to good advantage as there is a vast unoccupied territory to the East and Northeast from whence has come repeated requests for these helpers. While the number of confessors has not grown so rapidly, yet it must be remembered that many of these men have gone into localities where the people know nothing of the Gospel and they are merely sowing the seed.

At Metet 185 girls have been gathered in from regions far and near and these girls have expressed a willingness and eagerness to learn, that is most refreshing and causes one to exert his utmost in helping them to free themselves from the dense ignorance that has held their mothers in bondage for so long. They have been a very material aid in keeping the station in order and their work in the gardens is invaluable.

CHINESE, JAPANESE AND KOREANS IN THE UNITED STATES.—The work among the Orientals in the United States has been carried on among the Chinese, Japanese and Koreans in California, and among the Chinese in New York City.

In the Chinese work in California there have been gains in the membership, Sunday-school attendance and contributions. In a survey of the history of the Mission to the present time, some interesting facts are noted. The additions to the church for a period of 36 years, show that from one to 36 persons a year have been added, the largest number being in 1916 when 36 were brought into the Church, and the next largest in 1897 when 38 were added. The contributions for 28 years total $31,518, of which $11,975 were devoted to Home and Foreign Missions.

The number of the Koreans in California remains approximately the same. The few new ones who manage to come from the old country simply take the places of others who have migrated to Nebraska to go to school, or to Nevada to raise melons. The occupations of the men continue to be those of the teacher, the fruit-picker, and the waiter in hotels and restaurants. Few of them have proved successful in leasing and cultivating lands.

Every station has its leader, elected by the members as the one best qualified for the conduct of the meetings, the edification of the members, and the general management of their ecclesiastical and spiritual interests. The leader at Dinuba is the former pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Pyeng Yang, Chosen, whose membership was 700.

The Occidental Rescue Home and the "Tooker Memorial Home" have had a successful year. There have been five rescue cases the past year, three children have been placed in the Home by relatives, four different nationalities are represented in the inmates of the Home, and 23 out of the 90 girls have united with the Church.

There are 66 churches and Missions among the Japanese belonging to 12 denominations. At least 5 per cent of the Japanese in the U. S. are Christians. The support for the Japanese work in America is derived about equally from the various mission boards interested, and from the people to whom they minister. Though there has been some increase in giving on the part of the Japanese missions, the higher cost of everything tends to retard progress toward complete self-support.

The Chinese Mission in New York City reports that eight of their most earnest Christians are in China. Two are elders of churches, two are heads of Mission Schools. All through the summer outdoor meetings were held in Chinatown.

Four hundred and seventy-three students have visited the Church Home. The New York Chinese Student's Club, composed of students from Columbia, New York University, City College and other institutions of learning, has its headquarters at the Mission House and hold their meetings and socials there. A former home missionary is daily teaching men who are struggling to educate themselves.

MEXICO.—The political unrest of Mexico has continued to interfere with the work. The missionaries in Yucatan, however, have been at their posts and in November all the male missionaries returned, and have since been carrying on their work in the central part of the country.

After two full years of closed doors, Coyoacan College was opened under a new name—"Escuela Preparatoria Presbyteriana." While the number of students was not all that could be desired, the Principal, Prof. R. A. Brown, writes of the personnel:

There were strange mixtures among the old students who did heed the call of their Alma Mater. One young man had been the Mayor of his home town under the Carranza regime; another had fought under Villa in the famous battle of Celaya; and a third had for a time marched under the banner of the terrible

Zapata. But when they returned to "Coyoacan" they forgot their differences and joined forces under the banner of Jesus Christ. Carrying out of Government requirements in the matter of military instruction, the school is awakened at 6 A. M. by a series of bugle calls, and from that hour until near ten at night there is scarcely a period that has not its particular activity assigned to it.

The San Angel Normal School for Girls had a successful year, even though it has been found impossible to compete with Government salaries for the teachers. There is seemingly no end to the number of girls who want to come, but there are not many who can pay the tuition.

A successful Interdenominational Convention was held in the City of Mexico in November, 1916. Judging by the quality of the papers presented and the spirit which prevailed it was one of the most successful ever held in Mexico and resulted in the appointment of two Committees, one to plan for a Regional Congress in Mexico City in March, 1917, and the other to co-operate with the Permanent Committee on Union Bible and Theological Institute.

Relief work has been carried on in Aguascalientes, as the missionaries there have not yet been able to move to their new base of operations in the State of Chiapas. An epidemic of typhoid with nothing done by the Board of Health to check the trouble, has given the missionaries plenty to do in the way of relief. Stores have been closed on account of the depreciation of paper money and the inability of the people to obtain silver. In the State of Michoacan the Rev. R. R. Gregory reports.

The work in this field resembles that of a run-down farm, a rich farm, a farm with boundless possibilities for cultivation. If the horizon of the present-day worker is bounded by present events, it would be most discouraging, but fortunately it is the morrow with its possibilities of a great and fruitful work that lures us on. This Michoacan field presents a big, open door to our evangelical work in Mexico. Everywhere there seems to be an open door, such as we, during the twenty years' connection with this field have never beheld. There has dawned a new day and the people are awakening to claim their birthright.

The last few months in Zitacuaro have been an inspiration. Out of the fire a new spirit has been born. In spite of the bloody and barbarous warfare, he who is interested in the people of Mexico instead of the things in Mexico will find ample recompense for his labors among them, for in revolutionized Mexico—"Faith has still its Olivet and Love its Galilee."

In Jalapa under the care of the Rev. H. A. Phillips, the church has been making noble effort towards self-support. The Sunday-school provides its own supplies, each one brings his own hymn book and Bible. The congregation pays for the lighting and cleaning of the temple, the sweeping of the street, and also pays $15 Mex., towards the pastor's salary; besides sending $28 Mex. to the starving children of Europe. Mr. Phillips tells of a special work which has been carried on in the prison in Jalapa:

Permission was given me early in December to visit the prison and give talks on morality and temperance with the understanding that the basis of all our teaching is faith in God and Jesus Christ as our Saviour. These talks have been given twice a week since that time and we are hoping that the seed sown may bring forth much fruit.

In Merida where Mr. and Mrs. Molloy have held the fort for the entire year, there have been strenuous times. Yellow fever and malarial fever have raged but they have not been moved for they "could not get the consent of their minds to abandon the work in this crisis time."

They write:

All classes in Yucatan are fighting for or against religious belief. Many are fearful and doubting, wondering if they must give up their belief in God. Among the better educated classes there is a desire to discuss religion and to know the Bible which has not hitherto been obtained.

There is a crisis in the lives of Mexicans, a time of transition and whether they improve it or drift into hopeless infidelity, depends on whether or not they are given the Gospel.

The Mexico constitutional convention met in Queretaro in January. The new constitution in its effort to eliminate all clerical influence, includes provisions, the effect of which on missionary work, remains to be determined. Article 3 of Chapter I provides with regard to private education:

Instruction is free; that given in public institutions of learning shall be non-sectarian. Primary instruction, whether higher or lower, given in private institutions shall likewise be non-sectarian.

No religious corporation nor minister of any religious creed shall be permitted to establish or direct schools or primary instruction.

Private primary schools may be established only subject to official supervision.

Primary instruction in public institutions shall be free."

Article 24 of Chapter I provides for religious liberty:

Every man is free to embrace the religion of his choice and to practice such ceremony, devotions or observances of the respective creed, either in places of public worship or at home, provided they do not constitute an offence punishable by law.

Every religious act of public worship shall be performed strictly within the places of public worship, which shall be at all times under government supervision.

Article 27 of Chapter I deals with the ownership of land:

I. Only Mexicans by birth or naturalization and Mexican companies have the right to acquire ownership in lands, waters and their appurtenances, or to obtain concessions to develop mines, waters or mineral fuels in the Republic of Mexico. The Nation may grant the same right to foreigners, provided they agree before the Department of Foreign Affairs to be considered Mexicans in respect to such property, and accordingly not to invoke the protection of their Governments in respect to the same, under penalty, in case of breach, of forfeiture to the Nation of property so acquired. Within a zone of 100 kilometers from the frontiers, and of 50 kilometers from the sea coast no foreigner shall under any conditions acquire direct ownership of lands and waters.

II. The religious associations known as churches, irrespective of creed, shall in no case have legal capacity to acquire, hold or administer real property or loans made on such real property or loans as may be at present held by the said religious associations either on their own behalf, or through third parties, shall vest in the Nation, and any one shall have the right to denounce property so held. Presumptive proof shall be sufficient to declare the denunciation well-founded. Places of public worship are the property of the Nation, as represented by the Federal Government, which shall determine which of them may continue to be devoted to their present purposes. Episcopal residences, establishments of religious associations, convents, or any other buildings built or designed for the administration, propaganda, or teaching the tenets of any religious sect shall forthwith vest, as of full right, directly in the Nation, to be used exclusively for the public service of the Federation or of the States, within their respective jurisdictions. All places of public worship which shall later be erected shall be the property of the nation.

III. Public and charitable institutions for the sick and needy, for scientific research, or for the diffusion of knowledge, mutual aid societies, or organizations formed for any purpose shall in no case acquire, hold and administer loans made on real property, unless the mortgage terms do not exceed ten years. In no case shall institutions of this character be under the patronage, direction, administration, charge or supervision of religious corporations or institutions, nor of ministers of any religious sect or of their dependents even though either the former or the latter shall not be in service."

Many problems affecting the work of the Missions in Mexico, including the necessity of further conference to carry out the plans of co-operation and distribution of responsibility agreed upon at the Cincinnati Conference on July 1, 1914, led the Missions and the Evangelical churches in Mexico and the Boards at home to hold a meeting for mutual discussion in Mexico City on March 28th, 1917. Dr. Halsey represented the Board at this Conference and reports that the conference marked an era in the history of missions in Latin America. There were present delegates representing the Adventists, the Friends,

Baptists, North and South, Congregationalists, Disciples, Methodist Episcopal, North and South, Nazarenes, Presbyterians, North and South, Reformed Presbyterians, Union Evangelical Church, The Bible Society and the Young Men's Christian Association. There were more than one hundred accredited delegates in attendance, and the audiences, especially at the evening sessions crowded the great Methodist Gante Church. On the closing evening, Sunday, April 1st, many were turned away. Of the eight papers presented four were written by members of the Mexican Church and the major part of the discussion was carried on by the ministers and laymen of the Mexican Church. It was evident from the opening session that the main features of the Cincinnati Plan, providing for a co-operative interdenominational policy for Missions in Mexico, met with the hearty approval of the larger number of the delegates. Many of the plans proposed at Cincinnati, such as the Union Theological Seminary, the union of printing presses, paper and all publications, and the better distribution of the Christian forces in Mexico, were not only discussed with great thoroughness, but in many cases action was taken looking to their realization. The Union Seminary was organized and ere these lines are printed will be in active operation in Mexico City, six different Boards co-operating in the undertaking. Steps were taken by the co-operating bodies, Methodists and Presbyterians, to form a joint printing plant, a joint depository and a joint paper for all Mexico. Plans were drawn and submitted to the Boards, the representatives of the Boards present at the Conference giving their unanimous consent to the proposal. The conviction was so strong of a need of united effort that a resolution was proposed by one of the native ministers and unanimously adopted, appointing a committee to inquire as to what form of organic union could be effected among the various evangelical agencies at work in Mexico. The conference adopted with great unanimity the name "The Evangelical Mexican Church" to be applicable to all churches, the denominational name, if mentioned at all, to be placed in parenthesis or in a subordinate position. There was some little discussion over the topic, but it was finally agreed to with great heartiness and much enthusiasm. A Committee on Co-operation was appointed, to work with the main Committee in New York, and the whole spirit of the Convention was one of harmony, of unity, of brotherly love, and a recognition of the great opportunity and enlarged responsibility now resting upon the Mexican Church in view of the conditions created by the new Constitution which is to go into effect on the 1st day of May, 1917.

GUATEMALA.—The Guatemala Mission reports a year of special opportunity and progress, in spite of problems and discouragement. It is hard for those who are facing great opportunities to stand idle for lack of equipment with which to meet them. With each passing year, the breaking down of prejudice lays upon the Mission force in Guatemala a new responsibility to give, not only to the Guatemaltecos but also to the Indian population, a gospel which will satisfy their spiritual hunger.

From Quezaltenango comes the appeal for advancement, especially in the Indian work and we are happy to report that at an out station at Colomba there will be erected a chapel particularly with reference to supplying this need. Already there were five congregations in that region now three more have been established. An encouraging fact in the growth of this work has been the devotion of the people who have offered to contribute largely to the erection of the new building. Although over fourteen hundred services were held in that region, it is but the beginning and the whole Indian population is still almost untouched.

In this large and prosperous city far up in the mountains one missionary is working alone. It will be necessary for the Board to strengthen his hands or the burden will be too strenuous for him. The Hospital work at Guatemala City has been interrupted by the resignation of a physician who had been on the field but a year.

In few fields under the Board's care has there been a more advantageous use made of Evangelism through the printed page than in Guatemala. During the twelve months ending December, 1916, there were sent out from our Press, 3,801,114 pages of Christian literature making a total, since the Press was established of 11,926,000. The output this year amounts to almost two pages for every inhabitant of Guatemala. It reaches not only Christians of Guatemala but is scattered to all the Republics of Central America and even as far as Cuba, Porto Rico and Spain.

Through the interest and generosity of a friend of Guatemala, a large and valuable tract of land has been procured upon which it is hoped to build a Boys' School equipped, if possible, with an agricultural department. The Mission will then be provided with the last of its immediate necessities. With its Girls' and Boys' School, its Hospital and Training School, it should be able to meet, in a fairly adequate way, its immediate responsibility.

SOUTH AMERICA.—The influences of the Panama Congress are still strongly felt both in the United States and throughout Latin America. As the report of the Home Department indicates, there has been a widespread interest in the study of Latin America. In Latin America the missionaries have been given a new courage and hope and the leaders of the Latin American churches a new sense of their unity and power. After the Panama Conference a deputation went around the Continent holding regional conferences at Lima, Santiago, Buenos Aires, and Rio. Dr. Halsey and Mr. Trull represented the Board on this deputation. The reports of these regional conferences have been published in a supplementary volume, and can be obtained with the three volumes containing the reports of the Panama Congress and a popular volume by Prof. Harlan P. Beach, summarizing the proceedings of the Congress, from the Missionary Education Movement, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City, at a price of $3.50 for the five volumes.

The four South American Republics in which there are missions of the Board are Colombia, Venezuela, Chile and Brazil:

Colombia which has more than twice the area of France and 5,072,613 inhabitants, very inadequately supplied with evangelical missionaries.

Venezuela, a country twice the size of Germany, with 2,755,685 inhabitants, only partly occupied.

Chile, a country larger than Japan, having 4,000,000 people, considered "the best occupied territory of South America," but "in need of large reinforcements."

Brazil, a huge territory, larger than either China or Australia, has its 20,000,000 people. Some of the best results of Missionary effort in South America have been obtained in Brazil, but the Panama Deputation found that "Mission work has been largely limited to the southern section and the coast cities, leaving more than three-quarters of the entire area of a country larger than the United States altogether untouched.”

Colombia and Venezuela: These Missions are greatly encouraged by the larger support which the Board has been able to give them as the result of the Latin American Expansion Fund and the special co-operation of friends in the Churches and in the Woman's Boards. Nine new missionaries have been added to the Colombia force within the last four years, of whom three were sent this last year. Two more are under appointment and a third family has been sent to Caracas in the Venezuela Mission. Some greatly needed new property has also been purchased. The needs of these Missions are still very great. The re-enforcements and gifts referred to have simply made a beginning; a very hopeful one for which the Board and the Missions are profoundly grateful, but there remains yet very much to be provided. Two of our stations, occupying important centers, have only one family each and another has only two families, while the annual budget is not large enough to supply the missionaries who are on the field with proper facilities for their work.

Colombia and the Vatican are still related in a concordat, but a strong spirit of anti-clericalism is evident in Colombia.

Chile: In making the report from Chile one would mention first and as an outstanding item the regional conference which was held subsequent to the Panama Congress. The testimony of the Mission in speaking of the solution of some of its most important problems has been that nothing that has occurred in the history of the Chile Mission has given more stimulus to the work than the presence of so large a company of men who were looking at problems with a broad vision and a clear comprehension of the needs of Latin America. Among the results of this conference was a growing spirit of hearty co-operation between the Chilean brethren and the Mission, distinctly credited to the presence of the Secretary of the Board and the Santiago Congress. A better understanding was also arrived at between the workers in our own Mission and those of the Methodist Church. These two great mission interests are now planning union work both in the Theological Seminary at Santiago and in the literary work as represented in the Heraldo Christiano, which will henceforth be a joint publication. The question of mode adequate facilities for normal training was also clearly faced, and while for the time being the co-operating Missions felt it wiser to postpone action, it seems probable that in the not distant future this problem may also be handled jointly.

Chile is one of the most enlightened and progressive Latin American lands, and the reports of the Panama Congress and the visit of the deputation were not without effect on the active thought of leading men in Chile. "La Union" is the most conservative Roman Catholic paper in Santiago, generally thought to be the mouthpiece of the Roman Catholic Church in Chile. The following paragraphs are from the report in "La Union" of the visit of the Panama deputation to Santiago Regional Conference in Latin America:

Some of the daily papers gave the notice, recently, of the arrival in the country of certain delegates to the Congress on Christian Work, which was recently held in Panama. For this reason there was to be held in a theatre of this city a great meeting to which all the evangelicals of Santiago were invited, in order that they might hear the message of these delegates and come to know of the decisions formulated in that great assembly.

The invitation provoked our curiosity. We had heard mention made of this Protestant sect which our people has christened with the picturesque name of 'Canutos.' We had the impression that the Lutheran religion had gained some ground among us, thanks to the perservering labor of the Salvation Army, which, under the pretense of fighting alcoholism, is carrying forward a formidable propaganda in favor of Protestantism. In a word, we were convinced, beforehand, that Protestantism, in spite of its exotic character, as regards the mentality, mode of life, and the religious traditions of our people, had gained a few adepts among the Chileans. * * * *

Our surprise, therefore, was great when we found the theatre full from the pit to the highest gallery, all the seats occupied by a gathering that, it is true, was cosmopolitan, but in which the national element predominated. On the main floor numerous foreigners were to be seen, both men and women; there were also present a good number of Chileans, and of Chilean women, in particular. The same may be said of the boxes. But when we came to the galleries, there was a complete dearth of foreigners. The creole element filled them completely. Men and women were crowded together in them, like clusters of grapes, without showing the slightest weariness in that ill-smelling, thick atmosphere. One might think that we were to witness the debut of some famous production, and that in anticipation of the coming pleasure no one paid the slightest attention to the inconveniences of the moment. * * *

For us, all this had been a revelation. Protestantism has advanced considerably among us. Its apostles, those who propagate it, its elements of action, are formidable. We propose to study, with all calmness and with a spirit free from passions, that which this advance means for the country. We believe that it involves grave peril for our social tranquility, for the harmony of the Chilean family. Far be it from us to suppose that its agents and propagandists deliberately intend to create these disturbances. But their work is bound to have such an unfortunate result, because they aspire to the making of Protestantism the national religion, and this pretension, as history shows, has made seas of blood to run and has sung in misery those peoples who have fallen into those abysses of misfortune known as religious wars."

The report from all the Stations in Chile would indicate that the last year has been one of the most challenging of its history. As a result of the Panama Congress the Presbyterian Board was asked to allocate the Rev. William E. Browning, Ph.D., who had for many years been at the head of the Instituto Ingles, to the general work of Superintendent of Education for all of Latin America. After long and careful consideration the Board voted to accede to this request, although it precipitated a very difficult problem upon the Mission. Even at best the Mission was shorthanded, and to take away a man who for years had studied not only its problems but the problems of Latin America as a whole, created a situation which will be most difficult to handle. For the time being, the need is being supplied through the willingness of the Rev. J. H. McLean to take charge of the Institute. He must, however, be reinforced with a man well trained in educational matters, who shall act as his associate.

The importance of emphasizing Mission work in the various South American Republics has been vividly brought out because of the European war. No one can forecast the future.

It would seem, however, that the American continent is to be brought into ever-increasing closer trade relationships, and that common political problems will inevitably have to be faced in increasing numbers. The contributions of the Church to their solution will be in helping to establish them upon ethical foundations, which will stand the strain of the new superstructure which is to be built.

Brazil.—The Protestant churches are stronger in Brazil than in any other Latin American land, but their forces have been somewhat divided, the Presbyterian Church having been rent asunder over various issues in 1903. Representatives of both branches of the Church, however, were at Panama, and there has been a growing unity in all the work in the great Republic.

The following message was addressed by the Brazilian General Assembly at its meeting last year to the Presbyterian Churches in the United States, North and South, which are united in their work in Brazil, as indeed in every field which the missionaries of the two Boards occupy together :

Dearly beloved brethren :

The Presbyterian Church in Brazil extends to you most cordial greetings. The infinite goodness of God has blessed your work in the land where lie the remains of some of the venerated pioneers of the Evangelization of Brazil. Coming with persuasive messages to this land of tolerant rule under a liberal monarch, A. G. Simonton, A. L. Blackford, G. Nash Morton, Edward Lane and J. R. Smith from center to border aroused the Brazilian soul to the two great truths—sin and redemption in Christ Jesus; to a vision of spiritual life; to personal and direct communion with the Father; to aspiration for a life nobler for the fatherland, and holier for the Kingdom of God. You brought to Brazil “the open Bible, and the free and liberal school.”

Within fifty years the seed sown by the pioneers on the recently turned sod, watered and cultivated with holy zeal by those who came in ever greater number to toil in the blessed harvest, has borne fruit—a national church, still small, but of deep root and determined nature, in process of full development and assured of the final possession of the land that we must leave to future generations, under the staff and rod of the Bishop and Shepherd of our souls.

We have toiled, suffered, rejoiced and triumphed together; it fell to us in the history of modern missions to try new methods, to learn new lessons and to secure in the heritage of the Church the rich wisdom which springs from arduous work.

You have received the due reward of your efforts—the knowledge that among all the fields of Latin America the harvest that was entrusted to you is bearing ripe fruits in the stability, the nationalization and the growing power of the Brazilian Presbyterian Church.

When, in accord with your own advice and carrying out the instructions of the Missionary Boards, it seems wise to the supreme council of your Church in this country to adopt principles that shall direct harmonious action between the Brazilian Church and the Mother Churches, and which also guarantees larger results in the crusade of evangelizing Brazil, you will allow the Presbyterians here to address to you a message of affectionate gratitude and sincere acknowledgment of the outcome of your efforts—rich security for the further and indispensable co-operation of the future until Brazil has been won for Christ.

We owe to you, as a priceless contribution to the social life of our people, the founding of the school of liberty, in the system of ecclesiastical polity by which you have taught us to rule our congregations, implanting in Brazilian Presbyterians the incoercible love of democracy, seed of necessary reform later on.

We owe to you, as an incomparable contribution to our moral life, the teaching and example of “the tragic sense of duty,” the compelling idea of individual responsibility to the Sovereign God, and the clear concepts of Christian duty which you gave us in the Westminster symbols.

We owe to you, in the creation of a new Brazil, the organization of an ecclesiastical body, moved by the same progressive spirit of the Church which sent you hither, yearning to be a community capable of self-government, of self-support, of self-propagation and of modifying the whole nation by its spiritual influence.

We owe to you above all, as the supreme contribution which you have made to our happiness—the sweet message of the free pardon of Jesus, given in response to faith and repentance; of free access to the Throne of Grace thru the risen Mediator; of the Spirit, maternal and helpful, Who sanctifies us; of the firm and unshakable grace by which is obtained the vision of eternity.

We render sincere thanks to our God for that He turned to our mountains "the beautiful feet of the messengers of peace."

To you this message bears the grateful expression of cordial and personal appreciation of your work, your valor, your witness and your benefactions. We are indissolubly united to you by the bond of good which has been received in the dwelling, together during a half century, and by our common vision of the wise and sovereign God. Our co-operation with you, increased by the new conditions of the undertaking, will doubtless create other ties of affection and spiritual attraction, which unite us so closely.

In this solemn hour of human anguish and bitterness, of eager hope for our Church on this continent, extend to us your hands—we desire to press upon them the warm kiss of filial gratitude, we long to strengthen by them our steps as we set out on a fresh effort in the harvests that whiten under the rays of the Southern Cross.

The blessing of God and the love of Jesus Christ rest upon you, and the Holy Spirit establish in your souls the graces of the Gospel.

In behalf of the Presbyterian Church in Brazil,

ERASMO BRAGA,

Stated Clerk of the General Assembly.

The missionaries in the two Brazilian Missions are pressing their way far into the interior, some of them covering in their annual itinerations many thousands of miles.

MOVEMENTS OF UNION AND COOPERATION.—The Foreign Mission work continues to set before the churches at home the possibility and gain of the largest possible measure of cooperative and united work. In China the Presbyterian churches are now planning a General Assembly for the entire Presbyterian body in China. A Committee appointed by the Presbyterian Federal Council met in Shanghai last September to draw up the Constitution for the General Assembly. Until the Assembly adopts a final creed the various Confessions of Faith now in use by the various constituent bodies will remain in force. In case any question should arise as to the doctrinal basis the Westminster Shorter Catechism is referred to and recognized as being a compendium of the creeds of the constituent bodies. There are now six synóds with twenty-three presbyteries and 70,000 church members. The Committee having the matter in charge says in the closing paragraph of its report:

The longer the union is delayed, the greater will be the divergence of practice and the harder it will be to come together. This is the time of change, of transition, of the building up of a new government in China. The minds of the people are in this attitude, and it seems to be the most opportune time for the forming of a National Presbyterian Church. We formed our Federal Council years ago, but since that time the Angelican Churches have united in one National Angelican Church with their own Boards of Mission and their own special activities, and because of this union the Angelican Churches have taken on new strength. The Chinese Christians of that Church feel in a new sense that it is their Church. Can we Presbyterians afford to delay any longer? Each part of our Presbyterian Church in China needs the counsel, stimulus, strength of the whole. There are great problems that await the work of a General Assembly. Such an Assembly will, it is hoped, represent the Chinese Church, and not the foreign constituency, and thus will have a strong appeal to the people of China, showing them that we, at least have tried to do our part to bring about the answer to the prayer of our Lord that we may be one.

Further progress has been made in the establishment of the Union Medical School of the Shantung Christian University at Tsinanfu, and also in the development of the Peking Medical School of the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation. The former institution is entirely in the hands of the Missions and does its work in the Chinese language, the China Medical Board having provided generous subsidies for five years, to be entirely administered by the school itself. The Peking School is under an independent Board of Trustees, composed of representatives of the China Medical Board and of the Missions interested in the University in Peking. The entire financial responsibility of the Peking School is met by the China Medical Board.

In Japan the outstanding union undertaking of the year has been the organization of the Woman's Christian College of Japan: Japan as a nation is rapidly becoming one of the best educated nations in the world; and it will not respect, still less be deeply influenced by, a Christianity that is not both in spirit and endeavor manifestly educational.

The present attitude of Buddhism is highly significant. Seven years ago there were only five Buddhist schools above the elementary grades having a total of 367 students; two years ago there were fifteen with an enrollment of more than a thousand. Most of the students in these schools are being trained for the priesthood; but besides these there are a number of higher schools maintained by the Buddhists which are open to all. When Buddhism is multiplying its schools Christianity can not be inert without suffering reproach and loss.

In lands where Christian homes and Christian Churches and other Christian institutions abound, Secondary and Higher Christian Education is a strong auxiliary force to build up boys and young men into the highest type of manhood. In Japan today it is a necessity. There is nothing else that takes its place. Christians in Japan in comparison with the nation are but a handful; but they are a growing body, and they need Christian schools to which to send their sons and daughters. Many of these now in the Christian schools are the children of Christian parents who themselves learned of Christianity in the Christian schools. The entire State System of Education from the Primary School to the University is in principle non-religious. Under the circumstances this could not be otherwise. Japan is the meeting place of Shintoism, Buddhism, and Christianity; and the great majority of the people are non-Christian. Any attempt to introduce instruction in religion in institutions maintained by public funds would do more harm than good; it would create endless confusion and awake bitter opposition; such an attempt would be neither wise nor just. Nevertheless the fact remains that the majority of students in Japan pass the most formative period of their lives in an environment in which religion has no part; and the result is already constantly and increasingly in evidence.

Nor is this all. Not only are the State institutions non-religious; in many cases their influence is positively unfavorable to Christianity. It is true that the Imperial Constitution guarantees freedom of personal faith. But the majority of the principals and teachers in these institutions are indifferent to religion. Many of them are thoroughgoing materialists or agnostics; and some of them are actively hostile to Christianity. This is the air which the students breathe; this is the current which boys and young men from Christian surroundings must breast. The result is not to be wondered at. Many of the students outstrip their teachers in their indifferentism and scepticism.

The result of Secondary and Higher Christian Education in Japan already noted are themselves a witness in its behalf. It has made friends for Christianity. It has lodged in the minds of many the fundamental truths of Christianity; has led many to accept it as the rule of their own faith and living; and has established many from Christian homes in Christian knowledge and character. It has added an element of strength to the Churches now planted and growing. It has given the Churches their ministry.

The Japanese Christians and the foreign missionaries in Japan are united in their conviction that one of the greatest needs of Japan, and of Christianity in Japan, is a union college for women to be established in Tokyo. The Government has no universities or college for women and does not admit women to the higher institutions provided for men. The "new woman" in Japan is in danger of being swept away by agnostic and nihilistic tendencies of thought. She needs, and both Japan and the Christian Church in Japan, need a school of college grade providing true Christian education.

The Northern Baptists, the Methodists, the Canadian Methodists, the Reformed Church and our own Board have united in establishing this College and there is the hope that several other agencies will join.

In Brazil at a meeting held in December, representatives of the different denominations at work in Brazil agreed to unite in a federated evangelical University, and also in the establishment of a Union Theological Seminary.

HOME DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES.—The outstanding feature of the work of the Board at home during the past year has been the special campaign. At the General Assembly in Atlantic City in 1916 the following resolution was adopted:

“RESOLVED that the Assembly commend the plans of the Board of Foreign Missions for Expansion in certain fields, particularly in Siam and Latin America and for the development of higher educational institutions, notably Silliman Institute in the Philippine Islands, the Federated Peking University in China, and the proposed colleges in Japan and Persia.”

In pursuance of the above resolution the Board, in October last, inaugurated a campaign to include a visitation of several of the larger cities of the country, as well as a general appeal to all friends of the Board.

The purpose of this campaign has been to present world needs so as to lead Presbyterians not only to a large understanding of the tremendous possibilities in many parts of the world, but in the confident belief that having learned of those possibilities they would respond with large gifts for this advanced work. The Board entered upon this campaign with the definite purpose of securing at least $1,000,000, which will be apportioned as follows:

Latin America.....	$100,000
A proportionate ratio to be assigned to each of the Latin-American countries in which the Board is at work.
Siam Extension Fund.....	50,000
Silliman Institute Extension Fund.....	50,000
Teheran College (Persia).....	50,000
The Woman's College and other higher educational Institutions in Japan.....	50,000
China Cities' Evangelization.....	50,000
Federated Peking University.....	70,000
India Mass Movement and Moga Building Fund .....	50,000
Definite Property and War Emergency Need in the various Missions.....	530,000

The plan of the campaign as agreed upon by the Home Department of the Foreign Board and the Foreign Missions Committees of the Presbyteries to be visited called for visitations of from five to six days' duration, usually beginning on a Sunday and closing on the following Friday. To set up all the arrangements for the campaigns the Board engaged Mr. Herbert K. Caskey as its special representative. Mr. Caskey was formerly an elder in the Second Church of Germantown, Pennsylvania, and for the past seven years has been the efficient secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in Canada. He came to the Board unusually well qualified for this work, and entered upon it with efficiency and enthusiasm.

The following cities have been visited as indicated and have pledged (approximately) the amounts noted: Pittsburgh, November 19-26, 1916—$55,000; Detroit, December 10-16, 1916—$35,000; Cleveland, January 17-21, 1917—$50,000; Chicago, January 25-February 2, 1917—$102,000 (including a pledge of $27,000 from the Woman's Board of the Northwest); St. Louis, February 23-March 2, 1917—$70,000 (including a pledge of $10,000 from the Woman's Board of the Southwest); Philadelphia, $22,000, and Baltimore, $14,000. Up to March 30th a total of $565,000 had been pledged from all sources. This includes a pledge of $30,000 from the Woman's Board of Philadelphia, and another pledge of $10,000 from the Woman's Board of New York.

The following representatives of the Board have participated in one or more of the campaigns: The President of the Board, the Rev. George Alexander, D.D.; Secretaries Robert E. Speer, Arthur J. Brown, D.D., A. W. Halsey, D.D., and Stanley White, D.D.; Treasurer Dwight H. Day; Assistant Treasurer Russell Carter; Assistant Secretaries Orville Reed, Ph.D., George T. Scott and William P. Schell; District Secretaries Charles E. Bradt, D.D., and J. M. Patterson; Executive Secretary Herbert K. Caskey; Sunday School Secretary George H. Trull; Educational Secretary B. Carter Millikin; Rev. J. Ross Stevenson, D.D., Former Moderator of the General Assembly; Rev. John N. Mills, D.D., of Washington, and the following missionaries: Rev. W. B. Boomer of Chile, Rev. George W. Dunlap of the Philippines, Rev. O. C. Crawford, Rev. J. M. Henry and Rev. Charles H. Corbett of China; Rev. A. K. Reischauer of Japan; Rev. W. C. Erdman, Rev. H. A. Rhodes and Rev. W. E. Smith of Chosen; Rev. J. Freeman, Dr. James W. McKean and the Rev. H. S. Vincent of Siam; Rev. William M. Dager and Rev. Jacob Reis of Africa; Dr. Preston H. Edwards and Rev. E. D. Lucas of India; Rev. S. M. Jordan and Rev. F. G. Coan of Persia, and Rev. James H. Nicol of Syria.

These campaigns have not only brought large gifts to the Board; they have brought a great spiritual blessing to the cities visited.

Some of the impressions received from the campaign have been:

1. Men are much more interested in Foreign Missions than ever in the past. This is due to many causes. One is the steady education of the Church and the public as to the work of missions. Another is the widened horizon of men who are not hemmed in by their view and outlook as much as they were twenty years ago. Another factor undoubtedly has been the enlargement of our nation's responsibilities. Men recognize that we cannot live unto ourselves any longer. Our relations to the Philippine Islands have been one of the strong influences in bringing about this change. The War itself has not been without effect. It has shown the folly of the old materialistic and commercial views. Men see now that nations are willing to destroy themselves for the sake of ideals, that principles are after all the main things in life, and that an enterprise which is dealing not in material commodities but in the invisible ideas and forces of the Gospel is the most fundamental and ultimate of all enterprises.

2. There is a notable increase of interest in Latin-America. People who cared to hear nothing about the Latin-American countries are now very eager to hear, to understand what their moral and social and religious problems are, and to consider the grave question of right relationships between those nations and ourselves. The Mexican situation no doubt has had some influence in producing this change. The Panama Congress has also done a great deal to draw attention to Latin-America. The disconcerting thing is that while there has been such great interest in Latin-America there have been few special gifts designated for it, except through the Woman's Boards. The men of the churches are not yet doing their duty in actual service of Latin-America.

3. We have met with unhappy evidences of the effect of the anti-Japanese sentiment and propaganda. America and Japan need to beware lest they drift or are driven by their own mistakes or misdeeds or by sinister hidden influences into such an attitude of distrust and suspicion one of the other as will breed shame and strife.

4. The combination of various appeals has proved its value. The different causes represented in the campaign, instead of competing with and injuring one another, have proved co-operating and cumulative in their influence. Each has been advantaged far more by its association with the others than it could have been if it had been alone. This might not have been the case if the causes had not been all so cognate and associated and based on the single idea and principle of the Foreign Missionary undertaking. It is quite clear that for the larger effort a hearing was secured that could not have been obtained for any single undertaking. The fellowship of the different missionaries was delightful. The campaign could not have been more united and single-minded than it was.

5. A great deal that has been given has been undesignated, showing, after all, that it was not the special object presented which secured the gift, but the general appeal and motive which lay behind the whole campaign.

6. The campaign was not overdone. Nowhere was there any effort made to over-ride local judgment or to press the appeal unduly. There were no diverse interests that needed to be balanced; all were working together with absolute unity, with the result that a flavor of love and joy was left behind everywhere. And there is probably no one who was called upon or who heard the speakers who would not rejoice to have them come back at any time. The warmth and sympathy of the greeting which the campaign received was a source of the deepest satisfaction and encouragement to all who had part in it. It has been a year of the making and deepening of friendship between the Church at home and the missionaries and their work abroad.

Remarkable testimonies as to the value of the campaigns have been received from pastors in all the states where the work has been done. One pastor from Baltimore writes: "We have had a great campaign here this week. Words cannot describe the impression made on all our people. It is the best thing Baltimore has ever had."

The regular work of the several districts has been carried on as usual. There have been a large number of Presbyterian itineraries, Educational Institutes, etc., and each of the District Secretaries reports a very encouraging year.

Sunday School Department.—The outstanding features of the work during the past two years have been the promotion of the Latin American Campaign in the Sunday School and the Station Plan of giving. Early in the Fall two books were issued, one of which was a collection of stories from Latin American fields, and the other contained programs for platform use. A special advertising campaign was entered upon during January and February offering this material in connection with the Easter Program on Latin America, and outlining a tour for seven consecutive Sundays, beginning on March 4th. Up to March 31st, 923 schools, scattered in 42 different states, had ordered the material, and to 172 Presbyterian Chairmen, complimentary copies of the books had been sent for use in their schools. In addition, several hundred copies of the books were distributed through the Women's Boards and the Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work. A conservative estimate would be that more than 1,100 schools have used the Latin American material.

The Department has had correspondence with hundreds of schools during the past year in reference to the Station Plan of giving; the number of schools adopting the Plan is growing steadily. We regard with deep appreciation the hearty cooperation of scores of our missionaries who are serving as station correspondents for Sunday Schools most acceptably, and are thus contributing greatly to the success of the Station Plan. As an alternative to the Station Plan proper, four missionaries have been definitely assigned to Sunday Schools for support as follows: Rev. James S. Gale, D.D., of Seoul, Chosen, to the Sunday Schools of Washington City Presbytery; Rev. Henri Ferger of Lahore, India; Rev. J. Gordon Holderoft of Pyeng Yang, Chosen; and Rev. Jesse S. Smith of Taltal, Chile; H. L. Weber, M.D., W. Africa.

In addition to promoting the Latin American Campaign and the Station Plan of giving, the Sunday School Secretary of the Board has given considerable time to field work, to office correspondence and to the preparation of Sunday School material.

During the past year, as for several years formerly, monthly missionary illustrations have been furnished for the "Westminster Teacher." The Department has also been in correspondence with furloughed missionaries, offering suggestions regarding the best available literature on Sunday School work and advising the visitation of well conducted Sunday Schools here in the United States for the purpose of observation. The help of a number of missionaries doing field work while at home has been enlisted in an advocacy of the Station Plan.

Educational Department.—"The Living Christ for Latin America" has been the theme of the course of study prepared and promoted by the Educational Department of the Board. It has in a very remarkable way captured the imagination of the Church. This is indicated by the following statistics: More than 3,000 Pastors have preached a series of sermons or conducted a series of Prayer Meetings on Evangelical Missions in Latin America. There are on file in the office of the Educational Secretary, 3301 mission study classes and other groups with a total membership of more than 60,000 in 2057 churches in 240 Presbyteries, in 38 synods.

The Women's Foreign Boards have united with the Assembly's Board to promote the program of the year, the success of the Campaign being in no small measure due to the efficient co-operation of their Educational Secretaries.

For the new year a course of unusual interest is offered. Its theme is, "The Light of Christ in the Life of Africa." There are text books for all ages and groups in the Churches, telling the thrilling story of missionary achievement and describing the problems pressing for solution and sounding the challenge of Africa to American Christians. Helps for groups engaging in this study, special material for Pastors, and other material are in preparation. The Educational Secretary of the Board invites correspondence regarding this Campaign and any problems of missionary education in the local churches.

Foreign Missions Library.—During the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1917, the Foreign Missions Library loaned for home use, 1247 books and a considerable number of pamphlets. Individual letters have, in many cases, accompanied this literature. We have loaned 1223 photographs, 129 flags, 1242 curios and have rented 283 costumes.

We have issued two new stereopticon lectures, "Journeying from Panama to Panama" and "Through Siam." The Library has rented 507 sets of stereopticon slides. In addition to the lectures sent out from the Library, duplicate sets have been rented by depositories in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, and Portland Oregon, to the number of 405.

Literature Department.—During the past year the Literature Department has sent out over 359,138 pieces of material from its regular stock, and over 152,250 pieces on the leaflets used in the Special Extension Campaigns. The Department has also sent out every two weeks to those who print a Church Calendar, over 31,000 bulletins. On our "All the World" list there are now over 13,000 names. This list is now being augmented by several thousand additional names.

MISSION POLICY.—Careful consideration has been given during the year in various conferences to the relations between the Assembly's Board and the Women's Board of Foreign Missions. These relations have always been exceptionally intimate and harmonious, and it has been desired both to preserve the intimacy and the freedom of the past, and at the same time to provide for the larger growth and efficiency of the future. The six Women's Boards of Foreign Missions have representatives on a central committee which meets periodically, and which twice a year meets with the Assembly's Board. By these meetings, and by interlocking secretarial arrangements, and constant conference, it is believed that the complete unity of all the Foreign Missionary work of the Church will be maintained, and that its effectiveness and power will be still further enlarged.

The Board has continued to study the problem of how to secure larger and more efficient local administration on the various Mission Fields. Its policy has been to encourage the largest amount of democratic self-government in the Missions, but it is difficult to develop plans which will provide continuous and effective administration where missionaries are scattered in separate stations, where each individual is already overburdened with his own work, and where the necessity of periodic furloughs interrupts continuity. The development of field executive committees, however, with chairman or secretaries giving their entire time to the service of all the field work in the field concerned, has worked most successfully. The China and India Councils are Executive Committees of all the Missions in those fields, and the great benefit of their work and of the entire devotion of the time of Dr. Lowrie in China and Dr. Griswold in India to the work of the Councils has been most advantageous.

The Board and the Missions are studying also how to increase the direct evangelistic effectiveness of all the work so as to secure the widest dissemination of the Gospel as well as its deepest penetration into life.

FINANCES.—The Treasurer's Report contains the statement of receipts and expenditures and the financial outcome of the year. The gifts received for the work would have been adequate to meet all expenditure if it had not been for the rise in exchange in Persia and China, which doubled the expense of the work in Persia, and increased it over 20% in China. The same conditions seem likely to continue the coming year, and if they do will involve a consequent increased expenditure of over $200,000 on this account alone. If every source of income for the year 1917-18 could be increased 20% over corresponding receipts for 1916-17, it would be possible fully to meet all obligations. There have been years in the past when the Church showed itself equal to a courageous advance, and it is the hope and prayer of the Board that the best that has been done heretofore may be transcended the coming year.

OBITUARY.—The work of the Church on earth lost during the year some of its most honored and conspicuous figures. The deaths of Dr. Underwood, of Chosen, and Dr. Wilson, of Persia, have already been mentioned. The two oldest missionaries of the Church in China have passed on to their reward—Dr. W. A. P. Martin and Dr. J. M. W. Farnham. Dr. Martin died in Peking on December 17, 1916. He was born at Lavonia, India, April 10th, 1827, and educated at the University of Indiana, Class of 1846, and at the Theological Seminary in New Albany, afterward removed to Chicago, and named McCormick Seminary. At the time of his death he was the senior in age and continuous service of all the foreigners resident in China.

When Martin was seven years old, there were only three Protestant Christians in the whole Empire. A dozen years later there were only six, and when he and his bride arrived in 1850, there were less than three hundred. The report of the Presbyterian Board for that year (1850) shows only three.

Eminent as Dr. Martin was as a scholar, an educator, an author, and an authority on China and on international law, it was as a missionary that he most desired to be known. He went to China as a missionary. He brought the missionary motive into all his numerous and varied activities. In the service of the Chinese Government as much as a member of a mission, he never permitted his allegiance to Christ to be obscured. By voice and pen and daily life, Christ was "all and in all."

Dr. Farnham was born on September 30, 1829, in Lebanon, Maine, and had the true and attractive New England characteristics. He was alert, quick-minded, positive, loyal in his friendships, full of whimsical humor and zest. He was educated at Union College, Schenectady, and Princeton Seminary, and was appointed by the Board in March, 1859.

The first work of Dr. and Mrs. Farnham was to give relief to refugees from the interior stations who had fled before the Taipings. Within the first year they had opened schools for boys and girls.

Dr. Farnham took much interest in the development of the Mission Press and from 1884 to 1888 was in superintendent. He was a member of the committee which translated the New Testament into the Shanghai dialect and also in Romanized form.

His desire to have suitable Christian literature provided, was one of the influences which led to the establishment of the Chinese Religious Tract Society, with which he was afterward connected, and of which for many years until his death, he was the Corresponding Secretary.

The death of Mrs. William M. Baird on June 9, 1916, took from the Chosen Mission a beloved friend and leader. Reaching Chosen early in the year 1891 she underwent the privations and difficulties of the early pioneer days of mission work in that country. She devoted herself with rare ability and sympathy to work among women and children who readily and gladly responded to her uplifting influence. Her personal helpfulness to the boys and young men of Pyeng Yang Academy caused her to be known as "the mother of a thousand Koreans." Mrs. Baird is sorely missed by hundreds whose lives she blessed.

Another missionary of long experience and rich ministry, who finished his course during the year was the Rev. C. B. Newton, D.D., of India.

Dr. Newton was born at Lodhiana, Punjab, February 3rd, 1842. His parents, the Rev. John Newton and his wife, had gone to India in 1835 among the first missionaries of the Presbyterian Church and the founders of the mission work in the Punjab. Four of their sons returned to missionary work in India.

As a native of India, Dr. Newton had a perfect command of the vernacular and a brother's understanding of the hearts of the people. With this equipment he combined a single-eyed devotion to the work of the Gospel, unusual practical sense in business and accounts, untiring energy and a spirit of absolute fidelity to all duty, whether great or small. His life and letters bore the flavor of the high missionary character of the early days.

The whole Church of Christ in India suffered a great loss during the year in the death of Rev. K. C. Chatterjee, D.D., on May 31st, 1916. Dr. Chatterjee was a unique figure in the councils and work of the Christian Church in India. His parents were high caste Hindus, and as a Brahman youth he entered Dr. Duff's college in Calcutta, and through Dr. Duff's influence was led at the age of twenty to become a Christian. For over twenty-five years he has been president of the Board of Directors of Forman College. In 1903 he was made Moderator of the First General Assembly of the First Presbyterian Church in India. Dr. Chatterjee was honored and beloved by all the missionaries as one of their wisest leaders and truest friends, and he was respected and revered by all classes of the population, Brahmans and low castes, Europeans, Eurasians and Indian Christians.

The full list of missionaries who have died during the year is as follows:

Mrs. Gilbert McIntosh, of the Central China Mission, appointed 1892, died March 10, 1917.

It was of such as these and of the work that they have done, and of the true glory that they reflect upon the nations that the late Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme Court, himself the son of a missionary, was speaking, when he said:

Because Christianity so blesses and uplifts individuals and nations, it is the duty, as well as the privilege, of those enjoying its benefits to pass it on to those who as yet know it not. It can reach them only as it is carried to them. It does not flow to the places of need, like water, through the power of gravitation, to the lower level. It is not like the sunlight, which, without man's assistance, circled the world. It must be borne by human hands and hearts. This is the work of foreign missions.

I believe in them because the work not only blesses those to whom the missions go, but those by whom they are established and supported. The reflex influence on the latter is no small item, and it is universally true that they who are most devoted to the cause of missions, most interested in the work, give to it the most earnest support, are the finest types of Christian character. "He that loseth his life for my sake, shall find it."

I believe in them not merely because of the reflex influence on individual character, but because of the standing they will give to this republic in the sight of the world. As a citizen, I love my country, and long to see her the recognized leader among the nations. That is possible only as she touches them in the most helpful and uplifting way. Mere display of strength is not sufficient. We may stand in wholesome awe of the prizefighter, but we do not love him. So it is that foreign missions are more significant than battleships. The gospel is better than the 'big stick' for the influence and glory of the republic.

The terms of service of the following members of the Board expire with this meeting of the General Assembly:

Class of 1914-17:

Rev. George Alexander, D.D.	Mr. John T. Underwood
Rev. John F. Patterson, D.D.	Mr. James M. Speers
Dr. D. W. McWilliams	Mr. Henry W. Hodge

The Rev. John Fox, D.D., by reason of continued illness, and under instructions from his physician, has resigned his membership in the Board, and the Board has regretfully accepted his resignation.

It is uncertain what the results will be of the unhappy developments of our relations to Germany. At the time that this report has been written, America has not been forced into war with Turkey. Even if this should come, it may be that Turkey will disappoint those who expect the worst from her, and will protect both the missionaries and their properties. It may be hoped that in the main the direct missionary work of the American churches for non-Christian peoples will go on uninfluenced for evil by the widening of the war area, which we have hoped and prayed might be averted, but there are great missionary services for the nations which have already been or may be checked or destroyed, such as the relief work in Belgium and Poland and Serbia and Turkey and ministry to prisoners in many great camps. It is to be hoped that if in some fields our scope of helpful action is cut off, it may be enlarged in others. At home who can foresee what the future may hold? Will the spirit of sacrifice and of love be awakened? Will the fountains of giving for Missions dry up or be enlarged? Will men pray more or less? Will their sympathies broaden the more richly to all humanity, or narrow to the nation alone? As we weigh these questions, deeper prayers for justice and truth must arise from our hearts with the unceasing petition, "Good Lord give peace in our time. Give peace in our time, good Lord."

In behalf of the Board,

ROBERT E. SPEER, Secretary.

HISTORY—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) The work in Africa was begun in 1842 by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, at Baraka Station, about half a degree north of the Equator on the West Coast, and ten miles inland. In 1872 this Station was transferred to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, and added to the station already occupied by that Board on the Island of Corisco, where work had been opened in 1850, the combined work receiving the name of the Gaboon and Corisco Mission. These stations were in French territory. In 1862 a station was opened at Angom also in Congo Francais, ten miles further inland. It was abandoned because of its unhealthfulness; but afterwards re-opened in 1881.

Benito in Spanish Guinea 80 miles north of Baraka, was occupied in 1864. Batanga, in German Kamerun, some 90 miles further north, was occupied in 1885 as an out-station of Benito, but in 1889 became the central station of the Mission. The name of the Mission was changed in 1900 from the Gaboon and Corisco Mission to the West Africa Mission. The work in the French territory was gradually transferred to the Societe de Missions Evangeliques of Paris, the first station transferred in 1892 and the last in 1812. The Mission now has stations in addition to Benito and Bantanga, at Efulen, Elat, Lolodorf and Fulasi.

NOTE—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

“When we think of the war cloud which has passed over and left so little trace of its passing, and note the rapid development of the work with a smaller force than we have had for five years, there is above and over all the one feeling of gratitude to God for His wonderful mercies toward His people in their endeavor to serve Him. We are grateful for the arrival of the new working force, also for the safe home voyage of those who had passed through such trials as were placed upon them by the anxieties and privations of the War. We are grateful for the preservation of this great work, and most of all for the stirring of the Spirit among the people,—for the numbers coming into the Kingdom, and for the many who, while they have fallen, are coming back for restoration. Our people are eager for help in their Christian lives and many calls come to us, not only from our present occupied field, but also from the regions beyond, to “tell us of the Words of God,” and we feel that it is a day of wonderful opportunity, carrying with it also great responsibilities.”

BENITO STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Seven churches with native pastors, all self-supporting. Evangelistic itineration, Theological class. Station schools for boys and girls. Three village schools, self-supporting. Hospital and Dispensary. Medical itineration. Medical work self-supporting, except missionary's salary.

EVANGELISTIC—The stated Church services have been regularly held at the station, viz. Sunday School, preaching services on Sunday with an average attendance of 51, prayer meetings each Wednesday afternoon with an average attendance of 30, and since July, women's meetings each Thursday afternoon. By the aid of the Theological candidates regular Sunday services have been held at eight other centers within eight miles of Benito Station.

The figures do not include the six out-station Churches in Benito district, which, including Benito Church, represent a membership of 1,230 and an aggregate average attendance of 1024 per week. One of the encouraging features of the Church work is the presence of representatives of so many different tribes at the services. At one of our mid-week prayer meetings recently five different dialects were heard from those taking part, and it passed without notice.

EDUCATIONAL—For special reasons, the Boys' and Girls' Boarding School has not been carried on at Benito during the period covered by this report. The Theological class of six candidates from the coast stations has been under instruction at Benito during recent months, and besides their regular work, they have had two evenings a week of special instruction.

MEDICAL—The Doctor has not been able to devote as much time to the medical work as he wished or as the need has required, because of the stress of other work—a large item of which has been the receiving and forwarding of cargo for Cameroun. But the medical work has been large and there has been quite a large number of white patients among the Government officials, Roman Catholic Missionaries and local traders.

GENERAL—Much time and labor has had to be given to forwarding cargo from here belonging to our associates in the Cameroun district. This cargo, nine surf boatloads, was landed here when Cameroun was closed to our Mission. The effort to get it up to where it belonged involved an immense amount of work and the surmounting of obstacles too numerous to mention. Fortunately it is now all at its destination.

BATANGA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Caravan Work. Sending of supplies to the interior. Three Churches, 15 Chapels. Evangelistic itineration. Two station schools, one for boys and one for girls, boarding departments in each. 13 village schools, nearly self-supporting. Hospital and dispensary, self-supporting except the missionary's salary.

EVANGELISTIC—The evangelistic work has engaged the interest of the entire station. For several successive weeks each member of the station was able to take charge of Sunday services at the various points in our vicinity.

The entire field has been virtually covered almost monthly by means of itinerating trips by various members of the station. Weekly meetings for women have been regularly held in four of the centers nearest the station.

The income of all the Churches of Batanga district for the year is but a little over $100.00, owing to the devastation of war, and in this emergency the Mission is assuming the temporary burden of supporting the 19 native ministers and Bible readers at a cost of some 270 Francs ($54) per month.

The attendance at Sunday School and Sunday services at the three church centres and the points under them has shown a good average.

The total working membership of aBatanga district is 655. The class membership is small but rather promising. For the entire district it is upwards of 200 in number.

EDUCATIONAL—Village schools in the vernacular were begun in September in 14 different centers, including a school of the same rank at the station.

At the suggestion of the Educational Committee, and approved by the Executive Committee, a French school was opened at Batanga in October. It numbers 19 boys, gathered from all stations in Cameroun, and is doing commendable work in preparing teachers for the future.

MEDICAL—With the passing of the Germans a large number of native carriers accompanied them. Those returned via Campo, and about 30,000 crossed the river, most of them passing through our station grounds en route to their homes.

No estimate was made of the hundreds of those who died along the road, chiefly of starvation, but very many from dysentery. The needs of these thousands as well as the needs of many of the Batanga people who returned to their homes ill, furnished exceptionally large opportunities for medical work. Nearly all of the medicines, however, had been commandeered or otherwise removed, but a small supply of necessities was gathered together from various sources.

GENERAL—The material phases of the station are difficult to adequately state.

Only those on the ground from the moment of reoccupation know fully what it meant to rescue Batanga from nearly two years of devastation by war and from the rank tropical growths of Africa. The wonted order of the station grounds has not yet been fully restored, and depleted buildings and roofs still call for the restoring help of hands and material.

Many gardens have been entirely destroyed, and most of the others seriously damaged either by belligerent forces during the campaign or by elephants, wild hogs and other animals. The little remaining in the gardens did not last a great while, but so long as the people had any resources at all they were quite willing to pay for food. The situation became so serious that it could no longer be ignored. Plans were made in September to put the relief work on a systematic basis.

It has been impossible to secure an adequate supply of rice, and efforts to secure native food-products from the interior have been only partially successful. Nearly $600 have been expended to date in the Relief Work, and possibly twice as much may be needed.

In spite of all the difficulties we have been very thankful for the privilege of again taking up the work here. Many of our people are really grateful for all that we tried to do for them. All need help in this trying time. The work must be reestablished in every department, and the amount and character of the effort that it is possible for us to put forth during the coming year will largely affect the whole future of the Cause in this district.

EFULEN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Three churches, self-supporting; 20 Unorganized groups, 2 Evangelists, supported by churches, 38 paid Bible readers. Evangelistic itineration, entirely self-supporting. Boys' and Girls' Schools with boarding and day pupils; 22 Village Schools. Memorial Hospital, gift of Mrs. A. F. Schaffler. Dispensary, Medical work, self-supporting except for missionary's salary.

EVANGELISTIC—Considerable itineration has been done by various members of Efulen station with good results.

This period has been rich in blessings to the Church. At no time have we seen greater interest in the things of God. The attendance at the various preaching points has steadily increased. The increase in the attendance of men has been quite marked. About 9,000 people are regularly ministered to at a monthly cost for native workers of $87.00.

Batanga Refugees Returning Home—Only Two Small Canoes Could be Found to Ferry Them Across the Lobi River.—When the war broke out in 1914, Batanga station of the West Africa Mission of the Presbyterian Church, was hard hit, lying as it does on the Coast within reach of the bombarding fleet. The work was broken up, the people scattered, some being sent to the Concentration camps near Fulasi, about 250 miles from the Coast, some to Spanish Guinea or to refugee camps on the Campo, and the greater number being deported to Victoria on the various plantations.

The number baptized and received into the Church has been 157, and 330 have been promoted to the Advanced Catechumen class. A great many have confessed Christ, and others who had fallen have returned, while the number falling away has been less than usual. There are now 16 young men preparing for the ministry.

EDUCATIONAL—We have 22 schools with an average enrollment of 58 pupils as against eight schools with an average enrollment of 26. Some of the schools among the Bulu are quite large and none of them very small, but those among the Ntum are still small as they have not recovered from their war-time vacation.

The boys show a much better spirit and seem to want school even though it is in the vernacular and supplies are wanting. The Primers and new hymn books melted away like ice cream on a hot summer day, and we had no substitute to offer when they were gone. Should the much longed for edition of Gospels arrive we should be mobbed.

Efulen sent 26 teachers to the Teachers' vacation school held at Elat during July, four of whom are now at Batanga in the French school, while the others are employed in teaching. Never before have we had so many adult men who want to learn to read the Bible, nor so many women and girls in school as at present.

MEDICAL—The Medical work has been under an unusual and severe handicap due to the entire absence of some and the extreme shortness of other necessary medicines. Even the staple drugs have not always been on hand.

This circumstance may be put down at the door of the conflict which has caused so much suffering and anguish over the whole world. With the few medicines left, however, we have done what we could. Fortunately there was a fair supply of chloroform, so that the surgical work has been enabled to go forward to a limited extent.

The new instruments arrived about July 1st, and were immediately initiated in our Master's service in Africa. We were indeed exceedingly grateful for this valuable donation.

But it was not until October 17th that the main part of the new Operating Room equipment began to arrive at Efulen. Some of it is still EN ROUTE, as it has been for the year past. Did anything ever look SO good to the Medical workers of this Station as to have not only surgical materials, but to actually have a REAL STERILIZER, TABLE, and the RIGHT KIND OF INSTRUMENTS for the particular work in hand.

The Medical Department has one purpose, one aim, viz: the healing of the body that it may the better serve its Maker. We ever hold before our patients this idea, and NONE can say that they have never had the opportunity of accepting Christ as their personal Saviour. We believe that when we honor Him He will honor us in His work—and this He has done. The success is HIS, and is not the result of careful technique alone. He is the pre-eminent, the predominant factor in this work.

Of the NON-Christian patients entering the Hospital, 84 per cent have accepted Christ as their Savior before leaving for their respective towns. Of the Christian patients it may be said that they have found a closer walk with their Master, while in the Hospital.

ELAT STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One Church, self-supporting, 122 Unorganized groups, 122 Bible readers, 26 Candidates for the Ministry. Itineration. Two station Schools, boys and girls. Boarding department nearly self-supporting. Large industrial work. "Frank D. James Industrial School," self-supporting. Carpentering, chair-making, shoe cobbling, tailoring, printing, saw mill. Hospital and Dispensary. Medical work, self-supporting except missionary's salary.

EVANGELISTIC—While the European nations have been pitting black man against black and the white men upon whom the people have heretofore looked as representing law and order and peace had turned to killing each other, the church has stood as a lighthouse pointing out the way to better things. The Bible readers have been able to remain at their posts, with the exception of a few weeks as the Germans withdrew on the arrival of the French and English forces.

Because of unsettled conditions, the July-August Communion season was the only one where there was a round of communion services covering the entire field of the Elat Church. It was possible to do this by having five of the nearer outposts come to Elat, and by combining other points farther away. In this way only seven different communion services were held instead of the usual 15 when all communion centers are visited. At these seven services 534 persons were received by confession into the church, and 562 were promoted to the advanced class.

The Session, having voted to ask Presbytery to organize churches at seven of the outposts where it has been customary to hold communion services, it was thought best to postpone the communions at the outposts until after the November meeting of Presbytery. During the calendar year 1205 persons have been received into the church. There have also been added to the advanced class 1158, which means that the number of persons preparing for membership for the coming year will be about as large as last. The present membership is 4674.

The offerings during the last six months have been about equal to that of the previous six months. This shows a very commendable spirit on the part of the Christians, since money has been becoming steadily scarcer, and the price of cloth and salt has been very high.

We did not believe the people would be able to continue to support the church work much longer because of the scarcity of money, but the offerings have been above the average of 2240 Marks. Only 19,000 of the 23,000 Marks contributed during the year has been expended. Twelve thousand Marks have been used directly in the support of the Bible readers and 7,000 Marks in building chapels throughout the district. These offerings are made up of "widows' mites," and a large number of those placing their small offerings in the market are literally offering their last copper.

The church has now 122 Bible readers in the field. These have been under the supervision of six theological students, who have done good work in earing for as many districts. Besides these six men, the church has furnished a student for work in the Metet field and three for Fulasi. In addition to these 10 men there have been 16 students in the class at Metet; so that the church has now 26 men looking forward to the gospel ministry.

There have come repeated calls to us from the people south of the Campo for Bible readers. In short, they are literally saying, "Come over and help us." It has not been that we have not had the Bible readers to spare, or men who were willing to go; it has not been that the church has been unable to support work there; but the missionary force has been so low that it has not been possible for a man to visit that field, and it did not seem wise to send native workers into the unsettled field without being able to superintend their work.

EDUCATIONAL—In accordance with the action taken at the last Annual Mission Meeting, a Teachers' Institute was conducted at Elat during the month of July. 220 teachers were enrolled, coming from all of the Cameroun stations. Practical instruction was given in the vernacular.

A Bulu school was opened at Elat station September fifth which is still in session. It is conducted on the lines of the village schools. It has an enrollment of 180 pupils under two teachers. Besides this there are 42 village schools which opened also September 5th. Their enrollment averages about 100 pupils each.

In the early part of November the Government organized a school for the study of French at this station, and since then our schools are gradually thinning out as the boys leave us to take up the study of another language. This is a very emphatic comment upon our need of French-speaking missionaries.

The Girls' School opened on the same date with the boys' school, with an enrollment of 92 day pupils and 125 in the boarding school or a total of 217. An encouraging feature of the girls' work is the increasing number of little girls who are coming into the schools. This is due in part to the enforcement of the law forbidding child marriages. In connection with the girls' school, there are five schools for women in nearby towns where advanced girls are sent as teachers in the afternoons, 123 women being enrolled, some of whom have made very rapid progress. Our aim in these schools is to enable the women to read the Bible. These schools have become popular not only with the women, but also with the headmen in whose towns they are located, and have proved a connecting link between the villages and the girls' school.

The school for wives of the apprentices in the Industrial school has been in session since the opening of the Industrial School. 36 of these women are being taught to read and write.

The Frank James Industrial School. The damage done to the Industrial Plant and its materials during its occupancy for military purposes is estimated at over $1000.00, and this does not reckon the difference between invoice price on materials appropriated and the price for which these materials might have been sold.

The Tailor class, out of materials purchased for $1,000, has made 15 coats, 150 pairs of pants, 200 shirts, 55 dresses, 9 hats and 30 miscellaneous garments, in all 459 garments, at a cost to the class of 635 Francs, wages; bringing in over 6,000 Francs, leaving a small profit for the class. This work was done by 22 apprentices and three instructors.

The Chair class started with three instructors and 14 apprentices. Thirty chairs, two sofas, nine tables and a number of baskets, stools and such repair work as has come to the class to do has been the work of the three months. This was at a cost to the class of 690 Francs, and the products are worth 650 Francs.

The Carpenter Class started with 24 apprentices and nine instructors. No building has been done. The class has been kept busy with repairs about the station and making things for the native trade. The patronage of Europeans has been light. The sales have not quite paid expenses, but there is on hand enough work done to make a small profit on the three months' work.

The Saw Mill was operated for a few weeks and turned out a lot of much needed lumber, which will help in the contemplated building. One log of very fine mahogany wood was sawed, which turned out about 500 twenty-one inch boards besides a lot of lumber of smaller dimensions.

A new class has been started in the making of hats and helmets. About 400 hats of different kinds have been made in the two months the class has been running. This class is meeting a pressing need at this time and is popular with the natives.

A class in Blacksmithing and repairing has been started with one instructor and two apprentices. The class so far is proving a success in every way, and is appreciated by the natives who have little or no way of fixing broken European articles.

The Press has been running for six months, printing the "Mefoe," or News, a ten-page paper, containing Mission News, a sermon and the S. S. Lessons for the month.

The entire Industrial School has 17 instructors and 70 apprentices. The popularity of the industrial work has never been so great among the natives as now. Hundreds of young men are desiring to enter the school.

MEDICAL—With the help of a native assistant the dispensary has been kept open and many have been helped in this way. The missionaries have taken care of the more serious cases coming to us, as much as possible. The cash receipts from the sale of medicines was 551.65 Marks.

FULASI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One church—58 Unorganized groups. Itineration. Station School for boys and girls—day and boarding. 44 Village Schools entirely self-supporting.

EVANGELISTIC—The Church work at Fulasi shows a large but steady advance throughout the year. The Church membership now numbers 1579, and the aggregate average attendance on Sunday services for all points directed from Fulasi is 25,000. During the last two Communion seasons, 320 persons have been baptized. The voluntary co-operation of the Christians in the building of chapels is most commendable. The church offerings have been increased and there is a large balance to the credit of the Church.

EDUCATIONAL—At the beginning of the year, 21 short-term village schools were again opened, though it was thought that a change of Governments was imminent.

Most of the teachers were very faithful at this period, and many of the schools continued until after the French occupation or until the close of the term. In March, 31 schools were again opened. In 23 of these which were visited 2233 boys were enrolled.

At present there are 4300 pupils in the 44 schools with 76 teachers. Practically all of the schools have been visited this term and the teachers reported as doing good work. The schools have been more than self-supporting.

A tract of ground at the station has been cleared and palm trees set out. Large gardens of plantations, peanuts and bikabe have also been planted.

MAC LEAN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Three churches, self-supporting, 26 Unorganized groups, Station School—boys and girls. 25 Village Schools. Hospital and Dispensary—self-supporting except for missionary's salary. At OLAMA Out-station—no organized church but several preaching points.

EVANGELISTIC.—In spite of the low hanging war-clouds, MacLean Station (Lolodorf) has closed one of the best years in its history in point of increase in attendance, accessions and offerings. Not a single item of last year's report but what has been surpassed this year and that in a time when the contrary might have been expected.

For the three churches, Lolodorf, Lam and Mengale, there has been a gain in average attendance of 1047, which means that over a thousand more people come every Sunday to hear the Word of God.

There seems to be a sudden increase in the spirit of giving, regular contributors voluntarily increasing and doubling their pledges, and this without undue pressure. This is shown by comparing the total offering this year with the total for last year. Total offerings this year, 6712.35 Marks. Total offerings last year, 3808.20 Marks. Increase, 2904.15 Marks.

The average attendance at the station S. S. and Sunday morning service has been 848—the highest number on one Communion Sabbath being over 2200.

The average attendance at the Sunday service for all the points in our district is 8000. The total number of catechumens is 6444.

EDUCATIONAL.—The educational work includes an eight-weeks' school for Bible Readers, closing June 15th. This was attended by 240 young men. Coincident with this from April 1st—July 1st was a session of Girls' Boarding School, 47 girls were enrolled and during part of the time several Bible Readers' wives took advantage of the instruction given.

In July prospective teachers were sent to Elat to attend the Teachers' Institute. Dr. Lehman also went as medical instructor for two weeks' session. In September about 25 of these teachers were chosen and sent out to as many points where it was deemed wise to reopen village schools. Eight of these are being superintended from Olama; and MacLean has also supplied six Mabeya schools with teachers, these schools being cared for by Batanga Station.

MEDICAL.—The medical work has been continuous, but on account of the scarcity of much needed medicines, a good many have been turned away. A number of important operations have been performed, cases of serious illness cared for in the hospital and several of these hospital patients have openly confessed Christ.

GENERAL.—Under the head of miscellaneous work we may include a considerable amount of caravan work, transporting personal belongings of those missionaries coming and going, and during the past two or three months, a weekly forwarding of food for the Relief work at Batanga. The general upkeep of the station has been done by a small force of yardmen, and since September 1st by 130 Mvele lads who work for their food. The station gardens of plantains, cassava and macabo have supplied nearly all the food necessary for school boys and workmen.

METET STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One church, self-supporting; 51 meeting places, Station School, 39 Village Schools, self-supporting; Hospital and Dispensary, self-supporting except missionary's salary. At the out-station of YEBEKOLE Evangelistic work and Schools at different points nearby.

EVANGELISTIC.—During the absence of our force of Bible readers at school, their places were supplied very acceptably by Christian school boys, all of whom were either members of the Church or the upper class, and in several cases the zeal and interest was so pronounced that they have been kept at work for a longer term. Upon the return of the Bible readers most of them were assigned to their old posts, and with the school boys whom we retained, our force has increased to 50, and we could increase it much more to good advantage, as there is a vast unoccupied territory to the East and Northeast from whence has come repeated requests for Bible readers. While the number of confessors has not grown so rapidly, yet it must be remembered that many of these men have gone into localities where the people know nothing of the Gospel and they are merely sowing the seed.

The Church has during this time added 20 members to her roll of communicants, making a total of 81, and advanced 150 to the Catechumen class, totaling 325, and her offerings have grown somewhat, so that it has been possible, thus far, to pay the entire force of Bible readers from the collection receipts. The average attendance of the Church service has been 520, while at the 51 evangelistic points there has been an average attendance of 7500 each Sunday.

EDUCATIONAL.—The school attendance has gradually increased until we have now 290 enrolled. We have, at present, 39 village schools with a total enrollment of 2100 but with the Roman Catholic opposition our enrollment has fallen off very materially in several schools.

It is a sight to gladden the heart to see the crowd of 185 girls, who have been gathered in from regions far and near, and these girls have expressed a willingness and eagerness to learn that is most refreshing and causes one to exert his utmost in helping them to free themselves from the dense ignorance that has held their mothers in bondage for so long. They have been a very material aid in keeping the station in order, and their work in the gardens is invaluable.

MEDICAL.—Since the physician left, we have not taken very many patients into the hospital as there has been no one to attend them but we have cared for those out-patients who come for treatment, and have sold medicines to those who were really in need of it.

GENERAL.—The gardens have received a great deal of attention this school term, likewise the palm oil industry as it has been proved that with the products of these, schools can be made self-supporting. We have been able to sell great quantities of corn and peanuts, as well as palm-oil and soap made from palm oil. About 300 more cocoa trees have been set out and 100 rubber trees as well as several hundred of plantains, bananas and pineapples. The oil palms have been replanted where some have died. We have at present very large peanut, corn and cassava gardens which are attended by the school pupils.

MISSIONS IN CHINA

Members of W. C. T. U., Paotingfu, who have attended lectures in the street chapel. Ladies of official families.

THE BEGINNING OF MISSIONS IN CHINA

The first entrance of Christianity into China was through the Nestorian missionaries, whose headquarters were at Bagdad, and who carried Christianity across the whole of Asia. This work began in the seventh century and continued for at least five centuries, but finally the Nestorian Church in China became extinct. Roman Catholic missionaries entered China in 1291 A. D. during the period of the Mongol Emperors. Traces of this work were entirely destroyed. About 200 years later Frances Xavier died in a vain attempt to enter China. In 1582 Jesuit missionaries entered the country, at first in disguise. The work continued to grow until 1915, when there numbered one and one-half million Roman Catholic Christians in China.

The first Protestant missionary was Robert Morrison, who entered the Portuguese settlement at Macao, near Canton, in 1807. He baptized the first convert in 1814. He completed the translation of the New Testament in 1818, and later with Mr. Milne, completed the translation of the whole Bible. The real beginning of missionary opportunity in China was after the opening of five treaty ports as a result of the Opium War of Great Britain against China in 1842. The second war of England against China in 1860 resulted in still further opening of the country to foreigners. Other events of special significance were the war with Japan in 1894; the widespread reform movement following that war; the aggression of various European nations, followed by the Boxer outbreak in 1900. That was speedily followed by a new era of greater opportunity and the stronger popular movement for reform, resulting in the establishment of a Republic in 1911.

Presbyterian Missions for the Chinese date from 1837, when the Rev. R. W. Orr and the Rev. A. J. Mitchell began work for the Chinese in Signapore. In 1843, Dr. J. C. Hepburn (later the pioneer of Presbyterian work in Japan) and the Rev. Walter M. Lowrie began work in Amoy, China. Other missionaries were sent and Macao, Amoy and Ningpo were occupied as stations. At Ningpo, there is still a Presbyterian missionary station. From this beginning has developed the work which now includes seven missions, 31 stations and over 30,000 communicant Christians. In 1910 the China Council, a representative body of all the missions of the Presbyterian Church, was formed in order to co-ordinate and unify the work.

HISTORY.—The oldest mission of our Board in China is the Central China Mission. The city of Ningpo was one of the treaty ports opened in 1842. Two years later, as soon as it was possible for missionaries to enter China, the Board opened a station at Ningpo, where a church was organized in 1845. Among the founders of this station were some of China's most distinguished missionaries. In 1850 missionaries transferred from the Ningpo Station began their labors in Shanghai. In 1859 the first convert was baptized and a native church was organized in 1860. Hangchow was first occupied as a station by the Rev. and Mrs. John L. Nevius, but as the treaty did not then allow residence in the interior, they were not able to remain permanently.

Work was begun at Soochow by Mr. Charles Schmidt, a German, who had been in the employ of the Chinese government during the Taiping Rebellion. He was converted, mainly through hearing Rev. D. D. Green, of our mission in Ningpo. He went to Soochow in 1868, with an unofficial connection with our mission. Yü Yao was occupied in 1909, being an out-station of Ningpo. It first appears as a separate station in the annual report of 1911.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

NINGPO STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Academy; Girls Boarding School; Short-Term Girls' School; 18 Day Schools; 10 Churches; McCartee Hospital.

EVANGELISTIC.—Ningpo City Church joined as usual with the other churches in Ningpo during the Chinese New Year season in a series of special meetings lasting four days. The morning meetings were for workers, and the afternoon ones for Christians generally. The principal speaker was Dr. P. F. Price of Nanking. The church is still hampered by the burden of internal disagreement and jealousy that has rested on it for years and Pastor Zia is fighting a hard fight; but we think that he is getting nearer to victory. During the year one of the elders resigned, removing one cause of disagreement; and two elders were elected. The church paid off a substantial sum on its debt for the property which adjoins the Fu-zin and will probably clear that debt completely in the coming year.

The work at Dziang-ding, which is connected with the Kao-gyiao church, is under a cloud. The helper there felt compelled to leave; a year or two since the work there seemed to be in a most prosperous state, and the dedication of a new building, together with interest in the work on the part of some of the gentry and of a number of inquirers, caused much hope for the future. The Yü-yao church, deprived of its late pastor, Mr. Bao, is planning to call Mr. Bao's oldest son to succeed him. The most encouraging work in any of our centers at present is at Fu-saen near Bah-so-lu, with the located preacher and no rented chapel. The membership is already about 40, and the regular inquirers nearly 100.

Preaching.—The usual summer night-service campaigns were held in 20 places. The aggregate amounted to daily preaching for 75 weeks. Five Hangchow College students were taken on as temporary assistants in this campaign work.

ITINERATION.—

Mr. and Mrs. Knickerbocker were on the field in good health for so short a time that it was not possible for them to take up their fall itineration program. They had special charge of Dzing-bu-deo and Kao-gyiao, and in consequence those out-stations had to be somewhat neglected this year. Dr. Shoemaker has visited all the other out-stations from one to four times during the year, and in four of them besides Yü-yao he regularly administers communion to the congregation.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.—

There are two schools in Ningpo city and the attendance during the past year has been the best for many years. There is a good corps of teachers in attendance and the superintendent is the pastor's assistant, Mr. Ts'a Siu-daó, a recent graduate of Nanking Seminary. The city Synod's for non-Christian children has an attendance varying from 60 to 330, according to the season. Christmas and children's day are specially observed by appropriate services. There are two primary Sunday schools in Yü-yao and both have been well-attended during the year.

HELPERS' CONFERENCE.—

The spring conference of all the pastors and preachers was made especially interesting by the visit of Mr. Lobenstine, chairman of the Synod's Evangelistic Committee, and all present were much roused and benefited by his presentation of plans for systematic evangelistic work.

EDUCATIONAL.—Day Schools.—Six schools are completely self-supporting, either from fees or from local contributions, and may be counted in our list only because the teachers are Christian and because the school trustees or founders have asked that we have oversight of the school and conduct its examinations. They have also adopted as the first character of their school name the one which means "reverence" and which is the distinguishing mark of all the schools in our system, including the Academy and the Girls' School. The remainder are nearly half self-supporting on the average. Foreign oversight of these schools has been less than in other years, owing to the depletion of our forces, but the Chinese superintendent, Mr. Dzao, has gone the rounds regularly and has examined carefully and reported faithfully, as far as can be judged, the condition of each school.

BOYS' ACADEMY.—

The chief problem of the year has been to get and keep good teachers. Mr. Pao, the vice-principal, after serving most acceptably for four years, accepted a call to the East Gate at Shanghai. As his successor, we secured Mr. D. T. Wong, who was a classmate of Mr. Pao in college, and who has been teaching in Hanghow. His work for the past six months has been satisfactory, and we trust that the school has not been injured by this change. Among the student body, athletics has taken a larger place than formerly, partly owing to the fact that as the school is raised in grade there are more older students. But we have not enough ground to permit of proper exercise for a hundred odd boys. During the past year the religious life of the school has been healthy and normal. For various reasons, chiefly connected with the age of the boys, the number of volunteers for the ministry has been seriously reduced, but there has been formed a Personal Workers' Band, which is composed of all the church members in the school, 22 in number.

GIRLS' SCHOOL.—

The first of November the foreign ladies moved off the school premises into the adjoining compound. Shortly after, Miss McQuown came to make her home with us for six months and was a great help. At Christmas time, we for the first time had dolls for distribution. A class of 11 girls was graduated in June. The total enrollment for the year was 144; average attendance for the fall term, 107 (77 boarders, 30 day pupils), for the spring term, 131 (95 boarders, 36 day pupils), while the number of girls who united with the church during the year was seven.

The Highest Class in the Presbyterian Girls' School, Ningpo, China—Spring, 1916. Eleven of these girls graduated in June, 1916. Ten of the eleven were in responsible positions as teachers—one in our own school and nine in other schools—in September. Of the three non-graduates, one began teaching in a Christian Primary School in Ninghal in February, 1916, and two went to more advanced schools for further study.

INTERMEDIATE GIRLS' SCHOOL.—

A ten weeks' term of this school was held in the autumn, with an enrollment of 39, varying in age from 11 to 22; 28 were from Christian homes, the parents of three are inquirers, and eight were from non-Christian homes. 16 could read, having attended the school before, and 17 learned to read, the remainder being called home before they had time to even finish the primer. Mrs. Ing, at one time a pupil in this school, afterwards studying in the Ningpo Girls' School, was matron; Miss We, a graduate in last year's class of the Ningpo Girls' School, assisted.

MEN'S CLASS.—

The total enrollment was 64, the average time spent in the class being about three weeks. Among the students, many were young men. One very earnest young man of the number succumbed to tuberculosis a few months ago, and the fearless, contented way he faced death so impressed his parents that they have become regular attendants at church.

SCHOOL FOR WOMEN.—Ningpo School was in session two months and three weeks.

Ningpo School was in session two months and three weeks. There was an enrollment of 25 women, three children and four babies. The average age of the class was much younger than in former years. Of these women, seven were widows, and much prayer was made that some of them might be led to give themselves to the Lord and to His active service. Before the close of the term, three asked to go on with further study, with a desire to go into Christian work, and we are hoping that after training they may become our helpers.

Yü-yao School had an eight weeks' term, 45 women and one girl were enrolled, varying in age from fifteen to sixty-eight, the youngest learning to read in less than two weeks, the oldest already able to read. 11 children were allowed to come in order that the mothers might have the benefit of the school. The women are encouraged to come for whatever time they can take from home duties. The average amount of time which each woman spent in the school was four weeks. All but two were Christians or inquirers, several of the latter having been received into church membership since the school closed.

MEDICAL.—McCartee Hospital, Yu-yao.

Doctor Lu has been able to endure the strain of the work with its infinite amount of details, but he is greatly in need of competent assistants. We hope to find the right men for the places soon. Two young men are studying with him at present, and another class of four or five will probably be received next year. Daily evangelistic work has been done in the wards by an earnest young man employed for that purpose; and Elder Li preaches to the crowds that gather in the chapel waiting their turn on clinic days. Nearly one-third of the patients are women. On several occasions one or more of the private wards have been occupied by women, while many have had to be refused for lack of suitable accommodation. It is with great satisfaction therefore we report that Miss Rolleston while on furlough secured funds for a "Women's Ward" and we hope to proceed with the erection of the building at an early date.

ORPHANAGE.—The plan for making Compassion Orphanage completely interdenominational is developing satisfactorily. All the Ningpo churches now have representatives on the Board of Control, which is composed entirely of Chinese with the exception of Dr. Shoemaker, who is foreign secretary, and Mr. Wright who serves as treasurer.

SHANGHAI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Shanghai Press; Lowrie High School for Boys; Presbyterian School for Girls; Newberry Bible School for Women; Nevius Memorial Institute; three Kindergartens; eight Day Schools; four Churches; and six Groups.

The death of the Rev. J. M. W. Farnham on February 16, 1917, called from earthly service the oldest soldier of the Cross of the Presbyterian battalion in China. Having arrived in Shanghai in 1860, Dr. Farnham was known and loved by more than one generation of missionaries. He had much to do with the underbuilding of the present superstructure of missionary work in China. During his first year on the field, Dr. Farnham opened the first boy's school in the Central China Mission which later became Lowrie High School. He had a large share in the founding and development of the Mission Press of which he was at one time the Superintendent and was deeply interested in the providing of a suitable Christian literature in the Chinese language. His eager, loyal, positive and attractive qualities were channels of Christian blessing to thousands of lives in China between the days of the Taiping Rebellion and the establishment of the Chinese Republic.

The death of Mrs. Gilbert McIntosh occurred on March 10, 1917, in Scotland, whither at the order of physicians in China she had been invalided on furlough. Her deep and true love for the people of China won a hearty and ready response from them. The members of the Mission and the many Chinese and other friends who knew her are deeply bereaved by her loss.

Dr. Robert E. Speer and his companions from New York gave us the inspiration of their touch-and-go tour with his ringing message of revolt against the over-weening disproportion of a mechanically tyrannical institutionalism in our work. "Suppose instead of institutions and schedules and artificial programs, our missions were simply 'Brotherhoods of the Flaming Heart,' where men of living faith expressed themselves spontaneously in deeds of Christlike love!" Words like these coming from the very citadel of organized Presbyterianism may well cause us to turn away from any careful enumeration of buildings and land and all such shreds and patches of 'Saul's armor' as the station has been gathering together through long years of scrimping and begging, and to seek out if possible some other way to give a hint of the spiritual relationships wherein the whole process finds its real significance.

The report continues with supposed interviews of the missionaries by an imaginary newspaper reporter.

Naturally the interviewer was told to hunt up Dr. Farnham, first of all; for, while his work has been of a national character for many years, he has been in touch with all phases of local work as well, since the early days of missionary activity here. After speaking warmly of the great privilege that it is to be living in this new day of a China awakening to its needs and its opportunities after ages of seeming somnolence, Dr. Farnham's mind was evidently so full of the subject that was to be discussed at the meeting that afternoon, that he was soon talking eloquently of matters woefully beyond the depth of his interviewer. "As recently as 1913, the prospects," he said, "looked dark indeed. The most important question before the missionaries in China seemed about to be settled in a way that is utterly wrong. There was a determined effort to force a corrupt and heathen terminology upon Christian literature. There seemed but one of two courses. Either to abandon the work or in God's name to resist the imposition. We sent out circulars to every mission station in China. We organized the 'Chinese Bible and Book Society.' We published a four page monthly newspaper, later enlarged to eight pages. It has a monthly circulation of 48,000 copies. Besides a large correspondence we have published 60,000 copies of ten prize essays, 30 pages each."

PEKING ROAD.

A ten minute ride and a climb up two long flights of stairs brought the reporter to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Fitch. He found himself walking into the hall almost simultaneously with a very ordinary looking Chinese woman. The reporter, whose manners were formed on Western models, was about to ignore her entirely and start right in on his interview. But when a quite little lady said in her gentle way, "You will pardon me if I ask you to wait until I have spoken to this Chinese friend; you know they have the first claim upon us missionaries," the interviewer sat down with something very serious and good to think about. After a few minutes Dr. Fitch appeared. He had just returned from arranging for the passage of a young Korean bride to her lover in America.

"There are some 200 Koreans in Shanghai," said Dr. Fitch. "About half of them were church members in Korea. Many are students who hope to go to America to pursue their studies. I have preached for them in English in the Chinese Y. M. C. A. of a Sunday afternoon.

By this time Mrs. Fitch came in again with smiling face. The friend with whom she had just been talking had come in to tell her the good news that in answer to their persistent, united prayers the last member of her family to oppose Christianity had been converted, although it had involved the difficult task of determining to put away a favorite concubine. As Mrs. Fitch would soon be due at a prayer-meeting where once a week a little group of earnest women meet to pray for a revival of spiritual power in the churches of Shanghai, she had time to tell of only one of the many interesting women with whom she is in frequent conference.

GREAT EAST GATE.

Here we ran upon institutionalism in big, black letters: NANTAO CHRISTIAN INSTITUTE. Inside the combination office and reading room we found the Chinese secretary, Mr. Pao, a man with a hearty laugh and enthusiastic manner, who explained to us in pretty good English how this institution is trying to be a 'House of Friendship' for all the neighborhood.

SOUTH GATE.

Miss Cogdal didn't want to be interviewed. She has developed the bad habit of being more interested in the working of her school than in the advertising of it. "Anyway, I've got to go to a wedding. Another of my girls hasn't had sense enough to stay single." And off she went, really happy as could be over the romantic event which she had helped to engineer.

Mr. Montgomery was discovered in overalls. He was at work leveling the campus. A group of boys, little and big, were also dutifully digging. When their inspirer and task master led us off to see his big, new desk—made at the Orphanage—the boys forthwith stopped working. You see, self-help of the Park College-Montgomery brand has just got started here, and it has a few thousand years of inertia to overcome.

"When I came here," said Mr. Montgomery, "some of the boys were sponging off the mission for their education. And a whole lot without brains for it, were getting a classical education when they should have been learning how to work with their hands." Dr. Kuo and Mr. Silsby have worked out a scheme that has the enthusiastic backing of many of the over 1,000 former students of the school. The alumni have promised Mex. $10,000 toward endowment. Christian business men have united cordially with the mission to build up in Lowrie Institute a technical, commercial, and normal school unique in all China.

The interviewer took a look at the busy Women's Bible School. After seeing classes of young women studying hygiene, and old women studying Gospel primers and others learning simple hand work, the reporter was duly impressed. "This educational work of yours is splendid Miss Silver."

"This work is evangelistic, pure and simple," was the quick reply. "The life in the school is a training in Christian living. Ladies from official families learn here a spirit of friendliness and mutual sympathy with other women, and the poor and ignorant of the neighborhood. Several have applied for baptism, others already Christian are rejoicing in victories over old habits of living. Miss Silver remarked concerning the Women's Social Service League of the Nantao Institute, which she is engineering, and the country Women's Conference that was such a success this year.

Mr. Parch told of the light and dark in country evangelization. Of those who would start on the better way and then give up on account of a bit of persecution, or get involved in one of the wicked law-suits that enmesh with a tangled web of hatred and lies the lives that look so idyllic to the passer-by. Or on the other hand of men who, like one converted opium-smoker, struck out against his craving though he thought he was going to die, and that in the face of a heathen doctor and a wife who urged him to return to the practice that had brought his family to penury.

Mrs. Espey told in a self-deprecatory way of the work of the South Church Women's Society of which she is president this year; how they study up church work, and missions, and home-making, and sew for the poor.

There are other Presbyterian missionaries in Shanghai whom it will pay you to become acquainted with. The reports of the China Constitution Committee will give you a hint of the manifold activities of Mr. and Mrs. Lobenstine. Dr. Lowrie's work is reported in the minutes of the China Council of which he is chairman.

Hangchow Bible Conference for Christian Workers, 1916.—Twenty Chinese evangelists, 40 local leaders and three missionaries. The four banners display Bible verses. A procession of over 200 Christians divided into groups, marched two miles, each with a Scripture banner.

Dr. Mary Fulton in literary work for the Medical Missionary Association, has also found time to start a new Union Cantonese Church, that has already bought land and has large subscriptions in hand toward a building. The Presbyterian Mission Press reports will put you in touch with the great work being done in consecrated spirit by Mr. McIntosh, to whom our hearts go out as he is compelled for a time to return to his native Scotland, and by Mr. and Mrs. Douglass whose early return from furlough is eagerly awaited. If it were not for Mr. and Mrs. Myers (the former, Fiscal Agent for the New York Board), the financial end of the work we have been hearing about would come to a sudden end.

HANGCHOW STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Hang-Chow Christian College—a Union Institution ; —Girls' Boarding School—a Union Institution ; nine Day Schools ; seven Churches ; 22 Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—The work in the Lower Road Country Field has been under Mr. Bible's supervision. Special series of night meetings have been held twice in the year at each of the out-stations. A training class held at Zeh Men during the Chinese New Year was probably the best class ever held in the Lower Road. Mr. March's lectures on Hygiene were pronounced by the Chinese to be better adapted to country conditions than any they had previously heard. A monthly meeting of all workers in this field for Bible study and conference has been a source of help to all.

The day schools in the Lower Road are prospering under Miss Rickett's monthly visits of examination and instruction. All of the teachers attended the Summer Institute in Hangchow, and there is hope that much stimulus to better work has been felt.

The Upper River country field is 100 miles away, and requires so much time and money to visit the out-stations, that funds have allowed Mr. Arthur and Mr. Van Evera to make only two trips a year. On the spring trip Mr. Arthur held session meetings and communion services in the I-u field. At Veh Dang a piece of property for the chapel was purchased in a most fortunate location on the main street. In Tong Yang City, building operations for a new church are proceeding under Mr. Zun's direction. On the trips to the Tong Yang district a great deal of careful work has been begun in a survey of this field. The work among women in the Upper River District has begun to be revived after several years when there was no one to plan for it. Last fall Miss Ricketts and Miss Lee made a month's trip, holding a ten days' class in Loh Zeh K'e. This was an interesting class, although far from ideal. Being the first ever held in Loh Zeh K'e, it was a good beginning to have 15 women and girls study for ten days.

Hangchow City Evangelistic Work.—This year the house at the Fong Loh Gyao has been turned over to women's work, and is now a busy center of activity. With women's meetings on Thursday for non-Christians, another for Christians with children's meetings, Sunday school, a kindergarten, and three Bible-women in residence, the place is always alive.

The Pu Z Yang institutional center has been opened a little more than a year. With the splendid corner location, it is never difficult to secure an evening audience. There have been series of general evangelistic services, followed by Bible classes among those interested, lectures, regular Sunday preaching, Sunday school, reading room open daily for men, and a night school for teaching English. The women's work in the Pu Z Yang chapel has not been encouraging, and never will be until there is a Bible-woman in residence. Attempts have been made to hold women's meetings, and to conduct a dispensary for women, but with little encouragement.

At the Kyu Kya Gyao, Mrs. Bible, Mrs. Arthur, and Mrs. Van Evera have held weekly meetings in their homes for women and children. The children are separated from the women, and after an hour of stories and songs and memory work, Mr. and Mrs. Van Evera have taught them the joy of games on the grass. A women's class has been conducted all the year in the chapel erected by Mrs. Pao. Since her death the class has continued, and is a beautiful memorial to her life of service to her community. At the college, Mrs. Mattox has held a study class among the women-servants, and wives of the men-servants, as well as giving time to calling in the nearby villages. Mrs. March's home duties have kept her very well occupied, but she has nevertheless found time to help the college boys with their music.

The Sunday Schools among the street children have been one of the advanced steps in work this year. With a start last September at the Pu Z Yang of 12 children, there are now four Sunday schools (three for girls and one for boys, with an average total attendance of 200 children each Sunday. The teachers for the girls (over 20 of them) are the students from the Union Girls' School. The boys are taught by college students and young men of the church. Miss Ricketts has held normal classes for both sets each Sunday.

EDUCATIONAL.—Hangchow Christian College.—With the new missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Scott, and Mr. Bristol and Mr. Kirkpatrick, who are here for one year, the college staff will be greatly strengthened.

At the spring meeting of the Board of Directors of the college, the resignation of Dr. Mattox was accepted, while he continues his membership on the faculty. At the same meeting of the Board, Dr. P. W. Kuo, a returned resident from America and now Dean of the Government Teachers' College in Nanking, was chosen, and a committee appointed to present a call to him to the presidency of the college. It was hoped that he would accept, but it seemed to him that he had a moral obligation which made him decline the call. Among the students, efforts are being made to give the boys practical work in service for their Master among the people.

Union Girls' School.—The commencement exercises of the Union Girls' School were held in Dr. Main's lecture hall. Nearly a thousand people attended, and saw five girls receive their high school diplomas. After the winter vacation, school opened in the new quarters in the Tartar City but with many difficulties due to unfinished buildings. In March, Miss Paxson of the Y. W. C. A. visited the school, conducting a series of evangelistic meetings which led to definite decisions for Christ and definite purposing to do active work in leading others to him.

One of the interesting classes this year has been a social service class. As an outgrowth, the girls themselves organized a Sunday school for the children in the immediate vicinity of the school. It is conducted entirely by a committee of the class. Twice a week these children are again admitted to the school compound for an hour of games under the leadership of the girls. The school had an enrollment of 163 last year, and the new dormitory is already too small. This fall there have been opened a normal department and a kindergarten training school.

Trade School.—The opening of the Vocational Department of the "True Model School" of the Bi-z church has been an interesting development in educational work in the city.

Mr. Judson found that a printer had already been secured and had been at work for some time. To find a carpenter and to prepare tools and other equipment was no easy task.

The board of directors had voted to receive only 20 boys in the Trade School the first year. There were 50 applicants, and from these, 12 were assigned to carpentry and eight to printing. After a visit to Mr. Winter's School of Industry in Shantung, a rugmaking department was opened, under a young teacher from Shantung. Later a man was secured to teach yarn-spinning.

SOOCHOW STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Vincent Miller Academy for Boys; seven Day Schools; one Kindergarten; one Church and six Groups; Tooker Memorial Hospital.

The death of Dr. Elizabeth Esther Anderson, while she was on furlough, occurred on November 1, 1916, in Philadelphia. Through her loving and efficient service in connection with the Tooker Memorial Hospital, she won many friends for her Master. Although suffering from encroaching disease, she resolutely clung to her work until other physicians insisted that she return to America. Her health failed rapidly until death released her for happy, unrestricted and endless service in the world beyond.

In November, Dr. Humphreys was married and left for her new field at Poying. During the same month Miss Smith left for Nanking, having been asked by the Board of Managers to become a member of the faculty and teaching staff of the Nanking Bible Teachers' Training School for Women. Miss Eddy came in December, thus making it possible for us to release Miss Smith for Nanking.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—Organized Churches.

The work in the main church has continued to go forward under the care of Pastor Chu. He continues to be in great demand as a preacher, both in his own church and in other churches of the city and the surrounding country. The Sunday school is well organized and is doing efficient work, with one of the Academy teachers acting as superintendent. The evangelistic note has not been wanting, but the notable thing about the year's work has been the enlarged emphasis placed on the training of the Christians. This was shown in normal training classes for the Sunday school teachers; meetings for training in singing and explaining Bible passages; also in Bible classes held for women every week, the normal class for the women being taught by the pastor, and the meetings superintended by Mrs. Crawford.

Church Chapels—Chon Chu-'ong.—Throughout the year there has been a Sunday morning preaching service, Mr. Crawford doing the preaching here when in the city. The audience is not a large one, probably numbering about 40 on the average, at each service, but it has been a regular and a growing one. One of the most encouraging features is the Sunday school, under the charge of Licentiate Chu and Mr. White. The school was organized this year into 15 classes, with an average attendance of nearly 100. Horse Road Chapel.—The work at this place has continued with unabated interest and success. Regular preaching services have been held three times a week; the audience is always large. The building is in a good location, where many people are passing at all times in the day. It is a safe estimate to say that it is a rare exception when there are not 450 or 500 people present every time the hall is opened. Every Sunday morning there is a Sunday school, Dr. Hayes being in charge; he is assisted by Mrs. White, Miss Lattimore and a corps of teachers, mostly from the Boys' Academy. A meeting for women and children has also been held once a week by one of the Bible women. South Garden.—The regular church services have been conducted by Dr. Hayes, Mr. Crawford preaching occasionally. At other times Mr. Crawford has held evangelistic meetings and given lantern lectures. There is a large attendance at the lantern lectures. Aside from this, the interest is not very good. In addition to the work at the chapel, Miss Francis, with the help of a Bible-woman or church member, has held three meetings every week in different homes, in opposite directions, not far from our compound. First, there is a meeting for children; when that is dismissed, the women are asked to remain and are taught the characters and meaning of a simple tract

COUNTY WORK.—

Each of the four central out-stations has been visited several times during the year by both Mr. Crawford and Miss Francis, also touching a large number of the outlying towns and villages. It is to be regretted that we could not give more time to the country field, but having the responsibility of city work, too, it is impossible to do justice to both.

EDUCATIONAL.—Day Schools. There are in all seven day schools, three in the country and four in the city.

The San-loh-wae school, near the boys' Academy, has two departments, one for boys and one for girls. The boys' department last year was taught by Mr. Chu. He had been a small official under the Manchus, but for some reason left the ranks and came to us, willing even to be door keeper if we would only give him something to do. The teachers soon saw that he was an educated man and worthy of a better position. We are glad to try him, for he has proved a great success. There are some of the highest classes in both departments, and we hope the boys' department will be a feeder for the Boarding School. In the school at Kwong Foh there have been 40 children and the others have averaged 20 each.

Kindergarten.—

The kindergarten was opened in September with 26 children in attendance, and the attendance has kept up well during the year, notwithstanding there were epidemics of measles, chicken-pox, and whooping-cough during that time. There was a splendid attendance at the mothers' meetings. First there was always a short talk on some phase of kindergarten work or on child training. Mrs. Crawford taught this term, as usual, in the Kindergarten Teachers' Training School, going to the Methodist Mission once a week for this work.

Vincent Miller Memorial Academy has just completed the second year of work in the new building. It has still been necessary to use the old buildings as kitchen and dining room but new and commodious quarters are now being built, largely from old material. The kitchen is now ready and the dining room will be completed very soon after the opening of the new term. Two good cisterns have been built and with the copious rains in this region we ought to have a supply of good pure water at all times. The dormitories have been screened and we hope to screen the kitchen and dining room also.

One thing that has helped to make athletics popular is the Soochow Middle School Association, in which there are ten schools, half of them from the missions. The Y. M. C. A. took up organized Bible study and ten classes were formed which included every boarder in the school. Seven of these were taught by the older students, who attended a normal class taught by Mr. White. Two students were graduated from the middle school and eight boys completed the grammar grade. There have been 67 in attendance during the past year. There are six Chinese teachers, all church members.

MEDICAL.—The hospital family has consisted of Dr. Anderson and her father and Miss Lattimore. Mrs. Chang is the druggist, Mrs. Ku, matron, and there are three nurses, and Mrs. Yang, the Bible-woman.

On Dr. Anderson's return from America, the wards were re-opened after having been closed for several months. At first the patients were few, but they increased in number, and in spite of illness and change of service, there has been a larger number of in-patients than any previous year. A greater number of women of good class have been coming to us for confinement. A new building has been put up this summer for kitchen, laundry, and servants' quarters. The front wall, gate, and gate-house have been torn down and rebuilt.

HISTORY.—Hainan is a large island off the southeast coast of China, about 250 miles from Hongkong. It is in about the same latitude as Cuba and has about the same climate. In size it equals twice the area of the State of New Jersey. The first Protestant missionary effort was undertaken by Mr. C. C. Jeremiassen, an independent missionary, who came to the island in 1881 and made his headquarters at Hoihow, the only port open to foreign trade. In the early part of the following year he made an entire circuit of the island, selling books and dispensing medicines, continuing the work alone until he joined the Canton Mission in 1885. During that year a representative of the Canton Mission visited Nodoa and there examined 22 applicants for baptism, nine of whom he baptized. In 1893 Hainan was formally organized into a mission. In 1885, Kiungchow, three miles inland, and the capital of the island, was occupied, large numbers of people being attracted by the medical work of the missionaries.

In Kachek the door for missionary effort was opened largely by the skillful surgery and medical treatment of the physician at that place.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

KIUNGCHOW STATION.

The work carried on by Kiungchow Station during the past year has been about the same as that of the previous year.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.—

The Evangelistic work consists chiefly of the preaching services in the Hospital and Street and Leper Chapels in Hoihow, the Street Chapel in Kiungchow, the visits of the native helpers and Bible women to villages and towns and the itinerating trips of the missionaries.

The Street Chapel has had almost daily preaching during the year, except for a month when it was closed for repairs; then the preaching hall was made nearly a third larger, and much improved in every way by our generous Christian landlord.

The Hoihow Church has had regular services through the year. The average attendance at the Sunday services has been about 250.

VISIT TO THE VUNSIO DISTRICT.

Reports had been given to the missionaries at Hoihow for several months of persecution at Lo-dou. As a result Mr. Gilman was sent by Kiungchow Station to investigate and to do what he could to make peace for the Christians, and was directed to visit also all the chapels of the Vunsio district and do what evangelistic work was possible on his trip.

On investigating the situation, it was found that the Christians were suffering from conditions that had begun before they had opened a chapel in the town, when a feud had arisen between the Hang clan and the Lim clan and the Christians were reported to have taken up the offensive for the Lim faction. A visit with several of the Hang leaders brought out the statements that they had no wish to oppose the work of our Mission, though they spoke severely of the characters of certain among the Christian leaders. The Christians were counselled to endure the persecution and try to lead the opposers to repent and be friends. This course seems to be justified, for the opposition has mostly stopped, and to our gratification, the leader of the opposition, the man who injured the chapel, has applied for baptism and has been examined twice. His baptism will be delayed till he proves his faith by his walk with his former enemies for a year according to Christian practices, according to our mission policy.

On the way to Lo-dou, Tin-si, Doa-lim, Hah-si and Fou-tai were visited and books and calendars were sold. These are all busy towns, but the chief of them is Fou-tai, where our mission should have a chapel. It is like Kachek, a centre from which boats go to markets in different directions in the interior of the region.

At Bo-lo there is a Christian chapel. It was bought by contributions of the local Chinese friends of our mission. It was a large unused pawnshop, which was bought cheap and remodelled for use as a chapel. Here the party spent several days visiting with the Christians and others while waiting for a new supply of books to be sent to them from Hoihow.

Altogether 14 towns were visited, in which tracts were distributed and the gospel preached.

LUI-CHOW PENINSULA

This is the place which for several years the mission has desired to open as a new station. It is across the Strait of Hainan and will be opened as soon as the Board can furnish the money.

Lui-chow is probably larger than Hoihow, though the wealth and business of the town is not so extensive. The business portion of the town is outside of the West and of the South gates, and a market meets daily alternately at either gate.

After securing comfortable quarters in a native inn, steps were taken to find the men who had asked Dr. McCandliss to begin mission work in their city. They were found, and in the same evening a long visit was had with them at the inn. They believed that we could buy property and promised to assist us in locating a station in the city showing us two places that they thought could be bought. The most suitable will cost us about $300.00 in gold.

While at Lui-cho two days were spent on the streets selling tracts and calendars. The people were very friendly and bought our literature as in former years, with readiness.

This is a great opportunity and should be taken advantage of for Christ at the earliest opportunity.

During the year 82 have been added to the roll of the Kiungchow Church on profession of their faith, which makes the present net total membership 427.

As formerly, during the first half of the year, a number of students from the Kiungchow Government Middle School attended our church services and hardly a Communion season passed when some of these did not apply for baptism.

Last winter plans were being laid to organize a student Y. M. C. A. in the Paxton Training School with a view to helping the Middle School students, who expressed their desire to unite with us in the organization; but the political situation has for the present made this work impossible.

WOMAN'S WORK.

The work among the women in and near Kiungchow City and more distant outstations has gone on steadily throughout the year, although not with the rapidity one most desires. The reason lies in the political situation which has wrought wonderful changes here.

The government schools are almost empty and there has been a constant fear overshadowing everyone, so that the people did not dare "open their mouths." One is received cordially in their homes, but the women do not have the courage to come to the chapel for fear of being laughed at, while some mothers are decidedly against the "doctrine" and punish their children if they come. Last year our class for street children numbered 50 and 60, now there are 15 to 20 regular attendants, but several times that many stand within and outside the doors but dare not venture to sit down and repeat the hymns and Bible verses. We have had mothers walk in and escort their willful sons home at the end of a stick.

Mrs. McCandliss writes:

The Sunday-school Class for boys has developed to quite large proportions, as there are over 100 each Sunday. They begin gathering at eight o'clock—and we have two sessions with them before they leave at noon. Girls are also beginning to come so we have started a girls' class.

The Women congregation of the Hoihow Church is steadily increasing in numbers, and much interest is being shown by the women of the Dag bai khi (East of the River) District—due to the earnest efforts of Hoag Himvo, a woman from that district. Many also have heard the Gospel in the Hospital and Dispensary.

Under No Voe Dae, the Christian work in the Leper village has been faithfully carried on. During the day he teaches and talks with the many people who stop to rest in the Leper Chapel, and in the evening instructs the lepers. They have learned all the hymns and many of the Psalms.

The Itinerating Missionary—Southern Beach of Hainan.—Two men in foreground are evangelists from Kachek—Carrier with hands up to hat—died soon after returning to Kachek—An earnest Christian.

Fishing Boat on the Southern Coast of Hainan—Boards sewn together. Missionary's horse was stolen when he was 100 miles from Kachek and the five days' journey was made on foot.

THE PAXTON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR CHRISTIAN WORKERS.

The total enrollment for the Fall term was 52, and for the Spring term following, 68. During the latter term six students have been enrolled in the Middle School department and eight in the Higher Primary; at least six of the Higher Primary students expect to graduate at the close of the coming term.

The health of the school boys has been above the average. During the first half of the year it was exceptionally good, there being but two or three cases of malaria.

Religious interest has been kept up in the school this past year with good results.

Seven boys have united with the church during the school year, making a total of 19 boys who are professing Christians. Two of the Chinese teachers are Christians, one of them being an elder of the Kiungchow Church.

On the day of the annual field meet the Chinese officials or their representatives came in a body and were received with the usual Chinese ceremony, as were the visiting schools. These, with the general public, who attended to the number of about 2,000, made an orderly and appreciative audience. Mr. Affleck, British Consul at Hoihow, and Mr. Ledebøer, of the Asiatic Petroleum Co., acted as track officials, and at the close of the meet the winners of events received their badges and lettered bands prepared by the school and presented by the representative of the Governor General of Hainan.

The Chinese officials, who had been present on the previous day at the field meet, again attended in a body and addresses were read by the more prominent ones at the close of the exercises, which consisted of orations by the graduates and addresses by Mr. Gilman and Dr. McCandliss, interspersed with songs by the school.

The Pitkin Girls' School reports another successful year of work. All of the old pupils, with the exception of five, returned the second term and 22 new ones have been added. Our enrollment has been 76. Seven from one Official's family speaks well for the school.

Three of the girls, whose pronunciation of English is best, are assisting in teaching English classes daily.

The girls still continue to hold their meetings Sunday evenings—the women uniting with them. They take turns in leading. The meetings are well worth attending, for their talks are most helpful. They show that they have a wonderful grasp of spiritual truth and Bible knowledge. A meeting for the little ones is held in the afternoon, two of the older girls having charge for a month at a time. Every moment is filled from early morning till bedtime.

MEDICAL.—

During the last 12 months Mission hospital work in Hainan has had an unusual number of difficulties. The report reads: "The crops have been poor, less money has been in circulation, and many who would like to have had hospital treatment have not been able to raise the money. Owing to rumors of fights between the regulars and revolutionists, and the generally disturbed state of the country, many have been afraid to leave home. All prices have been high, and especially hospital supplies. Many articles can not be had, and in three cases, the lists of requisites was returned by the dealer with about half the list deleted as not being obtainable. Moreover, shipping has been insufficient and freight much delayed. Shortage in the rice crop has compelled the people in this part of Hainan to depend on rice brought in ships from the coast of Annam. Fever cases, eye operations, gunshot wounds, and accident cases, have numbered more than usual. Hookworm is very prevalent in the agricultural classes, and many of the outpatients are treated for this affection. A great many cases of enlarged spleen from chronic malarial poisoning, require several months of iron and arsenic, interspersed with doses of quinine.

The religious work in and around the hospital has perhaps reached its maximum efficiency, and the patients have responded well to religious effort on their behalf.

Western medicines are much more used than formerly, there being now four shops in Hoihow dealing almost exclusively in them. The manager of one of these shops told me that his average sale of quinine per month is over $200.

NODOA STATION

EVANGELISTIC.—

Mr. Steiner, upon whom the bulk of the work has fallen, writes as follows:

A chapel has recently been opened in Nodoo Market. The market people speak the Mandarin dialect and we have been very fortunate in having two former graduates from the High School available to speak at the services, which are held every Sunday evening. In this way we are able to reach a class of people which otherwise it would be impossible to do.

Nodoo Church has been self-supporting for a number of years. At the end of the fiscal year, the church found itself in debt to the extent of nearly $100. We were glad to report, however that on the last "Big Sunday" of the year the entire debt was wiped away, when the matter was brought before the church by the deacons in such a way that brought a hearty response from the members.

Women's Work. The carrying of the Gospel to the heathen women of the Nodoo field is a story of native effort and zeal.

No foreign woman has been able to get away from outside work, so the four Bible women have gone over the field, going from town to town and into the villages when they were invited. Very often they were urged to go to another and yet another place, and they often came back from such trips filled with a desire for more of God's power to reach the people.

How to reach the market women has been a problem for years. Recently a chapel has been opened on the street and occasionally the meetings are held there instead of at the church. A woman who speaks their dialect, and who is otherwise well qualified to work among them, takes charge. The last time the service was held in the market there was an unusually large attendance to hear this woman evangelist. It was a long talk and at the same time interesting, and the attention of the hearers was held all the way through without any difficulty.

EDUCATIONAL.—

Boys' Boarding and Day School. Just before the last Mission Meeting four young men graduated from the High School at Nodoo. They had all of them been in our school almost continuously since they began studying.

One of the them, the son of the matron of our girls' school, was immediately engaged as a teacher in the school from which he graduated. Another, the brother of one of our High School teachers, has been teaching in a government school at Nam-fong. The third one has gone back to the family farm. The fourth graduate, the nephew of one of our High School teachers, a young man with Christian grandparents on both sides, took a little money that he laid by and left us to try in his own way to "make himself a man of great use in the world," as he said to us. He made his way to Peking, and finally brought up in a government military medical school in Paoting-fu.

Another class of four men, all nearly 30 years of age, are married and have children. All are professing Christians. Two of these young men have gone into the hospital to fit themselves under Dr. Salsbury as hospital and dispensary helpers. Another spends part time teaching in our school and part time giving instruction to two of our missionaries in the Mandarin dialect. The father of the fourth young man has means of his own and intends to send him away to study theology.

The Kittanning Girls' School. The Girls' Boarding School was opened September 19th after a vacation of nearly five months. Very good work has been done by most of the pupils and many have advanced in their desire for a broader training that they may become more useful women.

A prayer circle was organized at the beginning of this year and all the upper class girls are members. Its object is to promote Bible Study and private prayer amongst the members, only one meeting together being held each week. Many of the non-Christians and all the Christian girls keep the Morning Watch and spend the first half hour of daylight in studying the Bible and in prayer. The enrollment has been 49, with an average attendance of 47.

Mary Henry Hospital.—

During the first three months of the year the hospital was without a physician. Dr. Bryan having resigned and Dr. Salsbury not arriving until the last of August. During this time the hospital was closed to inpatients. The dispensary was kept open a short time each day under the direction of one of the foreigners.

A hospital kitchen has been established so that patients need no longer bring a friend to cook for them. Besides most of the patients get better food than they would be able to buy themselves, and it makes the task of keeping the wards clean a much easier one. We have preparations nearly completed for supplying patients with clothes. This we also expect to help a great deal in gradually bringing the hospital up to something like American standards of cleanliness.

A most urgent need and a most difficult one to supply is the nucleus for female nurses' school.

Gnou-keng, the blind man, has been very faithful in exhorting and teaching the men. It is seldom during the day that he may not be heard in one of the wards, telling them the story of Christ.

KACHEK STATION

For the first time in the 15 years' history of Kachek it has its full complement of foreign workers for the supervision of each department of work.

The report says:

The political situation has been reassuring. Five or six battles have been fought within our borders during the past two months between the regular soldiers and the revolutionary party. Many good citizens have been shot, under the pretext always that they were Revolutionists. There has been looting by both sides, and the poor people have been living in a state of terror. Up to the present we have felt perfectly safe as neither party wishes to invite the interference of any foreign power. The military official commanding this region has taken advantage of the hospital for his wounded soldiers and he has in an official capacity sent reassurances of his protection.

A new dormitory has been added to the boys' school, made a positive necessity by the increased number of pupils. A wall was erected separating the Daughters' School from the soldiers' barracks, a most fortunate piece of work in view of the present revolution, which necessitated a large number of soldiers being quartered so near.

Large quantities of bricks and tiles are being collected preparatory to building the much needed isolation and surgical wards, church and boys' school.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The evangelistic work of Kachek Station has for several years, and during the first third of the past year, been under the leadership of Mr. Tappan. The last two thirds of the year Mr. Byers has been in charge.

The faithful, wise and efficient work done in this field in the past make it, under the blessing of God, an especially promising one. Though 1915 has been a terrible year in the history of the world, yet in the history of Christ's coming kingdom in our field, we have had a year filled with quiet work and the peaceful fruits of righteousness. The years of seed-sowing, praying, planning and conversing are bearing fruit a hundred fold.

Mr. Tappan and the Chinese evangelists attended the six weeks' Training School in the summer of 1915 at Nodoo. When Mr. Byers arrived he was at once introduced to his people by assisting Mr. Tappan hold Communion September 26th. At this time 30 candidates for baptism were examined and 17 received on confession of faith. Over 200 people partook of the bread and wine in remembrance of Him Who died for our sins.

Messrs. Tappan and Byers started on December 7th on a very interesting itinerating trip. Mr. Tappan's destination was Bau-deng-ia in the Loi country of the Leng-tui district. He went by request to arrange for a Christian teacher from the McCormick Boys' School to teach in a large Loi school of 75 pupils. The principal, an educated Loi, named Ui, whose brother is chief of the Lois in that region, had invited him. A teacher has been supplied, regular daily Bible study introduced, a weekly prayer meeting begun, and Sabbath services are now held regularly. God has, in answer to prayer, opened a great door among these aborigines of Hainan.

On April 15th the semi-annual communion service was held in Kachek. For three days preceding the communicants and catechumens kept coming and every one was busy instructing and examining them. The members were examined in Bible Study by a prepared list of 100 questions on the Book of Matthew. Thirty-one persons appeared before the Session as candidates for baptism. Of these, 17 were received, and three children were also baptized. About 230 partook of communion.

MEDICAL.—

Kilbourn Hospital.—Rev. J. F. Kelly, M. D., in charge.

The calls reported do not include more than one treatment a day for each patient present though several treatments a day are often given, both surgical and medical. Evening calls and treatments are not included. Trips to the market and villages have not been recorded, nor has any account been kept of calls upon missionaries and their children.

The soldiers stationed at Kachek and Loh-hoe were just returning from their pursuit of the Loi raiders as far south as Leng-tui, when quite a few of the soldiers contracted a pernicious form of malaria. The inadequacy of our wards and facilities to accommodate all the sick people flowing in upon us soon became manifest. When the ninth moon harvest arrived the crowd of patients as quickly disappeared, and the remark was passed around that a lot of sick people had gone to the foreign doctor and he healed them all in a short time and sent them home again, stretching the truth in humorous fashion.

Accommodations are sorely needed for segregating many infectious cases and isolating others. The hospital, ever since it was built, has had to house the catechumens; workers and guests come to spend the night; pupils or candidates for entrance into the schools, etc., which has not allowed it definitely to perform the functions of a hospital. A plot of ground, therefore, has been purchased just across the road from the hospital entrance and materials secured for the erection of an isolation ward. Materials are also being purchased and plans prepared for the building of the new surgical ward.

HISTORY—The Province of Hunan is one of strategic importance to the commercial and political interests of the empire. Always hostile to foreigners, it is doubtful if, prior to 1880, a dozen foreigners had passed its frontiers. This province bore a prominent part in the Boxer Uprising in 1900, and while few foreigners lost their lives, the destruction of property was great. Our Hunan Mission dates from 1899, when the Board authorized the commencement of work in that province on a permanent basis. In 1900 the party who were to establish the mission reached Siangtan. Scarcely were they settled, when the Boxer Uprising made it necessary for them to flee to Japan. In 1901 it was deemed wise for a portion of the force to return. After the opening of Siangtan two or three Chinese evangelists were stationed in turn at Hengchow. Adjacent towns have been grouped in monthly circuits of seven or eight towns each under a Chinese evangelist, a missionary visiting one circuit each month. On the arrival of the missionaries at Chenchow they were surprised to find the people friendly, and many of the leading men of the city cordial. Most of the church members have been won by patient, painstaking work with, and prayer for individuals.

When the Cumberland Presbyterian Church united with the Presbyterian Church (North) in 1906, their mission in Hunan came under the care of our Board. Changteh was first occupied by the Cumberland Mission in 1898. Early in the following year missionaries took up permanent residence there, commencing evangelistic and medical work at once in temporary quarters. After the Boxer Uprising the work was resumed and in 1902 the first five converts were received into church membership. In 1913 work commenced at the capital of the province, Changsha. For a time it was worked from Siangtan, but in the fall of 1914 was permanently occupied. At this station the mission conducts educational work in union with other denominations.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

SIANG-TAN STATION

In a Station report no extended reference need be made to the unsettled political situation that prevailed the greater part of the year. There were times of deep uncertainty and possibly danger to our church members, and they naturally looked to us for advice and help.

It is a matter for devout gratitude to God that the time passed without any serious clash, and at the present time it looks hopeful that the provincial situation will not engender further anxiety and danger. One direct outcome of the disturbances has been to bring our Station into contact with the gentry and better element in the city, which has opened splendid opportunities among that important class.

EVANGELISTIC.—

Owing to the requirements of the city work, the out-stations have unfortunately suffered for lack of close supervision, but in general the evangelists have been faithful and good work has been accomplished. The work of the city has gone ahead, there having been over 40 additions to the church. The weekly prayermeeting has had a well-sustained interest. An attempt has been made to increase the offerings of the Chinese Christians. A committee has approached the individual members and secured pledges of a definite amount. The number of those who have pledged and paid is gratifying.

Miss Woods reports of the Women's Work:

Our class has been on my heart in a peculiar way for several years. The work seemed to grow at first; then it ceased growing. The same women came to the class, but no new ones came, and those who were coming did not seem to be under any great conviction. Last fall one new one did come, not a very promising one, if we should judge from outward appearance—dirty and ragged, begging rice. But wonder of wonders, she could read, and I soon learned of the straitened family circumstances. She has been faithful and regular at class, and does sewing to earn her daily rice instead of begging as formerly, thus keeping her self-respect. She has brought others, has interested others, and has applied for baptism. Four other women have bought and are studying their primers, regularly interested attendants at the class. It has given new light and energy to those who had been coming, has aroused them out of indifference, and there has been a renewed interest in their work and study.

EDUCATIONAL.—

Day Schools. The Station has six day schools, one at the Tenth Ward, one at Yao Wan and one at each of the four out-stations.

All are schools of long standing with the exception of the one at Siangsian, which was opened at the beginning of the new years. For some time the need has been felt for a school at this, our largest out-station, but it was not possible to open one there until the present year. The teacher employed has shown herself capable and 26 pupils have been in attendance. Two of our other schools had an average attendance of 30 and the other two of 25 each, so that on the whole our day schools have had a prosperous year.

The John D. Wells School. This school is superintended by Mr. and Mrs. Althaus, who have given their time unstintedly to school work and its problems. During the first half of the year, 85 students were enrolled, but the unsettled political situation had a slight effect upon attendance, so that the last half of the year the number dropped down to 74. The class work and conduct within the school were in general good, but discipline had to be administered in a few cases. The Students' Self-Governing Society exerted a strong influence for good and helped greatly in maintaining proper discipline. The total field receipts amounted to $2,887.55.

Through the generosity of Mr. Post, a large piece of land has been added to our athletic field, upon which a new gymnasium 40x60 feet is now being erected.

Sunnyside Girls' School. Miss Kolfrat's return to America necessitated the appointment of some one to take charge of the school and at the request of the Station, Mrs. Vandenburg kindly took the supervision.

Although it is difficult to take over such a work in mid-term, the school routine nevertheless went along uninterruptedly, and the change was unnoticed so far as the work and discipline were concerned. Fifty-three girls were in attendance throughout the year, and notwithstanding the disturbed condition in the province, went quietly on with their work. The spiritual life of the school has been excellent and six girls united with the church.

MEDICAL.—

The year which has been one of disturbance and uncertainty politically has shown us that such conditions may bring greater opportunities for good than times of peace, especially opportunities to the medical work.

In former years, while the medical work has been a great relief to many of the poor and sometimes to the middle classes in Siangtan, we have rarely had opportunity to make known the benefits which were for the wealthier and more prominent citizens. The revolution in 1911-17 opened the door a little for us.

This year the civil war in Hunan brought us a still larger opportunity for acquaintance and influence with the representative men of Siangtan. As in many of the cities of the Province, the foreigners were asked to assist the citizens in forming a Red Cross Society. Our hospital was made a Red Cross Hospital. Funds were subscribed by the Chinese, and we were asked to enroll and instruct an additional class of eight first-aid nurses, a new graduate nurse was engaged, and they supplied funds for medicine and dressings. Armies marched and counter-marched, we had many sick soldiers in the hospital, and a constant flow into the dispensary during the clinic hours.

Woman's Hospital.—The new building was opened in October with suitable ceremonies. Many women were in attendance. There was singing by the Girls' School. The Magistrate sent a representative to make an address. The police magistrate spoke appreciatively. The church people presented two beautiful signs, to which another has been added since from the police magistrate and other friends. One has been given recently to the Men's Hospital by a gentleman on whom a successful operation had been performed.

HENGCHOW STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Evangelists' Training School; Boys' Academy; Girls' Boarding School; Women's Hospital; 13 Day Schools and 42 Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The work in Hengchow City consists of two churches with average congregations of 40 and 175 respectively. There are two street chapels with preaching for the unevangelized, besides two chapels in connection with the hospital and a school chapel where a weekly Sunday service is held.

The congregations of both churches contribute by weekly pledges and pay by the envelope system. The Dao Hou Gai Church has paid a good sum on repairs during the year. The South Gate Church has continued to pay Mex. $5 per month on the evangelist's salary. Christians from both churches have done a good deal of volunteer street and chapel preaching. The crying need is a new building. With the street people who crowd in, too, there are almost every Sunday over 200 people and the aisles and entrance space are crowded with people standing.

The year's work began with the annual Fall Conference for Christians. Men and women came from the country and the city. Over 200 were enrolled and the conference of four days seemed to be an inspiration to all who attended. Immediately after the conference, Mr. Derr and Mr. McKee, together, made a complete tour of the country churches. They visited the 47 chapels and many other places where there were Christians but no charels. During the year 46 adults have been baptized.

The chapel loan fund has begun its work during the past year. The congregations in two country places have borrowed money to erect places of worship. One has raised as much as it borrowed. Both promise to pay the fund within five years. Or if later, they will pay interest after the first five years. All the churches were asked to contribute to a fund which is to be used for evangelists' salaries. During the year which closed with our last fall conference this fund amounted to $25 Mex.

Woman's Work. The woman's evangelistic work has centered around the Woman's Bible School. In Mrs. Gelwicks' absence the school was moved to the south gate compound and housed in the old girls' school building. At first it was in charge of Mrs. Berst with Mrs. Derr helping one afternoon a week in the weekly review of lessons. In the spring Mrs. Robertson took charge of the school.

The largest enrollment was 19, but most of the time there were 14 boarding pupils. Though there has always been a self-help phase of the school, during the last year this line has become quite a feature.

EDUCATIONAL.—Day Schools, and Boarding Schools.—Our Station's educational work consists of 13 day schools in the larger places throughout the prefecture and boys' and girls' boarding schools. The day schools are intended to be feeders for the boarding schools.

The plan is to have the first four classes in day schools and then those who are able to go on with their studies will enter the boarding schools. This plan is working fairly well with the boys. The girls' boarding school does not get many pupils from the day schools, principally because very few girls go to day schools. In most of our out-stations the day school teachers are paid one-half of their salary from Station funds, and it is expected that they will obtain the other half from their pupils. This works very well except where our schools have the competition of free schools, as in some of the county seats.

The School of Broad Virtue.—The boys' boarding school has completed a good year. Last fall the school moved into its commodious new dormitory, which also has a fine large assembly hall, and on the ground floor a good cemented gymnasium. For present needs the school is well accommodated.

Less than a dozen boys in the school are baptized Christians, but this year has seen real fruits of the Spirit among them. One non-Christian boy bore good witness of a Christian boy by saying he could not control his proud spirit and temper like the Christian boy could.

Most of the pupils are from the homes of our Christians and are poor so it is uphill work to get even all of their board from them. Of course girls from non-Christian homes are not giving financial aid. There is always a sprinkling of these girls from homes of outsiders. Three girls came to us this year from the government schools. Two of these and one other from a non-Christian home are aggressively interested in Christianity.

The majority of our girls are engaged when they come to us, and we have constantly to fight the custom of early marriage. We aim to defer marriage and keep the girls to the end of the course or until they are twenty. All who are aided financially must promise to remain unmarried until twenty and sign a paper to this effect. Another problem, which doubtless is met in every other girls' school, is that of the girl engaged to be married into a heathen home. We strive with added earnestness to win such homes to Christ.

MEDICAL.—

For the first time in its history our hospital has had two doctors, Dr. Berst having come last fall from furlough to work in conjunction with Dr. Robertson. The work has advanced tremendously.

The doctors are making every effort to put the hospital on a high standard. Our greatest drawback is the absence of a foreign trained nurse and more money to employ Chinese nurses and buy better instruments and sterilizers. The doctors have too much detailed work, both medical and non-medical, and too little time for the necessary medical reading and the proper laboratory work which is essential to correct diagnosis of cases. The China Medical Board are demanding this higher standard of all hospitals they help.

Figures show that for the first five months of the year women patients formed 14% of all in-patients. It is interesting to note that they have been quite willing to pay the same fees as the men. When the woman's annex was opened a young Chinese woman, a trained nurse, was employed, also a woman coolie to do the work.

Tuberculosis is rampant, especially among the young, and there is great need for a separate annex, where such cases can be cared for.

The operative work has been heavy and satisfactory. One case deserves noting: Dr. Robertson, before Dr. Berst arrived, performed Cesarian section, the first in the history of Hengchow, much to the astonishment of the Chinese and winning the lasting gratitude of the family. That women out here will submit to this operation, which is being used more and more in America as a preventive measure, is a tremendous gain.

The total receipts, $3,287 Mex., is far below the amount necessary to run a hospital of this size.

Statistics from May 31st to June 1st, 1916: Number of beds in hospital, men and women, 64; number of patients in hospital dispensary, 12,429; operations, 723.

Another Poignant Problem that presses for solution is that of nurturing to fruition the Christianity of our country Christians. With the untrained evangelists whom we are forced to put to shepherding the country Christians the problem is almost untouched.

These men know how to preach to the unevangelized and do it well and earnestly, but they do not know how to help the Christians to know the Master better through their Bibles. They cannot preach such sermons as the Christians need to lead them on in the Christian life. We feel this problem may be partially solved if we can get some of our young men trained thoroughly.

Another problem has come home to us most urgently during the recent political panic. It is the problem of the city.

The city now has a hospital, two boarding schools and two churches, but yet it remains practically untouched. The great majority of hospital patients are from the country. The pupils in the schools are at least one-half from the country. The churches minister to the city, it is true, but most who come are those from the schools, the hospital and those who live at the church door. The great student body in the government schools, both for men and women, is absolutely untouched, except as we may get one or another into our Mission schools, and Hengchow is claimed to be the second largest student centre in the province. No one ministers to the inmates of the wealthy "Gung Gwans" which line street after street within the city. Our roll includes very few merchants of the better shops, which make the main streets such an attraction to the shopper.

CHENCHOW STATION

EQUIPMENT.—New China Academy for Boys; Locke Academy for Girls; Hospital; Wilson Memorial Dispensary; three Churches; 11 Groups, and 10 Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—

We are glad to be able to report that in spite of the universal unrest throughout the country caused by the political upheaval this district has enjoyed peace and that work has gone forward without interruption. The number of catechumens examined and of those baptized and admitted to full membership in the church is in excess of any previous year in the history of the Station: 259 catechumens have been examined during the year, 85 adults have been baptized and 22 infants were presented by their parents for baptism.

CHURCH BUILDING.—

For some time the conclusion has been forced upon us that we would either have to enlarge our church building or divide our Sunday morning congregation. In the early Spring we decided to enlarge the old building and a committee on Ways and Means, with much fear and trembling, undertook to raise the required sum. The Chinese members and friends of the church contributed $840.81 (cents are counted here). The foreigners gave $205 and finally Dr. Tooker very generously came to our rescue with a contribution of $300, which enabled us to open the enlarged building free of debt.

Finance. The last few years have witnessed an increase in our expenditure and an endeavor to cover some of it by contributions from the Chinese.

Conferences. A conference for preachers and workers was held in October. The many problems confronting the church were brought up for review and discussion such as Polygamy and the relation of Polygamists to the church and the attitude of church members to ancestor worship.

Evangelistic Training School. This school was conducted in our Station this winter. There were 16 men in attendance divided into four classes.

Woman's Work. Mrs. Mitchell reports that the work for women has made steady progress during the year.

The attendance at the meetings held especially for women has improved and the number of catechumens has increased. The women are gradually gaining a deeper knowledge of the Word. Access has been gained to some of the homes among the more wealthy people.

EDUCATIONAL.—Day Schools.

Eleven day schools have been opened this year with a total enrollment of 165 pupils, 21 of whom are girls. In time we expect to have these schools self-supporting, but at present we have found it necessary to pay about half of the teachers' salary.

New China Academy. The gradual raising of the standard of curriculum and scholarship and of the amount of tuition paid has been continued with good results.

The fact that we make it our chief aim to give an education to our Christian boys and do not specially cater to a rich class, makes it still impossible for us to properly run the school on the funds we have, and there is need of more means for current expenses, as well as urgent need for better equipment. The competition of the government schools consists, not in higher standards, but in the greater ease with which a diploma can be obtained. A so-called normal school was opened in Chenchow during the year. Its course of study is a farce, but a great inducement was offered in the promise of a diploma to all and sundry in one year. Several of our boys left us and went to this school, confessedly for the sole purpose of obtaining the diploma, one of them even frankly asking if he might return to us next year and get some more learning to supplement the coveted sheepskin. The spiritual atmosphere of our school has been better the past year. We feel that the first work of a Mission school is to give to the children of the church members as far as possible a Christian education, the second to win to Christ the non-Christian students. Nine boys have during the year confessed Christ and entered the Church.

Chenchow Boarding School for Girls. Mrs. Chapin reports a successful year in girls' school work.

Four girls finished the course in June and two of them will probably go to the Changsha High School. One girl entered the church during the year and several are enrolled as enquirers. An effort has been made to raise the average of tuition paid. This has met with a favorable response in some cases, but as our girls are all from poor families, it will take time and patience and much exhortation to reach the ideal of self-support.

MEDICAL.—

The general health of the community at large has been good and there have been no serious epidemics in the city. For this reason probably the number of patients has decreased some but the disturbed condition of the country no doubt accounts for part of it.

While the total number of out-patients is not as large as formerly, those who have come have shown greater confidence in foreign medicines and methods of treatment, as is proved by the greatly increased sale of medicines in spite of the very considerable rise in price, and by the greater number of operations performed during the year. For a number of years we have been appealing for a trained nurse. This is a very real need. Some one who could train the Chinese nurses and helpers and undertake the management of that department would add immeasurably to the efficiency of the hospital.

Total number of patients, 15,221. Total number of operations, 240.

CHANGTEH STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Church; six Groups; John Miller Boys' School; Girls' Boarding School; two Day Schools; Hospital.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The outstanding feature of the evangelistic work during the year has been the large number of inquirers in regular study classes—18 men and 24 women. In addition to the agency of God's Spirit, the presence of so many women, when last year there were almost none, may be accounted for by the persistent effort on the part of Mrs. Chapman, suitable classrooms in the new church building, and the services of a good Bible-woman.

Special evangelistic services among the men were carried on by our helpers. The church was unusually well filled every night with both men and women, and 30 persons were enrolled as inquirers.

EDUCATIONAL.—

The Girls' Boarding School moved to its new building just outside of the city in September, 26 having been in attendance this year, the first graduate receiving her diploma with appropriate ceremonies.

All the girls in school attended a weekly inquirers' class since the Christians as well as the enquirers wished to go. A strong course in Bible study and training in Domestic Science is needed.

The High School Department of the John Miller School sent out its second graduate in June who is to work for the Station as a day school teacher for two years, after which we hope he can take further education. The first graduate is a sophomore at Yale College, Changsha, and a volunteer for the ministry. Mr. Wang Shan Chin, a field secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, visited the school for that purpose in December. Each Christian boy in the school has selected one non-Christian as his special charge, to talk with and pray for.

The attendance at the Boys' Day School has been 32; in the Girls' Day School, 28.

MEDICAL.—

The Hospitals were filled up in the Spring with wounded northern soldiers. Over 100 were received in April, 83 arriving suddenly on Easter eve. There were 146 in-patients on Easter Monday. 84 were put into the new hospital and 45 were sent to the old building, which is to be used henceforward as the Women's Hospital. The rest were accommodated in the basement of the church.

The additional expense was met by the Chinese Red Cross Society, a branch of which was organized by the business men of the city. This Society has paid $100 a month for the building, the salaries of all the Chinese helpers, including nurses, and a special fee for each soldier treated, in addition to paying for all extra beds and necessary supplies.

Statistics.—Men's hospital beds, 70. Women's hospital beds, 25. Total, patients, 11,316. Total operations, 1,079. Receipts, $6,130.48. Disbursements, $6,102.70.

TAO YUEN OUT-STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Academy and one Day School.

The Tao Yuen Church has elected three elders and three deacons and received into the church three on confession of faith and one by letter. The chapel building has been remodeled so as to contain the hospital and day school besides the chapel. The Day-school had an attendance of 34, of whom eight were girls. There are 17 boys in the orphanage. The industrial work consists of weaving gingham and Turkish towel and knitting socks. Three are learning carpentry and one tailoring. They have earned their clothes by opening a public bath, which was patronized by the northern soldiers.

CHANGSHA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Union Theological School; Hunan Girls' High and Normal School; Union Bible Training School; one Group and four Day Schools.

With the exception of Miss Morton, who was obliged to remain in Kuling most of the year, on account of ill health, the other members of the Station were blessed with health and strength, so that they were able to do double duty. Through the consummation of the union between our Missions and the United Evangelical Mission, Mrs. Lindenmeyer came to help in the High School, and most fortunately the weddings of three of the teaching staff, which took them out of the Station, did not occur until the end of the school year.

EVANGELISTIC.—

Mr. Lingle and Mr. Yang alternately conducted the Sunday services. Both being rather fully occupied with teaching in the Theological School and Girls' High School, the pastoral work rested largely upon Mr. Li, one of our Theological students, whose time was also limited.

On Tuesday and Saturday evenings there has been street chapel preaching, with a fairly large audience. Several of the teachers and Christians have very zealously helped in the street chapel services. The Wednesday evening prayer-meetings are largely attended. The inquirers' class has not been as strong a feature this year as should have been, but it was unavoidable.

The morning Sunday School at North Gate is increasing in numbers. The attendance record, which hangs on the wall, has registered 204. Quite a number of children from this Sunday School have become applicants for the boys' and girls' day schools.

Woman's Evangelistic Work. Three meetings a week for women have been held, and some visiting done, but not one half of what could have been had we had a sufficient force, foreign or Chinese, to carry it on. Mrs. Lingle taught the governor's wife until the political troubles caused the latter to leave the city in April.

A large tuberculosis hospital is being erected outside the North Gate, the land being given by the governor and the money $10,000 Mex., the gift of the Chinese. The Women's Social Service League will have a large share in the management, and the caring for the sick. The Police Commissioner, who was so liberal and so efficient in his work, giving our Social Service League many opportunities for improving the sanitation of the city, barely escaped with his life, at the time the governor fled a few weeks ago.

The Hunan Union Girls' High and Normal School really became a Union School when the United Evangelical and Presbyterian Missions at their annual meetings in 1915 accepted the constitution prepared by a committee previously appointed and the Evangelical Mission appointed a worker for the school.

In spite of the troublesome condition of the times and the many rumors that had been afloat, likely to frighten the students, there was no disturbance or interruption of the regular school work, this in marked contrast to many of the city schools, where there was not more than one-fourth of the regular attendance. The spiritual life of the school gave great anxiety to those in charge. A spirit of unbelief crept in among some of the Christian girls, but at the close of the year the leader publicly confessed her faults, and 13 others moved by her example, acknowledged in prayer, their shortcomings.

Bible Woman's Training Class and Woman's School.—

The name is given as above, because there are two distinct departments in the school, one for the training of Bible women and one for the teaching of young women, married or unmarried, who had not the opportunity to study in childhood, and who therefore cannot enter our other schools. The reputation of this school seems to have spread abroad, for women from two provinces, three Missions and quite a number of cities attended the school the last year.

Day Schools. The North Gate Day School had an enrollment of 66 during both terms of the year. Under the efficient management of Mr. Li, the teacher who has been with us for five years, first in Siangtan and then in Changsha, the school has steadily grown in efficiency and as an evangelistic agency.

Four of the pupils united with the church during the year. Double that number were refused temporarily, on account of youth, or lack of cordial acquiescence of the parents, who did not object to their sons being identified as Christians, but felt that it would be wiser to wait a little longer. The reports from the parents are very encouraging. They say that their children are more diligent than formerly, and that they show great zeal in preaching the gospel to them.

In April, through the generosity of Mrs. Van Wagnen, we were able to open the Girls' Primary Day School at the North Gate. We secured a young woman teacher from the Scotch Presbyterian Mission in Ichang, hived the small swarm of little girls who were in the boys' school, and started work in a small, unattractive room, off the chapel, with an attendance of 14.

City Day School. The City Day School which opened in September has had a very successful year.

There were 36 pupils, 10 of whom were girls. The mothers of the children have attended the women's meetings held there each week by Miss Murray, and there are three inquirers among them. This school is a strong evangelizing agency and will bear fruit according to the time and strength which we put on it.

Union Theological School.—The capacity of the Wesleyan compound, where the School is at present housed, was severely taxed by the 20 students. Only three of the 20 belonged to the Presbyterians. Some plan should be formed by which this Mission can more largely receive benefit from this school, more nearly commensurate with the time and money which is put into it.

Young Men's Christian Association. The Y. M. C. A. was able through its moving and still pictures to establish a closer contact with the government schools of the city.

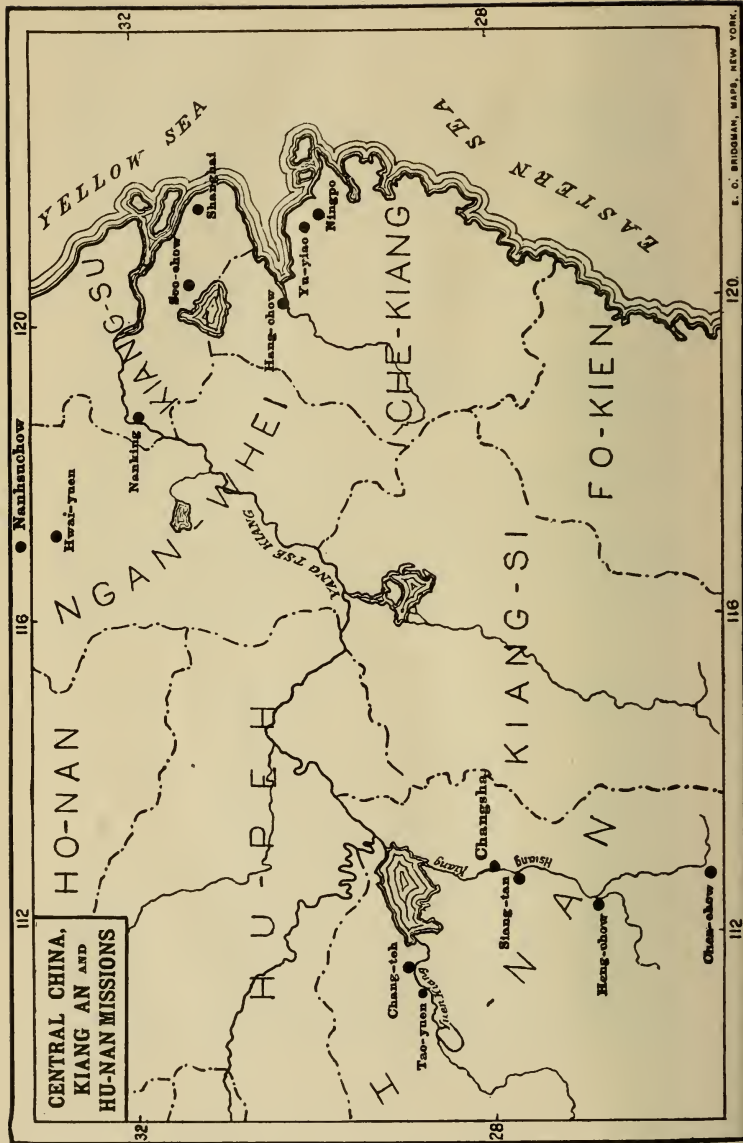

Practically every Middle School of the city, of which there are more than 20, was entertained in the Y. M. C. A. building. To these entertainments the schools generally marched in bodies. One meeting was held for principals and teachers only and was attended by over 300. The contact thus made with the schools has created a friendship with them which is most pleasant and profitable.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) When in 1906 the stations at Nanking and Hwai-Yuen were set off into a separate mission, it was decided to invent a name. The name is made up from the names of two provinces in which the mission works—Kiangsu and Anhwei.

Nanking, which is one of the great centers of Chinese life and history, was occupied in 1876 by the Rev. Albert Whiting and Rev. Charles Leaman, after a hard struggle with the Mandarins. In 1892, the missionaries were compelled to leave on account of riots, but during the Japanese War no troubles were experienced. In the revolution of 1911 Nanking was the capital of the Provisional Government, and it and the region about were the scenes of severe fighting. It is the junction of the Nanking and Shanghai and the Nanking and Tientsin railways. The whole region is extremely fertile and populous. Hwai-Yuen missionaries took a leading part in the relief work caused by the famine and flood in 1912. Nanhsuchow is the third station of the mission.

NANKING STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Shwan Tang Institutional Building; Ming Deh School (Girls' High School); Woman's Bible Training School (Union Institution); Nanking University (Union Institution with various departments); Ginling College (Union Institution for Women); School for Foreign Children (Union Institution); Nanking School of Theology; Training School for Nurses, 11 Day Schools; 14 Churches and Chapels.

"And have we come into the Kingdom for such a time as this?" The doors of opportunity are ajar, and are gradually being opened wide by the hand of love and prayer, for the entrance of the divine Christ.

EVANGELISTIC—We have received 125 new members of which 84 are men and 41 women. Of these, 105 are from the city, and 20 from the country.

In our work there are six city centers and nine country centers. Let us get a glimpse first of the city work, beginning at Han Si Men. The actual size of this little church building has not increased since the last writing, but potentially it is expanding. A big new church is planned. Share holding certificates, amounting to two or three cents gold each, are being issued; so that no one may miss the joy and blessing there is in giving. The women in the Bible Training School gave up even their extra food for a Christmas dinner in order to donate the funds to the new church; while the girls of the Ming Deh school have been knitting with a vim to earn church shares.

When we come to Swan Tang, we find the new building completed. One of the interesting events of the year was the dedication of this new building. We have a seating capacity for 500. Though admitted by tickets, more came than could get seats. Very unexpectedly to us, the Chief of Police sent his band to grace the occasion with their music. For three days thereafter special services were held twice a day and were well attended. Among the meetings have been the Christmas service, the Christian Educational Association, the Christian Endeavor Rally, and the Communion service. That Communion Service was one long to be remembered. Such a gathering. Five hundred Chinese Christians and inquirers; men and women who were old and feeble, whose lives were well nigh spent; middle aged men and women with their children; and young girls and boys, their faces bright and eager. From this number there was a little band of 20 that gathered around the altar to confess for the first time their faith in saving grace. Four were students in the Government Law School, four others were men who had themselves been in official life, or whose families had been officials through several generations.

Mrs. Abbey has been doing special work among the Swan Tang women. The Evangelist lives with his mother in the neat little house, only a few steps from the chapel. The mother was one of the first women of Nanking to accept Christianity. She first heard the message in the little Chinese house hard by the city wall, where Mrs. Abbey for a year held the fort as the only foreign woman in Nanking, undaunted by the fact that due notice was served that the house in which the foreigner lived would be burned.

Yien Liao Fang.—The roots of the church at Yien Liao Fang are sinking down and taking hold in the soil there. At our last Communion service the tenth woman was taken into the membership of the church and what makes us specially happy is that eight of these ten can read the Bible, and that five of the ten are strong Christian workers. More and more now the old Nanking families are coming. A glimpse at Fu Dung is sufficient. "Latent Possibilities" is written above the door.

The work is closed up preparatory to tearing down the old buildings and erecting the new. At Ban Bien Ying the work is mostly for women. Regular Sabbath and mid-week services are held for women and children. Special services were conducted at the New Year season, and two girls' schools were started at that time.

Hu Buh Gai.—Mr. Dju has shown a good deal of ability and faithfulness in conducting the work during Mr. Gray's absence. The native women have been very faithful in their attendance at regular and special services.

Country Stations.—This year the itinerating work has been done by Mr. Drummond for the men, and Miss Lee and Miss Tsai for the women, assisted by various other Chinese workers. While scarcely a year ago Miss Tsai stood alone in her home, today the whole household is turning to the Lord. The gilded Buddah, for whose care many dollars have been expended, and into whose unhearing ears many a petition has been poured, is now discarded. From a home where she has seen her prayers answered, a home that ranks as one of the most cultured of China, this little lady of grace and tact goes out with a message to her less fortunate sisters. Is it any wonder that they listen?

Hu Shuh.—Hu Shuh is also a most interesting station. Just to pass through and see the bright faces of the boys and girls that swarm about the boat landing, is enough to fill one's heart with great longing. We must make special mention of Tung Dzing, which is one of the most promising of the country stations, and where the work has been making steady progress. The event of the year there was the new church. The Christians had on hand 280 dollars. They set to work and raised in cash $140 more; every baptized member, old and young, contributed. The mission gave $700 toward the building and the furnishings of the church, which has a seating capacity of 300. In Si Di a new chapel has been opened up. Mrs. Lu has been working in this place for some weeks past, and is filled with enthusiasm over the possibilities of the work.

But with all that encourages and inspires, there are indeed many problems. Even money for repairs must be carefully reckoned lest the funds be exhausted. There are new centers that need to be opened, for example, Tu Kaio, a busy market town several miles distant from Hu Shu. Some of the workers are incompetent, and there is still much superstition prevalent.

Hospital Evangelistic Work.—In the Gu Lou Hospital is a combination of physical and spiritual healing. Special evangelistic work has been done in the Hospital. The almost limitless possibilities of the work grow on one, as the patients come from all over the city, and from long distances in the country.

EDUCATIONAL.—The work of the day schools, both in the city and country, is now under special supervision, Mrs. Jones having been appointed to the office of Superintendent of day schools.

Ming Deh Girls' School.—A total budget amounting to $4236.29. Enrollment 135, 45 of the number being in the kindergarten department and first primary grades; one Y. W. C. A. and one Junior C. E.; five have joined the church; ten more are applicants for baptism. Enrollment includes girls from Shanghai, Ningpo, Soochow, Suchien and two from Korea. The spirit of the school cannot be summed up in a brief bulletin of figures, but in stories of how a Korean girl prayed alone, and then found a second and third and fourth to join her, of the cold winter mornings when the circle, grown to 20 or more, met at 5:30 a. m.; of how the younger girls called for a prayer circle of their own in the evenings; of the little non band that was started for day pupils; of how girls have found that unruly tempers can be managed better when they pray; and of how some of them are catching visions of the best things that life holds. Many of the girls and teachers go out to the chapels and hospitals to do evangelistic work, and their work has proved very helpful. A new feature is the individual gardening, which has been made possible by the purchase and walling in of a splendid new strip of land.

UNION WORK—*The School of Theology—It is an encouraging report that we hear from the faculty for the past year, as they tell of the Training School, Seminary, and Post-Graduate Departments, and the Correspondence School. With the entire faculty of eight at work save for Prof. Chen Gin Yung, whose place was taken during part of the year by a new Chinese teacher, with 110 students enrolled in eight classes, with six graduates of promise going out from the Seminary and eleven from the Training School, the institution feels that it is now thoroughly on its feet and is making steady, though quiet progress, both within its own walls and also out among its constituents in the various scattered missions.

The spirit among the students has been more satisfactory than that of the previous year, marked by a new quality of diligence and earnestness in their work, and of ready response to fuller and harder courses. They are observing the Morning Watch, conducting evening prayers for themselves, and storing up rich memories of the peculiarly devotional Sunday evening meetings addressed by faculty members or by visitors. The students are divided into eleven groups which go to various parts of the city to conduct religious services or to make visits.

The Woman's School has felt keenly the loss of its creating and moving spirit, Miss Dresser. But in spite of misgivings, it has pursued its year's course not as unsuccessfully as was feared by its new head, Miss Hyde.

The total enrollment for varying periods of time has amounted to 47, of whom 36 have taken regular graded work. The average age has been less than in previous years. Four of the students have been baptized during the year, and five are inquirers; 30 were already Christians.

The Bible Teachers' Training School for Women—This year has seen our mission represented for the first time on the faculty of the B. T. T. S. for Women. Many young women who are students in the Christian Schools of China are realizing the present unprecedented opportunity for service.

Ginling College has during this year passed from the period of preparation to the period of realization, realization of some of the joys as well as the difficulties of infancy.

It is for these earnest, educated young women between 20 and 40 years of age that the Bible Teachers' Training School has been opened. Its purpose is to find young women who are volunteers for Christian service and train them for leadership in Christian work. Courses of Study.—In the past the school has been conducted in one department only, but beginning from September, 1916, two courses of advanced work, a lower and a higher, will be offered. Two years are necessary for the completion of their course. Class work in the two departments will be conducted separately. The Bible is the main text-book in both courses, the teaching being adapted to the standard of scholarship in each department. Seven missions are at present participating in the union, namely, the Friends', the Christian, the American Baptist, the Northern and Southern Methodist and the Northern and Southern Presbyterian Boards. As yet only three of these boards have supplied resident faculty members; these three ladies are, Miss Ella Shaw (No. Meth.), who is the principal; Miss Ruth Britain (So. Meth.), who is now completing her first year of language study; and Miss Helen Smith of our Mission, whose ardent evangelistic spirit makes her a most valuable addition to our station as well as to the school.

It was with a feeling of glad solemnity at the vast potentialities of a woman's college that the faculty of six and the student body of eight held their first chapel service. The total number of students enrolled during the year was 13, although not all were present at the same time. As these were all freshmen, they experienced the disadvantage of having the class and the college identical, a real drawback in the matter of athletics, societies, and homesick freshmen with no sister class to console. A Sunday School for the children of the neighborhood is conducted by the students. We count the difficulties of this first year as but incidents in the work of so high privilege and opportunity in the higher education of the Christian womanhood of China.

The Nurses' Training School.—Owing to the uncertainty of the medical situation in Nanking, it has been impossible for the school to do more than hold its own in the training of its 13 students. The demand for nurses is great, and the few who have met it have proven the value of the work. In order to have the proper development of the school, a foreign nurse is imperative, who will devote herself to superintending the nurses and their whole course of training.

The Christian Herald Orphanage is a non-mission institution in which we of our mission, in common with others, are interested. Mrs. Garritt has this year resumed her mothering concern in it, and its boys. A number of the older pupils have been given advanced schooling in the University or High School. Others have been put to various trades in Nanking—at tailoring, knitting, and towel-weaving; and several are employed in the Mission Press.

The Foreign School. In reporting the minor activities of the city, no one would be willing to omit "the little school" on the hill, even though it be not under the auspices of the mission boards. The school is completing its most successful year, with Mr. Francis Price at the head.

Forty-seven children have been enabled to live at home while thoroughly enjoying the privileges of a good school, attractively housed. Another use of the little building is to house the foreign Sunday School of about 60 children who gather here on Sunday afternoon. Nearly 20 beginners have happy times with singing, marching, and charmingly-told Bible stories. The 40 older children have enthusiastic song practice, eager drills on Bible geography, and then divide into classes for the most improved of graded lessons.

The Foreign Hospital, too, deserves a mention in this place, although like the school it is carried on by the united efforts of the whole community rather than by the boards in America. The hospital has more than ever demonstrated its usefulness this year, by caring for more numerous and more serious cases than hitherto.

NANKING UNIVERSITY.—The enrollment of the student body is term by term so changeable a matter, registering with barometric accuracy the political and economic pressure of the atmosphere, that the administration can do little more than sit waiting to see what the results of registration will show.

In spite of the present political unrest, the staggering blow dealt the city in 1913—from which, in respect to trade and to military power, the recovery has been remarkable—the student attendance has made encouraging increase.

While there have been no special evangelistic meetings which might attract attention, the steady Christian influence through regular services has continued, and in more effective ways than hitherto. In addition to the regular religious courses in the curriculum, attendance has been required as formerly at the classes on Sunday morning. These 17 small groups, coming into close contact with the faculty and Language School leaders, and including an interesting variety of elective subjects, conducted with or without Chinese as need demands, have been peculiarly satisfactory, and have continued to hold the students' interest. Although the number of students received into the church membership has not been large, more of these joined the Presbyterian Church than any other. Seventy-five per cent of the college and of the normal students are Christians, and over sixty per cent of the High School, while the medical men are almost entirely church members. As might be expected, due to the large number of recently admitted government students, the agricultural and forestry students show the smallest percentage of Christians; but it is also true that a most gratifying spirit of inquiry and interest characterizes them.

During this fourth year of its history, the Normal School has succeeded more fully in its determined purpose to make the regular work a systematic and uniform routing. Precedent is becoming fixed, but better than this, the teachers and students are becoming more ready to take the initiative and to assume responsibilities. With its varied departments, it is imperative that this be so, for one Principal, be he ever so efficient, cannot and should not constantly follow up every detail of the administrative side, if he himself be set to do any constructive work. The school as now organized consists of: (1) The normal class of about 20 young men. A class of nine received certificates at New Year's for completing the two-year course; they are fine fellows; three have been received into the Practice School as teachers. Three are Presbyterian scholarship men and are now teaching for their mission. (2) The Practice School of 80 lads, embracing the first five grades, i. e., four of lower Primary school and one of upper Primary school rank. This means that the two lower classes of Gulou boys come to the Taoyuen for classes. Of the lower classes, four lower grades are housed together at the gate as a model ungraded school in which the normal students may do practice teaching. (4) The Industrial Department, which overflows the basement, requires the full time of two teachers, and three skilled workmen, and has made a thousand dollars' worth of wicker, rattan, bamboo, string and willow furniture and baskets. Here in the self-help department about 30 boys are earning a part of their tuition; in the manual training departments dozens of small boys are training hands as well as head, and the normal students are learning how to teach manual work in their own schools.

Medical School.—Perhaps is no department of the University has the atmosphere for work been less encouraging, nor the daily demands more pressing.

The Medical School has had 32 students during the year; and the regular, unremitting class work with them, in the vernacular, has been the first task of the five doctors who remain. Of these we are proud to claim three in our own Station; Dr. Sloan has continued to act as Station chairman; Dr. Lasell has been our invaluable Treasurer; and Dr.

Hiltner is our new member by adoption and has genially occupied the Drummond house. Each of the doctors teaches a Bible class besides his medical subject; each has hospital duties, Dr. Sloan having succeeded Dr. Burchart as superintendent and physician to the Customs, while Doctors Hiltner and Lasell are the surgeons; and all but Dean Shields have outside practice. There are 85 beds in the hospital, in which about 750 in-patients were treated, while there were 10,000 out-patients. There were 24,000 dispensary treatments given. The hospital budget was approximately $20,000. With the able assistance of the experienced nurse, and of the willing secretary, the hospital has increased not a little in systematic management.

The newest department of the University, and the most enthusiastic among the Chinese departments, is the College of Agriculture and Forestry. The number of students this year was increased from nine to thirteen. The department of Forestry, which is but slightly younger, jumped from an enrollment of sixteen to 40, owing to the interest of the Minister of Agriculture, who sent 24 students from the Government College of Agriculture at Peking, of five provincial Governors, and the Forest Fund Committee of Shanghai.

Incidentally we may mention that the governors of the Kiang-An provinces are warm supporters of this project,—one having sent students, and the other having contributed $500 to the College of Agriculture and Forestry. All but four of the forestry students are supported by the government or the provinces, while the agricultural students are almost all self-supporting. During the winter literature dealing with Chinese agricultural and forestry problems, prepared by the College of Agriculture and Forestry, has been regularly sent out to over 230 Chinese newspapers and magazines, twenty-odd governors, and a number of Chinese government agricultural experiment stations. They have been widely published and used. In a number of cases the provincial governors voluntarily sent them out under their own seal as official announcements to the people.

Language Schools.—This fourth year of the Department of Missionary Training has been the most successful of its history.

Mr. Keen's "efficiency" and experience have combined to produce a treatment guaranteed to effect the desired results in the shortest possible time. It is called the "direct method," with emphasis upon speaking and pronunciation rather than upon the writing or even the reading of characters. A demonstration of their progress at the end of four months was given by the students before the Nanking Association in February, which would have amazed some of the older missionaries who studied before the days of modern inventions.

HAWAI-YUEN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Boarding School; Girls' Boarding School; Day Schools; Hope Hospital; 22 Churches and Chapels.

One of the richest results of the year has been the drawing closer together of Chinese and foreigners and the Chinese among themselves, as a united evangelistic band, all feeling the responsibility of their service, and a small but decided advance toward the day of Chinese support of its own Church.

EVANGELISTIC.—Men.—This year the oversight of the Evangelistic work for Men has been in charge of Mr. Niles. He says:

The work of the year began with a preliminary tour over the whole field, preaching, selling books, examining the methods and results of each of our Evangelists, and everywhere inviting the people to come to our fall enquirers' class. This class was a great success. There were 118 men regularly eating and sleeping at the church. There were 83 others who either ate on the street or lived near enough to go home for their meals. This made a total of 201 this year as against 60 the year before. The men paid 120 cash a day for their board, and at the end of the week the account came out even, with no financial aid from either church or Mission. The floors of six buildings were covered with straw, matting was laid over this, and here the enquirers spread their bedding, slept, read, prayed and sang. They were a happy lot and when not attending classes were either singing hymns or holding prayer meetings.

During the classes Mr. Sen Loh Tien gave a normal class for night school teachers. This was our opening wedge for a campaign in night schools and the enthusiasm then aroused and followed up by this same leader during the year has resulted in the opening of night schools in 21 centers with a total enrollment of 700 scholars. The same man has superintended the Sunday Schools, which now have an enrollment of 1470 to be compared with last year's 625. In the spring, enquirers' classes were held at the Hwai Yuen city chapel, Feng Yang Fu, Meng Chen and in each of its seven country chapels at Gen Gia Tswen, Nin Wang Miao, Gu Gu Gih, Tsai Gia, Hwei, Lin Gia Lou and at Shoudjou and three of its country chapels. These varied in length from three to eight days in each place.

A year ago an influential man of a nearby district came in to Hwai Yuen and became very much interested in Christianity. He went home, told what he had heard and came back this fall to our fall classes with 20 others. Later I visited them and found them worshipping in a temple, the curtain drawn over the idol; on the wall were the Ten Commandments and a number of hymns. At one end of the temple hung a cross and a lantern was prepared for the preacher. They are now planning to build their own church and several are about ready for Baptism. On a recent Sunday at Gen Gia Tsen there were over 400 men and women at the services. Everywhere the Christians go they preach and are a thoroughly evangelistic church. In addition to their contribution to the Hwai Yuen native pastor, they took up a subscription and were able to call a man for six months. We all hope that this may eventuate in their calling and supporting their own evangelist.

In Showchow, the work goes on quietly and slowly. It is a wealthy and educated city. The people all know that Christianity is good, in fact they are in favor of it, but do not care to accept it whole-heartedly. At present our following consists mostly of people in the middle class of life, and of these few are sincere.

We feel that although the work and growth in the Feng Yang Fu field have been slow, it is on a better footing now than ever before and that it will soon come to better things. We have been much disappointed in the Christians of Miao Shanu. Though repeatedly urged to regularly attendance to worship, there were seldom more than four men. At the New Year we were ready to open the day school and had a teacher to go over, but they delayed so long and been so uninterested that a government school was started which took the students, and the Mission school is closed. The chapel at Hong Gia Wang has been increasing in attendance and is giving good promise of sound work. The place recently purchased in the city has been put in good repair and all the buildings are being well used. Each quarter the evangelists from all the out-stations gather to discuss their work, their future plans, mission finance, ways and means of increasing our efficiency in the evangelization of Northern Anhwei, self-support and kindred topics. Similarly to this quarterly conference is one held bi-weekly with the evangelists in the city to report, discuss and pray that we may make our Christian messages more effective in Hwai Yuen.

The Evangelistic Work for Women has been in charge of Miss McCurdy and Miss Jones; but this has only been a part of their varied work for the year. With the exception of the district immediately around Hwai Yuen, Miss McCurdy has had the direction of the whole country work and both in the fall and spring made quite extended trips to the Meng Chen, Showdju and Dwang Yang Fu fields. In the spring enquirers' classes for women were held in four centers. The country work is not merely heralding the Gospel, it is also giving aid to an already existing organization, helping the Christians and enquirers in classes and personal talks. In the autumn the regular enquirers' class for women was also held in Hwai Yuen, 50 in attendance. Though this does not yet prove self-supporting, a step in advance was made over last year in that with the exception of the very poorest, each woman paid 100 cash a day, and every one paid something.

Miss Giao's most fruitful work has been in connection with "Cottage Meetings" throughout the winter, five homes in the vicinity of our City Chapel have been opened to us for regular weekly meetings. From each center we have made two or three friends who come regularly to our Chapel meetings. The great advantage of these little gatherings in the homes is that we may reach all—the very old, who are too feeble to walk even a short distance on their tiny feet, those who are too proud to be seen by the multitude going into our Chapel, and the very young women who cannot yet go out on our streets in Hwai Yuen without embarrassment.

Our regular Chapel Meetings have had a more uniform attendance this year, but they have not been strikingly large. The Sunday School has been one of the most encouraging features of our city work for women. Here we have an average attendance of 100 women and children.

EDUCATIONAL.—In Mr. Cochran's report for the Educational Department we find the same enthusiastic acknowledgment of what has been done by his Chinese co-workers. In speaking of the Day Schools he says;

Anything that can be said for progress in the Boys' Day Schools is all in praise of Li Dz Yong, the day school superintendent, who has been indefatigable in visiting the day schools and carrying on examinations. The average attendance of the schools for last spring and fall terms was somewhat decreased, which is attributable to the fact that the crops of the former year were not very plentiful; with this present new year there has been an increase of attendance in all the schools. Last year, including the two primary schools, which are run in connection with the Boys' and Girls' Boarding Schools, there were 21 day schools in the district. This year five have been added and one has dropped out, so we have an even 25, 19 being for boys. We held a normal class in Hwai-yuen, which all but two of our day school teachers attended. Great emphasis was put on the teaching of the National Readers and a firm foundation for future Chinese scholarship. The greatest problem we have to face at present in our day school is the lack of properly trained teachers. We have a few that are old style, with no training in Western branches, and the scholars which they send on to our boarding schools are so unevenly advanced in their studies that they form a grave problem.

The first term of the Boys' Boarding School was the Age of Peace. Six boys had been suspended for insubordination during the former term and the school was so subdued that it was not even interesting. With the fall some of the suspended students returned and proved themselves models of propriety. Through the year the attendance was smaller than usual. However, the school is larger now, since the Chinese New Year, than it has been before, new students coming from all the region as well as from the city. Our industrial department has proved a success in the training of the students. All are required to take some form of manual training. The weaving of garters has cost us the salary of the teacher, $5 a month. The carpentry department has been established for only three months and it is impossible to tell what it will cost, though probably it will not be self-supporting. The department of rug weaving has proved self-supporting for the first year, leaving a margin of a few dollars for experiments in dyeing.

Women.—In reviewing the Educational Work among girls, Miss Chaney reports:

"The past year has been characterized by quiet though steady growth. The number of pupils in our Girls' Boarding School has been largely increased, the present enrollment being 75. The work of the Chinese teachers (three women and one man) has been marked by improvement in methods and in the grade of work done. This is largely due to the Normal Class conducted weekly. A beginning has been made in the training of pupil teachers; two of the older girls have received supervision in preparation for future teaching work. The Neighborhood Sunday School, taught by 12 girls, has developed into a strong, well managed organization. The Normal Class in story telling has increased the efficiency of the pupil teachers.

The three Girls' Day Schools have been a most important feature of the year's work. The curriculum is the same as that in the Girls' Boarding School, and monthly supervision has been given them.

The school in the center of the business district of Hwai Yuen has increased in enrollment, and a marked improvement has taken place in the discipline of the school. Twenty-seven children are at present being taught by their adored young teacher. The opening of our two new Day Schools has caused great rejoicing. The Feng Yang Fu School has been taught by a former graduate of the Boarding School, and the grade of work and discipline has been excellent. Fourteen girls are enrolled, some having left the Girls' Schools before attended. The Shou Djou School realizes the hope of many years. It was launched with 11 pupils and is taught by a woman of experience. It is felt that this school will be a great power in the city. The fact that the leading families are clamoring for an education for their daughters gives to this school an opportunity of supreme importance.

MEDICAL.—In reporting for Hope Hospital, Dr. Cochran tells of the impossibility to fill the places of Dr. Murdoch and Miss Margaret Murdoch. Then he says:

However, the good that they have done lives after them and we enjoy it in the customs established in the women's ward, in the devoted service of the good Wang Sao-dz, in the work of the serving women, and perhaps most of all in the confidence won for us. We have tried not to lose too much ground and the women's side of the Hospital will be ready for a new step forward when the Murdoch sisters return, and especially when they have a hospital of their own. Splendid work was done by the Chinese men's staff, and especially by Dr. Chu. Gradually more and more of the responsibility is being shifted to his shoulders. At present he is seeing the dispensary patients, and he does more than three-fourths of the operations. Thanks to Dr. Chu taking so much of the operative work, it has been possible to continue giving some time to the laboratory with the manual assistance of the student dispensers who are interested in such work and are easily trained to be excellent laboratory assistants.

Dr. Cochran makes a plea for a more thorough organization of the evangelistic work opened by the hospital, and in closing says:

A few hundred patients a year do not seem to be very many, spread through such a wide area as we cover and among such an enormous population. But it is astonishing how constantly as one travels through the country one meets men claiming one's acquaintance as former patients in Hope Hospital. They are always so friendly and grateful. And in the aggregate they must be doing a great deal to permeate the vast mass with kindly feelings, not only toward western civilization but, what we more earnestly desire, towards the Christ who has sent us here.

NAUHSUCHOW STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' School; Girls' School; three Day Schools.

The year has been one of preparation for large advance in the years to come. Our station force has been increased from three to eight, our field from one county to three, and our mission land at the center from one acre to five. To make the fullest use of our enlarged force, working from our enlarged base, so as to spread the gospel of Christ through our enlarged field, is the problem of the next years.

EVANGELISTIC.—The taking over from the Southern Presbyterians of the two magistracies of Lingpi and Szechou and a little strip of the northern edge of Nanhsuchou, has greatly enlarged our territory.

At present Szechou is in some ways our most promising field. It is a larger and more prosperous city than Nanhsuchou, and the capital of a larger and more prosperous magistracy. If it were not for its inaccessibility, it would in some ways be a more natural location for a foreign station than Nanhsuchou. On the other hand, it will be interesting to see what the result will be of leaving it in the hands of a very strong, devoted graduate of Weihsien College with a large measure of independence. Already we have a few unusually earnest inquirers there, and a strong evangelistic spirit in the school—our legacy from the Southern Presbyterians.

Lingpi magistracy, on the other hand, is a field which the Southern Presbyterians considered very unpromising, and we are compelled to agree with them.

In the Nanhsuchou magistracy there are four general regions to which our work is confined, the region immediately east of the city, the region immediately to the west of the city, the hilly region to the north-west, and the large town of Ling Hwan Cri, 30 miles to the west. All four regions are in the hands of one head evangelist, Mr. Wu, who makes the circuit once in five weeks, who arranges a plan of study for each place, and an order of Sunday worship, and who at each visit examines inquirers on their advance since the last visit.

The work at Lung Hwan Cri owes its beginning to a very earnest Christian who was baptized at a C. I. M. station in Shensi and came back home a little over a year ago really alive with Christianity.

In the northwest we have two points where we have schools. At Fulichi we tried the experiment of opening a first class school, because there was a demand for it, trusting that the school would open the door for evangelistic work. After a year and a half, it has not had that result, though we have a good company of boys under good Christian teaching. Ding Hsu Djurang is a village on the Kiangsu border that we have taken over this year from Hsuechowfu. The work in the region immediately to the west of Nanshou is bound up with the work in the street chapel and in the reading room inside the west gate of the city. The work in the region immediately to the east of the city is our oldest and by far our most successful work. Here, among half a dozen small villages are scattered a dozen baptized Christians and most of our country enquirers.

Three magistracies that comprise our field contain approximately five hundred market towns. As a rough guess, it would seem that each market contains about 40 villages and hamlets. This would make some twenty thousand villages and hamlets. Of these we are so far touching a little more than a dozen. It is largely to medical and agricultural work that we look for opening up opportunities of extension.

Work in Nanshou City has shown a steady gain. The chief gain has been in the number of women, whose attendance at church services is probably double what it was last year. The women as well as men—all those who are regular in attendance and some others also—meet in classes immediately after the morning service each Sunday. Inquirers' class was held at China New Year to gather up the results of the year's work. The requirements were made very exact and much more difficult than they have been in the past. Of the last day of the classes, 45 persons who seemed to us to have come up to the requirements that we had set, were received as inquirers. At the same time, nine persons, six men and three of the oldest school girls, were baptized. Many others, not yet ready for membership or inquirership, were enrolled as preparing for the latter.

EDUCATIONAL.—Our educational work at present includes a boys' school and girls' school at Nanshou, a city school of 48 pupils at Szehou, and five small country schools, ranging from nine to 21 pupils.

There is a large demand for education this year, our boys' school having suddenly jumped from 50 to 73 at New Year's time. We conducted classes for both boys and girls, preparatory to their being received into the church as inquirers. The really searching questions that they asked showed that some of them down in their quiet minds had been doing real thinking. At the communion service in February, three of the oldest girls were baptized, while nine boys and six girls were received as inquirers.

HISTORY.—The Rev. W. A. P. and Mrs. Martin began work in Peking in 1863. Dr. Martin had entered the work in China in 1850. Within a few years he established at Peking, "Truth Hall," a Boarding School for Boys. Later the Girls' Boarding School, which has since removed to Paotingfu, was established, and in 1880 the medical work was begun by Dr. Atterbury. The siege of Peking, from January 19 to August 14, 1900, was one of the most stirring events in modern history. The members of Peking Station shared in it and nearly all of the mission property was destroyed. Very few of the church members survived, excepting those who had found refuge in the British Legation. The losses have been more than recovered, both materially and in the Chinese Church. Paotingfu was one of the scenes of missionary martyrdom in the Boxer outbreak of 1900. Dr. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Simcox with their three little children, and Dr. and Mrs. Hodge gave up their lives in martyrdom. On the next day six missionaries of the American Board met the same fate. The work has been reestablished both in the city and in the extensive out-field. In 1898, plans were made to establish a station at Shunte-fu. The Boxer outbreak caused delay and the station was opened in 1903.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

PEKING STATION

EQUIPMENT.—

Union Theological Seminary, with Congregationalists and Methodists; President, Rev. C. H. Fenn, D.D.; North China Union College, with the Congregationalists, President, Howard S. Galt (in process of affiliation with Peking University); Union Bible School for Women; Union Medical College, Hospital and Dispensary, supported by the China Medical Board; Union Medical College for Women, Dean, Miss Eliza E. Leonard, M.D.; Union Girls' Boarding School; North China American School for Children of Foreigners; Truth Hall Academy for Boys; Country Boarding School for Boys; Country Boarding School for Girls; An Ting Hospital for Men; Douw Memorial Hospital for Women; nine Churches and Chapels; 15 Primary Day Schools.

The death of the Rev. William A. P. Martin, D.D., LL. D. on December 17, 1916, in Peking brought to an end the life of the beloved senior in age and in continuous service of all the foreigners resident in China. Dr. Martin was in his 90th year, being in the 67th year of his service on the field. The changes in China during the term of service of Dr. Martin are almost beyond the comprehension of one not familiar with conditions obtaining at the time of his appointment. There was no foreign legation in Peking and the interior of the country was almost unknown to the outside world. Dr. Martin's eminently useful service of over 60 years has been widely known and irrefutable demonstration of the tremendous power of patient, persistent, continuance in well doing. A scholar, a statesman, a man of God, he served two generations with remarkable results.

The death of Mrs. William H. Gleysteen on February 12, 1917, brought a sense of deep sorrow and loss to the many that loved her both in America and in China. Reaching the field in 1903 after many years of careful preparation, she entered upon a life of continually broadening influence and of love of and by the Chinese which deepened with the passing years. Her race tact and broadminded judgment were as much prized by the members of the Mission as were her love and hospitality by the students of Truth Hall Academy of which Mr. Gleysteen is the principal. She is sorely missed by a very wide circle who loved her and who had learned to look to her for help and counsel. With unusual loyalty and self-sacrifice, she served in the advancing army of her King.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The work in connection with the East and West Churches has been going on along much the same lines as hitherto. There have been many accessions and progress is being made toward self-support in accordance with a plan worked out by the Presbytery.

At Chingho, a few miles north of Peking, work has progressed in an encouraging way during the past year. The old quarters were so small that the chapel was often packed to suffocation. It was very gratifying, therefore, to be able to secure a much larger place across the street.

At Chingho there is located a Military Academy with several thousand students. They come from all over China to be trained for China's modern army. They are under very strict discipline, and it is only on Sunday that they are allowed to leave the school premises. Among these students are a few Christians, and they have been very active in witnessing to their fellow students and in bringing them to our preaching services and Bible classes. Several have been won to Christ in this way. A group of these young men formed themselves into a Christian Association and entered upon this new enterprise with great zeal and independence.

In Peking there is so much comity between the various Protestant Missions that Christian effort overflows denominational barriers and there is a good deal of work that cannot be attributed to any one denomination. For example there is the Independent Church, organized on original lines of Chinese invention. The most novel feature is its provision for admitting members of other churches as associate members of its own organization without requiring them to relinquish their membership elsewhere. The purpose of this arrangement is to accustom the Christians of Peking to work together and to prepare the way for that church unity for which we all long. Naturally members of our Presbyterian churches have taken advantage of the opportunity to be associate members of the Independent Church and have assisted its undertakings in such ways as they could.

Among the recent accessions to the Independent Church was the philanthropist and indefatigable distributor of Bibles, Mr. Yung T'ao. He began to give away Bibles long before he was baptized, and has already given away more than 5,000 well-bound copies of the New Testament.

In the East Country Field two country classes were held for five days each. One was for Christians and the other for advanced catechumens; the attendance at each was about 150.

EDUCATIONAL—

Truth Hall Academy. In addition to the fine new dormitory which has been erected, the recitation building has been enlarged and remodelled. The experiment in self-help begun last year has been continued with decided success. Mr. Gley-steen reports:

In the Presbyterian Boys' School in Peking there are 30 poor boys, varying from 12 to 18 years of age, who make rugs from three to four hours a day. They have a large well-ventilated and well lighted room, with a skilled worker, who is a Christian, in charge. Some of the boys enjoy the work enough to weave on their rugs out of regular hours. Each boy has his rug or a part of a rug, and is proud of his handiwork. Here is something that is his own creation. Precision, speed, skill and judgment are some of the rewards which these lads are unconsciously acquiring.

The Girl's School has had one of the best years in its existence of 14 years, both in numbers, in harmony, in accomplishment and in Christian endeavor. In this work Miss McCoy was helped for some months by Miss Anna Reed until her lamented death in the spring. She was faithful and efficient and had a deep interest in her pupils, and the Mission was looking forward to large results as the fruit of her labors. Her place was taken temporarily by Miss King of the China Inland Mission. Miss McCoy writes:

I would not close this report without mentioning again the great help that came to our school because of Miss Paxson, student secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in China. She had two meetings a day for three days—25 girls expressed their desire to take the Lord into their hearts. Now more than half have been admitted into the church membership. All of the 25 have been members of Bible study classes.

UNION WORK—Union Theological College.

An important step in connection with this institution was its transfer to the Methodist Mission compound and its amalgamation with the Peking University. Though this has involved considerable inconvenience as there are no suitable accommodations as yet, nevertheless the members of the faculty have not regretted the taking of the step and are planning to make it more effective next year. Our Mission has been represented on the Staff by Dr. Fenn and Mr. Ogilvie.

Union Bible Training School for Men.

The buildings at the West Compound, formerly used by the Union Theological College, are now employed by the Union Bible Training School for men without college training. There have been 27 enrolled in this school during the past year. Dr. Fenn writes:

While there have been no striking features in the spiritual life of the Bible School, this past year, yet it has maintained a fairly high level as indicated by their interest in their Young Men's Christian Association, its meetings, night school and other activities, and in the work to which the majority were assigned by their respective Missions. It is hoped that this latter plan for keeping warm the hearts of our students and at the same time securing some return for the Mission's support of them, will be universally carried out the coming year.

Union Medical College for Women.—This institution enrolled 26 students in two classes. These young women came from nine different provinces under the auspices of five Missions. Applications have been received from other provinces as well. Korea, too, is begging to have more of her pupils received, but the dormitory accommodations, equipment and teaching staff are so limited that it is necessary to refuse.

Dr. Leonard reports:

The only non-Christian in the school, an ardent Confucianist, was roundly and soundly converted during the year. A Y. W. C. A. has been conducted by the students and there have been opportunities for work in Sabbath Schools, and the contract of the Fourth Year girls with dispensary and hospital patients has afforded abundant opportunity for life and lips to speak for Christ.

Dr. Bash writes:

Teaching in Chinese at the Woman's Medical College has been a new experience. One reason why I studied medicine was because I felt I was not cut out for a teacher and here I am trying to do both. This year's work has convinced me as never before of the importance of training women as doctors and nurses. How otherwise can the physical suffering of Chinese women and children be relieved? The home land cannot meet the need.

North China Union College.—During the year the College Y. M. C. A. celebrated its 30th anniversary. It was organized largely through the instrumentality of Dr. Harlan P. Beach in 1886 and has maintained its organic continuity ever since in spite of Boxer, cyclone and other vicissitudes.

A Student Council has been recently organized and has performed its functions smoothly and efficiently and has demonstrated its usefulness many times during the year. This represents another step forward in the development of self-reliance on the part of the students. Intercollegiate debates, both in English and Chinese, were arranged between the Union College, the Government College and the Indemnity School at Tsinghua. This contact with students of other institutions has been helpful to all concerned.

North China Union Woman's College. This institution has hitherto shared buildings with the Bridgman Academy, but buildings have been so crowded that attempts have been made to secure better accommodations and the College has finally secured a Duke's palace. Miss Miner writes:

The place is interesting historically. Bricks found on the place date from the time of Columbus. The mother of the famous Emperor Kang Hsi was reared in this palace, and her father was made a duke on her account. The first great hall in the palace, now to be used as a college chapel, contained a throne said to have been occupied by the Emperor Ch'ien Lung when he visited the palace. In the long line of dukes no illustrious name is found and dissipation and poverty set their mark of ruin and neglect on falling walls and neglected gardens until in 1915 the place was sold to the Woman's College.

All of the regular students are Christians, though one, owing to opposition at home, has not yet united with the church. All on Sunday teach Bible classes or groups of little children. Our Mission has been represented in the College by Miss Guffin and Miss McCoy.

MEDICAL.—Our An Ting Hospital for Men has been merged for some time with the Union Hospital connected with the Medical College.

During the year a plan was worked out by a committee representing the various missions in the city for carrying on the evangelistic work in connection with the Union Hospital, the Medical College and the Dispensary. Our Mission was represented on the committee by Mr. Hadley and by the Chinese pastor of the West Church.

The Douw Hospital for Women dedicated its new building a year ago and has been continuing its healing ministrations to the suffering women and children of the northern part of this great city.

The two ladies of the Staff, Dr. Leonard and Dr. Bash, lead a strenuous life, for in addition to their hospital duties they teach through the medium of the Chinese language in the Woman's Medical College, located three miles away. In June the Hospital Staff was augmented by the arrival of Miss Marie Rustin, R.N., to take charge of the nursing when she has acquired a sufficient command of the language. Much valuable assistance has been rendered in the operating room by Dr. John R. Dickson and Dr. John H. Wylie, who have found time from their language studies to help in this way.

PAOTINGFU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Boarding School; Union Memorial Girls' School with the Congregationalist; Bible Training School for Women; George Yardley Taylor Memorial Hospital for Men; Hodge Memorial Hospital for Women; 17 Churches and Chapels; 14 Day Schools.

The death of the Rev. Charles A. Killie on July 16, 1916, while in New York City on furlough brought great sorrow to an unusually wide circle of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Killie has been serving the missionary cause with exceptional power and acceptance in extended speaking itineraries in various parts of the United States. His life of unselfish devotion to the cause of Christ won his audiences in the home land as it did those among whom he worked on the field.

The death of Miss Anna G. Reed on May 7, 1916, brought sorrow and a deep sense of loss not only to the members of the North China Mission, but to the many Chinese to whom in various ways she carried rich blessings. Although she had been on the field less than three years, the service which she rendered for her Master was of a very enduring nature. Her personality, energy, resourcefulness and diligent fidelity made her an eminently useful member of the Mission and of the Kingdom of God.

EVANGELISTIC.—The new chapel, the securing of which was reported last year, has been fitted up and put to its new use. The whole expense of the undertaking including salary of the Chinese preacher and of the caretaker as well as the cost of heat, light and entertainment is borne by the local church.

This new property was dedicated September 3. A number of the highest officials of the city were present. Ever since this occasion men of all classes, especially the more intelligent, have frequently called, some to read the daily papers, or a book from the library, or to converse with some one or to attend a meeting. All classes are welcome, but we purposely keep the place clean and attractive so that none may think that it is beneath them to go there. To the same end the Chinese helpers are endeavoring to keep up to a high standard the character of the addresses whether scientific or religious, given there. The Gospel meetings held from night to night are well attended. There are also a number of evening classes being conducted besides the Bible classes, Sunday Schools, etc.

Work among ladies of official homes.—One of the most encouraging things of the year has been the increase in numbers and interest at the meetings held for ladies from the official homes of the city and the contact and friendship with these ladies. The growth has been gradual and seems to be on a firm basis. There are two meetings a month, one devotional and one W. C. T. U. meeting. The notices are sent to over 30 homes and the response is most hearty. A number seem very close to the Kingdom and come to the house with an evident desire to talk about Christianity. They are coming to have a much keener sense of their personal responsibilities than heretofore.

Sabbath Schools.—A new Sabbath School has been opened in the city and has an attendance of 150. The Church Sabbath School has been reorganized, with smaller classes and more careful grading, and two teachers' meetings. The work of conducting Bible classes among students from the Government schools continues to be interesting and full of promise. There are now three classes in different institutions, two of the classes being held on week days.

Country Evangelization.—The Paotingfu country field extends for 80 miles from north to south and 160 miles from east to west, and comprises both plain and mountain. To cover this large area effectively a new method of "mobilizing" the workers has been adopted. Turning to the way in which the work has been conducted, much travel is of course essential to carrying it on at all. Heretofore this has been done largely on foot, by donkey, and sometimes by boat. This year, however, a friend at home contributed eight new bicycles to the work, and from cyclometers and other records, it is estimated that 5,000 to 6,000 English miles have been covered on them since April first. This of course implies that a much greater number of places have been visited than heretofore. The year has not been free from difficulties and discouragements. The indifference and materialism of so many of the people has been, as always, the chief obstacle of evangelization. A new perplexity, however, has been introduced this year into the problem of the little community of Christians in Kuang Ch'ang county, which used to be the most earnest and aggressive in our whole field. Owing to a grievance against the mission for not employing some of their number as its agents, representatives of the so-called "Tongues Movement" from Shansi were invited to the Suu Chia Chuang chapel. Later, foreign and Chinese representatives of the same movement in Chengtingfu were invited to that chapel and practically took possession of it for some weeks, the Christians who did not enter the movement finding it almost impossible to meet there for their own worship. On the other hand, there have been not a few distinct encouragements in the work of the year. New centers for Christian worship have been opened, new voluntary workers have come forward to give their witness to the gospel of the Grace of God. New points of contact have been found with various classes all the way from prisoners to district magistrates. The sorrows of Armenia have been felt in An Su, and old ladies, who earn one or two coppers a day for spinning and weaving, have contributed as much as 20 coppers apiece to relieve that distress.

Our annual rally for the country Christians was held November 18 to 21 and was a decided success, there being about 150 in attendance from the country besides those who come regularly to Church here. The topic for the rally was "The Believers' True Joy." From day to day as different ones spoke of the true joy of prayer, of Bible study, of preaching, of suffering and other similar topics, it made our hearts glad to know that so many had found the Source of all true joy and were beginning to know the joy of serving Him. While the reports brought in from our 16 out-stations made us thankful for all that had been done, they also made us realize what a great opportunity for service we have in this large country field.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Union Memorial Girls' School suffered a great loss in the death of Miss Grace Newton who has been a tower of strength in this institution for many years. Miss Li, the head Chinese teacher, who has been with Miss Newton so many years, was placed in full charge of the Girls' School, where there are 59 pupils. The missionary reports:

When I went to her to get items for this letter, the fact that most impressed me was that Miss Newton's influence over the teachers and pupils seems to be felt as much, or even more, than when she was with them. After the funeral in Peking, when Miss Li was asked to remain over night, she replied: "No, I think Miss Newton would prefer to have me go home with these girls." That spirit of trying to do what Miss Newton would like to have them do has reached even to the smallest pupils, who in their daily round of duties, such as keeping the yard and rooms clean, have manifested the desire to do even better than ever before.

Miss Li for the Girls' Boarding School reports that the school is running well. Five new pupils were recently admitted, which makes the attendance now about as large as can well be accommodated. As new or added work, Mrs. Whallon has three classes a week in English, and Mrs. Cunningham two in music. The school is on a good financial basis, nearly all of the girls paying their full board.

The Boys' Boarding School.—This is now under the charge of Mr. Whallon. He reports that the City Boys' Boarding and Day Schools are going on with much the same attendance. Athletics is much more of a feature this year in Paotingfu than in former years. The different schools have been having repeated contests, especially in playing basketball. Our boys have been having their full share in these, which "stimulate them and make them have more of a feeling of loyalty to their own school."

The Women's Training School had 10 women in attendance doing faithful work. The school is under the care of Mrs. Cunningham with the assistance of Miss Gumbrell. A priestess, 61 years old, came in for preparatory work in the spring term.

MEDICAL.—Taylor Memorial Hospital. During the absence of Dr. Lewis, Dr. Wang has been carrying on the work in an efficient manner. Dr. Wang reports that the hospital is full, the daily clinics are more than 100, and that the finances are in good shape. The work is self-supporting.

We expect a great enlargement of this work when Dr. Lewis and a second doctor and the two trained nurses all arrive, and the new building, nearly finished, can be equipped and occupied. We were glad recently to secure another hospital evangelist to help the present partially trained man. The plan is to have one here and another in the country doing the follow up work. It is difficult to secure suitable men for this.

Hodge Memorial Hospital for Women. This Hospital is doing a larger work than ever under the efficient management of Dr. Mackey.

He reports that the hospital has a larger number of patients in dispensary and hospital than ever before, that the patients listen attentively to the Gospel message, and that a larger proportion than was true in the early history of the work came from the better classes of the people. The work is practically self-supporting. We greatly need suitable evangelists to carry home the Gospel message to the hearts of the patients, both while they are here and after they return to their homes. The nurses, now eight in number, especially the four older ones, are proving very efficient.

SHUNTEH-FU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Hugh O'Neill, Jr., Academy for Boys; Girls' Boarding School; Hugh O'Neill Memorial Hospital for Men; five Churches and Chapels; four Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—The church life is developing intensively and extensively.

A Missionary writes:

The Harvest-home, three days' meeting in the church, was well attended by the Christians from our country field and vicinity near-by. The talks were given by our foreign pastors, and Chinese helpers. The subjects were directed largely to Christian living, and were open to discussion. There were nearly 60 present from a distance, and they, as well as ourselves, were helped heavenward by the uplifting addresses and influence of Christian fellowship. We cannot appreciate the value of such meetings to these isolated Christians, many of whom have their nearest Christian neighbor and Sabbath service ten or more miles distant. Most of the women remained ten days for a class in Biblical instruction.

Our main entrance, leading into the churchyard, is wide open today, and a stream of women is pouring in. A few yards away, other doors are open and the gods are receiving the annual homage of incense, "ke-toeing" and theatricals. The idols have hundreds of years the start of us as to time, but we believe we shall win out. Our clean, cosy church basement with its long brick platform on which to rest and the cup of hot tea, are irresistible. The long tramp on bound feet, over five, 10 and in a few cases 50 miles, has made the fair and its attractions for the time being, a secondary consideration. A number of Chinese Christians are helping the foreigners to receive the crowds, and hundreds fill the basement, auditorium and church yards, while others are waiting to push into their places. The singing and teaching are reinforced by the tracts and songs printed on bright red and yellow paper, and many carry home this seed as a part of the trophies of the day.

Mrs. Chen, a widow from one of the better class families, has for some time attested her sincerity by giving a day each week to teaching others. Recently her son, a loveable and studious boy, suddenly died. She determined to control her grief, except when alone, and so testified to her heathen neighbors that she had a new hope and comfort. In the women's meeting she related that when her husband died, she "ke-to-ed" and waited for two days, until her head was sore and bleeding, and she obtained no peace. But now her heart is at rest. Her lot is not an easy one, as she is subject in even the slightest matter to her father-in-law, and must work hard to compensate for the day each week she gives to teaching with no financial compensation.

Country Evangelization.—Mr. Ramsay conducted two stereopticon campaigns throughout the four counties under his care, one in the autumn and the other in the spring. Between these two campaigns he conducted 12 catechumen classes.

For our stereopticon campaign we selected five of the largest towns in each of the four counties, while in many of the smaller towns between these 20 objective points we preached, posted and sold all kinds of scriptures and tracts. There was a total of 100,000 in our 20 audiences at night, with fully as many reached personally in our day-time, open-air preaching, with the assistance of the cornet, accordion, auctioneer's bell and hearty singing of gospel hymns. This method of evangelization is most popular with the people, and is most effective in dispelling prejudice against the foreigner and Christianity.

Besides this a volunteer band of purely native origin have formed themselves into an evangelistic or gospel propagating society, which at each of my out-stations go on the streets or into the nearby towns preaching and posting tracts and singing gospel hymns every Lord's day after Sunday School. I am especially proud of this voluntary effort on the part of the Church members and enquirers and to know that they are so deeply interested and happy in their own enterprises for giving the gospel to others.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Girl's Boarding School.—Mrs. Hamilton who has had charge of this school from its beginning has had to give it up on account of ill health. The first class of the school will be graduated this year, and when we remember the seven unwashed, ignorant little ones with whom the school opened seven years ago, we are more than thankful for the 40 intelligent pupils who are soon to be capable teachers, Bible women, and powers for good in many homes.

The Hugh O'Neil, Jr. Memorial School for boys enrolled nearly 70 in the three departments.

It is the policy of the Mission not to give help to poor students without some return in time and labor. As 13 of the boys needed help, a carpenter's shop was opened with a skilled man as instructor, and the boys were learning a useful trade, while repaying the school at the same time. The students have made some interesting surveys of social conditions in the city and they have helped to teach the crowds during the Fair, and have kept attractive and instructive bulletins and pictures posted in the gateway.

MEDICAL.—Hugh O'Neil Memorial Hospital.—Now for the regular work, which opens with renewed life, as do all things in China, with the passing of winter.

During the cold, many of the sick, hibernate with their less urgent ailments, then Chinese New Year plunges them into as much dissipation for a month as they can afford to borrow. After which they come to the clinic. The average daily number is raised from 50 to 80 on market days; operations fill every forenoon, and there are now 70 in-patients in the hospital. They overflow laterally into the corridors and perpendicularly from bed to floor when all the available cots are filled. Among these are two Buddhist priests whose calling has not prevented their being earnest listeners during their stay. Another unlearned man has been taught to read and can now sing and pray. He came with small funds of his own to defray his food expenses, but that is exhausted and he is now occupying one of the free beds. Out of date Teddy bears and re-headed dolls cajoled from the foreign children, help to divert the babes from their suffering, and one such article amuses even the women.

The Grace Talcott Hospital for Women.—Owing to the war conditions and the impossibility of "Hustling the East" there has been considerable delay in completing the new building. But now it has been finished to the smallest detail, the outside wards are rapidly going up and when it is opened in September will relieve the congestion in the Men's Building which has been used hitherto as a General Hospital.

HISTORY.—(For the date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) The Province of Shantung has a population of 29,000,000 in a region about the size of the State of Missouri. Among the founders of this Mission are three names of outstanding prominence among missionaries: Rev. J. L. Nevius, D.D., Rev. Hunter Corbett, D.D., and Rev. C. W. Mateer, D. D. Dr. Nevius first visited the province in 1861 continuing in the work until his death in 1893. Dr. Mateer came in 1864 and died in 1908. Dr. Corbett began work in 1865. Events to be remembered are the famine of 1867, when about $200,000 in relief was distributed to 150,000 starving people; the floods of 1899 with the following pestilence and famine; the German occupation of Tsing-Tau; the Boxer outbreak of 1900, and the taking of Tsing-Tau in 1915 by the Japanese. During the Boxer troubles the Mission property was nearly all destroyed and the missionaries had to leave the field, but no lives were lost among the missionaries, though the native Christians numbered many martyrs among their membership.

The oldest station is Teng-Chou-Fu. In 1866, Dr. Mateer opened the Boy's School, and in 1881 Teng-Chou-Fu College, which since 1904 has become a part of Shantung University. A Girls' Boarding School was established by Mrs. Nevius in 1862. Chefoo, which is a station field of about three and one-half millions, is one of the great evangelistic stations. It was founded by Dr. Corbett. Educational institutions have grown up, among others a School for the Deaf. Wei-Hsien has become the educational center of the Mission. Ichou-fu was formerly a center of anti-foreign feeling. At Tsining-Chou an attempt to establish a station in 1890 was frustrated by mob violence. This station escaped property loss in the Boxer outbreak. Tsing-Tau was the center of German influence and was rebuilt by the Germans on modern lines. Yi-Hsien is a center of considerable Mohammedan population. A number of the stations are made more accessible by the railroad systems. Shantung is remarkable for the union work of the different Missions both along evangelistic lines and in the Shantung University, which is the center of higher education.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

TENG-CHOU-FU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Academy; Girls' High School; 36 Day Schools; two Churches; and 17 Chapels; Severance Hospital.

In the death of Miss Snodgrass, Teng-Chou lost a valuable worker and a steadfast friend. She was greatly loved by all who knew her and especially so by the Chinese. She has left a heritage of faith and love which will inspire through the years to come. Her many friends will not soon forget her labor of love and her helpful life.

EVANGELISTIC.—The work of the City Church has during the past year been much as usual. In the absence of a pastor, Mr. Irwin has had general oversight of the work. Mr. Chang Tai Ching helping him with the pastoral duties and Mr. Braskamp and the elders with the preaching. The attendance has been good. In fact when the various schools of the city are seated, there are not enough seats left to accommodate the church members.

Whether to enlarge the church or to arrange for two services is a problem which we are now facing. Our men's prayer meeting has this at least in common with prayer meetings the world over—it is next to impossible to get the Christians to attend. At present we are using the Sunday School Lessons as subjects. The women have also held regular mid-week prayer meetings at the church. Once a month the prayer meeting takes the form of a missionary society meeting. This society is doing some real missionary work in supporting a day school. The special meetings which were held during the week of prayer were very inspiring and were well attended. An interesting and hopeful feature of these meetings was that the Southern Baptist congregation met with us, the union services being held in their church and ours on alternate days.

One of the most important events of the year was the visit to our community of Pastor Ting Li Mci. It was indeed a great pleasure to welcome him back to Tengchow, where he had spent many of his earlier years in college and in connection with our work. These were also union meetings, the greater part of them held in our church.

During the meetings of Presbytery, the dedication of the Water City Church was a very interesting service. The special platform for the speakers was filled with city officials and influential men—the local magistrate, the military general, the superintendent of the government schools and others being present. Several addresses were made by visiting pastors and friends. The new church is a stone building, plain but substantial, and can be arranged to seat 500 people. The attendance at the street chapel this year has been about as usual, there being about 9,500 people attending the meetings during the year.

Women's classes have been held throughout the year in the girls' school buildings in the southeastern and southwestern part of the city, each class meeting once a week with an average attendance of 15. During the winter vacation a class was held daily in the Bible Women's Training School. Still another woman's class is held regularly each week in the village just west of the city.

The country work seems to go forward very encouragingly in some districts; in others it seems to go backward. At Chao Swei, a large market town, which has no temples except those used as schools, is a large street chapel and a woman's room and in connection with these a dispensary, which is in charge of Dr. Lee, the native doctor, who was formerly Dr. Seymour's city assistant. This is a very progressive village—a government school, intermediate boys' school with 137 scholars, and a girls' school of over 40 scholars. The work here is most encouraging, there being large classes of enquirers.

One of the departments of our work which has been making rapid progress for the past three years is our Sunday School Work. In the city and environs, Sunday Schools are held in seven different centers each Sabbath with an average attendance of about 800. The City Church Building is so small that the Sunday School must be held in two sections. The first division is for the street children and any other non-Christians who can be gathered in.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Tengchow Girls' High School has a high standard. When Mrs. Capp in 1872 gave her property to the school, she did so with the understanding that the scholarship of the school should be high. The school is divided into two distinct departments, a high school and a preparatory department. In grading, teaching staff and study halls, each department is quite separate from the other.

Forty students are now doing full high school work and 13 who are now classed as third year intermediates are doing part high school work; these 13 will complete their intermediate work this summer and next fall the high school will number 53. The preparatory department has a total of 61, 42 of whom are in the intermediate department and 19 in the primary. Excellent work has been done in all the departments throughout the year. We hope in the spring of 1917 to open a Normal School, for which a course of study has already been prepared, which includes Bible, Sunday School Pedagogy, studies in personal work, theory and practice of teaching, history of education, school organization, domestic economics and hand work. In connection with our Normal School, our preparatory department will come into added use as a training school for teachers.

Boys' Boarding School.—The total enrollment of the past year was over 125. This spring there are 28 in the high school and 32 in the intermediate department. The fall term was closed early because of the breaking out of smallpox among the boys, three being sent home sick with the dread disease. This spring it again broke out, one of the teachers, Mr. Ning, being sick three weeks with it; but as all the boys had by that time been vaccinated, it was decided not to close the school. Two boys were sent home sick with scarlet fever. Though the early closing of the school made it impossible to have the usual graduating exercises, the six boys who had completed the course were given diplomas. Another year has been added to the course so that hereafter the boys will be better prepared for Tsingchow and Weih sien. Plans are being made to start an industrial and self-help department. The object is to aid poor boys through school, and to teach them a trade as well as to break down the idea that a gentleman should do no work with his hands.

Women's Bible Training School.—This school for married women was opened in 1912 in the quarters vacated by the Girls' Boarding School when it was moved to the East Suburb. The primary object in establishing this school is that it may be a training school for Bible Women, but other women who desire an elementary education are received. Two courses are offered: one a three-year course, designed for older women who are definitely preparing for Bible Women's work, and the other a five-year course which includes the shorter one. About half of the women who have entered the school have not been Christians, but none have been in the school for more than a year without becoming so.

Primary Schools.—There is a total of 41 primary schools, eleven of these being in the city suburbs, the remaining 30 being in the country with an attendance of 487. Our 28 boys' schools have an average attendance of 22, and our 13 girls' schools have an average of 13 scholars each. Ten of our schools have no help from Mission funds.

Last summer a very successful Institute for women teachers was held at the East Suburb. There were 16 women in attendance.

MEDICAL.—While there has been no increase in the number of helpers, there has been an increase of 25 per cent in the number of in-patients.

There has also been a good increase in receipts, but still we had to close the financial year with a small deficit. Much of this, of course, is due to the exorbitant prices now paid for drugs and surgical supplies. A part is due to the fact that we have received a few patients who have not been able to pay for their food and treatment. A most noticeable increase has been in the number of people coming to break off the use of opium or morphine. We have had 35 of these, of whom a large number have been taking morphine hypodermically. Supplies of hypodermic syringes are evidently obtainable at a low price and by the use of morphine with them the people have found that they can get the stimulus of opium at a lower price than by smoking in the old way. Some of them are covered with blackish, discolored spots where the injections have been made. A large proportion of those who have broken off seem to have kept free from the use of the drug afterwards.

There was a very appreciable increase in the number of dispensary treatments—about 1,500, without mentioning those seen by Dr. Li at his branch dispensary, which numbered about 2,000.

CHEFOO STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Temple Hill English School; Graded High School and Normal Academy; Girls' High School; Men's Bible Training School; Women's Bible Training School; School for the Deaf; eight Day Schools, including two kindergartens; Temple Hill Hospital; Churches and Chapels.

To gather into a few short pages a comprehensive report of the various activities of a busy mission station is to render a pitifully meager account of days crowded full of work and responsibility. No one can pigeon-hole the various affairs that interrupt the regular routine. One feels like following the custom of the society lady who orders her servant to report "Not at home" to all comers; but the Chinese know where to find us; the busy pastor in his study is accessible at any time to all who come for comfort or counsel; the over-worked teacher, pushing to prepare a difficult lesson in Chinese, must lay down his book and listen with patience and sympathy to the father's reasons why he can not pay his son's tuition just now; and the doctor is always "on call,"—the servant of all; while the women must be ready to receive calls at any time and listen to tales of woe by the hour. Why? Because we, like Paul, must be "all things to all men" that we may save some; then read between the lines of the following report and fill in unnumbered hours with unclassified giving of self.

EVANGELISTIC.—City Work.—The Temple Hill Church.

This church is having an all the year around jubilee, which was especially marked by the eightieth birthday of Dr. Corbett—an event of great rejoicing in the station. Our leading Chinese Christians took the matter in hand arranging for a suitable service on the day with good addresses. The church was decorated and festooned with the scrolls and banners presented to Dr. Corbett. A hymn, especially composed for the occasion by one of the teachers, was sung. The highest civil and military officials of the city sent a representative to take part in the exercises. With the opening of the schools after the Chinese New Year all realized that something must be done to relieve the crowded condition of the church, the seating capacity being entirely inadequate; so a special service was arranged for the students of the Anglo-Chinese School and the Academy, thus relieving fully one-third of the seats for the church members and outsiders; still, the church is well filled. There were 30 adults and 13 children baptized during the year.

The Institutional Church at North Hill.—The work of this church was in a very promising condition when Mr. Abbott had to leave for home. Through it, and the Y. M. C. A., which has rooms in the same building, people never before reached were becoming interested. A Japanese merchant, a member of the Bible class, was baptized; also, the wife of a clerk from Fukien Province. A member of the oldest family in the walled part of Chefoo, where the people have always been very hostile, was examined as an inquirer; also, several girls from "The Eastern Light School" desired to unite with the church. The moving picture entertainments, with films rented from Tientsin, were a great attraction. We had hoped Mr. Davies would carry on this important work, but his appointment to the Deanship of the Arts College prevented. Dr. Elterich, with a committee from the Y. M. C. A., is looking after the church services.

In connection with the other Missions of the city—Southern Baptist, China Inland, Y. M. C. A., and Industrial—a special evangelistic campaign was held, beginning before the Chinese New Year, and continuing for over a month. Thousands of tracts were distributed at the four large markets held during the last month, followed by street preaching, visiting shops and homes, the city being divided into districts so as to cover all the ground.

Woman's Work.—The weekly prayer meeting for the Christian women has had a most successful year. The meetings have been enthusiastically attended. Effort was made to reach the women in large numbers during the ninth day of the first moon, when the birthday of the Pearly Emperor, chief of the Taoist dieties, is celebrated in the large temple above our Mission Compound. The Christian women invited the women going up to the temple to come into the Prayer Hall of the church to rest and drink tea. In this way over 400 women had the opportunity to hear of the true God, some of them for the first time. The Woman's Missionary Society includes all of the women, old and young. It is an active, working society and is supporting one Bible woman. The society has $152 in the bank, which is to be used for some Christian work not yet decided upon. During February five conferences were held with lectures by both foreign and native workers on topics affecting the life of women.

Quoting from Mrs. Smith's personal report, she says:

The cigarette has been making such a conquest of the Chinese that a W. C. T. U. Society was formed with 36 charter members. Not only women and girls but babies in arms are becoming addicted to the habit.

Christian Family in Shantung.—Four generations. Every member of the group has been baptized and one is an ordained pastor.

Weekly Gathering of Christian Women—Tengchowfu.—The bell—25 inches in diameter—was a gift from friends in America—It has been placed on poles so that it rings out loud and clear—bringing the women and children to service on time.

* Our recently elected president of the W. C. T. U. told of receiving visits from high class ladies whose babies in their nurses' arms would fuss and fret until a cigarette was given them, when peace and content were restored.

The Sunday Schools at Temple Hill are filled to overflowing, there being an average attendance of over 500. The addition of several teachers and division into departments has improved the work and made it more interesting for all. The Institutional Church S. S. averages from 60 to 100 and is a very important center with great possibilities.

The work in the Sunday School at the School for the Deaf has been most satisfactory the past year. The school is divided into classes according to grades, so arranged that one teacher in each school has a Sunday off every other week. The older pupils study the International Lessons, the daily readings being used at morning prayers; the next lower grade are going through a "Life of Christ," the lessons being specially prepared at the school and illustrated by pictures.

Nearly all of the country pastoral work has devolved upon Mr. Elterich, in addition to his work as Station Secretary and Treasurer. He has been out for two long trips of several weeks each, covering nearly 800 miles of traveling by mule litter, visiting all of his stations and those in the western part of Mr. Abbott's field, Pastor Tong visiting the remaining stations, so that all of the Chefoo field received pastoral care. During these trips Dr. Eltrich examined 126 candidates, receiving 51. Pastor Tong examined 12, receiving six. Mr. Wells has spent about seven months in the country, most of it being in the Fu Shan district near Chefoo. There are over 3,000,000 people in the Chefoo field with, for this year, only two foreigners and 40 native helpers working among them.

Last autumn we held an enquirers' class for a month, teaching and preaching daily. This was also attended by quite a number of church members, who defrayed their own expenses. A Christian woman, visiting relatives in the village, gave excellent help with the women. Among those who came was a scholar, who for three days discussed Christianity with Mr. Li, and then announced that he believed it to be the true religion and asked to be enrolled as an enquirer.

EDUCATIONAL.—Temple Hill English School.—Beginning with six students in 1897 we now have 230 enrolled; 55 have graduated and more than a hundred others have remained long enough to enable them to secure positions of usefulness.

Fully eight are employed in Chefoo alone. Many of the most responsible positions in the foreign business firms of Chefoo, Tsingtau, Dalny, Newchang, Mukden and Harbin are held by our former students. We have good reports of others in Shanghai, Hongkong, Canton, Tientsin, Peking, Tsinan and Hankow. It is worthy of note that all the running expenses of the school except the salaries of Mr. Booth and Mr. Smith, are met from the tuition fees, which are as follows: Preparatory students, $40; Freshman and Sophomore students, $50; Junior and Senior students, $60 per year. These fees are charged and paid; and, besides, each student pays his board and all incidental expenses, including lighting. The curriculum has been revised, providing a two years' Preparatory and a Four years' Regular Course, fitting boys to enter any of the leading colleges in China, and giving Commercial Training for those wishing to enter business. Equipment has been added for Chemistry Laboratory, Typewriting, Physical Drill, and a teacher of vocal music engaged. Two English clubs have been formed with 80 members for the practice of English out of school. The school Y. M. C. A. has 85 members. Besides their regular meeting, they opened a night school for poor children and illiterate Chinese. At the request of some of the students a class was formed to prepare boys for baptism. They have been received into the church and twenty have expressed their desire to become Christians.

Hunter Corbett Academy and Boys' Primary School.—The entering class of the Academy numbered 34, as against 16 of last year; from now on applicants must be turned away. The Primary Boys' School has an attendance of 95 pupils. When the new buildings are available this school will be housed with the Academy.

Mills Memorial School for Chinese Deaf Children.—We began the year with 41 pupils; eight new ones were received, making 49, seven of whom were under ten years of age; five were sent away, two because of ill health, two for mental deficiency and one because he was too old. We close with 44, all except one, bright, interesting pupils, doing good work. While it has been comparatively easy to arrange industrial training for the girls, suitable work for the boys has not been so easily provided, partly from the lack of room and teachers. We are looking forward to the time when we shall have the new Recitation Hall, with a light, airy basement with cement floor where benches for sloyd-work and small looms for weaving, both rugs and cloth, can be installed. Just now the boys have the knitting machines, a little carpentry work and we have just employed a skilled man to teach our carpenter how to make bamboo reeds, which always have a ready sale among the Chinese.

Men's Bible Training School.—This valuable work has more than doubled its number of pupils, 19 being in attendance, which is the limit of its accommodation. Several graduated last spring and are now in active work. Besides their regular studies, the students have practical training in street and chapel preaching. Quite a number of these men are employed by the station as evangelists.

Woman's Bible Training School.—This school has seven pupils, which is the limit of its accommodation. Besides preparing Bible women, the school offers an opportunity to married Christian women, who have not had the advantage of an education, to learn to read the Bible.

City Primary Schools and Kindergarten.—These schools are filled to overflowing. On Temple Hill there are over 150 in the Kindergarten and primary department and 20 in the Girls' Advanced School, while "The Eastern Light School" has 48 enrolled. County Schools.—Several new schools have been opened this year, bringing the number up to 16 with an average attendance of 247. Training Institute.—Teachers and preachers to the number of 40 attended this institute during February, coming from all parts of the field. Besides Bible study, special attention was given to pedagogics and to the organizing and conducting of Sunday School work which was much needed.

A Woman's Lecture Hall.—A work that seems to hold much promise is a Woman's Lecture Hall, opened in the building owned by Mr. A. H. Mateer on Tai Ping Giel. A part of the rooms are occupied by two Christian families and a school supported by the Y. M. C. A.; but upstairs there is a good sized, unoccupied room, which Mrs. Wells has had fitted up as a place for women's meeting's.

MEDICAL.—Temple Hill Hospital and Dispensary.—While the several changes in the foreign staff have, naturally, been a hindrance, the second year of the work of the hospital has been successful.

There has been advance along every line. The attendance at the dispensary has increased about 2,000, nearly double what it was last year, making a total of over 4,000 cases. Among interesting cases handled were ten of the opium habit. These were treated by the rapid reduction method and discharged cured. It is a fact to make one pause to learn that 75% of these cases secured opium in the form of "Morphine Water," supplied, together with hypodermic syringes, by seven drug shops in the city. The religious work in the hospitals is always kept strongly to the fore, realizing that the healing of the soul is paramount to that of the body. Two boy patients were received into the church and a number of the servants have applied for baptism.

LITERARY.—Mrs. H. F. Smith reports as follows:

Having been elected chairman of the committee for compiling the tune-book for the New Presbyterian Hymnal just issued by the Synod of North China, my mornings have been spent working with the Christian Hymnology of today in search of tunes of real music value. The following pamphlets have also been prepared: "The Hunter Corbett Memorial Academy," by May Corbett Smith; "Revised and Englarged School Register" and Statistical Blank, by W. C. Booth. "Requirements for the Admission to the Nurses' Training School with Curriculum," by O. F. Hills, M.D.; "Rules and Regulations for the School for the Deaf," in Chinese by A. E. Carter, in collaboration with Mrs. Lan and Mr. Bi Shu Yuen; "Lecture on 'Work for the Deaf in Christian Lands and in China,'" in both English and Chinese, with illustrations by A. T. Mills and Bi Shu Yuen. "Report on the Conditions of the Deaf and Progress in Their Education in China," in English, by A. T. Mills.

TSING-TAU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Hugh O'Neill Boys' High School; Girls High School; Women's Bible School; 16 Churches; 46 Groups; 56 Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—In spite of the revolution and disturbance by robber bands and distress from famine, the evangelistic work in the country districts has been little interrupted.

Relief money received from friends in America has been distributed in all sections of the field where it was known to be most needed. There has been found a new eagerness to learn the Doctrine throughout the field, and new groups of Christians who have responded well to the Gospel call. In some villages these are now building, or planning to put up, their own churches, often giving a tenth and more of their income to do so. In some places the Seventh Day Adventists have been busily scattering their literature, and several weak Christians have gone over to their faith, but many have already seen their mistake and come back to our fold.

Mr. Montgomery reports the most successful year since his arrival in China; he has taken in 148 new members and baptised 38 infants. The work in one of his villages nestled among the mountains and far away from any Christian centre, has been specially promising. As a result of the work there of the past two years 40 to 50 people have either been already baptised, or are now studying the Doctrine.

Mr. Scott has made 143 visits to villages of Christians, in some instances going to the same place several times. Besides attending the annual meetings of the churches and holding special revival services in each, he has done considerable street preaching and spent more time than ever before, seeking out the individual Christian families, and usually preaching to gatherings of heathen in their yards. He has found it a unique experience preaching to Taoist and Buddhist priests in front of their temples, and once praying with them inside the temple in the presence of the idols, and in the villages opening their family temples for meetings. We are especially encouraged by the way in which many of the Christians in his churches have subscribed time to preach, and, even out of their poverty, have taken up tithing, surprising themselves as to how much they can do in the way of self-help. When we consider that most of the Christians of the whole field have been face to face with dire poverty and have been living in sections where the people everywhere were seen preparing food of sweet-potato leaves and stripping young shoots off the trees, and gathering thistles from the mountain sides for greens, it is almost to be wondered at that the spiritual condition of all the churches is so encouraging. Still we have to recall the fact that God has often permitted His people to pass through political disturbances and physical hardships, and that it is often through such testings that strong Christian characters are formed.

WOMEN'S WORK.—Until her illness, Miss Christman was in charge of all the work for women in the Station. She planned to go once or twice each week to Tai Tung Chen and Tai Si Chen for prayer meetings and Sunday School, as well as spending considerable time calling in the city and helping in the Sunday School there. In the Fall she spent some time in Kiao Chou, conducting a Bible Class for the owmen there.

The attendance at the weekly prayer meetings held at the Scott home has been steadily increasing, especially since the return of Mrs. Whoa, who is such a wonderful help in drawing in both the Christian and heathen women. The missionary society, which was re-organized in the Fall, now has about 20 contributing members. But the number is still strikingly small compared with the former number of 120. Those who gave most liberally before are at present able to give very little, as for instance, the wives of the elders teaching in the German Mission School, who, because of the war, received practically no salary. However, the Society is supporting a Bible woman who lives in the house in Tai Si Chen earlier built by the Society. While she cares for the work in that village, Mrs. Whoa and Elder Chou's wife go several times each week to Tai Dung Chen. The work there is particularly hopeful among the heathen children, as between 30 and 40 usually come to the Sunday and mid-week services. We are more than grateful to the Tai Nan Station for allowing Mrs. Whoa to return to us, for, with Miss Christman away, and none of the married women of our Station able to devote their whole time to the work, we are greatly in need of some efficient and consecrated worker.

EDUCATIONAL.—For nearly a year Mr. Cassat has had charge of all the educational work of the Station. Although he holds classes in the Hugh O'Neill, Jr., Boys' High School, and is constantly consulted as to its management, the Principalship is left in the hands of Mr. Wang Shou Ching, who, during the past few years, has been proving himself such an able educator.

The boys of the Hugh O'Neill School have greatly enjoyed their games of basket and foot ball, and recently took a creditable part in a debate. We are glad to say that, in spite of Tsingtau being headquarters for the revolutionists, none of the boys, or the teachers, either in the city or country schools, have left the schools to join them. The boys have been receiving solid religious instructions, and 30 of them have already expressed their hope of taking up direct evangelistic work after completing their education. Each Sunday a group have gone to nearby villages to preach to the heathen. There are now 44 boys in attendance, 17 of whom expect to go out from the school this year, the first of the classes to graduate. All except two in the school are professing Christians.

The Girls' Middle and Intermediate Schools under the direct care of the Chinese pastr have had a successful year. Over 70 were enrolled, eight of whom graduated this June. We are now trying to work out the original plan of having intermediate schools scattered in the different counties in convenient centers. We already have three of these schools which have an attendance of 70, and hope soon to start a fourth. These are for picked boys from our primary schools, as our facilities are so limited that only the most promising can be accommodated.

In the primary schools also we are trying to make the aim not "how many" but "how good." We are constantly cutting down the number of schools helped by Mission money, and securing better teachers for those maintained. There are now 62 of these primary schools, 15 of which are self-supporting, with a total of nearly 900 pupils. While some of the schools are ust for boys and some for girls, most of them are for both. In some of these schools there is a large proportion of heathen children, whose parents seem eager as never before for their children to attend. In one school, in an unorganized district, out of 19 pupils only four are Christians; and the single Christian family of the village, who give one-fifth of their income, supports all of the heathen pupils. The Kiaomi Boys' Intermediate School, as well as the school in Kiao Chao City, are the only ones that had to be temporarily closed because of revolutionary disturbances. All in all the progress of the school has been very satisfactory and we are looking forward to even better results in the coming year, as Mr. Cassat is working out plans to make the whole system of primary and intermediate schools better correlated and more efficient.

The Annual Institute for all the teachers, held for two weeks during the winter vacation, proves increasingly helpful. The teachers are also being graded, and a system of graded salaries adopted according to their teaching ability and efficiency. Uniform examinations were begun last year for intermediate pupils entering the Middle School, but hereafter such examinations will also be set for pupils leaving the primary schools.

WEI-HSIEN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Point Breeze Academy for Boys; Girls' High School; Ankiu Normal School for Girls; Ankiu Upper Primary and Middle School; three Girls' Intermediate Boarding Schools; Women's Bible Institute; Day Schools; Men's Hospital; Women's Hospital; Churches, and Groups. Shantung Christian University—Theological College.

The death of Miss Edna M. Brack on October 10, 1916, brought sudden sorrow to the hearts of her many friends. Although having been on the field less than two years, she had already won a warm place in the hearts of missionaries and Chinese alike and had revealed qualifications for successful missionary service. She gladly undertook the hard work of the country itinerating and the Chinese in many villages readily responded to her evident love for them and to her deep and warm evangelistic zeal. At her funeral, the native pastor earnestly appealed to the Chinese present to dedicate their lives to the work to which Miss Brack had given herself with unselfish devotion.

Again Weihsien has had an unusual year—this time due to an attack made on the city, May 4, by the revolutionary soldiers, and the consequent fleeing of all classes of people to the compound.

At first only the Christian families and the families of the school children were admitted. But later on we took all we could crowd in, rich and poor, Christian and non-Christian. This only included women and children. We have had over 700 at one time. From the first day of the trouble, the gate of the compound has been kept shut, and no one allowed to go either in or out without permission. This meant that a foreign man must be continually on duty. Also from the first the young men have taken turns watching at night to see that all is well. This with the charge of so many extra people has meant considerable work to the members of the compound. The refugees were housed principally in the college dormitories and the Bible Institute. There were many wealthy among them who contributed grain and money, so that we were able to open a gruel kitchen. This was given free to the poor, but a small price charged to those who could pay—just enough to cover the expense of cooking. The sanitation was put in charge of a committee, because of whose constant vigilance there has been no epidemic of any kind. Daily visits have been made in each room by Bible women and foreigners. Most of them seem very anxious to learn, while some listen patiently out of policy. But whether through desire to learn the gospel, or desire to learn the gospel, or desire to remain here throughout the trouble, they hear the Gospel daily, and seeds are being sown. They all seem thoroughly to enjoy the singing. One Bible woman said they begged her to come and teach them to sing. One evening just at dusk two foreigners passing by heard childish voices praying, and made out the forms of the school children, seated in the crowded yard with bowed heads, having their regular evening prayers. Throughout the whole trouble, one of the most noticeable things has been the absolute trust of the people in us. Two primary schools and a kindergarten were opened for the children who had left their schools in the city. It was pathetic to see the eager interest with which the bound-footed old dames crowded around to see the children go through their drill. Who knows but what seeds may now be sown in conservative Weihsien that will reap a wonderful harvest in after years.

EVANGELISTIC.—The country evangelistic work for women has been exceedingly encouraging this year. Eight Bible study classes have been held besides many Christian and non-Christian villages visited.

At Siantai the class was held in the pretty new chapel. The people had joined in the labor and expense of building it and had indulged their taste for bright colors in the painting both inside and out. They were deeply grieved when it was raided by soldiers. The Elder saw the soldiers beating dents in the beautiful blue doors with their guns. He protested, saying, "This is the House of God." When they beat him cruelly and threatened his life, he said, "Kill me if you like, but spare the chapel. It is the House of God." At Boahsing also there was much interest shown.

Our emphasis in Men's Evangelistic Work this year has been laid on the work among the non-Christian villages. We are very much encouraged by all that has been accomplished in that line. Last summer a Bible study class was held for both pastors and evangelists. In the fall a preaching campaign was conducted for two months among the non-Christian villages in Loa An County. Thirty-two men, working two by two, went out daily into the villages preaching. They sold about 10,000 Scripture portions. As a result two centers have already been opened. Loa An City is the second city in our field to be occupied by the City Evangelization Directors. Ankiu City work continues to flourish in its phenomenal way. Weihsien City work continues to grow. Over 40 persons were examined at the last communion time. At the fall Presbytery two young men were ordained and put in charge of churches. But as two pastors have left, one going to the Independent Church in Tsinan and the other to take charge of the city work in Kiuchow, connected with the Ichowfu field we still have just 11 in the work of the pastorate. One of these has charge of Mr. Fitch's stations during his furlough. They are all doing faithful work.

A new plan was adopted for the evangelists. Instead of distributing them singly among our out-stations, after spending days themselves in prayer, they were sent in groups of seven to hold special meetings in central places. Besides grouping the workers in this way, we have been combining stations. The people in stations near to each other have been attending a central place of worship, thus rendering the field much easier to shepherd. As places of worship have been opened too near together, this work must be continued for years before the field is in proper shape.

During the year many family altars have been established. All the pastors have been working towards this end, and one of the best evangelists was set aside especially for it. A good many Wednesday evening prayer meetings have also been started. One of our best pastors went to Moukden last fall for a two months' course in Sunday school work. When he came back he threw himself with enthusiasm into that work with the result that wherever there are pastors in our field, Sunday Schools have been started. The largest is the one here on the compound. It has 37 classes exclusive of the college students. The East Suburb Sunday School continues to flourish and has outgrown its present quarters.

The American Bible Society employs a colporteur, who himself and through the Christians has sold 90,000 Scripture portions during the year. This indicates a greatly increased interest in Christianity on the part of the non-Christian population. It is because of this non-Christian population that we are greatly distressed. There are so many stations of Christians without pastors which require the services of our evangelists that they cannot be sent into this vast number of unreached villages.

EDUCATIONAL.—(For College Department, see Shantung Christian University.) Boys' Country Schools.

This year there have been 53 Lower and Higher Primary schools for boys in the Weihsien district with a total enrollment of 1144 pupils, 19 of these schools being self-supporting. Two school inspectors have been employed and they visit the schools four times a year. These inspectors also serve the Girls' Country Schools. During the vacation, a Teachers' Institute was held with 100 teachers in attendance, both men and women. A new system of school grading has been inaugurated. The school inspectors are to mark off schools on the basis of 1000 marks for teachers' work, students' work, local school management, buildings, equipment, sanitation, cleanliness, social service, etc. Any school receiving 800 marks is entitled to a red satin banner and to be known as a standard school.

Point Breeze Academy.—The autumn term opened with an enrollment of 71 students. At the New Year 16 were graduated, nine receiving certificates. Five entered the Arts College, three are teaching, two went to Tsingchowfu, and one is an assistant in the Hospital here. This year the Academy opened with 86 boys in attendance. When the revolution broke out in Shantung, a restless spirit was manifest among the boys. Three boys ran away early to join the revolutionary army, and after Weihsien was actually attacked, a few leading boys incited the others to break up the school. Between 30 and 40 boys left; some joined the revolutionary army, others went home. A few were sent back to school by their parents, but the term closed with only 44 students. During the year there have been some interesting experiments made in the use of the Curtis Standard Tests in Arithmetic. While we have not been able to work out the full results, we feel that the tests have been inspiring to the students in many ways. We have been fortunate in having fine Chinese teachers who have been faithful in their work and who have taken an unusual interest in the students.

Girls' Country Schools.—There have been 41 primary schools in the Weihsien district this year with a total enrollment of 515, and four intermediate with an enrollment of 116. A visit to the schools during the spring showed a marked improvement in buildings and outfit, in whitewashed rooms, better benches, desks, lighting and ventilation. Since the buildings and furniture are all provided by the people, and usually by one man, it is remarkable how much they are willing to do. When we find men rivalling each other for better buildings and equipment for girls' schools, we realize that Christianity is making great strides in China. The quality of the work done has also been better than before. The exhibition of their handiwork at the time of the Normal Institute, showed much ability on the part of the girls, and a good use of time on the part of the teachers. Many girls have had to drop out this year, on account of poverty. Now that the graduates are going in for nursing, kindergarten, and special religious service course, there is an even greater demand for an increasing number in preparation.

The kindergarten was opened in the Men's Bible Institute with a trained Chinese kindergartener as teacher. The daily attendance was from 12 to 14. At the outbreak of the trouble, among the other refugees were a number of the city kindergarten children. Both the children and the teacher joined forces with this kindergarten, making the daily attendance from 25 to 30.

The Girls' High School opened this year with an enrollment of 68. The incoming class consisted of 14 as bright and attractive girls as one could find. Several of these were children of educated parents, and it was wonderful to see what an influence this had in the development of the daughters. In January 19 graduated, the largest number that has ever been graduated here. Two of these stayed on to finish up some incomplete work and also to take up extra studies. The other 17 went into the primary and intermediate schools as teachers. Most of them are doing splendid work, as a recent trip to the country revealed. Many of them help in the Sunday School either here on the compound or in the East Suburb. Some of the girls who lived nearby, continued this teaching during all the hot weather of last summer. The Y. W. C. A. has been active and the Bible study classes diligent and faithful. Many of the girls have expressed an interest in and a desire to help in the teaching of the children in their home villages this summer. The girls also helped in the meetings for the refugees. They sang at several and some of the talks were given by them.

The Women's Bible Institute opened its fall term with 31 in attendance. Due to either personal illness or contagious diseases in the villages, only 21 attended the spring term. The regular course of study was followed, augmented by vigorous drill and play in the fresh air. There were also talks on the necessity of bathing, open doors and windows, fresh air, and practical demonstrations of room cleaning. Much attention was given to training the women in hymn singing. The older women followed the usual custom of preaching in the nearby villages on Wednesday afternoon.

MEDICAL.—A card system of dispensary records and a new system of in-patient records were introduced. Prescription blanks are now used and the names of the drugs prescribed are written out as in America, thus doing away with the number system of prescribing.

The attendance on the patient by members of the family is also being gradually changed. This is especially difficult because of the lack of room for male nurses. On April 1st the hospital kitchen was opened for a six months' trial. It is providing wholesome food and is saving the employees much time. Up to date it has proved a financial success.

The hospital was running full steam ahead, with crowded dispensary and over-crowded hospital, when the revolution broke out. A three-inch shell through the roof, and an hour's time left only the employees. The hospital has been opened only to the wounded. The two doctors were requested by the county officials to organize a Red Cross Society. After organization our doctors withdrew because of the persistent misuse of the insignia. A week later the Revolutionary army disbanded it.

SHANTUNG CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY

HISTORICAL.—The Shantung Christian University consists of three colleges at three important centers, viz: The College of Arts and Science at Weih sien, The Gotch-Robinson Union Theological College at Tsingchowfu, and The Union Medical College at Tsinanfu. Plans are in progress for concentrating the work of the University at the provincial capital, Tsinanfu. The property of the colleges at Weih sien and Tsingchowfu is needed for other mission purposes. The University was established by the American Presbyterian, and English Baptist Missions, and is governed by a representative council subject to the ultimate control of the home societies. Other Missions of Shantung and contiguous provinces are entering the union, either wholly or in part, on terms of equality with the original uniting Missions, and it is hoped that ultimately our union may include all the Protestant Missions of the province. The courses of study does not require a knowledge of English, for while English is taught, the work of the college is carried on in Chinese.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCE at Weih sien. The spring term opened with 206 students whose religious affiliations were as follows: Shantung Presbyterian Mission, 114; English Baptist Mission, 55; Anglican Mission, 7; Missions outside the Union, 14; non-Christian, 16.

The large decline in the number of students was partly owing to the fact that, in January last, we graduated a double class, the old Sixth and the new Fourth, aggregating 96, and received only 33 in the incoming First Class. Moreover, the entering Elective Class was smaller than usual. The problem of locating the 96 graduates proved to be a very difficult one. Owing partly to war conditions, the demand of Missions for teachers fell off, and efforts to locate the men in government schools or in business uniformly failed. Many of the graduates, we are glad to report, found positions by their own efforts in various places, including Manchuria. But there are still a few of them unemployed and, meanwhile, another class of 23 men has graduated.

The College and the University owe a great debt to Mr. Luce for his tireless and successful efforts in America to raise funds for building the new plant of the University at Tsinanfu. We were glad to welcome two new missionaries to the teaching staff in the persons of Mr. Harold Harkness of Ontario, Canada, and Mr. William H. Adolph, PH.D., of Philadelphia. They are specialists in Mechanical Engineering and Chemistry. Steps have been taken towards organizing the whole student body into two societies which, under Faculty direction, shall take over the literary, oratorical and athletic activities of the college with a view of creating interest and college spirit by means of friendly rivalry. Our President Elect, Rev. L. J. Davies, arrived about the first of December and was given a cordial welcome.

The Gotch-Robinson Theological College at Tsingchowfu.—The number of students enrolled in the Theological Department was 31, the largest we have yet had. Of these a fair proportion were graduates of the Arts College. It is interesting to note that four of the students in this department are from outside provinces, and that in the ensuing year the number will be increased to six. We rejoice in the widening influence of the institution, and trust that the service we are thus able to render our sister missions may prove helpful to them and to the churches in their fields. Five students from this department have graduated this year. One of the students who left in the preceding year, has since his graduation proceeded to the United States and entered the Princeton Theological Seminary. It is a source of great gratification to us that the work he did here has been accepted by that institution, and as a result he has been able to enter as a post-graduate student. The number of entering students for the ensuing year is 11, including two who have been professors of the Arts College. We are thankful for this evidence that the claims of the ministry are being increasingly realized by the brighter intellects in our churches.

In the Normal School the number of students in the senior year was 29, of whom 24 received diplomas, and, in the junior year, 16. The class work has followed the same lines as in the preceding year. The one year's special course of study prescribed by the Council, has been provided for graduates of the Normal School desiring to enter the Theological Department, and a class of 12 students enrolled.

Union Medical College at Tsinan-fu.—Two outstanding events have combined to make the past year one of the most interesting and encouraging in the history of the institution,—the graduating of the first class who have completed the full course of medical study, and the completion and opening of the new hospital and out-patient dispensary. There were four men to receive the first medical diplomas granted by the University; and, by a singular coincidence,—a happy augury, as we trust, for the widespread usefulness of the College in the future—these four men represent four separate Missions.

College Department.—Owing to an alteration in the time of holding the final examinations, our second Graduation has also fallen within the last calendar year, and on this occasion nine students received their diplomas. Three of these were men who failed to graduate a year ago, and who, after putting in a further term's work in the wards, came before the examiners at midsummer, and successfully passed the test. Thirteen students joined the new class at the commencement of the spring term, bringing our total number in residence to 46. The work which they have done has been, on the whole, quite satisfactory, and there has been a most gratifying absence of any serious breaches of College rules.

It has been a matter of extreme gratification that the Executive Committee and Council on Medical Education of the China Medical Missionary Association, at a joint meeting held in April last, passed a unanimous resolution in favour of the maintenance and development of medical education through the medium of Mandarin, recommending our College as the one most suitable for such development.

Opening of the New Hospital.—The splendid new buildings, which have been erected and equipped at a cost of nearly 9,000 pounds sterling by the Baptist Missionary Society, were completed and were formally opened by the Military Governor. A large company assembled for the occasion, and after a reception had been held in the Out-Patient Department, and the various rooms inspected, the Governor led the party to the front door of the Hospital, which he proceeded to open with a silver key. The wards and adjoining rooms having been duly visited and enthusiastically commented upon, the company gathered in a large ward on the ground floor, where the official proceedings were conducted. Similar receptions were held during the following days, for representatives of the chief colleges, the leading merchants, the Mohammedan community, and for the wives of the officials, etc., and at each of these gatherings the greatest appreciation and friendliness were shown on all sides.

With the opening of the new hospital, it was decided to commence regular training for male nurses. Although a high standard of entrance was required (Middle School Graduation certificate), there were between 40 and 50 applicants, of whom 12 were selected to form the first class. A fresh class of female nurses was also entered in the autumn term. The new Out-patient Dispensary has proved an unqualified success. With the opening of these new premises it was decided to initiate a scale of charges, ordinary patients paying a fee of five cents for the first visit and 20 cash for each succeeding attendance. Better-class patients, who wish to be seen on arrival without waiting their turn with the rest, are charged one dollar (fifty cents for return visits); but anyone who asks to do so can still be seen gratuitously, if they are willing to wait until the ordinary patients have been seen. This change has made no appreciable difference to the number of patients who have received medical attendance at the Out-patient Department during the past year, the total number of visits being 35,585. The In-Patient statistics have exactly doubled this year.

TSINAU-FU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Hamilton Memorial Academy for Boys; Murray High School for Girls; Day Schools; McIlvaine Hospital for Men; Louisa Y. Boyd Hospital for Women; Union Medical College of Shantung University; 29 Churches and Chapels.

The thing for which we are chiefly thankful is the gradual changing attitude of the Chinese toward the foreigner. While a few years ago the missionaries were looked on with suspicion and opprobrious epithets were applied to them, now both in the city and the country, we are cordially welcomed and the message is respectfully received.

EVANGELISTIC.—The churches and the widely scattered Christians of the Tsinanfu field have been repeatedly visited during the year, and there are signs of steady growth even though it be slow.

Especially is there growth along spiritual lines often manifesting itself in unexpected ways. Like the disciples of old, some have incorrect or exaggerated views of what the Church of Christ means, and some enter with more or less of earthly aspirations. But time is a great sifter. A few drop out and follow no more, but the majority, though some are weak, remain steadfast. Among the evidences of growth we are glad to note the marked advance in contributions. All the groups of Christians have come up to the minimum determined by Presbytery for gifts toward the support of the evangelists. Considerable amounts of money have been raised at three centers for church buildings and for more or less extensive repairs at several other places. A special evangelistic effort has been made by the preachers, assisted by a number of the Christians, at many of the fairs and markets, with encouraging results in the way of interest shown and inquiries brought out. Three new places of worship have been established with good attendance, and there are a number of earnest students of the doctrine at each place. Another sign of encouragement is the increasing number of young men and women seeking Christian education. Some of these are already doing good work, and are the hope and promise of the church and the nation.

The work in Chang Ching City has developed steadily. Three believers have been received into the church and a day school for girls has been opened. The buildings have been repaired. The preaching hall has been moved to the East Suburb, where it has been well attended. The women and girls have done fine work in the catechism and Matthew. This is one of the five county seats in our field, and one which we hope will soon be entered by the Cities Evangelistic Committee. The City Church in Tsinanfu has recently launched out with great enthusiasm upon an attempt to raise $10,000 Mexican in five years' time for a centrally located church building, and from the generous way in which some are subscribing there is good reason to believe that they will be successful. They are also putting forth an effort to reach the 30,000 Moslems of our city. Many especially adapted tracts have been distributed, and some visiting has been done in which there has been a cordial reception. One Mohammedan of culture, who was soundly converted at the Medical College Hospital, has united with the church, and is taking a strong stand for Christ among his own people. It is worthy of remark that he has met with no persecution from his own family. The outlook in the East Suburb near the new city gate is our Gospel Hall, and the audiences here while not large have been most respectful and attentive. During these past few weeks of unrest, a number of interested parties have come in to hear and to take part in the conversation relating to the gospel of the Kingdom. They have found it a place of quiet and rest and of comforting words. Among the agencies which have proved helpful in reaching the grown people as well as the children of the East Suburb, we would mention also the efficient Kindergarten and Sabbath School, and the extensive visitation in the homes by the missionaries, women evangelists and others. The hospitals, too, have played their usual important part in evangelistic work.

The Work for Women in the country districts is encouraging and interesting. In several instances the eagerness of women to attend these classes has been shown by their walking from two to three miles every day from their homes to the class sometimes carrying a child in their arms. Our women evangelists have done faithful visiting in their districts, especially where they have been new inquirers, and they report that where formerly at fairs and markets they were treated disrespectfully, now they are invited to sit down and talk with the women who gather. Unbound feet are a great attraction, and afford an opportunity of explaining the comforts and blessings which the freedom of the "Jesus doctrine" bestows. Last autumn the Women's Bible Institute graduated its first class since the adoption of the three-year course. There were six graduates, all of whom are doing evangelistic work, but at present owing to lack of funds, the Mission is able to employ them for only six months of the year. A new class of 22 members was entered in March. In addition to their work in the school, in which the women have been very faithful, they have gone out preaching every Saturday afternoon, and have gained much valuable experience as well as rendered helpful service. The Union Church has a Missionary Society of its own which has done exceptionally good work this year.

The Sunday School meets in three sections; the main school completely fills the church building. The teaching is done largely by local Christians, helpers from the hospital and teachers from the Academy. There are over 20 classes and the average attendance is only 200. The intermediate department meets in the East Suburb street chapel and is composed entirely of boys who are too old for admittance into the primary Sunday School. The average attendance in this school is 53 and the average collection 380 cash. The Primary and Kindergarten department of the Sunday School meets in the Kindergarten. This school also is made up almost entirely of children from heathen homes. They are required to memorize the Golden text, and when they leave they carry with them the attractive lesson leaf. The total attendance has averaged 205, while the smallest attendance any one Sunday has been 135.

Our station is represented in the Y. M. C. A. by Mr. W. D. Boone. During the year he has taught on an average of five hours a week in the government schools, the remuneration for which work has been turned over to the Y. M. C. A. budget. The association night school has been continued, but because of a shortage of available teachers the enrollment has been restricted to about 35. The students are largely young men in business positions in the foreign settlement, and besides showing much interest in the religious and educational lectures of the association many of them have enrolled in Bible classes.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Hamilton Memorial Academy continues its work as one of the vital evangelistic forces of the station. The enrollment has been 60, of which number 34 are church members and all of the remaining 26 are inquirers.

Six of these boys are from heathen homes, and have received here their first knowledge of and instruction in Christian teaching. This year we graduated a class of eleven promising students, and reports of their work since leaving the school are very satisfactory. Three have entered the Arts College at Weihsien, one the Theological College at Tsingchoufu, and three are taking the nurses' training course in the Union Medical College Hospital. In addition to the regular religious instruction of the school curriculum, voluntary Bible classes have been maintained throughout the year, and the boys have engaged in various forms of social and evangelistic service. The erection of a new building, a memorial to Dr. W. B. Hamilton, is now made possible through the gifts of Washington Presbytery. Work was begun some time ago and the walls are now up.

This year has marked a considerable advance in the work of the Murray's Girls' High School. The enrollment has increased to 47, which is as many as the present dormitories can conveniently care for. As the school is only three and a half years old, this is the first year that we have had a senior class, and, making allowance for sickness, failures, and other unforeseen calamities, it is hoped to graduate a class of ten girls at the coming New Year period. On account of the disturbed political conditions in Tsinan this spring, the girls' parents were unwilling to have their daughters remain longer in the city, so it was found necessary to close the school earlier than was intended, but if, as we trust will be the case, everything is peaceful in the fall, it is hoped to begin earlier so no time will be lost.

The last few years have marked a steady and rapid growth in the Primary Schools throughout the Tsinan field. In all the schools the building is supplied by the people themselves and they pay at least half of the teacher's salary. In most cases practically the only limit to the enrollment is lack of room, and all are in need of better buildings. An encouraging sign of the people's increasing interest in education is the fact that in several places they have built better buildings or repaired old ones. It is the policy to employ no one as a teacher who has not at least completed the High School course, and two of our teachers are college graduates, eleven are graduates of the normal school, while others have had partial college courses. There are 36 schools in the field enrolling 594 boys and 130 girls.

This year has seen the opening and carrying on of a regular day Kindergarten with a trained teacher in charge. There have been two sessions daily with twenty to thirty pupils in each session. Visitors have been welcomed and not a day has passed but has seen four or five fond parents or grandmothers sitting quietly in the back of the room and watching with great interest. On Parents' Day, which is observed once a month, there are usually forty to sixty visitors. Several of the government schools have come with their normal classes and have remained to observe the work of an entire session. They have been intensely interested for modern kindergarten work is something entirely new to them, and thus far their conception of a kindergarten has been little more than the mere name. Nor has their interest been confined merely to visits, for the Second Normal School came for plans for a kindergarten of their own and they now have a very suitable plant. This spring we gave diplomas to a class of eight-year-old children who have been faithful in their attendance and have done good work.

MEDICAL.—McIlvaine Hospital and dispensary has been run during the past year along the same lines as previous years.

The principal surgical cases have been sent to the College Hospital in the South Suburb as was done last year. Dr. Wang and the hospital assistants have been responsible for a large share of the work done in the hospitals and dispensary, and Dr. Wang also responded to by far the larger number of the outcalls, of which there have been more than usual during the year. Mr. Jen, the hospital evangelist, has been very faithful in looking after the evangelistic work of the hospital. Besides preaching daily to the dispensary patients in the waiting room, he has conducted Bible classes among the patients in the wards of the hospitals so that every patient has come into personal contact with Gospel teaching and we hope carried away with him some seeds of truth which will bear fruit for the Master. The foreign evangelistic members of the station have visited the hospital frequently and the policy of the future is to make this an active part of the evangelistic work of the station under the charge of some one of the evangelistic men. This is a very welcome effort and we believe will enable the station to take more advantage of the unique opportunities presented by the hospital for evangelistic work. The following is the record for the year ending June 30, 1916: new dispensary patients, 5,666; old dispensary patients, 7,738; medical hospital patients, 312; surgical hospital patients, 182; out calls 245; total 14,143.

The work of the Louisa Y. Boyd Hospital for women has been in Dr. Keator's charge during the past year, Dr. Merwin assisting for four months of that time. In addition to the work of the hospital, Dr. Keator has taken two country trips for medical work. Two evangelists have given their entire time to the hospital, in the waiting room, at the bed-sides and in the homes of the patients. In January another evangelist was added to the staff. Each Saturday afternoon during clinic hours women from the Bible Institute have taken charge of preaching in the waiting room. No record has been kept of in-patients and outcalls. The other statistics are: first visits, 3,134; return visits, 3,062; total, 6,196.

ICHOU-FU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—McPherson Boys' Academy; Girls' High School; Louise J. Comegys Memorial Bible Institute; Floyd D. White Hospital for Men; Hospital for Women; Day Schools; 27 Churches and Chapels.

EVANGELISTIC.—This year, for the first time in our history, two of our young men (graduates from Tsingchowfu Seminary) were ordained as pastors. One of these has been chosen as pastor of the Ichowfu Church; and the other has been placed by Presbytery in charge of the work of our field south of Ichowfu. Both are zealous workers and are exerting a wide influence. Invitations have come to open new centers of work. Many times this past year we have felt that we were losing much, because we were unable to go in at the open doors. The Ishwei work continues to be full of interest. The new church is well filled every Sabbath. Many business men and Government students attend regularly. A Bible class for Christians meets each night in the city chapel, and the country work of this district is making good progress.

Evangelistic meetings for Christians of the entire field have been held in five country centers. These brought to the Christians a better understanding of the Word and deepened their spiritual experience.

Tent work is always encouraging. For about 10 weeks a group of evangelists visited the more important places, varying their stay from two days to a week. The willingness with which the people listened, the large numbers who bought Gospels and New Testaments, the interest of those with whom we held private conversation, all these facts go to show that if we had some way of doing follow-up work, we should have, in nearly every place, a group of inquirers. We are glad that it was possible for the City Evangeliation Committee to take charge in Chuchow. Unpaid colporteurs, this year as last, are our best salesmen. One man gives nearly his whole time to it, travelling over parts of two countries. He has sold 27,000 gospels in the past year.

Although there is a missionary in charge of the Ichowfu city work, the real labor is done by natives from two centers. A. The Church has its own pastor and sessions, but we must mention its work. The new pastor is doing excellent work in a hard field. The results of his faithful pastoral calls and daily Bible classes are being felt. And the Church with its two additional, newly-elected elders is giving every indication of progress. Scores have been examined during the past year and many baptized. One could not find many churches in U. S. A. where so many members go out to teach and preach every Sunday as is the case here. One need of the church, however, is a larger and more effective adult Sunday School. The Primary S. S. has made good progress this year: the attendance hovers around the hundred mark—mostly non-Christian children. B. The work more directly under our care is that done in the chapels. (1) The church gate chapel, which is open every fifth day, during the big South Suburb Market, gives the gospel to nearly 200 people each day. (2) The City Chapel plant is constantly in use and is one of our best investments. We average over 70 per day in attendance in the preaching hall; and much solid work is done in the reading room. Formerly about 30 a day came to read papers and magazines, but the exciting times have caused others to come—many whom we, heretofore, could not get hold of—so that now through friendly conversation we can present the Gospel to at least 50 every day. During the year, 15 have earnestly studied the doctrine; 10 have been examined for the first time and one baptized.

The women's evangelistic work has grown this year. In the Ishwei field, three Bible women have put in full time. At Ichowfu, there have been three regulars; and two additional workers since February; while at Bienschwang, we had a special Bible woman. The local Christian women have preached in the hospital and helped the Catechumens in addition to house visitation. A new class was started in the winter, using "Easy Steps to Great Truths" in place of the old catechism. It was held twice a week, and has proved very satisfactory. Recently there was started a new class for women, which Miss Wagner oversees, and which is to meet twice a week in the city chapel. A few long country trips have been made by the missionary ladies. Several short trips were taken to nearby villages.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Comegys Bible Institute for women graduated its first class in January this year.

Three students completed the full course and an elderly woman was given a certificate for completing the work in the Bible. All four of these women have been engaged this spring in some form of evangelistic work. There have been in the school this past year the wives or fiancées of present or future preachers, doctors, evangelists and school teachers (yes, and even of a "carpet-making" professor); besides; there are the women whom we hope will engage in direct evangelistic work. Total, 24. Two of this year's graduates and one of next year's hope to attend the Advanced School for women when it is opened.

Girls' Schools.—The increased dormitory accommodations have relieved somewhat the inconveniences and crowding of last year. And the grants received from time to time from the homeland enable us to look forward with some degree of hope that we shall be able to accommodate the increasing attendance from our own country schools and also from Government Girls' Schools. The curricula of both Intermediate and High School departments have been advanced and an experienced teacher added to the staff. We are pleased with the evident development of the Christian character of a number of the students. Prayer circles have been faithfully kept up and the students of the High School have not only attended services, but also have helped much in the Sunday School or any other work entrusted to them. A Christian Endeavor Society was organized and the pupils have manifested not a little interest in it. The High School had 29 pupils; Intermediate and Primary, 54; total, 83. Graduated last year, three. Entered at beginning of term, seven. Left school for a time on account of home duties, one. Joined church during the year, one.

The Day School for Girls has done good work during the year. One pupil at the beginning of the last term entered the High School, and several pupils are very well advanced. One joined the church from a heathen home, and we hope that before long two or three others may be ready for that step.

Boys' School.—In spite of the fact that the foreigner in charge went home during the year and an inexperienced man took control, the McPherson Academy has been able to minister to the needs of the boys in much the same way as usual. The credit is due to a large extent to our efficient head teacher, a Chinese. In all departments we have had 83 enrolled this term, but have lost two who went home sick, and two who could not keep up in the work. Then, sad to say, there were ten, mostly from the region of Chu Chow, who came and stayed about two weeks. Our discipline work and doctrine were too much for them. Some took the examinations and entered the Government School—the rest of these just quit. The regulars consisted of 32 in High School; 16 in Intermediate and 21 in Primary.

MEDICAL.—The men's Hospital work was taken over by Dr. Harding, and Miss Wagner took the oversight of the women's Hospital.

Our force of native nurses was increased to three at New Year's. We took on a former High School girl who is willing to do anything. Our head assistant and dispenser was married at New Year's time, but as her husband is not yet through Medical School, she stays on to help us. Religious work is along the same lines as usual, and while much interest has been taken by many patients, we have no baptisms to record. The condition of public health throughout the city and its environs has been remarkably good. We have had almost no visitations of epidemic disease; even small-pox arrived behind schedule time, and the evils in its train were relatively light. A crusade against expectorating and its allied evils has resulted in marked improvement along these lines, but there is still much to be done before this menace to public health can be entirely eradicated. The great number of cases of both medical and surgical tuberculosis, with which we are constantly coming in contact, shows the need which exists for the institutional care of these unfortunates. If it could be possible to have some such hospital in connection with our medical school in Tsinan, it would not only be of inestimable value to the students, but would be the first step toward giving these poor people the care and scientific treatment which their condition requires. There is no disease which the Chinese seem to fear more than tuberculosis, and once the value of institutional treatment is demonstrated to them, the way would soon be opened for similar hospitals in the various stations.

TSINING STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Laughlin Academy for Boys; Kenarden School for Girls; Women's Bible Training School; Day Schools; Rose Bachman

Hospital for Men; Annie Hunter Hospital for Women; 60 Churches and Chapels.

EVANGELISTIC.—Along with the other improvements of our city we consider our fine new church building of utmost importance.

It was with thankful hearts last autumn that we moved our church home from the cramped little chapel to the beautiful new edifice which can be seen from all the surrounding country for a long distance, and which affords ample room for our largest congregations. The building was dedicated with a great deal of ceremony, many friends of the church, both Chinese and foreign, being present. The dedication sermon was preached by one of Shantung's best known Christians, who also conducted special services for several days following the dedication. Since last Christmas a very interesting feature of the Sunday School service has been the choir composed of about 75 children—the pupils of the two street primary schools.

The Tsining field as a whole seems to keep up its reputation for a large yearly catechumenate. This number seems never to get below 600 a year, and sometimes runs as high as 800. Of course they come from mixed motives and we have to use time and patience in sifting out the true from the false. Many of them are kept on the catechumen rolls for years and are then sometimes after all dropped. Surroundings and influences leading always to the bad make it hard for the younger generation in the T'sao Chou Fu district to break away from the habits of the older generation. The greatest hope of improvement seems to be the fact that many new government schools are being opened and the instruction, while not teaching Christianity, of course, is decidedly moral in theory at least. The women of the T'soa Chou Fu field have always been of an enterprising nature. They seem to have much more freedom than the women in the northern part of our field, and never fail to become leading personages in the churches and Christian groups in this field.

There seems to be a better will on the part of the people to see books and preach on their own responsibility. With this idea in view, our two tents have been out in the field the most of the spring. The campaign when held in the Feng Hsien field was financed entirely by the Chinese themselves. The leadership of the pastor aided much there. The other tent was sent up into the Tung P'ing Chou district which is also noted for its lawlessness. Therefore, it was no surprise when one night after receiving a volley of bricks and bad talk, the people found that the corner ropes on the tent were cut, and the iron pins holding down the tent were taken away. A long series of negotiations has as yet failed to get them back. Notwithstanding this persecution, the tent work has generally been well received, and one other attempt this spring was attended with good results.

Work among women and children.—Most of the Chinese are very poor, and the women especially find it very hard to get money to spend. When those who wanted to study managed to buy the catechism, costing less than one cent, it seemed that that was about as much as they could do, but they have gone further and bought "Easy Steps to Great Truths." Class work among women in the country villages has also made progress. It is our aim to gather all of the Bible women employed in our field into the compound for spiritual refreshment, Bible study, prayer, lectures on methods of work, etc. The classes are held for two weeks once a year.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Woman's Bible and Training School records an eventful year. The women have had more practical training than formerly in leading meetings and public preaching, the senior class being required to lead prayers in turn once a week, and receive criticism thereon. Each also leads public prayer meeting for women held in the church, interchanging weekly with the Christian women of the neighborhood. The members of the Woman's Missionary Society has charge of these weekly prayer meetings. Each Saturday afternoon and Sunday the Institute students visit in the homes of the people and have many catechumens on their roll. The class graduated in January was composed of six women.

Laughlin Academy opened with an attendance of 57 students. During the fall term of school the station co-operation committee voted to add another year to the high school, thus giving the large senior class the advantage of some much needed and more intensive work in the Chinese branches, and some higher work in mathematics. The members of this class were given the opportunity to graduate under the old course, or remain for the extra year. The majority of the class chose to remain for the additional work, but three boys wanted to graduate as they had originally planned. The Y. M. C. A. has done good and successful work during the year, especially in the voluntary Bible study. The monthly open sessions held in the church are interesting and the meetings well attended. During the last year the pastor of the church wishing to give the school boys some practical experience which will enable them to lead church services in their country homes, has instituted a new order of things. The Y. M. C. A. chose a number of boys, who in turn took entire charge of the evening church services every fortnight. In May the fourth annual athletic meeting was held with an attendance of 2,000 guests, probably 1,000 more being turned away. The Government High School gave a splendid exhibition of physical drill. This athletic meet has become a very important event of the year. More than a dozen schools were represented, most of these by nearly all their student body as well as their teachers. The past year has meant for Kenarden School quiet life and hard work and in the main good results for all. We started the term with 44 girls, 42 of whom remained until school closed. The course of study has just been revised, another year being added to the lower school. The lower school in May graduated three bright girls, who are ready for the high school work. The High School graduating class consists of four young ladies who have done good work during their school course and to whom we were glad to give the diploma of our school. With the possible exception of one girl, who may marry this summer, we are glad to be able to use all of these girls in our field this year as teachers in our primary girls' schools.

The two lower schools here on our city compound have done unusually good work during the past year, especially the boys' school. At the close of the spring term the number of pupils was 52, boys of all kinds and classes, ranging from the age of six to 20. The street girls' school, though much smaller, having only 21 pupils, has done good work in spite of the fact that their teacher was changed in the middle of the year.

MEDICAL.—The attendance at clinics has increased considerably and the amount of money raised on the field is therefore steadily on the increase.

During the month of May our new woman physician, accompanied by the hospital matron and one of our best country evangelists, made a very interesting trip by boat down the Grand Canal to the lake region to the south—an unfrequented part of our field. The itinerators returned at the end of two weeks highly pleased with the trip which had proved a success both medically and evangelistically. The medical department is a form of the work which has very evident results in the lives of the people we are trying to reach, and its work both in the hospital and out of it makes many lasting friends for the cause of Christ.

Rose Bachman Memorial Hospital for men: out-patients, 9,102; in-patients, 1438.

Annie Hunter Memorial Hospital for women: out-patients, 2275; in-patients, 337. Seen on country trip, 250.

YI-HSIEN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Industrial School; Girls' Boarding School; Woman's Bible Institute; Hospital; Day Schools; Churches and Chapels.

EVANGELISTIC.—The regular Sunday and midweek services have been held in the room used as a boys' school building.

The Sunday morning services have had an average attendance of about 200. The Sunday afternoon village preaching has been under the able directorship of our native doctor, and the preaching has been almost entirely by the Chinese. This work has been faithfully and well done. We are about to open Sunday afternoon Bible Classes or Sunday Schools in various villages.

One agency that has been remarkably favored is the sale of Gospel portions. Ten men, without salary but receiving their sale receipts, have been busy this year attending the temple fairs and markets throughout this region. Their sales show a total of 611 New Testaments and 81,804 Scripture portions—a grand total of 82,415.

A class for country school teachers, evangelists, and advanced Christians was held last summer. There were 40 persons in attendance.

At the fall meeting of Presbytery, the Christians at Tai'erhchwang, Liu Ts'wan Toe, and Bulung Tsi petitioned Presbytery to organize a church. A committee was appointed by Presbytery, and visited the field the first week in December. This resulted in the organization of the Yi Yang church with 65 members, which has grown to 77, having added 12 this spring.

Since the opening of the station, the work for women has been one of the notably encouraging features. At no time have the Chinese been backward or timid about calling on the foreign women. We have had and are continuing to have the most friendly relations with the ladies of wealth from both city and country, as well as those connected with the officials from the railroad and mines. Frequent calls from these ladies, accompanied by children and serving women, consume much of the time of the missionaries, but an effort is always made to make them feel the need of a Saviour, so the time is not lost. In striking contrast are the visits from the very poor. There are, also, numerous callers from "the great middle class." A weekly class in catechism has been held for the women employed in industrial work. A daily class for those studying Matthew has also been started. The attendance of women at the Sunday services has been large, the building being often inadequate to seat all who came.

EDUCATIONAL.—During this year the girls' school at the station numbered 31 throughout the year. Three children were accepted in the early fall, each brought by the mother, and in one case the mother and her baby came.

Boys' Industrial School.—Our last year's financial report showed a deficit of $340. This year our sales and expenditures up to the first of April show a small extra credit to the school, which includes the payment of a debt that was contracted before we had charge of the school. We believe that this is a fair average of the advancement of the school in every way. However, the school is not a money making scheme. Our school work has been retarded somewhat during the year by the leaving of the head Chinese teacher and several of his boy friends with him. Although this has been an obstacle that had to be overcome, yet the final results show that it is a large step in advance. We have our school better organized than we ever had it before. We have at last succeeded in getting a good carpenter and he is helping ten of the boys in this work. Also, we have one man over the farm and gardening work and we are trying to get this line of work in better shape. One school boy is doing good work at drawing building plans.

Day School.—In this field we have added during the year one girls' school and four boys' schools. The pupils have been increased from 140 to 260. This is our opportunity to open schools in every town where we have Christians. Night Schools.—This year there were fewer such than last year, only five schools with about 100 pupils. Five of these were graduated in the Six Hundred Character course and received their diplomas. On the graduation day special exercises were held, about 300 people attending.

MEDICAL WORK.—The hospital and dispensary work have had another most successful year.

Our so-called "hopsital wards," that is the dark, damp, mud huts, have been quite well filled during the greater part of the year, yet the class of patients has not been very satisfactory as only the very poor are willing to come into these rooms, the better class considering the dirty Chinese inns preferably to what the doctor has to offer them. Thus, the hospital is deprived of revenue that it might reasonably expect. Besides the work at the hospital, four itinerating trips have been made into our country fields. On these trips 1375 patients received treatment, several hundred portions of Scripture were sold and many religious services were held.

TENG-HSIEN STATION .

EQUIPMENT.—Bible and Normal Institute; Girls' Boarding School; 10 Day Schools; Dispensary; 11 Churches and Chapels.

EVANGELISTIC.—At a summer evangelistic conference of 20 days at T'ai Mountain, there were 50 men in attendance. They came from Ichowfu, T'si Au Fu, Tsinan and Tenghsien.

The men were earnest and intelligent, and the studies were helpful. At present there is great reluctance on the part of the Chinese to seeing foreigners use any part of their sacred hill, but in time this prejudice will be removed, as has happened so many times already in China and T'an Shan will come to be the popular and convenient resort it should be for conference or rest and study.

Fourteen evangelists and four colporteurs are at work in the Tenghsien field. They hold Sabbath services and evening classes in thirteen centers. We are fortunate in having a few country school teachers who lead in worship and greatly aid the evangelistic work. Tent preaching has been one of the chief features of the evangelistic efforts of the year. Five or six helpers with Mr. Romig took the tent from place to place, preaching seven or eight days in each town. A colporteur accompanied them and put up his little stand with books spread in attractive style. During the spring months they stopped in eight market towns or villages. They were always attentive listeners and in most of the towns we can now find interested readers of the Bible. The Christians are pleased to have the tent in their vicinity and in every case they came with barrows to remove the tent and pitch it on the new site. About thirty miles from Tenghsien City is the sacred hill called Yi Shan. It is not widely known and yet locally it has many worshipers. Thousands of pilgrims in the first and second months make trips to this mountain. This year the tent was set up on the slope of the hill and for a month the evangelists were busy preaching to the crowds that came to hear the new doctrine. Miss Dodds, with the hospital force and Bible women, spent several days in the tent treating the sick and preaching.

Little work has been done in Tengshien City beyond the preaching in the station church, the weekly preaching of bands of students or evangelists and the visits of Bible women. However, it is our purpose as soon as possible, to purchase and fit up a city chapel with an attractive reading room.

Women's Work.—Four Bible women are now at work, and the results of their efforts are evident in every village where they have taught. Our Thursday afternoon prayer meeting for women has been a blessing to our Christians and a means of instruction to all. This year we have used the C. E. topics as passages for study. The prayer meeting is led in turn by about ten of our Christian women. A night school for women and girls was opened for most of the year.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Bible and Normal School had a good year. There are 94 students, about two-thirds of whom are members of the church.

The school is attracting the sons of well-to-do families, and as a result, a number of the parents are becoming interested in the Christian religion. It was a beautiful day in March when the "Calvin W. Mateer Memorial Building" was formally dedicated to Christian service and education. There are ten day schools for boys, with 171 pupils. The one in connection with the Bible and Normal School is self-supporting, and has 56 pupils in attendance. Three flourishing night schools with 66 pupils are taught by the school teachers in their respective villages. The evangelists usually give some assistance in this night work. The schools are reaping the benefit of the Normal School in having a far better grade of country school teachers than has been their lot in earlier years. There are four girls' primary schools, with 73 pupils. The boarding school in town has more room this year. A part of a Chinese house has been turned into a dormitory, so that 21 girls are comfortably provided for. These with 12 day pupils make up the girls' school at Tenghsien. This spring a class finished the primary course. Next fall we plan to open an intermediate school with one of the students from the Normal School helping the regular teacher half a day.

MEDICAL WORK.—The hospital and dispensary work has gone on steadily under the direction of Miss Dodds and the Chinese physician and their three capable helpers. Frequently during the year they have made short trips to the country, often spending the Sabbath in the villages.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station see above list.) Early in the past century efforts were made to enter Canton, but without avail. The only place provided for residence of foreigners was the uncomfortable and unhealthy factory at Macao, which was allotted to the East India Company by the Chinese. The first Presbyterians to settle in Canton were the Rev. Messrs. Happer, Speer and French who removed there from Macao in 1845. In 1846 a boarding school for boys was established. A dispensary was opened in 1851. The First Church was organized with 13 members in January 1862. Many churches have been cared for by the Mission. Most of these were founded in the face of bitter opposition. In 1894 the bubonic plague swept away nearly 100,000 victims in Canton. A widespread outbreak of hostility against foreigners, who were supposed to have caused the pestilence, resulted. Recent years have seen a vast expansion of the country work through extensive itineration on the rivers and canals and the training and employment of native evangelists. Nearly all the Chinese in the United States have come from this region and many have gone back to carry the light to their friends at home. Others have sent large sums of money to build chapels and support teachers and pastors. During the troubled summer of 1900 almost all the chapels in the country districts were destroyed and the Christians persecuted. Now the people have themselves restored the buildings and the ingathering of converts has been unprecedented.

Lien-chou was long an out-station of Canton. During the outbreak of 1900 the station suffered heavily in the destruction of chapels and the homes of native Christians. On October 28, 1905, the station was attacked by a mob, infuriated by anti-foreign feeling, all property was destroyed, and four missionaries and one little girl murdered. The station was rebuilt, since which time the work has prospered greatly. At Yeung Kong serious disturbances from time to time interrupted the work. Since the Boxer outbreak encouraging progress has been made.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

CANTON STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Canton Christian College—a Union Institution independent of the Board, but conducted in harmony with the Mission work; Canton Union Theological College, supported by eight Missions of different denominations; H. V. Noyes Memorial College, including Training Class for Christian workers; Fulton Kindergarten Training School; "True Light Seminary for Girls; David Gregg Hospital for Women and Children; Julia Turner Training School for Nurses; Hackett Medical College for Women—a Union Institution. J. G. Kerr Refuge for the Insane; three Schools for the Blind; 29 Churches; 20 Groups; 69 Day Schools, including four Kindergartens.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Presbyterian Evangelistic centers in Canton are the First, Second, and Third Presbyterian Churches, Fati Church, the Church of the Covenant, and the Chinese Independent Church. The First and Second Presbyterian Churches have become self-supporting, as is also the Chinese Independent Church.

Third Presbyterian Church.—The Third Church is located not far from the center of Old City in an important position. An attempt has been made to get the church on a self-supporting basis, but the responsibility has been too great for the deacons and elders. A strong man, consecrated to the work, has been found as preacher, but still much help is needed in sympathetic planning with the missionary in charge. The finances of the church have improved. Regular services and Bible classes have been held. The most encouraging side of the work is the women's work. During Miss Churchill's absence, Dr. Niles has had charge of this. Eight Bible women have worked in connection with the church and the 16 schools, visiting in 3,500 homes. Sabbath schools have been conducted in six of the day schools where hundreds have been in attendance. The church Sunday School also has a large attendance from the streets in the vicinity. Total in the Sunday Schools, 1,100.

Women's Work in connection with the First Presbyterian (Cuyler Memorial) Church.—We have reason for encouragement in the increasing activity of the Christian women. They are assuming more responsibility for the development of the work and are finding the joy to their own hearts which service brings. The weekly Thursday meetings have had a better attendance than last year. A large factor in the spiritual growth of some of the women has been the special effort which has been put forth in behalf of the Province-wide Evangelistic Campaign. Nineteen women united with the church this year. Visiting in the home is a work fraught with difficulties. There is of course no trouble in visiting among Christians, but during the last two years since the rebellion it has not been easy to gain entrance into the homes of non-Christians. Picture-cards which are eagerly sought by women as well as children, play no small part in the winning of our way when invited into a home.

Fati Church.—The aim of this church is to serve students of the Noyes Memorial College, the Schools for the Blind, the Hospital for the Insane, and the villages in the vicinity. Each of these three institutions hold Sunday School services and prayer meetings separately. The College has also a Sunday School mostly for non-Christian children in the neighborhood. Students of the College in their Y. M. C. A. are in close co-operation with the work of the church. The student activities are (1) teaching Sunday School in the Fati Church and at three other points, (2) holding religious services in the village or in some of the chapels in or near Canton, (3) doing personal work among fellow students, the servants, and villages, (4) acting as watchmen on the campus during church service so that the servants can attend. The church has during this year raised the largest amount of money it has ever raised in the course of a year. It will pay part of a Bible woman's salary. The Sunday School has between 100 and 140 in attendance each Sunday. Our greatest difficulties are lack of room, lack of cleanliness and quietness, but thus far these difficulties have been impossible to overcome. The church is seeking to establish a chapel in the village of Fong Tsuen, and if this proves a success, to open another one a little further away. The chapels are to be operated largely by church officers and members at no added cost to the church.

Of the missionaries in Canton, only three women are giving the whole or the greater part of their time and interest to direct evangelism. Other missions have the same or a smaller proportion of workers. With the opportunities for supervision of church activities, training church members, and leaders of Bible classes, and visiting in the homes in a city of millions of people, the need for evangelistic workers in Canton is a glaring one.

West River Field.—Here are two organized churches, one strong, one weak, one with a building, one without—five chapels and one meeting place where truth is discussed publicly and privately with individuals. In most of these places there has been an advance. New interest and a revival of old work is manifested. Kau Kong is a large center of 300,000 people, of whom many have been abroad. With steamer connection direct to Hong Kong, much trade and much wealth, and with a certain amount of culture as well as wealth, there is presented to the Presbyterian Church, the only one in the field, a wonderful opportunity. The church at Kau Kong has been established about ten years. The spirit of the elders, deacons, preachers, and communicants seems to be very good and the interest quite sincere. Work for Women.—The floods in the summer months, causing destruction of life and property, hindered the work of visiting. In one place the chapel served as a refuge for a large number of people, opening new doors for Christian influence. The Bible women have carried on eight Sunday Schools, visited in a number of villages, and talked to thousands of women. The silk industry employs many girls and women, and here is a great opportunity for evening classes. There are about 400 women and girls in a factory near one of our schools. A few have joined an evening class, and more would come if there were the right kind of teachers. The meeting in connection with the Province-wide Evangelistic Campaign, at Tai Leung, made a deep impression upon the Christian women.

Shun Tak Field has many problems. The region is one in which extreme wealth and extreme poverty meet, and there is little common interest for these two classes. The section is noted for its silk—also for its robbers. It is suitably located, being on the main trade routes between Canton and all the districts of wealth in the southwest; also much of the trade on the West and North Rivers passes through its bounds. Tai Leung, the district city, has 200,000 inhabitants. Other towns like Chan Chuen, Wong Lin, Kwei Chau and Yeung Ki, have perhaps an average of 125,000. The work has met with various degrees of success in the different cities. Two or three recently opened chapels have had a marked advance, whereas several, because of the indifference of the leaders, have had only occasional preaching by visiting preachers. The most promising work is at the Canton base, in the Church of the Covenant. In the Canton church every evening of the week there are Bible study classes, lectures or religious addresses, and the church is extending its Bible class work into a private school and a large department store near by.

The need, if not the immediate opportunity, is staggering. What might be done is tremendous, but what there is to do it with seems microscopic. Would that everyone in the Church in America might have the vision that those who have been in or are entering upon this work have seen.

The work in The Four Districts includes 31 chapels and churches and the Cuyler Memorial Church in Canton. Their value at a conservative estimate is $73,000.00, of which amount nearly $40,000.00 was contributed by Chinese. Rent is now being paid on only four chapels. There are 20 organized churches, of which seven are self-supporting. It is the aim to make the entire work self-supporting within a period of five years. Every chapel and church now contributes to a Home Mission Fund, for which $500.00 was raised last year. One man and two Bible women are engaged also by the Presbytery for special work. Evangelistic campaigns twice a year have met with success. Announcements were made a week or two in advance in order that preparation might be made. Meetings were held morning and evening, and in the afternoon visits were made by different bands of workers to adjacent villages. At these meetings large numbers of women were present to whom the Bible women gave needed instruction. At no period in the history of the work have there been so many disasters by fire, flood and typhoon in one year, affecting churches and chapels. What is needed more than anything else is a more thoroughly trained and equipped class of preachers and evangelists.

EDUCATIONAL.—On account of political disturbances early in 1916 the work of the schools has suffered many interruptions. Lawlessness throughout the city and country has made it dangerous for students to go to and from their homes. The visits of Miss Ruth Paxson and Mr. Frank Buchman were much blessed in the deepening of the interest of the students in spiritual life and personal work.

True Light Seminary.—The study of English has been made more general, all the students above the fourth year receiving instruction. Much attention is given to athletics. Active religious work is done in Bible Classes, teaching, and personal work, also through the various societies—C. E., Y. W. C. A., and Missionary. During the past three years, 135 students have united with the church. A very large proportion of the students are now Christians. The fourth year has been added to the Women's Department Curriculum. A few will graduate this year from this department and a promising class from the High School. The whole Province having less than five High Schools for girls and very few if any full four years course, the opportunity along this line is unlimited. The increasing desire for the education of girls demands that we have higher education. Another pressing need for the development of educational work is well trained teachers for primary and elementary schools. Students enrolled during the years, 368.

Fulton Kindergarten Normal School.—The school moved into its fine new three story building on May 3, 1916. If we had nothing else to inspire us to better work, the building itself would be sufficient. Each Sunday the students take charge of Sunday Kindergartens in neighboring churches, some walking several miles. Although this is not required, one could not wish for a more spontaneous and willing response to the calls from the Churches for help. The students organized a Sunday afternoon prayer circle. The Model Kindergarten at the Normal School has enrolled 35 children. Here the Normal students receive their practical observations and teaching along with their practice teaching in branch kindergartens. Six kindergartens have been under our supervision. The Chinese Methodist Women's Society of San Francisco will support one of them this autumn and the Chinese have opened one at the Independent Baptist Church, each asking our supervision. This year upwards of 300 children have been under the instruction of our graduates. We will open a primary school this September in connection with the Kindergarten Normal so that the students may have an opportunity for studying the relations of the kindergarten to the primary work. The Kindergarten Normal has enrolled 18 students. The kindergartens have enrolled 139 students.

Union Theological College.—Eight Missions have united in the formation of this College. During the year the work of instruction has been carried on in rented quarters and these have become inadequate to the enlarged needs of the Institution. The number of students is over 60 and others are applying. Twelve students will graduate this year and there are indications that more than this number will apply for entrance in September.

Noyes Memorial College.—Throughout the year, there have been many improvements made in organization, in discipline, in the classroom, in instruction, in athletics, and in the spiritual forces exerted by the teachers and students. The removal of the theological department to the Union Seminary has been of great benefit in the way of Christian service on the part of the middle school. The instruction in English has been aided immensely by the arrival of Miss Burlingame. The Library is situated in the center of the student activities and draws a larger number of students each month. The value of Severance Hall is seen in the everyday life of the students, for its dormitory facilities and the gymnasium are in constant use. Military drill has been exceedingly poor, due to lack of interest on the part of the Chinese instructor. This coming year, the Boy Scout organization is to be used among the lower school boys, leaving the military drill only for those older and more interested boys. The student Magazine is a new departure and the two issues have been highly successful. Enrollment for the year: Middle School, 92; Grammar School, 113; Student's Y. M. C. A. School, 58; Kindergarten, 17; total, 280.

Meng Sam Schools for the Blind.—In June, 1915, three pupils graduated. At that time a beautiful piano was presented to the school. We trust the piano will be very valuable in helping our musical pupils to become music teachers. Of the three graduates, one has entered Fa Ti High School; the other two are doing evangelistic work in Kwai Peng, Kwong Sai, and the Canton Hospital. Four of the Meng Sam and two of the Meng Li graduates have permanent hospital positions and one is teaching a school of 30 blind girls in Kwai Peng. Two of our former pupils were in the Kindergarten Normal School last year and this year have taught the kindergarten department of the two schools, 24 children in the classes. Much spiritual help was received by the delegates to the Y. W. C. A. Students' Conference and S. S. Teachers' Institute. The students give much help in the Sunday School; 21 pupils have united with the Church during the year. Pupils enrolled, 132.

Fu Pong Day School.—Enrollment, 20 pupils last term and 16 this term. One little girl joined the Church in the last communion. She had been terribly burned and became much interested in the Gospel while at David Gregg Hospital. Fa Hui Day School.—The attendance has increased and many come from good homes. Mrs. Taam teaches and once a week a Bible woman and blind teacher from the School for the Blind go up to the School to teach music and knitting, and to hold a service for the children and neighbors. Two pupils have become Christians, but are not allowed by their parents to join the church. They seem to be most sincere Christians. The mother of one girl says she wishes to be a Christian also. Another mother says her daughter may join the church if we will find her a husband. Whitaker Day School.—As the Y. M. C. A. School absorbed most of the pupils who attended this school, we felt it unwise to continue it at present. The teacher is taking further work at the True Light Seminary. In the place of the Whitaker Day School, we have opened a kindergarten for the smaller children, 16 having been enrolled. Three will graduate into the Y. M. C. A. primary school in June. Funds to pay for the kindergarten equipment are much needed. Fong Tsuen Day School.—This day school in connection with the Refuge for the Insane had an enrollment of 40 pupils, three of whom were baptized during the year.

The Faculty of the True Light Seminary has had the oversight of six day schools in the city. These schools were filled in 1915 but have been more or less interrupted by the political disturbances in 1916. Sixteen day schools are in connection with the Third Presbyterian Church at Sz Oai Lau. Five hundred pupils are enrolled.

Weng-Kwong Day School for Girls.—This school continues to be prosperous and draws a goodly number of pupils from influential families. It enrolled 43 students. Hoh Luk Ku is still the efficient teacher and keeps up the same enthusiasm which has always characterized her work. As usual she has been deeply interested in the spiritual welfare of her pupils and three have united with the Church during the year. The standard of the school is high and conforms as nearly as possible to the requirements of the Educational Association.

West River and Shun Tak Schools.—There are 16 schools in these fields, 6 for girls and 10 for boys. At Kau Kong and one other school, boys and girls are taught together. It is hoped the Kau Kong school will become one of the grammar grade soon. The attendance at these schools is much smaller than it should be, and several have fallen by the wayside. The reasons are, first, poorly trained teachers available, and, secondly, the lack of equipment and proper buildings. There is no Christian Normal School in this section of Kwong Tung and until there is, little or no results can be expected from the Chapel schools, and yet it is a policy of the mission that there should be a primary school at every Chapel or connected with it.

At Tai Leung the Girls' School and that of the Berlin Mission were united, both being small. Many heathen schools are open and many girls are glad not to study Christian books as our schools require, while many parents fear their daughters may become Christians. In some of the older fields, it is possible to enlist a sympathetic interest in Christian schools, but at present the Shun Tak Christians have not fully realized the wide spread influence on society that a well conducted Christian School should have nor the value as an evangelistic agency.

Four Districts.—Ten schools for boys with an enrollment of 250 pupils. One of the two for girls in San Ning was broken up through fear of robbers. It had been a center for Christian work, and the Sunday School lessons were faithfully taught to heathen pupils. There were two teachers in this school, one a blind girl.

MEDICAL.—The medical work of the South China Mission is carried on in Canton in four Institutions, the Hackett Medical School, the David Gregg Hospital, the Turner Training School for Nurses, and the John G. Kerr Hospital for the Insane. The three former institutions are solely under the support and government of the Mission. The Hospital for the Insane is only partially so, being held, directed and partly supported by a Board of Trustees, but having five workers supported by the Presbyterian Board.

Hackett Medical College for Women.—The year has been one of good steady work on the part of the students, in spite of the fact that the frequent rumors of revolution in the spring of 1916 brought about two unexpected vacations. The students have worked with interest and ambition, and in general the result of their work has been good. There have been 36 students during the year. Nine Seniors finished in December. Six new students entered in September, making the number at the close of the fiscal year 24. The girls come from Kwong Tung, Kwong Sai, Fukien, the Island of Hainan, Honan, Hong Kong, and Macao. The Christian life of the students has deepened during the year. Several non-Christians are interested in studying Christianity and several of the Christian students have shown a deepened sense of the privileges and obligations of Christianity. One student united with the First Presbyterian Church of Canton. All but four are now church members and all but one enquirers. Four new student laboratory courses have been added, student laboratory work has also been added in Chemistry. New courses in Bible and mathematics have been given, a new clinic offered, and other courses improved.

Turner Training School for Nurses.—The largest class in the history of the school was graduated, nine girls having finished their course. This is the last of the classes taking the two years' course. All pupils now in the school—four second year, and seven first year students—have entered for the three years' course prescribed by the China Nursing Association. The work of the school has improved and enlarged requirements for entrance and standards of scholarship have been raised, a considerable number of district visits have been made, and the directory department has increased its work. The faculty consists of two foreigners and five Chinese part time only. At the beginning of the year all the students were Christians. Five of those entering this year have not yet united with the church, although all are enquirers.

The David Gregg Hospital.—The Directors have gone forward with their work of increasing the hospital staff. Dr. Hackett has been appointed superintendent and given charge of the department of medicine in the hospital and minor surgery in the dispensary. Dr. Boyd has continued in charge of the department of special senses. Dr. Wong Sut Ching has been appointed to the department of obstetrics and to assist Dr. Hackett. Dr. Todd of Kung Yee by an exchange arrangement does the operating. Dr. Kwan takes out-calls and assists in the dispensary. The nursing is in charge of Miss Stockton as before. A very much needed addition to the work has been given in Miss Bankes who was appointed Religious Work Director toward the close of the year. In November the new free dispensary building was opened. It is an untold improvement over the old mat-shed. In it the staff of two foreign and four Chinese doctors, one foreign and one Chinese trained nurse, a Chinese dentist, medical students and pupil nurses all find an opportunity of working for the poor (and often the rich) of the city. Students and doctors take a new interest in the work, and more patients are able to receive the benefit of the increased efficiency.

John G. Kerr Hospital for the Insane.—The two outstanding features of the year are the great flood and the final disappearance of beri-beri within the hospital. The time of the flood was one of exceptional difficulty and danger. Two-thirds of the patients live on ground floors. For a time all these patients had to be crowded into the space on the second floors already filled by the remaining one-third. Moreover the nearly seventy helpers as well as several of their families were compelled to find refuge within the same space. Notwithstanding the very unhygienic conditions, only two patients suffered harm, and notwithstanding the hard work and danger, only one of the helpers proved unfaithful to his duty. The disappearance of beri-beri may be considered a decided triumph. Formerly it was always present and sometimes 30 to 40 patients died because of it in a year. In 1915 a diet of half-polished rice replaced that of white rice, and from that time not a single case appeared except among the few wealthy patients and the helpers who insisted upon polished rice. Of these three died. The evangelistic work of the hospital is considerable, with regular church service, and Sunday School, morning prayers, three evening services, and Bible talks during dispensary hours. In 1915, 19 helpers and 15 patients or out-patients entered the church.

In these three institutions there are at present only four foreigners giving full time, one doctor, one trained nurse, one religious worker and one teacher. For the work in hand this force is of course entirely inadequate. The greatest need is for a sufficient permanent staff to give to these institutions their first interest, thought and effort.

YEUNG KONG STATION

EQUIPMENT.—“Light Witnessing” Boys’ School; “Light Loving” Girls’ School; “Forman Memorial Hospital,” 22 Day Schools; five Churches and 20 Groups.

The death of Mrs. William H. Dobson on August 25, 1916, brought great grief to her wide circle of friends and to the many Chinese who had learned to love and respect her. She was an especially warm and helpful friend of the native women and girls and was an indefatigable laborer in the station work in so far as her family and household duties and her health permitted. Her life of consecration will long be an incentive to higher service by those who knew her.

EVANGELISTIC.—During the absence of Mr. Thomson, the Rev. Hoh Kwai Tak has practically had full charge. He has done very faithful work, spending much time at the various country chapels.

Mr. Hoh’s report shows an average attendance throughout the field of 658, and a net gain in membership of 108. He estimates that the territory served embraces about 640 villages and that during the year about 60,000 persons listened to the Gospel message. The Outstanding features are: (1) Establishing many C. E. Societies and prayer meetings; and, (2) The continuance of every worker.

Church at Chung Lao, S. China.—Chinese put into land and building, Mex. 14,000. After 27 years of labor Morrison baptized only two or three converts. In 1850 there were only two or three hundred converts in the Empire. Today the converts number close to 300,000 and probably one million adherents.

Work for Women.—The Bible women have made the usual number of visits to the country chapels but are not able to meet the demands for visits made by Christians in isolated places. Where a nucleus of a school can be formed, a Bible woman can use it for a center from which to work. In the city there have been two Bible women at work, one in connection with the hospital and one for inquirers. The one preaching in the dispensary has done good, faithful work and by loving, tactful ways has won many to accept Christianity. She is a leader in adopting ideas on sanitation and hygiene. Eight women have been in the Training Class, studying the Life of Christ and Acts. A Good Housekeeping Club organized for the benefit of the younger married women has met monthly. Encouraging features noted this year have been the increasing desire of women to study and the development of a sense of responsibility in undertaking leadership. In giving aid to needy ones in Christian families, in giving help and good cheer to the lepers and blind at Christmas time and in their care for several blind girls under our charge they have shown real missionary spirit.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys.—Lack of money forced the Station to adopt the policy of granting only a very small subsidy ($24 per year) to each country school. As the number of Christian children at each place was small, it came about that at all the chapel schools the bulk of the expenses was met by money from the non-Christian patrons. This resulted in lower standards as the teacher must please the majority and the majority did not favor first class schools.

For the first time since the Ching Kwong School has become standardized, all our teachers are Yeung Kong men. All are good teachers and all are Christians. This has come about through the return of a Fati graduate and the coming to us of one of the very best Chinese teachers of Yeung Kong. All the teachers of country schools are Christians. At present seven students from the Ching Kwong School are engaged in teaching in Christian schools. Two more will be ready in September. The school has thus commenced to react on the community. This year we have conducted the work of the first year Middle School, giving in addition some work in educational methods. Practically all the boys who are eligible to membership have come into the church. We do not report many accessions from among the students for the simple reason that the boys all came in last year. This does not mean a lack of religious advance. The advance in the country schools consists in having Christian teachers throughout and having replaced some poorer teachers with better ones. Three new schools have been opened during the year. The statistics of the year show that we have had 16 schools and 20 teachers and have cared for 384 pupils. The fees for tuition and board have reached a total of $1,523.

Girls.—The three girls' schools have been doing strenuous work during the year. The fourth school was closed last spring on account of the death of the teacher and there being no one to take her place. We number approximately the same as the preceding year, about 60 pupils. But 22 of these live in the boarding school, as three dollars a month rice money is considered by many more than it costs to live at home. Outdoor sports and quiet indoor games have given a zest to many who seemed to be in a half lifeless condition. With the more vigorous exercise, the dormitories and study room screened, the boarding school has been more free from malaria and other diseases than heretofore. There are now ten who take advantage of our system of self-help, keeping the building clean, the playground in order and the vegetable garden weeded and watered, thus earning about half the price of their bread.

MEDICAL.—Of the ward patients, 242 men and 68 women have been cured, 33 men and 17 women partially improved, 37 men and 11 women left on account of lack of money or refused treatment, six men and three women died, 13 men and eight women remained in the hospital.

The Gospel has been preached by the foreign physician at daily morning service and on Sunday evening, by the helpers every evening in the wards, and by the pastor of the local church and the Bible women in the dispensary and the wards. There is a helpers' prayer meeting on Wednesday evening. The general health of the community has been unusually good, no plague or cholera have been seen during the past twelve months. A general repair of streets and sewers made during the previous year probably influenced favorably the present season. The health of the missionaries has continued good with the exception of Miss Bliss who left the field on account of ill-health.

Hungry and sick souls are everywhere waiting and begging for physical and spiritual assistance. Throughout our district the people are open to the coming of the doctor and the evangelist. There is a great itineration field open.

LIEN-CHOU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Boarding School; Girls' Boarding School; Theological Class; Woman's Bible Institute; seven Day Schools; "Van Norden Hospital" for Men; "Brooks Hospital" for Women; four Churches and seven Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—A gradual improvement of conditions in the local church at Lien Chou led up to the examination of 45 inquirers at last communion.

Regular weekly evening meetings in several neighboring villages has strengthened the faith of members and has been the means of reaching their neighbors and friends. The church has been practically self-supporting since April, 1915. The Lewis Memorial Chapel in Lien Chou city is becoming one of our main centers of Christian influence. The reading room is well patronized. For those who can not read, there is a public reading of the news of the day. This is one of the several places in the field where we can hold a meeting at any time, without previous notice, and have a full house. An advance in the local work is marked by the opening of a chapel in the Hunanese quarter of the city. Its people living off by themselves and speaking a different dialect, were not being reached by the general work. The effort to reach them met with an immediate response. Already there is a group of believers preparing for baptism.

The work at the oldest of our out-stations, Three Rivers, (Sam Kong), has been wonderfully revived during the year. This has been due to village evening meetings and pastoral work. Regular meetings are held in a dozen villages. Members are being trained to assist in these. From an old made-over Chinese shop to the imposing and commodious new Beacon Church is a big step. But it is a step for which the church at Eastdam (Tungpei) has been preparing by the steady healthy growth of several years. The building was erected through the joint efforts of Beacon Church, Philadelphia, and the local Chinese Christians. The opening of the church made a big impression on the city. The progress of the work is nowhere more strikingly seen than at Starson (Sing-Sz). An attempt to secure a chapel there five years ago resulted in a riot. A year later a chapel was opened, but three years passed with little to show for efforts expended. The favorable attitude of a couple of teachers turned the student class to us. A number of young men from the best families were converted and stood out splendidly against every threat of persecution. But the city remained unimpressed until the conversion of two notorious characters, one a soldier of fortune, the other the "king" of a band of 400 beggars. The transformation of their lives, and the dead earnestness of their attempts to reach others have aroused widespread interest in our work.

Special work for women is still largely confined to the district at Lien Chou, through lack of workers, native and foreign. Christian women here, however, have been visited in their homes. Weekly meetings are held at the Woman's Building in the city, and monthly ones at Sam Kong and Lung Hau.

At Chinese New Year, inquirers and church members, to the number of 70, met for ten days of Bible Study. New interest has been aroused in the Sunday School, and steps are being taken toward its reorganization along modern lines as an effective means of training Christians and their children.

A survey of the field shows only a small portion of it effectively reached. In one whole county we are without a single Christian; in another we have but 31; in a third but 106. There are at least ten important strategic centers waiting to be opened up. Other places can wait the natural growth of the work. For this we will need a large increase in the number of native preachers and Bible women. To meet the new conditions, they must have a much more thorough training.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' Boarding School reports an increase in attendance this year. Twenty-four different cities or villages, within a radius of 30 miles, are represented among its 57 pupils.

In the Girls' Boarding School, increased emphasis has been placed on the quality of the work done, and the character of the student body. Progress may be noted along some lines, as in the length of time the average student remains in school. Not so many come for one term or year, as formerly. The number of pupils in the higher grades has been gradually increasing. Seven day schools are reported, five for girls and two for boys. The year has seen the beginning of kindergarten work in two schools, one on the compound and one in the city.

The Bible Institute for Women has completed its first year of work. Eleven women have been enrolled. Considerable difficulty has been experienced through lack of funds for running expenses. The women themselves have helped out by doing all the work about the school, cooking, sweeping, scrubbing, etc. The supply of Bible women in this field is lamentably small. The Theological Training Class has continued as before, half the year in study and half the year in practical work. Perhaps the greatest need in educational work is for better trained teachers, both for those who can do more advanced work and for those trained in better method for Primary work. We are anxious to add two years of Middle School work to our central school and give our primary education to the day schools.

MEDICAL.—Our hospitals are again running full capacity under capable foreign supervision.

The Brooks Memorial Hospital for the first part of the year was under the care of Dr. Lei, a graduate of the Hackett Medical College of Canton. It reports 90 in-patients and 6,443 dispensary patients for the year. Dr. Philip Fulton is in charge of the Van Norden Hospital. Both hospitals have been thoroughly renovated and put into shape for good work. The Brooks Memorial Hospital has been provided with bedding and hospital clothing, and is expecting to equip a model kitchen. New regulations have been drawn up for both hospitals. Increased fees had the effect of temporarily decreasing the number of patients. The blind Bible woman has been doing good service in the Brooks Memorial Hospital, and has interested many patients in the Gospel and faithfully instructed them. The most pressing need in the medical work is for trained hospital assistants.

KO-CHOU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Five Organized Churches; 22 Groups; 12 Day Schools.

Our Workers' Training Conference reached the high water mark; 195 members enrolled of whom 15 did not miss a single one of the 73 hour-long sessions. The average attendance was 90 and 46 were present every session for seven consecutive days.

Christmas service brought out a bit of the Spirit of Christ by ministering to the blind colony, over 40 of whom attended the service.

The colporteur sales reached the total of 10,234 Portions of the Scriptures, the highest reported to the Bible Society in the province. There were also sold some hundreds of copies of religious books and tracts of various kinds with 1,000 copies of a Gospel Calendar.

Our baptisms also reached a high level if not the high water mark. Six hundred and twenty-nine were examined of whom 180 were baptized. We now have a total membership of 955 of whom 106 are women. Sixty-three infants also are on our rolls.

The Christian contributions have registered a new mark: $530.90 for education and $1,233.79 for all forms of church work; a total of $1,764.69, makes an advance of $598.46 over the previous year. We are just publishing in our chapels a complete list of all contributors classified: (1) $5.00 or over, (2) $ 1.00 or over and (3) less than $1.00. This will be of interest and may prove an incentive next year.

The medical work records a total of 1,016 treatments, of which 391 were "new" patients, 37 office calls and 6 out-calls.

In addition to these, 312 persons, chiefly women and children accompanied the patients and thus received the benefit of the Gospel instruction.

To our training class for women we now have an annex, a school for brides. The women's Sunday school has shown an increase in the number of those who are regularly in attendance. Several are seeking to establish a record for attendance ever Sunday unless prevented by sickness.

Our four women students were under instruction for three months of the year, the rest of the time being assigned to work in the village households of Christian men. They have had a fair degree of success. Work among the women, however, is slow, owing to the general indifference shown by the women.

Land has been purchased for our Boys' School,—the culmination of several years' effort of devious kinds. There is but little suitable land near our compound, so our efforts to secure a site have been intensive rather than extensive. We are experimenting with concrete block construction and hope to be able to build this fall.

Our new regular preaching-place has been opened at Taai Lei. Already twelve have been baptized and over 200 names are enrolled as enquirers. Thirteen members were transferred to Taai Lei from another chapel to form the nucleus; yielding a total of 25 members.

The movement has had some unusual features, approaching a small "mass movement;" has already undergone some trials and has shown commendable steadfastness. The average Sunday attendance is about 50; at times over 100. They meet for worship in an open shed attached to the buildings of a more well-to-do member. On a recent visit we held six services. At the communion service 170 men and 36 women were present. Practically every one of the men present when called upon was able to hold up his own copy of the New Testament. Forty-four were that day examined and nine were received.

Several cases of petty persecution have arisen among our Christian constituency. Seemingly important to those concerned, from our end we chiefly have to regret the great amount of time consumed and the vexatious delays in the adjustment of such difficulties. Yet, if a lesson can be taught and the members of the young Church trained to take another step upward, one may count such seeming waste of time and energy as part of the year's reckoning.

The growth of the past eight years has made careful and deep cultivation impossible with our limited force. The urgent need is for Biblical instruction. The theological students upon whom we reckoned have been reduced from 14 to five during the last two years.

SHEK LUNG STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Seven Organized Churches; 10 Groups; 10 Day Schools.

This youngest Station of the South China Mission has, during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher on furlough, been under the care of members of the Canton Station. The three ordained native men with a committee of elders appointed by the East River Presbytery have had the burden of the work. Reports received from them from time to time have been very encouraging.

The district has been much unsettled on account of the many bands of robbers. Shek Lung City has for the first time since the revolution actually seen fighting in her streets. A number of the villages in which we have work have been looted. But the work of the Church has not been molested.

Reports from the schools are particularly encouraging. The Boys' School at Shek Taan, where for six years we could not get any hearing, has 70 enrolled and has the active support and co-operation of the Gentry of that place. The Shek Lung Girls' School has also a large increase in attendance in new and commodious quarters.

When Mr. and Mrs. Fisher return, Mr. and Mrs. McMillen who have been studying the language for the last two years in Canton will go with them to develop and strengthen the growing work. The field is ripe with opportunities. The native church is wide awake. There are 20 preaching places; 13 preachers, three ordained, two Bible women; 13 school teachers, and seven organized churches.

Shek Lung Station covers an area of about three counties, partly in the delta region. There are over a million people that Presbyterians are responsible for in this station. There are 40 central places from which work should be carried on and occupied. By occupation is meant a Chapel, with preacher, Bible woman and day school teacher.

MISSIONS, THE CHINESE, JAPANESE AND KOREANS IN THE UNITED STATES

CHINESE, CALIFORNIA: Mission begun 1853. Missionaries—Rev. J. H. Laughlin and Mrs. Laughlin.

JAPANESE CALIFORNIA: Work begun in 1886. Missionaries—E. A. Sturge, M.D., and Mrs. Sturge.

KOREANS, CALIFORNIA: Work begun 1906, under care of Rev. J. H. Laughlin.

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA: Work begun in 1875. At present under the care of Rev. J. H. Laughlin.

WOMEN'S OCCIDENTAL BOARD, MISSION HOME, SAN FRANCISCO: Begun in 1874. Miss D. M. Cameron, Superintendent.

NEW YORK CITY: Work begun in 1868. Rev. Huie Kin, Superintendent.

HISTORY.—(For date of opening of each Station, see above list.) In 1853 the Presbyterian Board commissioned the Rev. William Speer as its first missionary for the Chinese on the Pacific Coast. Church organized with four male members.

In Los Angeles the Mission to the Chinese was founded by the late Dr. I. M. Condit.

In 1884 the Synod of Colombia, representing the states of Washington and Oregon, sent a petition to the Board to care for the Chinese in these two states, and Dr. W. S. Holt was chosen as the missionary to carry on this work.

In 1886 work was begun by E. A. Sturge, M.D., among the Japanese in California.

In 1868 work was begun among the Chinese in New York City, supported by individual efforts until 1889, when the Foreign Board consented to take charge of the work provisionally, which it did until 1898, when the Presbytery of New York assumed the charge.

Work among the Koreans in California was begun in Los Angeles.

In 1874 the Mission Home for Chinese Girls was opened by the Occidental Board, and in 1878 an Occidental School was established.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

CHINESE IN CALIFORNIA

EQUIPMENT.—Stations among the Chinese on the Pacific Coast are reported at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, Marysville, Santa Barbara, Alameda, Chico, Hanford. Churches are established at all these points with a total membership of 373. Sunday Schools are carried on. The volunteer workers among the Chinese are 56 Americans and 17 Chinese, while the paid workers number only eight.

The Rev. J. H. Laughlin, Superintendent of this work among the Chinese in California, reports as follows:—

The work has been carried on as in former years at the centers named above. At Hanford, after a year's aloofness on account of the general boycott declared by Chinese against Japanese, there has been on the part of a few Chinese, a resumption of fraternal study and worship with the Japanese of that Mission.

There have been gains in membership, Sunday-school attendance and contributions, the latter averaging for all purposes a per capita gift of $20.

In a survey of the entire history of the Mission some interesting facts are noted. The additions to the church for the period of 56 years, show that from one to 36 persons a year have been added, the largest number being in 1916, when 36 were brought into the Church, and the next largest in 1897, when 32 were added. The contributions for 28 years total $31,518, of which $11,975 were devoted to Home and Foreign Missions.

The surprise of the survey lies in the discovery that the greatest prosperity of the mission has come in the years of the exclusion-law handicap. "A decadent work" was what it was described to be to me when I undertook the superintendency of it, because the exclusion laws were keeping out the laboring class, and not enough of the exempt classes were coming to make up the deficit. While this is true, it is equally true now, that more than half of our total converts have been gathered in the last 21 years (two of these were earthquake years, which produced only two new members), and the net active membership, excluding those who have removed to distant places, has been more than doubled in the last 19 years. That membership now numbers 183.

And it is just as true that the large, steady giving of money to the promotion of the kingdom of our Lord, has only developed in recent years. In the last eight—I do not make it a decade, because in the two earthquake years we could do nothing more than scramble to our feet—the contributions of the San Francisco church have amounted to $20,343, of which $9,280 went to Home and Foreign Missions.

KOREANS IN CALIFORNIA

EQUIPMENT.—Among the Koreans are station at Los Angeles, Riverside, Uplands, Claremont, Dinuba, Santa Ana, Santa Barbara, Redlands. There are 15 American volunteer workers, and 28 Koreans. Of the latter only one is a paid worker. Church and Sunday-school work is carried on. Church membership 238, attendance at Sunday-school work is carried on. Church membership 238, attendance at Sunday-school, 108. There are no day-schools connected with the Mission, but 89 Koreans are in College, High-School, night-school or other school.

The number of Koreans in California, writes Mr. Laughlin, remains approximately the same. The few new ones who manage to come from the old country simply take the places of others who have migrated to Nebraska to go to school, or to Nevada to raise melons. The occupations of the men continue to be those of the rancher, the fruit-picker, and the waiter in hotels and restaurants. Few of them have proved successful in leasing and cultivating lands. One exception is that of a Korean, who before the passage of the Alien Law, which precludes the purchase of land by an Asiatic, had bought for himself a vineyard of ten acres near Dinuba. The vines were those of the wine grape, but true to his conception of the Christian religion, he at once proceeded to transform them into the raisin variety by grafting. Without training, he simply strove to copy the operations of his neighbors, and obtained only a half-way success the first year. The next year yielded 75% and after that a full crop. Thus this untutored Korean completely disproved the widely-calculated declaration of the late prohibition contest, that the abolition of the wine traffic would cause the complete loss of all the wine grape vines of the State, because they could not be grafted with raisin or table grapes. So marked has been his success that he has been offered $5,000 for the vineyard that cost him $1,200.

Every station has its leader, elected by the members as the one best qualified for the conduct of the meetings, the edification of the members, and the general management of their ecclesiastical and spiritual interests. The leader at Dinuba is the former pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Pyeng Yang, Chosen, whose membership was 700 souls.

The one Korean minister employed by the Board for the entire field is Rev. C. H. Minn, who, by natural temperament, the grace of God in his heart, a long regular course of study, and a large experience in Hawaii before coming to California admirably qualified for the position. During the year nearly every one of the stations has been visited by Mr. Min two or three times a month, besides the two complete tours that he has made in company with the writer.

The usual series of evangelistic meetings in the region about Dinuba was held in August, when the Korean fruit-pickers were there in largest number. The most prominent part was taken by the Rev. A. G. Welbon, a missionary from Angdong, Chosen, at home on furlough. Mr. Welbon also made a tour of the states with Mr. Minn.

A new and gratifying feature has been the receipt of some regular contributions to this work from three American churches. The average church attendance showed an increase of 25, that of the Sunday-schools, 21. An increase of $200 in contributions to the Master's cause is noticeable, while the average gift of these struggling, almost indigent Korean Christians is more than eight dollars per capita.

OCCIDENTAL BOARD

EQUIPMENT.—The Occidental Board has a Rescue Home for Chinese Girls under its charge in San Francisco and "The Tooker Memorial" Home in East Oakland. It also conducts three Day Schools with departments ranging from the Kindergarten to High School.

From the pen of Miss Bertha Blount, teacher in the Occidental Board Mission School in San Francisco, comes the following report of this school and of the Tooker Memorial School in East Oakland:—

The reports of the two schools may well be combined into one, for the aims of both and the plans of both are the same. In the Tooker Memorial School there are now 32 enrolled. One of these is one of the graduates of the school at the Mission Home last year. In addition to her duties as Miss Bankes' assistant, she is taking up High School studies with Miss Smith. In the Mission Home School there are 41 enrolled. Here the work covers all eight of the grammar-school grades. Five of these girls will complete that course in June.

The aim of the teachers is three-fold: The broadening of the horizon of life for these girls that come into the Home; the helping them to that knowledge which will insure an efficiency in the discharge of the duties of life that may come to them; and in and through it all, that self-control and strength of character that finds its foundation in the Christian life.

The course of study followed is that laid down for the schools of the city of San Francisco. A few modifications are necessary owing to the peculiar needs of the Home, to the fact that English is a foreign tongue to these girls, and to the further fact that one teacher must teach all of the grades. In addition because they are Chinese girls, it seems that there should be as great a familiarity with the Chinese language, spoken and written, as possible. To meet this need, daily instruction in Chinese is given in both schools.

Another important phase of the instruction given is that of needle work. Tatting, crocheting, mending, knitting and embroidery are among the things taught. All of the girls are taught singing, Bible verses and longer passages from the Bible.

There have been five rescue cases the past year. Three children have been placed in the Home by relatives. Four different nationalities are represented in the inmates of the Homes, and last but not least, 23 out of the 90 girls have united with the Church.

JAPANESE ON THE PACIFIC COAST

EQUIPMENT.—The work among the Japanese on the Coast is carried on at San Francisco, Salinas, Watsonville, Los Angeles, Wintersburg, Hanford, Stockton, Sacramento, Monterey, Long Beach. There are 17 unorganized churches or groups and five organized churches, with a membership of 617. Eight schools are in operation with a total of 144 pupils.

Dr. E. A. Sturge, who this year completes 30 years of service among the Japanese reports:

About 90% of the 100,000 Japanese in the U. S. are on the Pacific Coast. The latest statistics for California are: Japanese men, 42,368; women, 10,944; children, 10,444. There are 66 churches and missions belonging to 12 denominations. At least five per cent of the Nipponese in the United States are Christians; and the influence of our religion upon the social life of these Orientals is very much greater than this percentage would seem to indicate. Moral conditions in our Japanese communities have greatly improved, the social evil having been almost eliminated.

The support for the Japanese work in America is derived about equally from the various mission boards interested, and from the people to whom they minister. Though there has been some increase in giving on the part of the Japanese missions, the higher cost of everything tends to retard progress toward complete self-support. During the year just ended, 140 adults were added to our ten California Japanese churches and missions, and 32 children were baptized. This is the largest number of children, and next to the greatest number of adults received in any one year since the work was commenced in 1885.

The Sunday-schools are small because of the limited number of Japanese children, but there has been a noticeable growth in attendance during the past year, which makes this feature of the work increasingly important.

The Japanese Church of Christ in San Francisco, a federation of the Presbyterian and Congregational missions of that city, has had a very prosperous year, receiving into its membership 51 adults, and raising in addition to the usual offerings, $1,000 for the improvement of the new church home. The success of federated work in San Francisco is likely in the near future to bring about a similar combination in Los Angeles.

In January of this year the Christian Japanese colony at Livingston, California, organized themselves into a church, called "The Church of Christ of Livingston." This is a union body of believers, aiming at self-support, but desiring for two or three years a little help from both Presbyterian and Congregational sources.

During the year special evangelistic services were held in all the Presbyterian missions, and as a result 184 men and women signed cards expressing a desire to become Christians.

At the annual meeting of the Japanese workers last April, a Church Extension Committee was appointed, to raise a fund from our own members, to assist the weaker missions, and to assist in the evangelistic campaign just mentioned. About $500 was raised in this way, and this is considered another step in the right direction.

CHINESE WORK IN NEW YORK CITY

EQUIPMENT.—Comprises Church and Sunday School and General Welfare Classes, a Chinese Y. M. C. A., and a Missionary Society.

The Rev. Huie Kin, Superintendent of this work for New York Presbytery presents the thirty-first report:

The immediate aim of our effort is the salvation of souls by the preaching of the Gospel. The ultimate aim is the redemption of China through the earnestness of our converted young men when they return to the homeland. Eight of our most earnest Christians are in China; four of our elders and three of our deacons. Two are elders of churches there; two are heads of Mission Schools.

All through the summer out-door meetings were held in Chinatown. Members of the church and a Mr. S. C. Lee, a Canton Christian College graduates, assisted in the services. Hundreds flocked to our corner, silently listened to the Gospel and courteously asked questions.

One day I took a poor sick man from Chinatown to the Presbyterian Hospital. I asked him if he had heard the Gospel and knew Jesus. He said, "Yes, I have been attending your meetings in Chinatown, and it was there that I heard the Gospel for the first time." 28 poor, sick men have been cared for either by physicians or in the hospitals. The Presbyterian Hospital has been more than good to us.

Four hundred and seventy-three students have visited the Church Home. The New York Chinese Students' Club, composed of students from Columbia, New York University, City College and other institutions of learning, has its headquarters with us and hold its meetings and socials here. A former home missionary is daily teaching men who are struggling to educate themselves.

A most interesting and comforting feature of the work is the Prayer Circle, which meets at the close of the Sabbath day services. A few of our earnest Christian men come to my study, put out the lights and pour out their hearts to God. One of the members of this circle, who has a laundry in a rough part of the city was overpowered by two robbers. While one held a revolver at his head, the other ransacked his place. He fell on his knees and prayed. The men found a few pennies and left. His money was in a pocket of an old pair of pants and he was unharmed.

Many Chinese students, some merchants and strangers from other cities, either passing through the city or looking for work, have been entertained in our home. There is always a bed and welcome to the stranger within our city. There is no fund for this work, but God has always enabled us to entertain as many as come.

The Church of 90 members has during the year contributed for its own support and to many outside objects, $1,713.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) The first step toward establishing missions in Chosen (formerly Korea) was taken by the Scotch United Presbyterian Mission in Manchuria, in 1871, the Rev. John Ross, D.D., translating the Gospel of Luke into Korean. Dr. Ross and his associates visited Chosen and baptized a number of converts. In 1880 a Korean nobleman, Rijutei, went to Japan, where he accepted Christ and appealed for missionaries. The first missionary was H. M. Allen, M.D., who reached Chosen in 1884; he was appointed physician to the United States Legation and ultimately went into government service. A few months later J. W. Heron, M. D., and the Rev. H. G. Underwood, D.D., established a Mission at Seoul for the Presbyterians, as did also the American Methodists. Other Missions established in Chosen were the Australian Presbyterians in 1889; Southern Presbyterians in 1891 the Canadian Presbyterians in 1898, and the English Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The translation of the New Testament was completed in 1900 and of the Old Testament in 1911. Both the American Bible Society and the British Foreign Bible Society work in Chosen. Another society which has been very useful is the Korean Religious Tract Society, which was established in 1890: the Y. M. C. A. has also taken up work in this country. There is no story of modern Missions more remarkable than that of the Korean Christian Church. The first church was organized in 1887. In 1890 only 100 converts were reported, while now the number is about 200,000. The quality of the church in its evangelistic zeal and simple primitive piety is remarkable. The different Presbyterian Missions in China unite in co-operating with the Presbyterian Church of Chosen, which was established in 1907. All of the Mission in Chosen, except the S. P. G., work in union. The Station of Fusan has been handed to the Australian Presbyterians.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

stitution) with Medical College, Nurses' Training School and Memorial Dispensary; 17 Primary Schools; 20 Organized Churches; and 92 Groups—114 churches and chapel buildings.

Seoul Station at its regular meeting held January 9, 1917, adopted a memorial minute on the Rev. H. G. Underwood, D.D., LL.D., which contains the following:

"It was reserved for one born in the distant world of the West to be to Korea more than a scholar, more than the ancient priest. We doubt if ever the name KOREA was written more deeply on any other heart than it was on that of H. G. Underwood, whose memory we desire lovingly to perpetuate. He was the first clerical member of our Mission and of Seoul Station. He opened up Christian missionary work in this land and marked out the pathway for us all to tread. His were the first friendships with this strange and interesting people. He was the first to baptize a convert, first to establish a church, first to translate and open up the Scriptures, first to write a Korean hymn, and he was the pioneer missionary to this last unopened kingdom of the earth."

EVANGELISTIC.—Tabernacle.—Evangelistically the most notable event of the year was the series of tabernacle meetings held during the exhibition last fall commemorating the fifth year of annexation.

Every consideration was granted by the Government to the Christian bodies wishing to do evangelistic work, and a fine site was given at the head of a wide avenue leading to the palace grounds. Here was erected an evangelistic hall with two auditoriums, one for Korean work and the other for Japanese. The 50 golden days of opportunity were divided into periods of one or two weeks each, and the different missions took charge in turn. The meetings were almost continuous from 10 a. m. till 9 p. m., and personal workers were constantly meeting the crowds at the doors, collecting them into little groups or inviting them in to hear and see the new things about the Gospel message. Native pastors, church leaders and volunteer helpers worked with the missionaries. The result no one can tell. More than 100,000 people visited the tabernacle, and of these 11,583 signed cards indicating that they wished to know more about the Gospel. Each card was passed on to the church nearest that person's home, whatever denomination that might be, and thus the seed sown was given a chance to be cared for afterwards. At certain hours a "movie" was conducted in an adjoining room, the pictures illustrating Bible stories; and 53,000 paid admissions of one cent each. It is safe to say that there is hardly a village or community of any size in Korea that was not represented among the hundred thousand. This one effort has probably left its impress upon the whole of Korea.

Pierson Memorial Bible Institute.—Seoul station takes a share in this union work and is represented on the teaching staff by Dr. Gale and Dr. Underwood. The new building is nearing completion, and stands on a fine site just inside the West Gate of the city.

This institution has a great future before it in the training of the Bible teachers and leaders of religious thought of the coming generation. The leaders of today are those whose chief qualification has been long years of service and devotion to the church, whether specially educated or not. The new generation in Korea is already demanding something different. And we must meet it. The John D. Wells School is already meeting this demand in the establishment of a school pastor this year for the first time. The medical students and young doctors are hard to hold in the nearest church because of the lack of such a man. The church in Korea needs college educated men for its leaders, and this is the place to train them.

Classes.—The holding of classes in the country and chief centers has become such a fixed part of the evangelistic policy as to need no explanation. The large men's and women's classes in the winter were better attended this year than last,—another evidence of better times, growing enthusiasm, improved program, and more thorough organization and advertisement. The use of the radiopticon, talks on hygiene and personal medical topics, and sermons on live subjects, such as "Billy Sunday," seem to be great drawing cards. There is a definite effort being made to aid the Government in its program of general sanitation by the more definite instruction of the individual in the purposes of the regulations and the benefit to be derived from a personal and hearty co-operation.

Woman's Work.—The classes were the most noticeable part of the work, because the regular routine goes on so quietly; the home visitation, calling on the sick and shut-in, itineration, oversight of Bible-women, etc., might easily not receive the notice they deserve.

In addition to the winter class just mentioned, there was held a Bible institute for three months, attended by women from the different churches who wished to become more familiar with the Bible. Domestic science and the native script also received some attention. Quite a large number of people took part in the teaching, representing the Methodist Missions and our own. A union institute for teachers was held for the purpose of instruction along pedagogical lines. Then among our own people a normal class was held for 12 days for the instruction of all women who had volunteered to preach in the country.

EDUCATIONAL.—John D. Wells School.—The school under the leadership of Mr. Koons has maintained its position very well this year, which in many ways has been a trying one.

All the educational work feels the effects of the new regulations, and many re-adjustments are constantly necessary. As the requirements are raised the financial obligations are increased, and this reacts on the number of students. In spite of this tendency the school attendance has actually increased and its standards have been raised in others besides the required lines. Physical measurements are made to aid the supervision of the students' exercise and development; a Japanese was engaged to teach the National language and drill, an isolation room was set aside for contagious diseases; and the poor shacks called dormitories were improved to the financial limit. Athletics is not neglected, as indicated by a winning ball team; and the religious side of the student's education is even more carefully safeguarded. The industrial department is doing much to teach the students practical subjects and at the same time assist them to get an education. In all things the aim is to turn out graduates who will be loyal to their religious convictions and an honor to the Empire to which they belong.

Woman's Academy.—The industrial side of the work has been well developed, especially in the department of domestic science. Several of the regular courses are now given in the National language. The enrollment is 80, thus almost filling the new dormitory building; but the classes, of which six are held simultaneously, are compelled to meet in small unasnitary native buildings. A new recitation building is therefore urgently needed. A thriving kindergarten has grown up in connection with the institution, the teacher of which is a former graduate and a daughter of the Vice-Governor of the Province.

MEDICAL.—Severance Union Medical School.—The present year is perhaps the most critical in the history of the school. Government recognition is a 'sine qua non,' and if the laws in Chosen become as they are in Japan there can exist only those schools that have this recognition. The various missions are now being urged to give the full representation and financial backing with which to press the claim for this recognition.

Out of a total faculty representation of 17, mutually agreed upon, there are now six in residence and two absent, taking graduate work. The recent coming of Dr. Daniel for the Southern Presbyterian Mission has indeed been providential, thus bridging over the absence of the other two until his furlough a year later. But Drs. Bowman, Weir, McLaren and Currell have been withdrawn and are greatly missed. Two Japanese doctors have been employed, and another, a recognized educator and diplomat, has just arrived. Various clinical assistants and internes have been employed to care for routine work, but heads for some important department are greatly needed.

The students continue to come, and the entering class is as large as ever. The preparatory class is being taught in the Chosen Christian College. The total enrollment is now 70, and the graduates of this year number 13. Of the latter six are connected with the hospital here, one is in a mission hospital in Formosa, and three in similar positions in Korea.

Severance Hospital.—This institution with 63 beds continues to be as useful to the community and as great an evangelistic agency as ever.

The wards are full to overflowing most of the time and increased accommodations are greatly needed. The routine work is in charge of Miss Esteb, Superintendent, and Miss Shields, Night Superintendent. The entire faculty of internes constitute the attending staff, for this is now a union institution; but the burden of the work falls upon Dr. Ludlow in charge of surgery, Dr. Hirst in gynecology and obstetrics, and Dr. Daniel in medicine.

Nurses' Training School.—Recently this, too, has been theoretically included in the union scheme, but thus far the only nurses on the field are our own. One other has been sent out by her Board for the School, but has been side-tracked by the local Mission. There are at present 21 nurses in training and four recently graduated, of which number three are in mission hospitals; the quality of the probationers is gradually improving and better and more educated girls are applying for this special training.

Dental Department.—Dr. Scheifly has developed this feature of the work very creditably, although handicapped by language study, house building, an attack of typhoid, and delays in the arrival of his outfit. One of the medical graduates has gone in as his assistant in the public clinic and as helper in the mechanical work. He is planning closer co-operation with the boards as to the dental work and its relation to the efficiency of its representatives, the missionaries.

Research Department.—The summer months are spent in work on life cycles of the various parasites, especially that of the lung distoma, which affects about 10,000,000 people in Japan, Korea, Formosa and the Philippines. Surely a preventive or a cure for this disease would greatly benefit this and the generation to come. Work on the mosquitoes though just begun has disclosed a form capable of carrying yellow fever. The opening of the Panama Canal and the certainty of the establishment of direct shipping connections with African and other tropical ports without the ships going into the temperate zone at all makes the accidental transmission of that disease to Korea and the Orient not impossible. Just now there are employed in this department several students who know English, and one with some botanical training also. One of the graduate doctors, who was formerly a native practitioner, is working with the students in the translation of the Classical Chinese materia medica into English. Tuberculosis occurs in Korea apparently as much as in America. Last year in Japan more than 1,100 teachers died, and of this number more than 40 per cent. had tuberculosis.

PYENG YANG STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Union Theological Seminary; Union Christian College; Union Academy for Boys; Union Women's Academy; School for Foreign Children; Caroline A. Ladd Hospital; 129 Organized Churches and 186 Groups, with 265 Church Buildings and Chapels.

The death of Mrs. William M. Baird on June 9, 1916, took from the Chosen Mission a beloved friend and leader. Reaching Chosen early in the year 1891, she underwent the privations and difficulties of the early pioneer days of mission work in that country. She devoted herself with rare ability and sympathy to work among women and children who readily and gladly responded to her uplifting influence. Her personal helpfulness to the boys and young men of Pyeng Yang Academy caused her to be known as "the mother of a thousand Koreans." Mrs. Baird is sorely missed by hundreds whose lives she blessed.

EVANGELISTIC.—City Evangelistic Work centers around six large churches, all of which are supporting their own pastors. The Fifth Church having long made its home in the Theological Building has made a splendid start toward raising the money for their own building.

The Seminary.—Dr. Moffett reports a good year, the standard being raised and the attendance thereby reduced, as desired. A month's post-graduate work is offered each year.

Bible Institutes.—The Men's Institute is open one to two months every year under general charge of Mr. Blair assisted by other members of the Station. The Women's Institute was conducted by Miss Best, assisted by the ladies of the Station. Seventy-eight women were enrolled who studied for two and a half months. Large General Classes for men and women were also conducted, the students being accommodated in dormitories as far as possible; but the crowded conditions caused them to overflow into the welcoming homes of neighboring Christians. Classes were held for women teachers of city and country Sunday Schools, for Bible Teachers and for Church Officers.

Country Evangelistic Work.—The average circuit rider visits his churches twice a year. For these visits appointments are made often months in advance. In "swinging round the circuit" it is often late afternoon or evening before the appointed church is reached. Usually just outside the town the circuit rider is met by a procession of white-robed figures,—not angels yet, though Christians,—and escorted to a low room, perhaps ten feet square, in a thatched, or occasionally tiled, house. This room has been specially “cleaned” for the use of the missionary. Even so, it is better not to look under the mats. Sometimes, to be sure, the circuit rider would prefer to stay outside, but courtesy forbids; and so he sits on the floor for hours examining the church records, conferring with officers, and examining candidates for baptism or for the timid entrance into the catechumenate. When the candidates are women they are usually so nervous and frightened that with averted faces they can scarce summon courage to answer the few simple but necessary questions. This work, with the church service following, often takes until midnight. When at length one lies down, rest is by no means assured, for in nearly all Korean houses there are many “preventives of sleep,” while outside, across the fifteen foot courtyard, are horses, cows, pigs, and chickens, some of which retire late and some of which rise early. In the morning after breakfast and prayers the circuit rider is away again. For months each year this is a daily experience.

The circuit rider is also executive head of the work in his circuit. This is of two kinds: the edification in Christ of Christians and the winning of non-Christians. Two or more meetings of all leaders in the circuit are held each year, at which times everything concerning the circuit is discussed. Reports from churches, colporteurs, evangelists, and Bible women are heard. Plans for raising salaries are made which, however, they may stimulate interest, have never yet stooped to anything less than direct giving; no bazaars, suppers, or entertainments for the painless extraction of money having ever been held in these churches. Days are appointed for offerings; villages on which evangelistic effort is to be concentrated are decided upon; pledges for personal work among the unconverted are taken; Sunday School lessons are chosen; curricula for Bible study classes, one to four in each local church and two or more distinct classes, with teachers for the same, are determined upon. The work influences every Christian in the country and demands closest attention. Throughout the year the missionary must keep in constant touch with all who are associated with him, and by letter or personal visit insure the work being done when and as agreed; for executive power is as yet undeveloped in the Korean character, and many are the difficulties arising from its lack.

Mr. Bernheisel writes that it is only possible to visit his churches during his holiday and over Sunday. Dr. Swallen, an untiring itinerator, gives abundant proof in his report, of good results from the frequent visiting of individual churches and of the Summer Classes held in every pastor's and helper's circuit. Mr. Phillips tells of the “abnormal” life of an itinerator. Mr. Mowry of “the increase” and “good conditions” prevailing in his territory. Dr. Baird of the visiting of his churches under great stress and strain. Dr. Moffet of churches now where there were only groups; and of groups of believers now where there were none. Mr. Holdcroft writes of self-support and of much larger results from preaching to the unconverted. Mr. Blair tells of the effort to make the Church Officers' Meeting a time for study as well, with great success. The good conditions shown in the above reports are true also of work among women, but owing to Miss Best's assignment to school work, and because of the large developed city work to be directed, not much time was given by the married ladies.

EDUCATIONAL.—Chief among our interests is the Union Christian College for the training of young men for Christian leadership in the churches and for a useful career in their own community. The College loses its former President, but in no sense is his counsel and sympathy removed from the Institution. Messrs. Bernheisel, Smith, Mowry and Gillis of the Faculty have faithfully labored in their respective spheres.

Plans are entertained for all the co-operating Missions to furnish additional professors, their support, and residences. "The time has come," Mr. Reiner writes, "when we must face in a broad comprehensive way the needs of this work. . . . Each Mission ought to realize the importance of the present moment and strain every nerve to maintain this advance post of Christian education in Chosen." Three courses of instruction are contemplated: Literary, Scientific, and Commercial. Last year there were 75 students enrolled from seven provinces.

Academy.—Up to date 304 boys have been graduated. Among the 260 enrolled this year 232 were baptized, 26 were catechumens, and two were new believers. Those newly enrolled in 1916 number 246. Of these 208 were baptized Christians, 33 are catechumens and five are new believers. A new academy building has been made possible by gifts.

A change has been recommended in The Anna Davis Industrial Department which would co-ordinate it with the Academy and, by better organization and equipment, enable it to actually and practically teach each student some industry.

The Union Women's Academy reports a good year. Seven ladies of the station divided our share of the teaching between them.

Two hundred and one girls were enrolled, two-thirds of them being Presbyterians. The graduating class numbered 21, of whom 16 were Presbyterians. The majority of those enrolled were self-supporting. In the Self-help Department 61 girls earned their entire expenses, and many others a part of their expenses.

Primary Schools are supported by the respective churches, but supervised by members of the Station. Many of the smaller churches are finding it difficult to maintain these schools because of insufficient endowment and lack of qualified teachers. We trust God to provide means for these young children that the seed sown may be so nourished as to hasten the spread of Christ's Kingdom in Chosen.

MEDICAL.—The Hospital lost its physician in September, but the dispensary has been kept running in a hope of a new physician coming to resume the work in full.

Literary Work.—A "Harmony of the Gospels" has been revised and a "Concordance of the New Testament" about completed. Also a translation of "Early Church Fathers" has been made, and a Bible Dictionary is now in the hands of the Korea Religious Tract Society for publication.

TAIKU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Academy; Girls' Academy; Bible Institute; 47 Primary Schools, Young Men's Building; Hospital; 10 Organized Churches and 171 Groups with 177 Church Buildings and Chapels.

(The Taiku Report does not follow the usual form.)

Let us show you some pictures of Taiku. The first reveals a squalid Korean city with Dr. and Mrs. Adams living in cramped, unhealthy quarters, but rejoicing in the opportunity to open a new mission station. That was 20 years ago. Four years later, three families are occupying new homes on a hill.

One baptized member, five catechumens, 20 in attendance at church, and a medical dispensary, are the cause of those happy missionary faces.

Now Mr. Winn, Mr. Blair, Mr. McFarland and Mr. Bruen are starting out for their fall itineration. They will begin with an Officers' Conference for all the church workers under one missionary's charge. This conference has been planned long in advance, monthly letters to the churches having stirred up all the officers. After four days of instruction and consultation with the presiding pastor and two assistants, this splendid corps of native Christian workers go back to their local churches carrying new enthusiasm and great spiritual blessings. The three missionaries move on to the next Pastor's Conference, thus exchanging help. Then follow five months of itineration. With Mr. Greenfield on health leave in America and Dr. Adams of necessity in charge of the Boys' Academy, the care of 175 churches falls on four men.

Mr. Winn's rain-soaked and ink-run statistical forms reveal the fact that after a strenuous campaign of preaching and selling Scriptures, 5,000 portions have been sold. About one convert is the result of every 400 efforts. On the battlefields of Europe it takes thousands of bullets to kill one man. Allowing for a shrinkage of 50 per cent, it still takes only 800 shots in our peaceful conflict to save a man! Notice a Leaders' Meeting. All the pastors have four a year in each circuit, a total of 24, each one radiating power throughout the circuit. They develop the men for larger outlook and more enthusiastic service. Here is a Bible class in a country church. All the pastors organize and encourage these classes, though they haven't time to teach them all. These men have left their field and their business to spend four days in Bible study. Mr. Blair says one of the most hopeful signs among his churches is the way they have accepted the idea that it is the duty of each church to have a Bible class each year, and are acknowledging that it is a great blessing. The enrollment in the classes in his territory this year was 984. Those men each carrying a lantern in one hand and a Bible in the other, are making the rounds of the village loafing places to offer to escort the loafers to the evening church service. Notice how many have anticipated the call and are quite ready to accept.

Leaders are rejoicing over the new day in church finances. In one circuit where three years ago a tax of 12½ cents per member was impossible, 40 cents per member is now contributed regularly and without distressing exhortation. With helpers' salaries paid and a balance of money on hand, the churches are contributing to home and foreign missions, and some groups are building new churches. It is partly due to this improved financial state that church leaders are ceasing to resign. „

Eighty-nine students in the Bible Institute were much blessed by the month of Bible study in the fall. The second term is in February, when all the clergymen of the Station assist. The preparation of Christian workers is a very attractive phase of our work. Just before Christmas is the eight days' Bible class for Christian men from all over the province.

The three white buildings looming above straw thatched roofs are the city churches. These five men are the Korean pastors of the territory.

The two brick buildings at the end of the Compound are the Hospital and Dispensary. You are surprised to hear that during last month 2115 patients were treated here, 1000 for the first time! The same month there were 86 operations, 60 under general anaesthetic. The work has increased so rapidly that it has outgrown its present institution, equipment and appropriation. During the year the hospital has been open only seven and a half months, owing to Dr. Fletcher's absence on furlough and illness soon after his return. Since reopening the Hospital in October the assistance of Dr. Choi, an able Korean physician, has been an invaluable asset. The cheery presence of Miss Bekins has also augmented the hospital staff. Though her first concern has been language study, her efficient service in the operating room and nursing department has been of inestimable value. Over the hill three miles from Taiku is the site of the Leper Building which is soon to be completed. No words can express the pathos of the lives of these wandering, homeless ones, whom no private home dares shelter.

The buildings on the hill west of the Compound represent the Boy's Academy.

One is continually impressed with the place which the school holds among the Kingdom's agencies in the Province. A hundred students are enrolled this spring, 35 in the entering class. The problem of supplying work to poor boys is a very serious one, since no mission funds are available for this purpose.

The cotton cloth and pongee silk woven in the Industrial Department would be a credit to any department store, but the distance from suitable market makes the weaving financially unprofitable. The school Evangelistic Association has held services in a near country district, resulting in several believing families.

On the other side of the hill is the Girls' Academy. The longed for dormitories will be ready next fall, much to our delight. There are 62 girls enrolled. Mrs. Blair has successfully provided 35 of these with the means of earning their school expenses, but at too great a cost to her health and her family.

Let us glance into the homes and see some of the best missionary work.

Here is Mrs. Winn entertaining three unkempt-looking women, on a hot July day. They have interrupted the children's siesta and a missionary letter. But they are so appreciative of the "sight-see" of a foreign house that they offer to leave several coins, each worth a tenth of a cent. Their thankfulness is further expressed by their presence at the evening prayer meeting, where they are greeted by their hostess of the afternoon. Next door we find Mrs. McFarland busy with plans for the superintendency of the Women's Missionary Societies, of which there are now 35 in the country churches. The women hope soon to be supporting a missionary of their own in China.

Peep into the Girls' Sunday School superintended by Mrs. Adams, and the Saturday afternoon teachers' class taught by Mrs. Fletcher. There are four Sunday Schools for girls and women alone.

The final picture is the General Women's Class held in March. Watch those weary, foot-sore women, some of whom have walked 60 miles with babies on their backs and a week's supply of rice on their heads. Everybody in the Station helps with this class, under Miss Switzer's direction. There were 738 in attendance this year.

SYEN CHUN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Hugh O'Neill, Jr., Academy for Boys; Girls' Academy; Young Women's School; Building for Bible Institutes; 95 Primary Schools; 53 Organized Churches and 130 Groups; "In His Name Hospital."

EVANGELISTIC.—The Syen Chyun field has a population of about 675,000. There are three independent Korean pastors, but the main burden of the work falls upon the evangelistic men of the Station together with their 21 Korean co-pastors.

The work has progressed steadily and shows an increase over last year, particularly in the Eui-ju district and in the northern mountain countries of Pyuktong, Changsung and Sackchu. In these there has been a decided forward movement, resulting in a large number of new believers. This is particularly the case in Sackchu county, where every church has made a marked advance, one of them having more than doubled its membership. Down in the sea-coast counties, while there has not been such a decided increase in additions to the church, there has been steady progress, and a perceptible increase in missionary interest. The time is rapidly approaching for the Korean co-pastors to launch out and become independent pastors of their churches, thereby relieving the foreign missionaries of a good deal of routine duty in connection with the larger churches, and enabling them to give more time and thought to the care of the newer and smaller groups, and to the work in the undeveloped territory.

Mrs. McCune and Mrs. Whittemore have had charge of the Women's Sunday Schools at the North and South Churches with an enrollment of 589 and 471 respectively. Dr. McCune, at the request of the Korean pastor, has assumed the superintendency of the North Church men's Sunday School, with 584 enrolled; while that of the South Church, with its 368 members, is in charge of their Korean pastor. In addition to these Mr. Campbell has a Sunday School for the Academy boys, Mr. Soltau one for the little boys of the lower schools, and Mrs. Sharrocks for all the girls and the very small boys of both churches, with 439 enrolled. The total Sunday School enrollment is 2710, with 160 teachers in charge. To prepare the many teachers, classes are held each week, and only those who have attended are permitted to teach on the following Sunday.

Bible Institute and Classes.—The times of special interest and inspiration in the station are those of the Men's and Women's General Classes when the Christians from all over the Southern half of the Province come in for eight or ten days of Bible study.

This year there were 1200 men and 800 women enrolled in the two classes which met in February and April. In addition to these the Men's Bible Institute meets for five weeks and the Women's Bible Institute for two and a half months, during the coldest parts of the winter when itineration in the country is particularly difficult. This year special interest was manifested owing to the Louise Jenkin Comagys Bible Institute Building, the gift of the Philadelphia Women's Board. It was used for the first time, and its bright and airy classrooms and convenient arrangement were very much appreciated by all, and were, no doubt, the chief cause for the excellent work done by the students. The building is meeting a particular need in the station, and in addition to housing the Bible Institutes is in daily use for other purposes. In the Men's Bible Institute 104 were enrolled, of whom only two dropped out during the term. In the Women's Bible Institute, in which most of the lady missionaries of the station taught, 40 were registered, but later two dropped out, owing to sickness, and one was unable to keep up her work. All the others passed without a condition.

North Pyengan Presbytery, in addition to giving practically one-third of the support of the three Korean missionaries labouring among the Chinese in Shantung Province, has sent out and maintains 18 home missionaries at work among their fellow countrymen. Of these, five are ordained men working among the 200,000 Koreans in Manchuria. In spite of the hardships of isolation and scattered nature of the population among which they work, they have had wonderful success, and under their leadership a strong Korean church of some 3,000 adherents has been built up in Manchuria.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' Academy.

The Hugh O'Neil Jr. Academy has had a decided increase over last year in the number of boys in attendance, and Dr. McCune reports a total enrollment of 215 during the year; of these a number have dropped out for various reasons, leaving a present enrolment of 144. The Industrial Building and cow barn, which were completed last year, and the three-story brick dormitory, which is just finished,—all built through the generosity of Mrs. O'Neill,—are a great addition to the campus and to the usefulness of the school. In the new Industrial Building the self-help department has been able to do fine work. The Educational activity of the Mission has always had for its primary object the training of leaders for the Church, and it is interesting to know that in the three upper classes in the Academy over 30 boys are definitely preparing to go into the ministry. The only real society in the school is a missionary society. At one of its meetings held in the spring the boys pledged enough money to support a missionary, one of their own graduates, who has already begun work. The money was raised only by real sacrifice on the part of the boys, who in a number of cases saved their money by subsisting on millet instead of rice. During the year a number of the boys and teachers preached in the country on Sundays, and as the result of it four new groups of Christians have been started this year, and five others in previous years. Among the 124 graduates, 85 are church workers and officers, and 23 are teaching in church schools.

The Girls' Academy.—In the absence of Miss Stevens, the principal, who has been on furlough since the middle of the school year, Mrs. Sharrocks has taken charge of the Girls' Academy, not a light task at any time, but especially difficult during the months prior to the closing of the school at the order of the Government.

During the year there was an enrollment of 46 girls, only seven of whom dropped out. Of the remaining, five graduated, and are now teaching; and after the closing of the school 14 went to Pyengynag, eight to Seoul, and one to Taiku, to continue their studies in the mission academies in those places, while ten returned to their homes. It has been greatly regretted that after nine years of happy and useful existence the Girls' Academy was closed. During that time 43 girls were graduated, and they have become, we believe, better Christians and more useful citizens by the instruction there received. We feel that only as the instruction is accompanied by the direct teaching of Christianity can it possibly achieve the desired results. Hence when the Government order was received which allowed only two alternatives,—either to become a non-religious school or to close, the only decision to be reached was that, since the purpose of the school could not be achieved apart from religious instruction, its continuation was impossible.

The Young Women's School is meeting a long felt need on the part of young women who have not had the advantages of education.

During the past year 70 have been enrolled, and 54 are now in the school. Nearly all of them are poor, and they include seven varieties of widows! Thirty-nine of them spend part of each day in the self-help department under the able direction of Mrs. Lampe, where they are learning among other things to do the old Korean embroidery. These young women are all Christians, and like the girls in the Academy, support their own missionary, which is done chiefly by tithing.

MEDICAL.—This year marks the completion of the first year's work in the new "In His Name" Hospital, which was built through the generosity of Mrs. H. T. Archibald.

It has more than justified our expectations, and not only has it vastly facilitated the giving of proper medical treatment and care to the patients, but it has also afforded greater opportunities to bring to their attention the power and love of the Great Healer of souls. The sick coming in from their heathen homes in the country cannot fail to be impressed by the loving sympathy and care which they receive from the doctors, nurses, and employees, of whom there are eighteen—all are active Christians, and many of them Sunday School teachers and church officers. The hospital Evangelist spends his whole time there and is always ready to give assistance in any possible way. Thirty-five have given evidence of real conversion and of these, five are known to have been enrolled in the church.

CHAI RYUNG STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Hospital; 43 Primary Schools; 48 Organized Churches and 100 Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—Itinerating.

Mr. Kerr has given most of his time to his circuit which by reason of the special poverty of the people has presented more than the usual number of difficulties.

Mr. Sharp's seven trips to his field have been more largely as an adviser than formerly. Four men have been newly ordained, to whom have been assigned the care of from two to four churches each. The financial conditions, though a cause for anxiety, are better than a year ago. The most serious incident of the year was the necessary suspension from the ministry of one of the Korean pastors.

The building of the Bible Institute dormitory in the fall and the Treasurership of the mission have kept Mr. Pieters at home during the best time for country itineration.

Dr. Whiting has adopted a suggestion at the mid-winter conference and added a helper to his hospital staff with the object of aiding the church to keep better track of those at the hospital who decide to believe, and of bringing about a closer working relation between the church and the medical work of the Station.

Mr. Hunt has found many things to do after his furlough which could better be done by staying pretty close to Chai Ryung; so excepting for the fall and spring visits to the churches, he has done no itinerating.

Woman's Work.—We have missed Mrs. Whiting's teaching of the class for Sunday School teachers very much, her calling scarcely less.

Mrs. Pieters' professional visits in the homes, occasional operations at the hospital, Bible teaching in the classes in the city and country, and general helpfulness in every phase of the work, is much appreciated. She has been teaching the Sunday School Teachers' class since January 1st, but has found it up-hill work to get the class back after several months of irregular attendance.

The classes for women in the country have been exceeding many for Miss McKee, but few indeed as compared with the desires of the church. The increased attendance on the training class for Sunday School teachers, the Bible Institute, and the General Class indicates the appreciation of the Korean Christians for this sort of work, the burden of which has largely been borne by Miss McKee.

Mrs. Hunt continues to teach, at opportune times, the never ending line of women and girls, who do not know how to read their own language, the first steps in reading. She also continues to help in the Sunday School work, besides teaching with Mrs. Pieters the school for their own children.

Mrs. Kerr's greatest effort, besides language study, goes into the Sunday School for girls, superintending the same on Sunday and preparing the teachers at a special class.

Special Features.—The features of the work this year have been the marked growth of interest in Mrs. Whiting's Home Bible Study Course for Women, evangelistic campaigns, the employment of special evangelists, the ever increasing strenuousness of the program of the Chairyung church, and the persistence of the whole church in prayer.

MEDICAL.—While the pressure of a large practice, many non-professional obligations, Mrs. Whiting's illness, the lack of a foreign nurse and consequently other trained assistance, have left much to be desired in our medical situation; nevertheless we are bound to thank God for the increasing effectiveness of our medical work. The daily clinic from morning till night is an every day, all-day church service. Japanese cases treated were 376, Chinese 21. The evangelist reported 299 men and 199 women who expressed a desire to believe.

CHUNG JU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Duncan Memorial Hospital; three Primary Classes; one Organized Church and 53 Groups.

EVANGELISTICAL.—The City Church.—This Work has been under the care of Mr. Kagin and Pastor Whang. The baptized membership is 198.

During the year 36 were baptized and 56 received as catechumens. The collection amounted to yen 1,132.99. The average attendance at the men's Sabbath School is 96, in nine classes. A boys' S. S. is conducted, and is attended by an average of 53. Mrs. Logan has had charge of the women's Sunday-school and of the preparation of its teachers. This school has 15 classes with an average attendance of 129. The primary Sunday-school was under the care of Mrs. Cook until she left, and since then under Mrs. Miller's care. The average attendance was 129, in six classes. The church also conducted 11 village Sunday-schools for the children of unbelievers with an attendance of over 300.

Country Work: Northern Circuit.—Population 121,000.

This is under the care of Mr. Miller. He is assisted by three helpers, one of whom receives about three-fourths mission pay, the other two receiving no mission funds. There are fifteen groups with a membership of 196, twenty-four of whom were baptized this year. There are 92 catechumens enrolled. The collections amounted to yen 552.92. Ten Bible classes for men were held with an attendance of 113, and fourteen classes for women attended by 211. Three churches have Sabbath Schools especially for children, two small ones and one attended by 80, including many children of unbelievers. The unreached parts of the circuit were divided among fourteen of the churches, so that each church feels the responsibility for its portion. As a result they did one hundred days of preaching in their fields. Two of the churches bought thirty-yen bells this year. Over 40,000 leaflets in three languages were distributed over the circuit and 5,882 Gospels and tracts sold. Besides campaigns held at the classes, three evangelistic campaigns were held at as many centers.

Eastern Circuit—Population: 121,000. This is under Mr. Kagin's care. He reports:

"The Korean workers report a great readiness to listen to the Gospel. The whole village of Weeping Rock, containing eight families, is reported to have accepted the Gospel. Last summer Colporteur Kim and his family were moved to Poun where they have succeeded in gathering the nucleus of a church. Seventeen attend, one being the wife of the magistrate. During the year only five have been baptized in the circuit and twenty were received into the catechumenate. During the winter class for men, volunteers were called for who could devote from two to five days to evangelistic work and defray their own expenses. A number responded and did effective work in as many centers. There are nineteen groups in the circuit with a membership of 135 baptized and 63 catechumens. Besides four mixed classes, four Bible classes for men were held, attended by 40. Seventeen classes for women were held, attended by 120.

Southern Circuit.—Population 121,000. Mr. Cook had charge of this circuit in addition to his four months' work in Taiku territory. He reports:

At Mosan the church is composed only of women, with possibly one old man, and they have struggled on for years, being persecuted until they hardly had a place they dared to meet in. This spring we found that these women had bought a church building, had cleaned it up and repaired it with their own hands. At Hoorce we found 40 or 50 meeting. The leader has been faithful in training and teaching the younger ones. There is a well organized S. S. with the teachers' class and a primary department. The church at Yungdong, started by the Presbytery's Evangelistic Board, is holding its own. There are eight groups in this circuit with 47 baptized members, of whom eight were baptized this year. The catechumens enrolled amount to 39.

CENTRAL CLASSES—

The summer Leaders' Class, the men's winter class and the women's winter class were held as usual. A Normal Class to prepare ten women to teach country classes was held in the fall. Some of these teachers were then placed under the care of Mrs. Logan, and held 337 classes attended by 463. The total number of classes for women held by these teachers and others was 38, attended by 631.

EDUCATIONAL—

The city church has a boys' school with an enrollment of 55 and a girls' school with an enrollment of 36. One country church has a school attended by 22 boys and five girls.

LITERARY WORK—

Mr. Miller revised and prepared for the press Dr. Torrey's: "How to Lead Men to Christ." He also prepared a series of articles for use in the home church. The station staff prepared a set of four leaflets and printed 100,000 of them, nearly all of which have been distributed. The three pastors prepared and sent to the churches one pastoral letter a month.

MEDICAL—

After a year of waiting, during which two trips were made to Tokio for examinations, Dr. Tipton received his license to practice, and the hospital was re-opened in January. Dr. Tipton says: "The medical work is more encouraging than at first, more patients are coming each month, and the news is beginning to be spread about that the hospital is open again. A number of patients have manifested interest and several their belief in Christianity since coming to the hospital."

KANG KEI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Academy for Boys; Potter Memorial Bible Institute; 26 Primary Schools; Hospital; seven Organized Churches and 116 Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—This year has had its discouraging as well as its encouraging side. The older churches have just about held their own, some of them perhaps not that. The encouraging part of the work has been the developing of the work in non-Christian districts. Eighteen new groups were started this year (excluding Manchuria). The time seems to be ripe as never before to push out into the non-Christian districts.

Besides the visiting of our churches a long trip into Manchuria by Messrs. Soltau and Hoffman was one of the features of the itinerating work of the year. Visiting the individual churches gave us a better understanding of conditions, and the entire trip was helpful in showing us where the bulk of the Korean population is located and in enabling us to form a better judgment as to the possibility of locating a station in Manchuria. The Bible Institute work has been more than encouraging. The attendance in the Men's Bible Institute was 44, and in the Women's 54. This was larger than ever before. This year we also had our first graduates in the Women's Bible Institute, nine women completing a five years' course. The usual Bible classes were also held, such as local church classes, district classes, and finally the large classes held in Kangkei for our entire territory.

Native Workers.—Pastors, 6 (ordained men in charge of circuits). Helpers, 9 (usually prospective pastors and students in Theol. Sem.) Evangelists, 4 (working in non-Christian districts). Colporteurs, 5 (selling Scriptures principally among non-believers). Bible Women, 5 (work among women only.)

Besides these paid workers there are about 700 unpaid officers who really are entrusted with most of the preaching and teaching Sabbath after Sabbath. This will readily appear by comparing the above list of workers with the number of churches and groups—about 150; and in making the comparison the evangelists, colporteurs and Bible women must, of course, be omitted because their work is principally among non-believers. Even though each man (including the two clerical missionaries) should visit two groups each Sunday, which is not often possible, they could visit only about one-fifth of all the groups on any particular Sunday; the other four-fifths would have to be ministered to by the local church officers. The fact that the unpaid church officer has from the very beginning done a large part of the preaching and teaching constitutes one of the glories of the Korean church, but it also comprises one of the most difficult problems. The proper training of these officers, who are principally farmers and business men, is no easy task. And there is very little prospect of eliminating this problem by getting a larger number of workers and thus fewer groups to the individual, for our population is sparse and the individual groups will always remain comparatively small, so that a number of churches will be obliged to unite in order to make up one man's salary. Only by training the unpaid church officers can the problem of ministering properly to the individual churches be solved.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys' Academy (under Korean auspices), 1; number of pupils, 20. Primary Schools (registered), 7; number of pupils, 158. Primary Schools (unregistered), 7; number of pupils, 176. Primary Schools (in Manchuria), 18; (statistics not yet in).

The number of primary schools is small and the number of pupils may seem insignificant, but we feel that they form a very integral part of our work and are indispensable in its future development. Besides the pupils in the Academy and the primary schools there were eight theological students from our territory in the Seminary at Pyengyang this year and five students in Severance Medical School at Seoul.

ANDONG STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Cornelius Baker Memorial Hospital; two Churches and 78 Groups; 19 Primary Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—The key note of the year's work has been personal evangelism, each individual church member over twelve years of age being made responsible for the winning of one new believer during the year, for preaching the Gospel clearly to at least one person a day, and for selling one or two Gospels a month.

It would be an ideal district indeed whose every church reached this goal, but when one church sells over 100 Gospels per member, another reports an average of 571 heathen preached to during the year by each member, and another church with a roll of 20 adds 64 new believers during the year,—the goal is not unattainable. With a total of 2041 baptized and catechumens, about 260,000 have had the message adequately presented to them, 12,000 Gospels have been sold and over 300 new believers have placed their names on the church roll. Eight new churches have been formed during the year, and these together with the other new believers in the various churches call for additional care on the part of the missionary. As in the early days large groups attracted to the new doctrine were lost for lack of teachers to present its spiritual message, so the evangelistic zeal of the church today may lead to its undoing. With a full quota of men on the field, the Mission at the last Annual Meeting considered the need so great as to allow Andong the preference in the order of men evangelists. Now, with the reduction of the force and two other furloughs due in 1917 and 1918, nothing short of a fully qualified worker and a new recruit will meet the growing needs of the work.

At present, the oversight of Mr. Welbon's large territory is shared by Mr. Minn and Mr. Crothers. In addition to his original 24 churches Mr. Winn has 20 of Mr. Welbon's scattered over a territory of 195 miles long and 60 miles wide. Mr. Crothers has 45 churches scattered over an even larger territory. The oversight of 131 of these churches, the co-pastorate of the Andong city church and two other churches, and the principalship of the local school was taken up at the departure of Mr. Welbon. No outside help was received in the teaching of the country or city classes, and a month's teaching in the Taiku Bible Institute was given. Provided a member from another Station can help with a month's itineration, this month's teaching in the Institute will gladly be given again as only a fair return for the instruction given to some 40 of our Andong men each year in that Institution.

The Work of the Women goes along in the same channels as before, no new work being possible untill the arrival of a substitute for Miss Rodgers.

Again let us call attention to the fact that the need for single lady evangelistic workers was last year considered by the Mission so great as to assign first and fourth places to Andong. One of these should be a qualified worker ready to grasp the opportunities crowding all around us. Last year ten country classes were conducted by the ladies, but only one was this year. Eight children under five years of age in the Station make all but the most pressing local work practically impossible for their mothers. The Sunday School teachers are becoming more faithful and efficient since no one is allowed to teach unless she has attended the Friday evening preparatory class. The six Bible Women have held 28 classes, which have been attended by 682 women, but with most of the women so new in the faith and so ignorant of proper methods of study, one class in each circuit ought to be conducted by a foreign woman. 250 women came in for the Andong City class, but they could have received far more benefit from that study had they had had the opportunity of both a local and circuit class before.

MEDICAL WORK.—Several times the fifteen available beds in the Cornelius Baker Memorial Hospital have been filled, but at no time has an applicant been refused for lack of room, although several helpless and almost hopeless cases have not been admitted for lack of trained help.

The actual numbers are pitifully small, but they represented only half a year's regular hospital work without a trained assistant. Nevertheless, the year has been a busy one with the personal oversight of the numerous details in the equipment and management of a new plant. Besides the two young men who are being trained as dispensary assistant and nurse, respectively, the only other Korean help has been,—three months from an inexperienced country woman, one month's services of a graduate nurse, and the Bible Woman who gave her services day or night as the need arose in the operating room or women's wards. The dispensary has served 830 more patients than last year, 48 being the largest number in any one day, and the receipts show an increase.

with his Bible. After an operation for double cataract he went out from the hospital and started a flourishing group of Christians.

NORTH INDIA MISSION

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) The upsetting of a Ganges boat and the consequent loss of some parts of a printing press detained Rev. James McEwen, of the Ludhiana Mission party of 1836, at Allahabad, the capital of the Northwest Provinces; the opening for work seemed so promising that it was decided that he should return and settle there. In 1902 a college department was opened in connection with the Boys' High School at this station which has become Ewing Christian College. Other features of the station have been the Sara Seward Hospital for Women and the boarding school for Christian girls. Shortly after the occupation of Allahabad, Fatehgarh, with the native city, Farukhabad, three miles away, was opened, with a boys' orphanage, the result of the great famine of 1837, as its main work. During the mutiny of 1857, Messrs. Freeman, Johnson, McMullen and Campbell, with their wives and two little children of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, joined the English residents in an attempt to escape down the Ganges from the unsafe fort at Fatehgarh. They were captured at Bithur, marched eight miles to Cawnpore, and shot on the parade-ground with a hundred others, under the orders of the infamous Nana Sahib. The only other station occupied before the mutiny was Fatehpur. Evangelistic work, especially among the villages, has been prominent here. The Rev. Joseph Warren began work in Morar, the capital of Gwalior. After the death of Dr. Warren, Mrs. Warren continued Sunday School and evangelistic work, refusing to leave even when the British troops were withdrawn from the territory.

At Jhansi, an important railway center, surrounded by a vast, unoccupied field, a large school for girls has been conducted, besides an extensive zenana work. At Etah there has been a great ingathering into the Christian Church from the outcast people.

ALLAHABAD STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Ewing Christian College; Mary Wanamaker School for Girls; Katra Middle Boys' School; Jumna Boys' High School; Christian Boys' Boarding House; Dispensary; Leper Asylum; Asylum for the Blind; three Churches; four Groups; four Day Schools.

At present the station has 29 missionaries, and of these five, Mrs. Enders, Miss Adams, Miss Ducret and Dr. and Mrs. Kenoyer, are new additions to the force.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Pastor of the City church reports as follows:

Agricultural Students and Teachers—"Ewing Christian College," Allahabad—Visitors to this Agricultural Department range from Governors, Native Chiefs and Rajas, to humble cultivators. Three of the native states have asked for agricultural mission-aries. "The Gospel of the Plow" meets the need of India's masses.

During the year, our total community membership has been 253. This includes 56 communicants, 124 adult adherents, and 108 children. Last year we had a communicants' class, and a few were added to the roll after examination by the session. A similar class will be conducted again this year. There were five infant and two adult baptisms during the year. We have our Christian Sunday School, in which all the High School boys, College young men, inmates of the Blind Asylum, and children of Christian families come together. Some of the members of the Sunday School took the All-India Sunday School examination and passed with credit. Besides this Sunday School four others are conducted by (College and School students) the attendance in which average about 200. The home mission work of the church is carried on in Sheorangapur village, where we have one preacher and his family stationed. There were no baptisms there this year.

The Katra Church.—Dr. Lucas writes: As we look back over the spiritual growth of the church during the year, we lift up our hearts in thanksgiving, being especially thankful for the gift of a young pastor who is putting all his varied gifts into the building up, not only of the church, but of the Christian community, in spiritual life and fruitfulness. The church membership now numbers 98, and of this number 11 have been added during the year. Four adults and seven children have been baptized. The average attendance has been 250 at church services, and 150 at the Sunday School.

The Leper Asylum Church continues the center of interest in the Asylum on Sundays. Nearly all the lepers attend and 144 of them are Christians. The number of baptisms, 94, is the greatest in the history of the Asylum. The lepers this year, in addition to giving Rs. 49-7-4 in regular collections, subscribed Rs. 55/- toward the Red Cross.

In the City Church, nearly every evening, usually from six to eight, sometimes longer, the word of God is spoken. During part of the year, the Pastor and members of the Katra Church conducted the service on Thursday night, and during the greater part of the year the pastor and missionaries connected with the Jumna Church have been responsible for the Sunday and Tuesday evening services.

Another center of our evangelistic effort is the Magh Mela held at the junction of the Ganges and the Jumna rivers. The heart-sickening sights at this Hindu religious gathering—men regarded as the holiest sitting nearly naked in ashes, their bodies besmeared with unspeakable mixtures, some swinging by their ankles, their heads nearly touching fires made of sacred fuel, some with arms shrivelled to skin and bone, stretched above their heads, now unable to take them down, some lying on spikes—these are some of the sights amidst which for a month each year the Mission tent stands with its witnesses for Christ. Relays of preachers speak to the people, and on big days a great many Christians of Allahabad witness in one way or another for Christ. It is a difficult place in which to preach. Still it is a great opportunity. Many Gospel portions are sold and thousands of tracts given away.

The gospel has been preached during the year in the Katra Bazaar and in 14 villages within a few miles of Katra. These morning services consist not so much of preaching as of friendly conversation with those who have leisure to talk or listen.

EDUCATIONAL.—Ewing Christian College.—The classes were most of them full to overflowing, the third and fourth, as a result of over lenient treatment of our own late-returning students, being slightly over regulation limits. In September we reached the high-water mark of 483 (besides 35 in the Agricultural Department) which number fell somewhat rapidly, till we came down to an average for the year of only 432, still the highest in our history.

One item, though not strictly connected with the college, has touched it so closely that it calls for mention. At the urgent request of the Maharajah of Kolhapur and of Mrs. Irwin, the guardian of the two sons of the Maharaja and of four other young sirdars, we received them and arranged classes for them, partly in college classes, but mainly outside. Three days a week, five of them were in the Agricultural Department, and three days they were on this side of the river.

The conspicuous public opportunity for impressing the truth is, of course, the daily Bible class, in which the students are divided into the same groups as in the literary societies. These groups are united one day in the week, and are addressed either by a visitor—very infrequently this past year—or else by the principal or some other professor. The interest displayed by the students in these assembly addresses, and still more in the Bible classes, has perhaps been more marked than usual this past year, especially in December and January, when two special influences were at work. One of these was a new earnestness of purpose on the part of a considerable proportion of the Christian students—and of the professors, too—as a result of the students' conference at Roorki. The other was a visit from Messrs. Eddy and Buchman of the Y. M. C. A. early in December. More than a hundred students formally pledged themselves to a study of the Gospels, with a view to facing the claims of Jesus Christ anew. Some of them attended special classes for a time, and a few came singly to read with professors.

The first story of the Chemistry Laboratory, alluded to in the last report, was completed. In addition to this, a residence was remodelled, and progress was made in the levelling, draining and walling-in of the campus. These extras, and an increase of salary to almost every member of the Indian Staff, were made possible largely by the considerable increase of the fee income.

College Hostels.—Perhaps the most outstanding events were the renewed interest in personal work (among the non-Christian students) on the part of the Christian students and professors; and secondly, the coming of Mr. Weiser, and his efficient help in looking after the very numerous details of the hostel management. There are in the hostels 28 Christians, 19 Mohammedans, and 177 Hindu students.

Department of Agriculture.—In the course of last year there were altogether enrolled 103 students, many of them, however, taking only brief, special courses. So far this year there are 43 enrolled, taking the regular course, either English or vernacular. More than 100 others have been refused because the smallness of the staff forbade special courses, or for lack of hostel accommodation. Of those who completed their work last year, five are on duty in Gwalior State, two in Dhar State, and one in the Methodist Mission.

Two buildings have been completed during the year: the Elizabeth McCormick Hostel (at a cost of Rs. 15,400/-) and the St. Louis bungalow (residence for American professors) costing about Rs. 10,000/-. Three silo pits have also been made at a cost of Rs. 250/- each. Two buildings are in the process of construction, the Livingstone-Taylor wing of the hostel and the almost as much needed dairy barn. A deep well is also in progress of drilling. Messrs. Higginbottom and Griffin have given a good deal of time to extension work in Gwalior State and the Agricultural Department has now, at the earnest request of the Maharajah, entered on a three years' contract to superintend work for the improvement of agricultural methods in that State. Prof. Higginbottom has further done extension work in Bikaner and Jodhpur, lectured at the opening of the Hindu University, and written on agriculture for the "Indian Journal of Economics." Daily Bible classes were held last year for the students and a daily service for the farm laborers. We have just been visited by a flood which put more than three-fourths of the farm under water, and destroyed crops to the value of over Rs. 7,000/-. The deep, rich deposit left by the Juma river has helped to level our fields and enrich our soil, especially in the parts where it was poorest, yet our present financial condition makes the present loss far more weighty than the ultimate gain. The farm has been visited during the year by the Maharajahs of Jodhpur, Bikaner, and Kotah, by representatives of the Maharajahs of Kolhapur and Rajah, twice by Sir James Mes-ton, the Lieutenant Governor of the United Provinces, by Commissioner Booth-Tucker of the Salvation Army, by the Landowners' Association of Agra and Oudh, by officials of Government and of Native States, and by missionaries from many parts of India.

The Jumna School.—The past year has been a year of progress in every department of the school's work, though not in the matter of numbers. The enrollment last year was 629, while this year it is only 515. This is partly due to the cutting out of some sections of classes which were very large and unwieldy, and partly to the fact that several other schools in Allahabad have recently started "Special Classes," and taken away many of our students or those who would have come to us. There has been a very satisfactory increase of the number of Christian pupils from 48 to 66.

There does not appear to be any great demand for Commercial education in the school, and for several years we have had only from one to three students preparing themselves for the examination in this subject, so it was decided to close our Commerce Department.

This year the number of Christian teachers, including office staff, is 23 as against 21 last year (and of these 21 two were only part-time teachers), while the number of non-Christians has fallen from 18 to 10; thus our percentage of Christian teachers has risen from about 54% to nearly 70%. We believe also that there is a real gain in the quality of the staff as a whole and the way in which they have taken hold in our Sunday School for non-Christians is most hopeful. One of the noteworthy events of the year is the starting of a branch school in the Kothaparcha Chapel. We took this over in March from Mrs. Avey, who had been conducting it for five months. This has not yet been quite brought into conformity with Government requirements. There are 30 boys and 16 girls on the rolls.

Christian Boys' Boarding House.—The present enrollment in the boarding house is the highest we have had during the last three years. We now have 79 boys which is about as many as we can accommodate. An especial cause for thanksgiving this year has been the coming into the church here of six of our boys on confession of faith. One, a Hindu inquirer, who was sent to us a year ago, passed through a great test of his faith, having been taken away under Arya Samaj influence and kept under close surveillance for quite a while. He finally escaped, returned to us, and was soon baptized.

The Wanamaker Girls' High School.—The boarding school is growing up. It is, year by year, changing character, the high school classes increasing in size while the infant and primary boarders are becoming fewer. Where a year ago infant classes A and B supplied us with from 30 to 40 little girls who required looking after, there are now not more than ten.

The four high school classes have not increased in the same proportion, but they are full, and we have now under our care a large number of young women, active, intelligent, and earnest, their ages, in many cases, the same as those of girls in American colleges. In the Y. W. C. A., we have received much help from talks and Bible readings by friends outside the school, who share with us our desire to give our girls the very best we can. There have been as usual applications for the admission of non-Christian girls into our boarding school. It is as though we closed our door from within when we refuse to share our wealth of Christian advantage and privilege with them, and yet we have not room for them in the boarding house, and the building itself is not well suited to accommodate Hindus and Mohammadans.

Katra Boys' Anglo-Vernacular Middle School.—The number on the school roll is 137 of whom 28 are Christian. They are at the impressionable age, most of them being under 14. The missionary in charge has the whole school, including teachers, in a Bible class for the first half hour of the school.

Jumna Primary School.—This school which provides elementary instruction to little Christian boys of the Boarding House and to the children of Christian families living nearby, is superintended by Mrs. Ewing, who writes:

Our enrollment in the school continues about the same from year to year. We now have 49 pupils, a few more than at this time last year. There has been a change in our staff. We are now having a young man just for Hindi, and one for Urdu. The results of the annual examinations were on the whole good, except in the case of the day scholars, who were very irregular during the latter part of the year.

Industrial Training.—The Work Shop.—Last year we reported in the various classes taking Manual Training a total of 33. At present we have 40 names on our roll.

Although it has been planned to omit the agricultural course from the high school, we still have a class of eight boys who are taking chain surveying in this, the last year of the agricultural course. The carpentry shop has been running at about its average strength. The making of doors and windows for Mr. Griffin's bungalow, furniture for the new chemistry building, Mary Wanamaker School, and the Jumna High School, were the principal jobs. The drafting room has turned out a number of sets of plans and estimates for new buildings, the most important of which were for the Jhansi Boys' School, a Biology building for the college, and a new barrack for the Leper Asylum.

Zenana Work.—After going over the work of the Kotha Parcha School to Mrs. Avey, Miss Sampson's full time was not taken in the work of the Blind Asylum, so she went out in the highways and byways and found some zenana women who wanted to be taught.

MEDICAL.—Jumna Par Dispensary.—During the seven months of the year, which the dispensary has been open, there have been 4048 treatments, an average of 478 a month. Just now our numbers are higher than at any other time of the year, numbering between 40 and 50 a day. Chunderbutty, the oldest girl in the Home for the Untainted Children of Lepers helps each morning, and has learned a good deal.

Institutions Under Mission Supervision.—The Leper Asylum.—Mr. Higginbottom writes:

The Naini Leper Asylum continues to grow in numbers and for the first time we have had to refuse many poor wanderers a home simply because there was no room for them. All the financial obligations have been met by gifts from friends from the Mission to Lepers, and ordinary and extra gifts from Government. The religious tone has been good, the amount of personal work being most encouraging.

The Blind Asylum.—Owing to lack of funds, the numbers in the Blind Asylum have been reduced, and we have now only 55, of whom seven are children. During the year four have died, and 15 have, for various reasons, left or been sent away. Though it is hard to turn off any poor blind folk, it has seemed best as the numbers had to be kept down, to admit only those who come from Allahabad city or district.

ETAWAH STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Boarding School; one Church; five Groups; nine Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—Church Membership.—There have been 55 added to full membership, some of them giving clear evidence of their Christian experience; 46 of these are from four new centers: Ruonganj, Airwa, Ktar Sahar and Bela. Except at Ruonganj the villages they live in are so much apart from each other that they do not get together for worship except occasionally. The remaining nine belong to the unorganized churches already existing. Three of these are from the night school at Mithepore.

Our Christians are feeling more than ever the efficiency of prayer. When anyone fell ill, superstition always prompted him to offer Puja (sacrifice) to appease the angry god or goddess. This is so not only among the class we were working with, but among all low classes. It was a surprise to us to see a man with sore eyes take a goat for sacrifice to a goddess. He had worked as carpenter for months at the mission houses and had read several tracts and hand bills, etc. Brief convincing talk and prayer with him and his friends stopped the sacrifice. The whole village of Lodis has lost faith in their gods and are enquirers. Three have openly declared their faith in Christ. Our Christians have begun to take a definite step regarding sacrifice in this respect, though the temptation is very strong.

Church Contributions have not come in as they ought; most of the members of the city church have begun to pay about a tithe. The village Christians express their willingness to pay regularly and have given freely on occasions; one man has given a mango tree, the produce of which brings about Rs. 12/. annually. Another has given a goat, a third a pig, etc.

FATEHGARH STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Christian Boys' Boarding School; Christian High School for Boys; City Girls' School; Rakha Girls' School; Industrial Department of Boys' School; Emma F. Salisbury Hospital for Men; Sarah Seward Hospital for Women; six Churches; 27 Groups; 58 Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC—

Misses McRobbie and Lockrow were assigned to district work. Nurse McRobbie improvised a dispensary on the Verandah and soon had hospital Extension work well organized. Many were the afflicted she found who must have surgical attention. These she brought in on the train to the hospital, and when they were able she helped them home again, and continued to look after them. Occasional visits from Dr. Woodard were made.

Mr. Bandy writes:

Our aim last campaign season was to visit all the Christians in the strip of country between the Ganges and the R. R. from Furrukhabad to Kampil and to prepare them for and receive them into the communion. Because of unavoidable neglect of these people, we found many of them unfriendly, and so it took some time to win them. We succeeded, however, in leaving them friendly and with a better understanding of the difficulties under which we work with so large a field and so small a force; Dr. Griswold was with us and witnessed some of our conflicts. After leaving this strip of country, we had some time for visiting villages on the other side of the railroad and for general visiting throughout the district.

The spring meeting of Presbytery met in Fatehgarh. Much emphasis was given to the spring campaign planned by the General Assembly. Committees were appointed and Bible study classes started. The spiritual tone of the community seemed to rise at once. Four special meetings were held in the different parts of the district. The high school masters and city pastors went as speakers. All day and night meetings were held.

English Services.—Services in the R. R. Institute have been held bi-monthly. Mr. Rulach has been in charge and has done most of the preaching, Mr. Bandy and Mr. Wallace taking occasional services.

EDUCATIONAL.—

Contract Schools.—During the year there were 226 children reading in 34 schools; 61 were girls. One school ran the entire year. Most of them were open for about three months. Our aim first was to get out of debt. In this we succeeded, and second was to keep a number of children reading so they might not forget all they had learned the year before.

The Industrial School.—There are 35 Christian boys working in the shops. The work is chiefly carpentering, blacksmithing and fitting, shoe making and stone cutting. Several large orders from the government for army boots have been filled. There are 76 boys in the boarding house and in addition the 36 industrial boys board here. The school boys all work an hour every other day to help earn their clothes. They have study hours both morning and evening and prayers in the early morning.

The Christian High School.—The number enrolled, 268; number of Christian teachers, 13; non-Christian, eight. The staff consists of 18 teachers in all for 12 classes or sections of classes. As regards educational qualifications, it may be also considered satisfactory. The new hostel for non-Christian boys was opened in July. There are 24 boys in now.

At the close of the recent school year, Rakha Girls' School numbered 102 on its rolls, the average attendance for the year being 87. There was very little absence except for illness. Of the 95 who took the promotion examination in the Spring, 68 passed into higher classes, and of the failures, 11 were those in the A class, many of the children having entered the class after the year had well begun. The curriculum of the school is arranged in accordance with government requirements, with the addition of Bible and Roman Urdu classes.

Furrukhabad Girls' Day School.—The main emphasis of the year's work has been laid upon acquaintance with the parents and homes of the children, with the idea that by following them up the friendship of the community would be gained and the school built up.

The average enrollment has been 103 as against 83 for last year; the average attendance 60 as against 45 for last year. The percentage of attendance has thus been 58% as against 54% for last year, an improvement partly due to freedom from plague this year.

MEDICAL.—The Hospital.—Work has been carried on in and around the dispensary building. The new main building should be ready for use soon.

In order to accommodate inpatients, six small tents were made and put up near the dispensary. Until April the staff of helpers was one compounder, one nurse and one pupil nurse. In April a nurse went from here to Lodiana returned with her certificate and has been giving satisfactory help. The Hospital extension work as opened by Miss McRobbie in Quaim Ganj has resulted in a very large number of patients coming from that vicinity. We have had no regular Bible woman and no room in which to seat waiting patients, every available room being turned into a ward. But we have all who are inpatients with their relatives in attendance come to our daily prayers with other teachers and servants on the verandah.

FATEHPUR STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Boarding School; one Church.

EVANGELISTIC.—The evangelistic campaign, as being promoted by the Presbyterian Church in India, has laid hold of the hearts of the people, and there is a real thirst for righteousness and a real dissatisfaction with the old rate of living and working for Christ.

Early morning prayers in the church are well attended, a few meetings with the pastor for Bible study and prayer and others spending the time in their private devotions. At midday the women meet. There has been a steady growth in this meeting, both in attendance and interest. On two, and sometimes three evenings of the week, the pastor conducts what might be called cottage prayer meetings in different parts of the village and compound. During a large part of the year the National Missionary Society branch in connection with the church has conducted three Sabbath Schools in two parts of the city and in a nearby village.

The district work has been carried on in about the same centers and by about the same force as last year. There is a good deal to encourage in several places in the district. In the Hussainganj field both the Kuchbandias and chamars present a hopeful outlook. The preachers as usual have sold large quantities of literature. They for some reasons are able to sell more tracts and little booklets than portions of the Gospel.

EDUCATIONAL.—The School has added another year, with the promotion of the six boys of the second class into the third.

JHANSI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Girls' School; Boys' School; Kennedy Christian Boys' Hostel; two Churches and 15 Groups; six Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—The churches have been more truly the centers of all the life of the community and the pastors have been in a new way the leaders. More of the members both in Jhansi and out in the villages have become volunteer workers and we are inclined to believe that our field is beginning to be a force.

Of our 970 adherents, 200 are connected with the City and Sipri churches, and 770 are in the district, of whom 353 are in the Ranipur circle.

We are responsible for the evangelization of 204,904 people living in British territory and about as many residing in the Native States of Oorchha and Gwalior. In extent our British territory covers 1,168 square miles. Most of the people live in the 508 villages and towns. There are now Christians in only 14 of these villages and towns. Then we have Christians living in six villages in Gwalior State and six villages in Oorchha State.

We hope that at the next meeting of Presbytery we shall be able to call a pastor for the Mau Tahsil Church, which we are now planning to organize. At a meeting in Mau a month ago we decided that the time has come when these 600 adherents living in eight towns and villages in Mau Tahail should have a church organization of their own.

There are now 71 boys and young men reading in the six district schools. Most of these are now studying Roman Urdu, and about ten are now able to read the New Testament fairly well. There are now three men from Jhansi at the Central Training School, Mainpuri, and two others who were there and who have been here for a few months, will return to the Training School at the opening of the second term. There is also one young man at Saharanpur Seminary.

The evangelistic campaign work was started in real earnest and there have been committee meetings each month. Some of these meetings are held in the City Church and some in the Sipri Church as the two churches have joined hands in this work. The campaign spirit has raised up some fine workers and there are indications that more and more volunteer workers will join heartily.

Zenana work.—During the past year I have had on an average 40 regular and about 20 irregular pupils. The latter have read some weeks and then been absent for weeks at a time. I have found the women very responsive and anxious for Bible teaching; sometimes, especially atter pujas and festivals, they are hard and indifferent. Most of them acknowledged that they have no faith in their gods, and that they believe in the true God, but they do not yet see the need of a Saviour. Two or three women tell me that the Gospel teaching has made a difference in their lives and their neighbors and friends have noticed it.

EDUCATIONAL.—The City Girls' School.—Miss Lawton says:

We have an enrollment of 129 girls of whom nine are Christians, 11 Mohammadans, and the remainder 109 are Hindus, 37 of the latter are Brahmans.

Many of our girls are daughters of clerks or baboos working in the R. R. or government offices and they are here today and transferred to Cawnpore, Agra, Rawal Pindi, Fatehgarh or some other place tomorrow. Within 23 days, four of our third class girls moved away. These were among our most promising girls so it was hard to lose them. Then there is the yearly wedding season which robs us of several more of our larger girls and oft-times some of the smaller ones, too. Again there are the feasts and the fasts and pujas of endless variety and number.

The Boys' Boarding Hostel.—We have the same number of boys in the hostel this year as last year. Two of the older boys have been teachers in the City Church S. S. and about eight have taken part in the Mohulla S. S. work each Sunday morning. On Hindu holidays and at Melas they have also taken part in preaching and book selling.

The Boys' School.—There were 147 enrolled, 45 of whom were Christians. There are now Christian boys reading in every class. Ten of the 12 teachers are Christians, the teacher of the beginners' class being a woman.

MAINPURI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Central Training School for Men; Central Training School for Women; Boys' Vernacular Boarding School; Village Christian Boys' Boarding School; High School for Boys; two Churches; 13 Groups; one Day School.

EVANGELISTIC.—District Work.—A new Ford motor car, by the kindness of home friends, has been added to the equipment of our District. It has proved to be most useful. The District is supplied with good roads, and the car puts one into closer contact with his work.

The Mainpuri Station, because of the Training School, is full of valuable helpers for the district work. The car has been very helpful in making the presence of many of these men possible at village gatherings where their help is much valued. A new tent has also been added to the equipment. This was made necessary because the white ants did not leave a piece of the old one larger than one's hand.

The workers have had held up before them as the great ideal of their work, to become the spiritual leaders of their people, and to inspire others to take this leadership. In the Mass Movement work, it profits nothing for a worker to have ability, if he does not exercise a spiritual authority of love over his people. Some of our higher paid men have not the slightest vestige of this spiritual and pastoral authority. On the other hand, we have some workers who, during the year, have found out the real joy of being pastors of their people—of loving them and caring for them and being loved and cared for in return. These are the men who in every way have had the largest results and whose work has received the praise. Spiritual leadership is of supreme importance in our work.

During the four and a half months of camp life, special attention was paid to preparing for and administering the Lord's Supper. On an average, three workers were constantly with the camp. Upon arrival at a new place, the first work was to hold a conference with the local preacher and village leader. Emphasis has been laid upon Christian marriages, and some progress has been made, ten village Christian marriages having occurred during the year. The wedding is one of the most difficult of the customs to control, chiefly for two reasons—the desire to marry children too young to come within the limits of government law for Christians, and because of time-honored reverence for certain forms.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Central Training School.—

There is a smaller number of men in this school than there has been for some years past. Last October we had 58. The term which opened in January showed 45, and the term beginning in August showed only 31. At present we have 33 men. The proportion of married men, however, is higher, there being 26 women at present in the Zenana School. The Furrukhabad Presbytery has recommended that the men's four-year course of studies be arranged so that the ground be covered in three years.

The position of the Training School has been greatly improved by the erection of new buildings. We are now having a separate Normal Course not combined as before with the Training School subjects. We have two teachers with Normal training. There has been a good spirit in the Training School during the year and we believe many of the young men are being prepared for lives of usefulness, whether as teachers or evangelists and pastors.

In the Boys' Vernacular School there have been changes in the staff, Munshi Yaquib having left us and Babu John Chester giving all his time most of the year to the oversight of the boarding department. We have just employed a new Christian teacher, Jawala Parshad, who has come to us from Fatehgarh. We now have classes up to the sixth with the exception of one class. The boys do most of their own sewing and mending. This reduces expenses and also teaches the boys a useful art, besides making them work in a small way for their own support. One boy attending High School lives in this boarding school, his parents having left Mainpuri—he is one of the best boys in lower classes of the High School.

The High School.—The number on roll now is 280 against 263 shown last year. We expect the number to go up to 300 next year. The same number would have been reached this year had it not been for the sprouting of a Private School under the management of a dismissed non-Christian teacher of our school. Out of a total of 20, we have 11 Christian teachers. For the first time we are fortunate this year in securing the services of a Christian B. Sc. to teach science in the school.

Our hostel has at present 46 boys, with a capacity of 63.

GWALIOR STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Two Groups of Churches.

The Christian Community connected with our Mission is virtually the same as last year—a small community of about 50 souls. Divine service has been held regularly on Sunday mornings in the Chapel at Morar Bazaar, and less regularly in the evenings at the home of an Indian Christian in Lashkar. A church service for Europeans has been held on Sunday evenings in the mission house.

Woman's Work.—This has been carried on by Miss May and Miss Hill from the two centers of Morar and Lashkar. Each lives in a rented house in the Indian city, and has associated with her an Indian worker. Also Miss Ching and Miss Smith, the one from England and the other from the State of Maine, have joined Miss Hill and Miss May. It is the desire of the missionaries that at least one good school for girls in Morar and one in Lashkar be added to the teaching being done in zenanas.

Men's Work.—We confine our preaching, as a rule, to the chapel in Morar and to the three shops in Lashkar and Old Gwalior which we have rented, and to speaking to the people on the streets in front of these. Much of the time is given to conversations, and there has been preaching before our tent in Melas where we establish the right by renting a plot of ground, and in some villages.

Spiritually we are surrounded by much darkness. The new spirit of "nationality" and rising to the defence of every thing Hindu, is everywhere seen among the educated, amongst whom there is no tone of apology for idolatries, but an avowal of belief in every deity of the Hindu pantheon. This is India, these the people of India. We have a message concerning God, the god of all men, a message of life and hope. This is what the people need—not a new religious organization in competition with the others, but peace with God through Christ Jesus, and purity and love for God and men. Such a kingdom of God spreading in their hearts will be of untold comfort and blessing.

ETAH STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Prentiss Boarding School for Girls; Horace Clelland Memorial School for Boys; Widows' Home; Boys' Boarding House; one Church; 25 Groups; 29 Day Schools; Training Schools for Men and Women.

EVANGELISTIC.—We have but one church organization. There have been added to the baptized community 117 of whom 53 were adults. The Superintendent of the Central S. S. reports as follows:

There has been an average attendance of about 140. A class of Mohulla boys has come regularly, brought there by their teacher. Branch schools are held by members of the central school, the boys and girls, men and women going to the Mohullas and villages in bands. Thus in nine or ten places classes are held weekly.

Ten Christian Endeavor Societies, with a membership of 165 are reported. A Local Union Meeting was held four times during the year. Several of the Societies are doing fine work in Evangelistic lines. The regular church services have been well supported. The attendance has been good all year, and especially during the hot months it was unusually large for the season.

A campaign canvass secured in the local congregation the following: 133 for Daily Prayer Bands; 55 volunteered for Preaching Bands; 76 for Music, and 77 for Personal work. In addition to the regular church services, 20 Bible classes, including the one for the leaders, are now meeting weekly. The five-mile limit for the church's activities includes 54 villages in which converts live. 14 preaching bands have been organized and will visit each of these groups once a month. These volunteers include the teachers and girls of the Girls' School. Each of their group will have a man, to escort, and protect it and to preach to the men.

Zenanas.—Mrs. Watt has had charge of the Zenana workers and spent much time going with them. She reports that they visited more than 45 houses and that generally their message has been well received. This work in the homes of Mohammedans and Hindus of high caste is of great value in disproving what would seem to such people to be the case, in a place like Etah, that the Gospel is for the poor only. Part of this work has been in Chumar homes, in which there is a spirit of friendly expectation.

The staff of workers in the District has been undergoing changes for the better. We are getting more of Saharanpur and Central Training School graduates, and are beginning to have as helpers some of our former Boarding and Day School pupils. Several others of this class have been sent to Mainpuri either for the Training or Normal Department.

Mr. and Mrs. McGaw have visited about 200 of the Christian groups this year. All this visitation leaves over 100 groups of Christians unvisited by a missionary. Efforts to get the people to unite on Sundays for worship, succeeds in some measure when we are on tour among them. At one such meeting, 20 villages were represented. There has been much persecution of the Christians this year.

EDUCATIONAL.—Horace Cleland Memorial Boarding School.—A few of the larger boys who were backward in their studies, were taken from the school and are being taught trades. One has taken up tailor work, three are learning to be carpenters another aspires to become a blacksmith. Nine of our boys are in the Mainpuri Training School, one-half of our teaching force in the school is made up of our own boys. All the older boys make their own clothes, as well as many of the garments for the smaller boys. They cook their own food and string their own beds. About five days out of the week they work for three hours a day, and in the busy season for four hours, thereby earning some money, and helping to pay for their food and clothes. We will train some of the boys to be gardeners, and it is our hope to turn out experts along this line.

The Day School, which is the only Vernacular Middle School in the entire Mission, has not enjoyed an entirely successful year. Christian Vernacular trained teachers are hard to find. The non-Christians are returning in larger numbers than ever and now number one-half of our scholars.

One of the great needs of the Girls' School, a Kindergarten, has been established and carried on throughout the year. This has had an average attendance of 20, including children from the Widows' Home, orphans of the School and children from the homes. A Teachers' Training Class has been conducted during the year, including methods of teaching, playground supervision and English. The number of pupils in the Girls' School remains about the same. It seems impossible to secure many more than 60 at any one time. Ten of our girls united with the church this year.

There have been more inmates than ever before in the Widows' Home. The weaving of cotton rugs has been introduced recently, and has largely taken the place of lace making. During the year, two of the women were married and two have found positions as cooks in schools.

The work of the Industrial Department falls naturally into two divisions:

The Central Station.

1. The grading, packing, testing for freshness and despatch of market eggs.
2. The sale of eggs for hatching and stock to the public.
3. Correspondence, accounts and attention to details arising out of (2) which is a mail order business; also, the publication of three leaflets on Poultry keeping, two in Urdu, one in English.
4. Installation of oil engine and pump, setting out of fruit trees.
5. The Etah Poultry Show.

The District.

1. Distribution of pure bred eggs for hatching in the villages.
2. Purchase of market eggs from the people, and preliminary investigations on forming a series of "egg circles," which have proved such a marked success in Denmark and Australia.

KASGANJ STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Middle School; Short-Term School; three Churches; six Groups; 17 Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—

We are solely responsible for a population of 400,000 people in one of the most populous parts of India. We now have a community of 50 workers connected with our compounds. Our work has reached a distinct stage, in that the entire sweeper community, with few exceptions, has come under our influence. The opposition to our coming has disappeared, and if we are not welcome, we are at least tolerated.

The work of the eldership is an encouraging feature, perhaps the most encouraging of the work. They are ready to sacrifice their time, and come together to plan for the growth of their people. They are on the right side of nearly all questions. But they are all uneducated men. Some kind of training for these men seems desirable, but difficult to arrange, as we this year discovered, as they cannot leave their homes for long at a time.

During the winter we made 12 camps, and nearly all of these were enjoyable. In one place certain persons of the baser sort got Nim leaves and pounding them, dropped them into the well we were using. Nim resembles quinine as to taste, and is much esteemed as a medicine, but does not make good tea.

EDUCATIONAL.—Educationally this year small progress has been made. The village teachers do not seem to have been able to teach a great many new children, and at our summer school, owing to the great number of weddings (for this year the moon and stars were auspicious) and to the early appearance of the rains, the attendance was less than last year.

The boys are kept busy from morning till night, and during the noon intermission ten or 12 boys learned to make Sups. These are for cleaning grain, and in great demand. Some of these boys should be able to earn their living by this.

The school has enjoyed a year of quiet. The Arya School has made no effort to disturb us, and four or five boys have come to us from their school. The total attendance is lower than at the same time last year, but in the higher classes is higher.

CAWNPORE STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One Church and four Groups.

The plot which has been given to us in exchange comprises a little more than three acres. As far as location is concerned, it is altogether as good as that which we gave up. It is situated within convenient distance of all the mills in the Civil Lines section.

The mill life at Cawnpore has been, if anything, more active than ever, by reason of the war. The workshop that was conducted by the S. P. G. Mission was recently closed, and I learned that it is not the intention to reopen it when the war is over, as the opportunities in the mills are such for Christian young men as to make a large part of the training that they gave in the workshop superfluous. In this atmosphere of active business and factory life, the Cawnpore Church finds its field, its difficulties and its dangers.

The community now numbers more than 350, but is scattered over a wide area. Services have been held on the central compound and at Juhi during the year. A number of girls from the Union Zenana Mission have begun to regularly attend our services. There has been increased interest in the Sunday School. A Sunday School has been conducted in a "Kori" neighborhood since January. At Nawabganj we bought a house and we have the teacher to place in it.

In the district, work was centered mainly about Kananj, Tirwa and Sariffpur. One of the encouraging things this year in the district is the response that has been made to the effort to have leaders take upon themselves something of responsibility for Christian work. Church committees were formed at Kananj and Tirwa.

THE PUNJAB MISSION

HISTORY—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) It was before the organization (1837) of the present Foreign Board, and while the Western Foreign Missionary Society was still in existence, that the Rev. John C. Lowrie and the Rev. William Reed, with their wives, were sent to India to lay the foundation of Presbyterian work. The section of the particular field was left to their judgment after consultation in India. Leaving America in May, 1833, they reached Calcutta in October. Ludhiana, then a frontier town of the Northwest Provinces was selected as the first center, but only one of the party reached Ludhiana, death claiming two of them. The Rev. John C. Lowrie arrived in the city to begin work in November, 1834, and the first reinforcements came in December, 1835. From the first, energetic evangelistic work has been carried on. The next station in order of occupation was Saharanpur. Here was established, in 1838, the Boys' Orphanage, from which have gone forth distinguished evangelists. The Theological Seminary was established in 1884, which has trained effective preachers.

Sabathu was occupied partly because its location would prove useful as a sanitarium for sick missionaries, and also as a center for work among the hill tribes. It is the home of one of the largest leper asylums in India. No sooner had the victory of the English in the first Sikh War been announced than an assistant, the Rev. Golak Nath, the first convert baptized at Ludhiana, and the first native minister of our Church in India, went to Jullundur and there labored faithfully for nearly half a century. Mussoorie Station (in Landour) is the seat of Woodstock College; its primary object to educate the children of our missionaries, but it grew into a school for the instruction of Europeans, Eurasians and native Christian girls as well.

Lahore was entered immediately upon the annexation of the Punjab by the British, the missionaries receiving the cordial sympathy and support of such distinguished Christian officers as Lord Lawrence, Sir Donald McLeod, Sir Herbert Edwards and Sir R. Montgomery. A boys' high school was founded in the early days of the mission. The Mission School, which later became Forman Christian College, opened with 15

Miss Margaret MacDonald of Lahore on a tour amongst the village people near the city.—Every morning the tent of the itinerating missionary is crowded with those who want help and comfort. No matter what the missionary's previous training may have been, she must be ready with the eye-lotion, cough-mixture, iodine, quinine and castor oil for the many sufferers.

students. It has become one of the largest colleges, government or missionary, north of Calcutta. The president and usually four of the professors are Fellows of the Punjab University and have had a large share in shaping education in the province.

The peculiar interest attaching to Hoshiarpur is that it has been entirely under the control of native workers, until very recently, Dr. K. C. Chatterjee being in charge for more than 40 years.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

LUDHIANA STATION (JAGRAON SUB-STATION)

EQUIPMENT.—Woman's Christian Medical College (a Union Institution partly supported by the Presbyterian Mission); City Boys' High Schools; Christian Boys' Boarding School; Non-Christian Girls' School; Jagraon Boarding School for Village Children; three Churches and 19 Groups; eight Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—Preaching and selling the Scriptures have been carried on regularly at the city chapel, which stands in a conspicuous place on the "Broad Bazar." In order to infuse greater efficiency and enthusiasm into this work, as well as to enlist the co-operation of our Christian congregations, we hope that during the coming year the session and other members of the Church will undertake the chief management and direction of the Evangelistic Campaign in the city. The school in the mohalla inhabited by Chamars (leather workers) continues under the supervision of Mrs. Wherry, and is exerting a good influence. Meetings have been started for the Christians scattered in different parts of the station, and they are visited regularly by one of our workers. Once a week they assemble at a social gathering, held at the house of one of their number. This meeting is called a Prem Sabha, or "Love Assembly."

Dr. Orbison writes as follows:—

In this district the people were formerly considered hard and unapproachable, but in most places we have found them inclined to be friendly. Our workers say there is a change in attitude and disposition toward the Gospel, and if we continue to visit with them and mingle with them in a frank and loving spirit, their opposition will melt away, as ice melts in the sun's rays, and they will become our firm friends. I have great hopes that the pills, powders, and poultices dispensed by us will be potent means in mollifying their prejudices and in inducing a wholesome frame of mind, as well as of body.

EDUCATIONAL WORK.—The Christian Boys' Boarding School.—

The numbers have fluctuated very much this year, being highest in June. We stand about as before, with a total of 98 enrolled here, and six others who live here but attend the City High School.

We have been able to make progress in a number of lines. Drawing as a subject was introduced by order of the Department, and we took on a teacher and equipped a room with the necessary furniture and appliances. The classes in science which had been dropped were again started, and a good supply of materials purchased. Class libraries were provided. A Teachers' Association was formed, and fortnightly meetings are held for consultation and report on the progress of students. A system of report cards has been introduced, by which to keep in touch with the parents of children who are proving idle or backward. We are especially grateful that 12 of the boys have made confession of their faith and have united with the Church. Another has written that he also united with the Church just after leaving school. Miss Helm, who is in charge of the Lower Primary Department, writes encouragingly of the work. The numbers are keeping up and the progress being made is normal.

City Mission High School for Boys.—The enrollment of the past year showed a slight increase over the previous year, taxing our limited accommodation to the utmost. Many had to be refused. The Government grant was also increased by Rs. 792, and the Inspector expressed himself concerning the work of the school in the following terms: "The school continues to do excellent work in the training and formation of character, and good work in education generally. One feels that there is a strong, robust moral influence at work here which is worth an immense amount, and the school stands at all times for what is right and pure and good. Hence its hold on the affections of the people for over two-thirds of a century. The religious work of the school is kept before our minds constantly in all the activities. The direction of athletics by Christian teachers affords an excellent opportunity of meeting the boys on a friendly Christian basis, and speaking a word in season. The boarders in the hostels, of course, have a quiet Sabbath, and the Christian teachers go and teach them Christian hymns and have Bible classes. The same sort of work is also carried on during the week by those Christian teachers resident in the hostels. Private confessions frequently show how the boys are thinking, but the sad thing is the difficulty to bring the work to fruition. A boy who is old enough to think morally for himself is often not old enough legally to make the choice.

Girls' Middle School (Non-Christian Day School.)—The past year has been a year of changes in the school. The greatest change was the leaving of the principal, Miss Weymss, who had done such splendid work in the school for the last nine or ten years, and who was much beloved by the teachers and girls as well as their parents. But the changes included a number of teachers, girls and even servants. A new trained Christian teacher has come as headmistress, and is doing good work. English seems to be the most popular subject, as most of the girls want to learn that. In fact, a number attend the school only because English is taught. A number of married women have been sent this year by their husbands. One man wants his wife to learn not only English, but "American morals" as well. The daily Bible classes are the most interesting part of the work. The new course has been adopted as far as practicable, and we expect to adopt it more fully the coming year. Many of the girls are much interested, apparently.

Christian Girls' School at Jagraon.—It has been the aim and effort this year to raise the standard of the work done in the class room, and to improve the quality of the teaching, both secular and religious. Toward accomplishing this, a Normal Class for the Teachers has been carried on since February, the teachers showing a gratifying desire for improvement. Model lessons and object lessons for criticism have been regularly given, and have awakened a healthy spirit of emulation among the teachers and given fresh ideas for their classes. A Normal Bible Class has also been regularly held for all who teach the Bible. The use of black-board drawing for the younger classes has stimulated the interest in the Bible lesson.

The Forman Christian College. Thirty years have been completed since the College was re-opened in the Rang Mahal by Rev. C. W. Forman and Rev. H. C. Velte. Twenty-eight years ago the present principal assumed charge, and now the only members of the staff that remain are himself and the professors of Arabic and Persian. Meanwhile, long years of service were given by Messrs. Velte, Orbison, Gilbertson, Fleming, and others, who have gone to useful work in other spheres. It is worthy of mention that no less than six members of our staff are our own alumni.

The total number of students now on our rolls is 720, of whom 440 are living in our hostels, each of which is in direct charge of a professor.

The usual amount of attention has been given to Bible teaching, and constant effort has been made to come into as personal contact as possible with our students, in order that they may receive the impressions which we desire for them during their stay with us. We have been encouraged by much that we have seen. Some events have brought to us disappointments, but upon the whole we see no reason for discouragement. On the contrary, we rejoice in the vastness of the opportunity, an opportunity which has steadily grown, year after year, and is greater now than ever before. In order to take full advantage of this, the Church which we represent must put more of her life and her means into this task. The forces in opposition to us are altogether too powerful to be effectively met by anything less than the best that we have. One of the most cheering things of recent days has been the enthusiasm with which some of the Indian Christian members of the staff have entered into the effort to lead men to Christ.

LITERARY WORK.—With the greatest difficulty we succeeded in getting Norwegian paper at six annas a pound. This is more than double the ordinary price of paper of the same quality. Another obstacle in our way was the breaking down of the lithographic steam press, due to the wearing out of the rollers because of the heat of the weather. The material for replacing the rollers was also most difficult to find, especially the particularly fine quality used. The consequences was that the printing was so bad as to be impossible for book-work. However, the Bible Stories for Little Ones (illustrated), in the press last year, was completed, and 2,000 copies were published. The Nur Afshan was issued regularly and 500 copies were issued weekly.

LAHORE STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Forman Christian College; Kinnaird High School and College for Girls, conducted by the Zenana Bible and Medical Mission and aided by Lahore Station; Rang Mahal High School; Dispensary; five Churches; 58 Groups; 29 Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—Lahore has had special advantages in connection with the launching of the General Assembly's Evangelistic Campaign. Following the visit of Mr. Sherwood Eddy, in December, a new earnestness and spirit blessed the Christian community in Lahore, and in this inspiration Naulakha Church had its share of encouragement.

The Church, under the leadership of the pastor, organized more effectively for service, the effort being made to enlist all the members in the work of the regular organizations and in wider plans for community service and evangelism. In February the Rev. J. N. Forman, of Mainpuri, conducted a week of successful evangelistic services. Prayer groups and personal workers' groups have also been organized. A conference on methods for the Assembly's Campaign was held in Naulakha Church in October. The regular preaching services in the church have been well attended. Bazar preaching at three places in the crowded city has been carried on as usual.

Sharakpur Christians have greatly rejoiced this year in having the Mission headquarters in the midst of their villages.

The new bungalow at Sharakpur, in the centre of the district, has been occupied by the Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Harper. Miss MacDonald has spent a large portion of her time in camping in different sections of the districts. Rev. Asa Nand Rae has been an untiring and faithful pastor to his large and scattered flock. 13 village workers have been preaching and teaching the Christian message. The year has been specially marked by the fine spirit of cooperation among all connected with the district. We have made a beginning in systematic training of the workers. The Oriental loves stories. We selected about 40 of the great Bible stories teaching fundamentals of Christianity, and gave them to the men. We had practice in story telling until these men became so enthusiastic that they demanded a Bible Story telling Contest. The last time they were examined they had improved so much that it was difficult to award the prizes. We have had a conference every two months, when all the workers came together for inspiration and instruction in Bible story telling and new methods of teaching the pupils to read. Last year we had 30 weddings performed by Christian rites, which is three times as many as the previous year, when we were much encouraged at the result. At Christmas three large "jalsas" (large gatherings) were held in different centers. Miss MacDonald trained the people in one village to act the Christmas story in pageant. We had 204 baptisms this year, the largest in the history of the district. The great Evangelistic Campaign is gripping the district. A ten days' conference at Sharakpur last summer, with the help of loyal friends from Lahore and elsewhere, stirred the head men from the villages who attended, as well as our teachers and Scripture readers.

EDUCATIONAL—Forman Christian College.

The venerable President of our Board, the late Rev. K. C. Chatterjee, D. D., has entered upon his rest in the presence of Him, of whom, with his latest breath, he called himself a servant. Fuller mention of this truly great man and his work will be made elsewhere. Here it need only be said, throughout the history of this College, he stood as our most constant and conspicuous friend. He believed, with all his heart, in this form of missionary effort; and none rejoiced more than he in what it has done for the Church in the Punjab, and in what we believed it was destined, in the years to come, to accomplish in relation to the evangelization of the masses of the people.

Ewing Hall.—Our new hostel has now been completed. This work has involved much anxiety and labour; but we feel repaid as we recognize the great gain to the institution which is thus secured.

Rang Mahal Mission High School.—A fine, large manual training room has been added. This will be equipped with 20 work benches, accommodating 40 pupils. We are sharing this room with boys from two other schools, and the whole work is under Government supervision. Our kindergarten has been enlarged and a trained Christian teacher employed. Due to the large number of boys seeking admission to the school, it became necessary for us to increase one of our branch schools to the Upper Primary Standard. This was necessary, even though we increased our fees by 33 1-3 per cent. There are 1,006 pupils in the school; 360 in the Secondary, 295 in the Primary, and 351 in the Branch schools. These boys are taught by 47 teachers, 27 of whom are Christians. 32 of the staff are trained teachers. Besides these, nine other Christian teachers are on leave from the school taking their Teachers' Training. These men will return to the school. All of the senior Christian teachers have attended the Laymen's Theological Course throughout the winter, and have also met each day for prayer. Preparation is being made for the Evangelistic Campaign, and the Christian staff hopes to do its part in this forward movement of the Church. Many of these teachers are taking an active part in the Church, being officers or serving on important committees. A number of them help in the bazar preaching. The Graded Bible Course has been followed in the daily Bible teaching. There has been splendid interest on the part of the boys, and there have been a number of enquirers.

The Sunday School, which is optional as to its attendance, has maintained an average of 305. The school during this year has sold 120 New Testaments, 492 Bible portions, 402 Bible books, with total receipts of Rs. 116. The school continues its social work of conducting day or evening schools for poor outcaste Christians.

School for Hindu Girls.—The past year has been an interesting one in our school. We have employed a new teacher—a bright, normal-trained Christian young woman.

We now have three Christian teachers and three Hindu teachers, though these, too, I feel sure, are Christians at heart. In the daily teachers' prayers all the Christian teachers take part, and the Hindu women come willingly and listen reverently. The kindergarten is growing in size and popularity. The teacher has many original ideas, and takes a great interest in her work. We use the Montessori method to a great extent. The largest number of girls during any one month in the past year was 113, but on account of much sickness the average attendance has been much smaller.

School for Muhammadan Girls.—There are 79 girls on the roll. The highest number during the year was 90. In our opening exercises those who are ill or in sorrow in the school are especially prayed for, often by name. We pray much for those affected by the War, especially for the sick and wounded and sorrowing.

The Jail School.—This little school has justified its existence, as it reaches the children of jail employees who would have little opportunity for education otherwise. The enrollment remains about 24, but there are continual changes to the families moving away.

Kinnaird High School and College.—We now have 16 students in our college department, 10 in the training class and 172 in the school. The results of examinations have been good.

Seven girls joined the Presbyterian Church and two others were confirmed. We have no more room for college students in the boarding house, and it will be necessary to have a separate hostel for the college next year. The desire for a B. A. class is very great, and as soon as sufficient funds are available we hope to start this. The girls continue to be keenly interested in the National Missionary Society, and have been working hard for it in the long holidays as well as during the term. The weekly Y. W. C. A. meetings continue, and once a month there is a missionary meeting, which is sometimes conducted by the girls themselves. The girls still take a class on Sundays for the servants' children.

The Hira Mandi women have shown distinct progress this past year, especially such of them as were willing to spare the time to come to the daily Bible class at the school. The two women who are employed regularly in the stenciling, quilting, and mattress making are getting to be so superior in intelligence and general demeanor that they are no longer recognizable as low caste women. The five rupees a month which they earn enables them and their two children to assume quite an air of comfortable respectability. One of them has also learned to read. The Sunday school is bearing fruit in making the people acquainted with Bible teaching and grounding them in Christian truth.

Mrs. Dass continues her efficient work in the Delhi Gate Dispensary, as well as visiting among the Christian community, where she does much to relieve suffering. The number of patients has been 10,126, of these 5,431 were new patients. The dispensary is always opened with prayer.

The work at Wagah has taken a forward step. Miss Newing has lived there and given her time to the improvement of the Christian community. Such fundamental matters as teaching cleanliness, and attendance at religious service, and discouraging debts have occupied her attention. Regular Sunday services and daily evening prayers have been held, and a small dispensary is maintained. Fifteen out-villages have been visited, Gospels sold and leaflets distributed.

SAHARANPUR STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Theological Seminary of the Presbyterian Church in India; Training School for the wives of theological students; City Girls' School; Industrial School and Orphanage; Leper Asylum, supported by a Mission of Lepers and supervised by the Station; one Church; 11 Groups; seven Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—Two or three years ago the Saharanpur Station introduced a new element into the district work, by forming a Council, made up of representatives from the Mission, the Church, the workers and the Seminary students. This Council considers the field monthly or bi-monthly, makes plans, suggests improvements, and brings together the Mission and the Church in a way which is proving increasingly helpful and inspiring. In spite of illness in the families of our workers, there has been advance; 14 young men have learned to read the Bible; 28 men, 22 women, 48 children have been baptized. This proportion of women to men is especially encouraging, as we find those converts who come with their families much more stable. Strange to say the district census shows throughout an unusual preponderance of males over females, and many of our converts are unmarried young men. The poverty due to the war makes it more than unusually difficult for them to obtain wives. The report adds:—

A group of 30 or 40 Chamars had asked for, and been prepared for, baptism. We took our camp there; this made the villagers suspicious and they made all sorts of dire threats; whereupon the inquirers said, "Go away now, but do not leave us altogether, and by twos and threes we will be baptized with our families," a promise which they have already begun to fulfill. But though the Chamars form a large part of the population, yet of our Christians by far the larger portion are from among the still more despised class called "sweepers," 17 out of 20 being Chuhras and a little more than one in 20 being Chamars. The Chuhras are harder to find to teach than the Chamars, but are more ready to be baptized, but they have little ambition to go further. In all our 800 Chuhra Christians, only one woman can read and probably not more than 20 men. But not all the work is among the low castes, and Miss Morris reports having visited 120 villages and reached over 6,000 people, having given the message in the homes of more than 30 different castes.

Closely connected with the work of the district is the Summer Bible School. This year's was the largest we have ever had, over 120—men, women and children—having been taught; it was the most comprehensive, including members from our own district—Ambala—the Presbyterian Home Mission Field, the Reformed Presbyterian Mission, the New Zealand Presbyterian Mission, and from the Pentecostal Mission. A very interesting new feature was the Normal Training Class for Sunday school teachers, and a very encouraging feature was the voluntary work done.

A number of lepers from Meerut came to our Lepers Asylum and in a most effective way entertained and inspired our people by performing the story of the Prodigal Son. Many a famous actor might envy the rapt attention of that group; and when, in closing, they sang, "Jesus, Thou art my beloved, Thou art the light of my heart." So earnestly and with such feeling did they sing that a very deep impression was made on all present, and tears filled many eyes. And they were lepers.

The third convention drew together audiences of over 1,200, and not only enlisted the financial support of the people to such an extent that after all expenses were paid there was a balance in the treasury of over Rs. 420, but has so won the favor of the co-operating Churches that we may count upon their enthusiastic support and sufficient counsel.

The Inspectress's report of Miss Boyd's school was good; during the year the school was again raised to Middle grade, from which it had lapsed, as there were no girls in the city willing to study so far.

A new feature of the Sunday School has been a Bible class for young women. Though very few of those who attend church and Sunday School are Presbyterian, yet they are our nearest neighbors, and we are glad to have this opportunity of ministering to them.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys' Industrial School.—There were 85 boys in attendance: 23, learning carpentry; four, shoe-making; three, tailoring (simple Hindustani work). The carpenters made some exceedingly fine furniture; the iron workers rebuilt and refitted an old band-saw.

Theological Seminary.—A paramount need of the present day, both for the Church and the Mission, is the need of an indigenous and well-trained ministry.

It has been said, again and again, that if India is ever to be evangelised it must be by her own sons and daughters. True, in the work of evangelization, the missionary has had, and for some time will continue to have, a large share. But not so in the great work of shepherding the multitudes that have been gathered in. This is a work that can be satisfactorily done only by Indians. During the past year we have been trying to train 42 men and 31 women for this important work. We have laid great emphasis on character-building and the development of the spiritual life. The Christian ministry is a ministry of character. For the work of bringing men to Christ, and building them up, ministers must be men of prayer and live in close fellowship with God, and it is our aim that our students should become such men.

JULLUNDUR STATION (PHILLOUR SUB-STATION)

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' High School; four Churches; 29 Groups; 15 Day Schools.

The death of the Rev. C. B. Newton occurred on April 11, 1916. Dr. Newton was born in Lodiania in 1842, his parents having been among the first Presbyterian missionaries in India. The little sailing ship that in 1868 took him from America after his preparation for the missionary service was five months on the way to India with its cargo of ice, stoves and apples. From that date, Dr. Newton was actively engaged in practically every phase of the missionary enterprise and labored zealously in many different stations of the Punjab Mission. Up to the very end he did with conspicuous zeal and ability the works of Him that sent him while it was day. Three of Dr. Newton's children are now missionaries in India and one is a pastor in America.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Golaknath Memorial Church has added several new members to its roll in the last year—four being on certificate and six on profession of faith. The Pastor, Rev. Ralla Ram, has made earnest efforts to prepare for the Evangelistic Campaign, and already the Church has over-subscribed its share of the budget authorized by the Lahore Presbytery. It has done well financially this year—but has had little apparent success in its efforts to reach and interest the Hindus and Muhammadans of the city.

EDUCATIONAL.—

The two Hindu girls' schools have been well attended. The girls seem interested and anxious to learn, and we hope the Bible stories and songs taught every day will bring forth fruit in the future. The girls, being Hindus, would not dare make a stand for Christ for fear of being driven from their homes and being outcastes.

Boys' High School.—The number of boys in the school remains the same, in spite of the increase of fees. Unusual success attended our school this past year. In the university examination we had 727, placing the school first in the city and second among our Mission schools. The Government inspector recognized our vernacular department. So we hope that a grant will soon come to aid us in this work. There are several low caste Christian boys in our school, who are received on the same basis as the others. It surely makes one glad to see this terrible grip of caste on the people weakening. The teachers' daily prayer meeting has now become a regular feature of the school.

MEDICAL.—A daily clinic was opened for the boys of the Mission high school, to which the boys come with all sorts of aches and pains.

Through the help of friends, we were enabled to open a little dispensary for three days in the week in the city for women and children. The old Mission chapel in the main bazar was used for this purpose. It is a large room and has plenty of light. One end is divided into two parts; a curtained-off portion for examinations and a place for the dispensing of medicines. The remaining two-thirds of the room is used by those coming for treatment, and their friends. Some sit on the old chapel benches, others on the floor; soon so many came it was with difficulty they were attended to. Both Hindus and Muhammadans attended, the latter in the majority, however. At first the patients came only from the city and neighboring bastis, but in a few weeks they began coming from nearby villages as well, some as far away as 15 and 20 miles.

In the Zenana Work there are 27 houses visited and about 30 women taught—some in Urdu, Hindi, and English, but as yet there has been no real conversions.

District Work.—The keynote of our programme during at least half of the year has been the word "Evangelism." An effort has been made to prepare the workers, and through them the village Christians, by means of several conferences of workers, and special teaching and prayer at the Choudri Conference in June and the Workers' Summer School in Hoshiyarpur in August. Much actual preaching has been done at various rallies, and during the selling of Christian literature.

It is to be regretted that our village schools have declined somewhat in attendance during the past year. Yet the boarding schools in other districts are well patronized by the children of our village Christians. Our Jullundur city boys' school is being more and more used for the education of children of Christians from among the sweepers, moreover there is a growing tendency on the part of the village Christians to use the village schools supported by the Government. This is a part of the slow, but sure and steady, growth of this community in social position and intelligence. The army, too, has been opened to Christians, and a number of our village Christians have enlisted. The Christians of two villages have suffered unusually bold and serious persecution. The ingenuity of heathen in devising petty forms of persecution is something wonderful.

AMBALA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Mary E. Pratt Middle School for Christian Girls; Boys' High School; Philadelphia Hospital for Women; Leper Asylum, supported by a Mission for Lepers and supervised by the station; two Churches; 25 Groups; five Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—In that part of the district belonging to our Mission we have nine out-stations, with one or more workers located at each. At four of these there are day schools with an attendance of 50 or more boys. The Christian communities, aggregating about 350 persons, are principally confined to these out-stations, while a few stray Christians are scattered in other villages. There have been 11 men, 15 women, and 14 children baptized during the year.

MEDICAL.—The Philadelphia Hospital.—The work of this hospital has been carried on as usual.

There is an ever-increasing number of women and children who come to us for treatment. The daily average of those who attend prayers conducted by the matron is about 40. A Red Cross box has been opened for contributions to be used for buying bandages. Some of the patients with the staff sent during the year from Rs. 15 to Rs. 20 worth of bandages monthly to the Lahore office. It was of value to them to make these bandages, and so feel that they were doing something for their fellow-countrymen now fighting at the Front. At the request of Government officials, "First Aid" is being taught in the school for girls. The next generation of Indian mothers should be far less helpless than the present.

EDUCATIONAL.—The M. E. Pratt Girls' Middle School.—The past year has been an uneventful year of steady work. The health of the staff and the students has been excellent—except for an epidemic of measles and chicken-pox combined, neither of which developed into a serious matter.

The moral and spiritual tone of the school has been good. The teachers continue to do evangelistic work in connection with the hospital, and the girls continue to have their compound Sunday school. The teachers and some of the older girls have occasionally gone out with Miss Woodside or Miss Ayers to nearby villages for evangelistic work.

The City Girls' School.—After the examination last year the Hindu school was closed, being entirely too expensive for the amount of work done. 14 of the girls came to the Muhammadan school. With this addition the latter school was almost overcrowded. To obtain more room for classes a "chapper" was put up in the quadrangle. It is always wise to instil loyalty in the hearts of the youth, and hence we erected a pole in the school premises from which a British flag flies. We taught the girls what it means to love and honor it. Every day at a fixed hour the girls surround the flag and sing "God Save the King," then looking up to the floating flag they salute and march back to their places. Many mothers come in to see and to hear them sing. During the winter the older girls helped whenever they could in the St. John Ambulance work. They learned something of the origin and meaning of the Red Cross. They made kurtas, hemstitched handkerchiefs, and knitted stockings.

The City Boys' High School.—There are at present over 500 boys reading in all grades of this school. About 100 of these are in the Branch school and the remainder are in the Main school. The students of the High School Department number 110. During the past year 30 students were sent up for the Matriculation examination, of which 21 passed, two receiving Government scholarships. The Government "Grant-in-Aid" was raised from Rs. 386 to Rs. 557 per mensem. The Bible work was carried on as usual, and we believe with some success. The attitude of the students is one of keen and sympathetic interest in the teachings of the Bible. One of our Christian students was converted at the Saharanpur Convention held last spring.

DEHRA DUN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' High School; Girls' High School; one Church; six Day Schools.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys' High School.—When last year's report was written we were in the old school building, which was supplemented by five not too suitable rented rooms. Having given liberal grants for a new building, Government naturally demanded that it should be first class in all respect. Plans and specifications were sanctioned by both Government and the Mission, and in consequence the school is now housed in a two-story building with 21 class rooms, two larger office rooms, and an assembly hall that, when properly equipped, will seat between 300 and 400 persons.

Girls' High School.—The careful examination of each pupil, followed, when necessary, by suggestion and advice by our medical inspectress, is a help recently introduced and much appreciated.

When our teachers and pupils returned after the long winter vacation, they were greeted by electric lights, which had been installed throughout the main building during their absence. The Bible course prescribed by the Mission has been followed as far as possible. Two of the senior masters are studying the Laymen's Theological Course, and there is a weekly meeting of the Christian teachers for the consideration of some phase of Christian work. Our Training Department has more than doubled its numbers, and has overflowed the space allotted to it. This department has become an important feature of our work, and will soon call for increased accommodation. Three of its graduates are doing excellent work as teachers in our school. Nine girls became Church members during the year, and Scripture continues to be the favorite subject in each class. The idea, unpopular in Indian schools, of working to assist in the payment of fees, is coming more and more into favor. We plan to enlarge such opportunities in future years, as the spirit developed by these efforts produces a more practical class of women than those who have passively accepted free scholarships.

HOSHYARPUR STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Girls' Orphanage and Boarding School; Denny Hospital for Women; five Churches; 23 Groups; 10 Day Schools.

Our supreme effort is to supply and apply the Bible. Now the bulk of the Christians in the villages are illiterate, hence the necessity of opening schools for them is imperative. Within the past two years 17 have been started in this district. Let it not be understood that these are just like the schools of America. Far from it, these are generally irregular, not to say spasmodic. The parents are ignorant, indifferent to the value of education, and generally very poor in this world's goods. A small boy with a big stick, no clothes to speak of, and a more or less copious flow of choice "cuss" words, can by tending cattle or driving donkeys, earn at least a few cents a day to add to the scanty family income. "Why should he be sent to school? Would learning to read make a rajah out of him? His parents and grandparents never learned to read." The stupendous need is for teachers, trained teachers, consecrated teachers. In this district of 3,000 Christians (total population 900,000) we ought to have at least 30 day schools. As for supplying the Bible to non-Christians, our greatest opportunity is at "melas" (fairs). Originally religious, these gatherings of the people are now largely wordly in their nature.

EDUCATIONAL.—Hoshiyarpur School.—

In orphanage and school there were 75 children, three of whom were day pupils. At the end of July, when the school closed for the summer holidays, there were 65 boarders in the school, one day pupil, five others in the orphanage, and two girls in the hospital at Ferozepore. There were only seven boys, and two of them having reached the age limit, were not allowed to return. Five girls finished the course and have taken up other work. The Government inspectress visited us for the first time. Besides the regular work which the children have always done in the school, matrons, teachers, and older girls, have done a great deal of work for the Red Cross.

FEROZEPUR STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Non-Christian Girls' School; Frances Newton Hospital for Women; one Church; 12 Groups; three Day Schools.

The Civil District of Ferozepur is the most arid portion of our Mission field. The villages lay widely scattered, but are large and often well built. When sufficient rain falls at the time of special need, the warm open soil responds liberally to the slight attention given it. Similarly, those who have tried to sow the good seeds have found a ready response in several communities. New Christians of eager spirit have been ready to follow wise leadership. The desire of these formerly depressed classes to secure a better life has led in some cases to persecution, in others their employers are friendly as they find them more faithful.

Owing to the drought and scarcity of harvest, the usual harvest festivals have not been held by the people this year, and the harvest collections also fell short. A village headmen's school of six days was held in June, and 16 of the leading men came for a part of the time. The usual gathering at Christmas was arranged by the City Church, and a great many village Christians attended. The matter of Christian weddings has been a good deal agitated at a number of places, and eight Christian ceremonies have been performed by Mr. Prem Das, and at several others the usual idolatrous ceremonies were omitted, although one of the parties was not a Christian.

In education we have been able to keep three schools open for part of the year; in these 47 children and young men have been taught. Bible stories and a catechism have been used in the Bible teaching. There has been a great lack in regard to communications, as only three communion services have been held in the villages, and these during the itineration. There have been 95 baptisms during the year. When the Women's Presbyterial Society was held in Ferozepur, our villages were represented by about 25 women, but as yet no auxiliaries have been organized among them. Our City Church auxiliary has 22 members and gives annually about 70 rupees to the Home Mission work, and holds regular meetings.

The City Girls' School has at last secured a Normal School trained teacher for headmistress. Two other teachers assist her, and she is helping them with methods of teaching. About 50 girls, mostly Muhammadans, are enrolled. The Bible stories used in our boys' schools are taught to the infants and the three lower grades; Barth's Bible Stories to the fourth grade; and Mr. Newton's Questions on the Gospel to the fifth grade. The fifth class this year numbers eight girls, who have taken the whole course in our school. Although some have been married, they continued to attend the school.

MEDICAL.—“Frances Newton Hospital for Women and Children.—Dr. Allen who is in charge looks back over the most strenuous year of 22 in India.”

This hospital stands second in the the province among female hospitals for the number of major surgical operations performed. The success of this institution brings patients from long distances, and Dr. Allen is constantly being called in every direction to attend important cases. This is made possible by the efficient and faithful staff. Doubtless a still larger work will be carried on next cool season, when Dr. E. G. Lewis will assist in the hospital, preparatory to taking charge when Dr. Allen goes on furlough. A most useful service rendered by the hospital is the training of native midwives, and the supervision of their work after they have gained their Government certificates. At one time in the year as many as four classes were being trained. Several Christian young men have entered the army medical service from our Mission as compounders, nurses, and dressers. Dr. Allen gave some of these and their non-Christian class-fellows special teaching, supplementary to their training by Government.

Much interest has been shown in the coming Evangelistic Campaign; Bible classes have been opened for several groups of women and girls, and are being taught by Mrs. Mayadas and three of the missionary ladies. An earnest spirit prevails in the City Church and in the small congregation in the Cantonments.

KHANNA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Industrial School; Dispensary; one Church; two Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—To the three centers of evangelistic work in the district previously occupied, we have added a fourth out station at Machhiwara, 16 miles from Khanna. This was rendered possible by the employment of a new head-master for the boarding school, thus setting free for his proper work a Licentiate, who has for a considerable time been engaged in that capacity.

The evangelistic work of the district has been conducted almost exclusively by the Indian staff.

Machhiwara was opened as an out-station quite late in the year. This is an interesting old town, built on what was long ago the high bank of the Sutlej.

There has been rather an interesting work going on during the past summer and around Samrala, which is six miles south of Machhiwara and ten north of Khanna. During the school vacation seven of the boys, who had no homes to go to, were sent out there to live for a few weeks with Padre Gurditt Singh. While with him they greatly assisted in the evangelistic work, both at the Mission house, which is situated on a much frequented public road, and on the occasion of visits to neighboring villages. The singing of Christian hymns to the accompaniment of a drum proved a great attraction, and brought together large numbers of people, who remained often till a late hour of the night.

Boys' Boarding School.—The average enrollment during the past year has been 50. Our staff consists of a headmaster and three other teachers. All are Christians.

We follow the course prescribed by Government, and our classes extend through the 5th primary. Besides this, each class has an hour's Bible study each day, and half an hour for gymnastic drills.

We have a weaving department in connection with the school, in which the boys are taught to operate the hand-loom common to the country. This work is in charge of a competent teacher, who was formerly a student in the school. We are able to make a number of different kinds of cloth. A sewing department has been started during the latter part of the year. The older boys help to make their clothes, and all are taught to do mending. They also do their own cooking.

During the recent Dasahra Mela the headmaster had mats and benches placed just inside the school compound gate, and in the afternoon and evening the boys sang and the headmaster preached to the thronging multitudes who gathered to hear.

RUPAR STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Boarding School; three Churches; 11 Groups; ten Day Schools.

The Churches of Rupar, Morinda, and Chamkaur have united in calling a pastor. While this is a step that is gratifying, it remains to be seen how far they will fulfill their promise to support him financially. The Christians of this district are very poor, and it will be a severe test.

At last there is a break in the ranks of the Chumars—the caste above the sweepers, from which our converts hitherto have come out. This year there have been ten baptisms among them. One was an old man 60 years of age. It is a most promising opening, and we trust that, as a number are now ready, more will come out during the coming year. The Chumars are brighter intellectually, more prosperous, and more enthusiastic in religious matters, than the sweepers. It has been hitherto almost impossible to persuade them to come out, though they listen most earnestly to the Gospel, and give us usually a more hearty welcome even than the Christians—but they are very clannish. One baptism has been from the upper classes, that of a Sanyasi Brahmin, an elderly man—a Sadhu. For some time he had been an earnest enquirer.

Their most significant name is Sanyasi, “renouncer.” What made the greatest impression on our friend about Christ was, as he put it, “Here is the true Sadhu, the true Sanyasi, the true Renouncer.”

Fifty-two children from this district are attending our Mission schools in other districts—29 being boys and 23 girls. Our small boarding school in Rupar itself has had a very successful year, with 14 boys, 12 of whom are boarders. One of the boys, who spent three years in our boarding school, has for two years been first in his class of 17 at Ludhiana. Nearly 100 Christian boys and girls are being taught in their own villages.

MOGA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Training School; one Church; 35 Groups; nine Day Schools.

The work of this station is connected altogether with the mass movement. Its only institution is a Training School for Village Teachers, drawing its students from the sons of outcaste converts, and sending them back to the villages of the various districts from which they come, to help in the building up of the “Village Church.” Moga Church is exclusively a village Church. With the exception of such students in the training school as are communicants, its membership is drawn from the outcastes of the villages throughout the district. This does not signify a lack of interest in the middle and higher classes. But simply that the outcaste door is wide open, and strong efforts in that direction must, under God, redeem that community. And not that community alone. For a genuine, wholesome Christian life at the bottom, must inevitably leave its impress on the communities higher up.

During the past year the Christian community has decreased from 1,900 to 1,600, while there have been more than 200 baptisms, more than 500 names have been stricken from the rolls. The great majority were apostates, and of these nearly all were men. The rest were simply “missing”—careful search found no trace of them. The apostates, for the most part were those who had accepted Christianity with inadequate knowledge, or with no thoughtful consideration of the trials and persecutions involved, or those whose motive was simply to gain help, mostly in the law suits in which they are so constantly involved. Where the idea had taken root that the way of Christianity is the way of the Cross there was no apostasy.

More are enrolled in our village school, more worship at evening prayer and at Sunday services, and there is more lay activity, both in conducting local worship and in evangelistic effort than ever before. The Church continues self-supporting, not only in maintaining its own pastor, but in meeting all expenses for the numerous religious festivals held throughout the year.

There are 70 men and boys, and 12 women in the Training School, 82 in all; or 26 less than reported last year. This decrease is due to severer entrance requirements, both physical and mental. The age limit has been raised, and some of last year's younger boys have gone to other schools, from which we hope they will return to us at a maturer age. The Normal class has reopened under a trained teacher, and from it nine students will be ready to take up work in the villages in the spring. Although there was no Normal instruction in the past year, seven students finished a partial course and were sent out to teach in village schools.

LANDOUR MUSSOORI

EQUIPMENT.—Woodstock College; one Church; three Day Schools.

The death of Dr. Alice Mitchell occurred in Chicago on November 21, 1916, while on furlough. Being a daughter of the Rev. Dr. Arthur Mitchell, a former secretary of the Board, Miss Mitchell had a life-long interest in the missionary enterprise. Her twenty years of connection with the Woodstock School, of which she was the Principal, as well as recently the Superintendent of Woodstock College, gave her an opportunity to carry the power of Christ into the lives of hundreds of girls and young women. With strong, quiet confidence in God, and with trustful steadfastness in her work she left an enduring spirit of unselfishness in the many whose lives she influenced.

WOODSTOCK COLLEGE.—The school and college have been rather larger this year than last, the average attendance being 169 for both institutions. Of this number 44 were college students. There were 15 in the teachers' training class, 14 in the arts classes and five in the kindergarten training class. The rest were special students. There were six teachers in the college and 19 in the school, including the music teachers.

The Y.W.C.A. has completed its first year of work, and has been an influence for good in the college. Miss Withers, the Y.W.C.A. secretary, spent a few days with us and was an inspiration to the girls. The students have conducted a Sunday school class for the Dhubie Ghat children; a prayer meeting has been held by them every Sunday evening; group prayer meetings have been held in the cubicles Thursday evenings; a Mission study class has met once a week, and several times missionaries have come to speak to the students in connection with these meetings. In the school the C. E. societies have been carried on all the year.

A feature of the school this year has been the Girl Guide Patrols, and two Boy Scout Patrols. Under the leadership of Miss Jones 46 girls have been organized into Patrols, and 20 of them have passed the elementary tests in the principles of "first aid."

At the college Mrs. Beal and Miss Buck have had morning prayers for the servants, while in the school the Indian pastor has conducted these services.

FURLOUNDS: Miss Clara L. Seiler, Miss M. E. Patterson, Chas. E. Vail, M.D., Dr. Victoria E. McArthur.

HISTORY—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list). This Mission was formerly known as the Kolhapur Mission. Its field lies about 100 miles south of Bombay. It was opened in 1852 by the Rev. Royal G. Wilder of the American Board. In 1870 the mission was taken under the care of the Presbyterian Board. The mission has been affected during recent years by the terrible scourges of famine and bubonic plague which, beginning in 1896, attacked this region.

Ratnagiri was never fully manned until, after being virtually abandoned for a while, it was re-occupied in 1891. It has been an isolated station in the midst of a densely populated territory, necessitating much touring, sometimes including villages where people fled at the approach of the first white visitors they had ever seen. In 1900 over 200 adults were baptized within a few days at Kodoli. The higher castes here have strongly opposed the education of the children of those on a lower social scale than themselves. Sangli and Miraj were opened in a section where Brahmanical influence was strong. The medical work has been prominent here, the fine hospital and dispensary reaching almost every caste represented in western India. Islampur has been taken over as an integral part of our mission. It was begun as a village settlement, in 1899, by four missionary ladies who went out with the purpose of settling in some desirable center whence they could have easy access to the villages and influence the women's lives by daily contact. The ignorance, bigotry and superstition constitute one of the greatest obstacles to the progress of Christianity. The pioneer work in Vengurle was done in the midst of much opposition.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

KOLHAPUR STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' High School; Christian Girls' Boarding School; Alice Home and Nursery; Mary Wanless Hospital for Women and Children, built by the Maharajah of Kolhapur; two Churches; 26 Day Schools, including one kindergarten.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The out-standing event of the year in out-station work has been the organization and establishment of the Herale Church, with 19 charter members. Since the organization there have been seven additions to the church on confession, and there are some to be received shortly.

There have been 13 adult baptisms and the same number of children baptized.

The Vadgav Church lost heavily in the death of Paulus Narayan, who was a deacon in that church. Two adults were received during the year and two other adults were baptized though not received into full communion.

There are eight Sunday Schools in the two fields of Herale and Vadgav and a goodly number of children are being taught the Word and the Way of life in as many different villages.

A Sunday School has been opened in the Shukravar School building in Kolhapur and 80 or more children gather there, where heretofore only a small number had been attending the church Sunday School in the bazaar church. This makes the eighth Sunday School in the Kolhapur city and Camp areas, and there is no overlapping.

EDUCATIONAL.—Plague has interfered somewhat with the school work in some of the groups, and some readjustments have been made so as to give other villages advantages, or to meet the greater needs of others.

In the Herale Group a new school was opened in a village where a number of the people had been baptized during the year, and is proving a help to the newly baptized community.

The attendance has kept up very well in all the schools. In one village a determined effort was made by the local people to close the school. The master was opposed in every way, and his house was burned, but he stuck to his post and the school is going on fairly well.

The Vadgav Group of schools lost one of its most devoted and consecrated Christian teachers. Paulus Narayan, of Tasgaon, died early in the year. While not a thoroughly qualified teacher, educationally, he was one of the steadiest, most earnest, patient, devoted and consecrated men we have. He was the sincere friend of all and the enemy of none, and the whole village was moved and saddened by his death.

Kolhapur has a whole flock of village schools under its wings, not so many by half as we would like to see, but still quite a number.

The Kolhapur Boys' High School began its second year of work with an enrollment of 44 boys, 16 of whom were Christians and 28 Hindus. The Hindu boys in the school appreciate the advantages offered them by the Mission School, and their parents have often spoken in warm tones of the spirit of the school.

It was felt last year that the combined boarding and school fees were too much for the Christian parents to pay, so this year upon the recommendation of the Educational Committee, scholarships were offered to the boy getting the highest average among the Christian boys, and to those Christian boys who attained an average in all subjects, including deportment of 85 marks or more. This has been a wise recommendation.

Instruction in Bible has been carried on regularly, Mr. Marshall and Mr. Updegraff assisting.

MEDICAL.—Mrs. Marshall assumed charge of the Woman's Hospital last November, after annual meeting. The new annex, consisting of operating theatre and sterilizing room, and a few well-furnished private rooms, still needed the finishing touches put on.

According to the arrangement of the Medical Committee, it was agreed that one of the Miraj physicians should come in each week for surgical work, so Dr. Vail assumed the responsibility for that part until the first of April, coming in almost every week. The hospital was closed during May, re-opening in June after the hot-season vacation.

Two pupil nurses have recently been added to the hospital staff and are receiving from Miss Foster the instruction that will make them valuable assistants.

Nearly 1,000 inoculations against plague have been performed, representing several towns and villages. Our sincere thanks are due to the Maharaja, who has voluntarily put a State carriage at Mrs. Marshall's disposal for the entire year, thus greatly facilitating the work.

ALICE HOME AND NURSERY.—

There have been 31 women and 30 children in the Home. Of the women, there are seven who are self-supporting, three teachers, three Bible-women, and the matron. Three little ones, weak when they were brought here, one of them much diseased, died after short illnesses, so that we now have 27 children. The latest arrival is a bright little three-months-old girl. Soon after the mother died in the distant village, the father brought the child here, for he had heard that there was a place where children were cared for, and leaving her with us, he went on his way to Bombay to get work.

BIBLE WOMEN'S TRAINING SCHOOL.—Connected with the Alice Home is a Bible Women's Training School. Miss Browne and Mrs. Goheen have the classes. There is increasing interest in the study of the Bible, and increasing ability to remember and to understand the lessons. We hope to have all women enrolled for Bible study in the new year that opens up to us after our Mission Meeting is over, in November.

RATNAGIRI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Theodore Carter Memorial School for Boys and Girls; Pittsburg Home for Widows; one Church; one Group; Harrison Day School; 10 Other Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—The services have been conducted regularly, with an attendance of about 100 on Sabbath and 60 at the mid-week service.

Three members have been received by letter, one on profession of faith, and two who are under discipline have been restored. One member died, two were dismissed by letter, and six names were transferred to the reserve roll for absence for two years or more.

Twenty members of the church reside at or near Pali, 15 miles from Ratnagiri, for whom regular services have been conducted throughout the year.

The weekly meetings of the Young Women's Christian Association have been led by different members in turn, the prayer and Missionary topics being prepared quarterly by a committee. Many a young girl is being trained in this quiet way to take a more public part in Christian work.

Twice a month sewing is made the order of the day, and as a result of the work of many hands plus one sewing machine, little dresses, caps, jackets, quilts, etc., which find a ready sale, are prepared.

Miss Jefferson writes:

We always receive a welcome in the Government Leper Hospital, where, for years, we have had the privilege of visiting. Upon arrival the word goes forth, and the blind, the lame, and the afflicted in many forms, come to hear the only words of hope and comfort that are ever spoken to them. Recently, we asked what they would like to have for a treat, and they Orientally replied: "We have no father and mother but you, and so whatever you would put into your own children's mouths, that we should like to have.

PITTSBURGH HOME FOR WIDOWS.—Three women and one baby have been added to the number this year. One of these, Reubai, was formerly a member of Ratnagiri church, and came to us on the death of her husband.

Besides the 16 regular inmates of the Home, six non-Christian women come daily for needle work and are under Bible instruction. There are also four children, two boys and two girls, in the Home.

The women did well in the Sunday School examination, one receiving 96% and another 92%.

Two of our young women were persuaded by their mothers to leave the Home in order to marry them to heathen husbands. One of the mothers was a non-Christian; the other was professedly Christian.

Three Bible classes have been carried on in the Home. Of the 17 women who took the examination, only one failed. Five received grades of 90 or above. Five non-Christian women took the examination.

EDUCATIONAL.—The enrollment in the Theodore Carter Memorial School for the year ending September 30 exceeds that of any previous year as do the number of classes taught and the receipts for fees, etc.

There were 63 pupils on the roll during the year under report. The increase has been chiefly in the number of day pupils. While the number of Mahar children has decreased, there have been admissions from among Brahmans, Marathas, Telis, Vanis, Moslems, and Beni-Israelites. Thirteen new students were admitted to the anglo-vernacular department last year from outside the school, 11 of whom were non-Christians. Most of these entered the first or second high school standards. The attendance of day pupils has been somewhat interfered with by the outbreak of plague in Ratnagiri last March and its recrudence during the rains.

HOME DEPARTMENT.—

With the exception of the largest boy, who is attending Government

High School, the boys do not seem to be particularly concerned about the good to be derived from study. Their most serious thought has been to get through the daily round as quickly as possible and get out to play cricket, which illustrates the fact that the boy problem is the same the world over.

The health of the children has been fair. A case of typhoid fever, that one of the new pupils developed shortly after his arrival and evidently gotten before coming to us, was the most serious illness during the year.

The Sub-Station School Work has been faithfully carried on at the various places and the reports for the Harrison School, Fort Girls' School, Ambeshet School, and Paratavane School show marked progress.

PALI OUT-STATION

The working force at Pali consisted of two missionaries, two Bible women, and one teacher, and a preacher for eight months.

Over 50 villages have been reached with the Gospel message during the year, and many gospels have been sold.

A small industrial and agricultural experiment has been made, chiefly to provide some work and to endeavor to train for future usefulness a few boys, who have proved worthless elsewhere. The carpentry has not quite paid for itself, but it has given the boys some rating, and one of them has become skillful in the use of tools. The farming has provided work, and incidentally has furnished us with a variety of vegetables. This bids fair to develop into a much larger work.

The Out-station work reports progress, particularly at Devrukh. At the last annual meeting the Mission opened Devrukh as an out-station, and assigned Rev. Shivaramji Masoji to superintend the work, with the understanding that Ratnagiri station would furnish the workers.

At present we are negotiating for a three-acre plot of land. We need at once about 1,500 rupees to purchase this land and to build two houses for our workers there. The people do not want us but they need what we have to give them so much that their very opposition is an emphatic invitation to enter and to occupy.

When we first took up our residence in Devrukh our neighbors were hostile. Children were forbidden to pass by our house. Women passed by on the farther side of the road, with averted faces. Men would not converse with us and would reply curtly to any question we asked. We were still more unwelcome to the bigoted Brahman priests beyond the river.

During the rains, we formed acquaintance with many Mohammedans, who came from villages around on court business, and put up at the hotel near our house.

The attitude of the people is now changing, and many come to read and converse with us, and we visit them in their shops and homes.

The Mission Evangelistic tour began at Malvan November 19 and ended at Pali February 6. Eight other camps were made as follows,—Vengurla, Savantvadi, Kankavali, Rajapur, Ratnagiri, Sangameshvar, Devrukh, and Sakharpe.

Two missionaries from the Deccan and six from the Konkan, six preachers from the Deccan and 11 from the Konkan, and three Bible women from the Deccan and six from the Konkan took part in the tour for whole or part of the time, in all, the equivalent of one worker for 1,551 days.

Meetings were held mornings and evenings in all the towns where we camped. Over 100 such meetings were held. More than 100 lectures were held, with the aid of the stereopticon, in the camp towns and villages about.

Two hundred and thirty-one villages were visited on foot and by motor. Three thousand eight hundred and forty-one Gospels and other books were sold.

Miss Simpson writes:

One of our 7th standard boys was sent to Vengurle to study compounding with a view to dispensary work in our station field. Another having spent two months on evangelistic tour was pressed into service as a substitute teacher while continuing some of his studies. He was regularly entered in the Ratnagiri High School in May, but spends two hours daily in the T. C. M. S. as teacher or arithmetic and student of Latin, which is not taught in his school. He hopes to matriculate next year and later take up the study of medicine. At time of annual inquiry three others expressed desire to become "medical doctors"; Bible women, eight; teachers, clerks and servers, four each; three Christians express the modest desire of becoming governor; two, artists; two, preachers. The trail of the motor is still in the land. Two desire to be motor drivers; one a fitter; one an engine driver. If the wish be father of the fact, a pastor, magistrate, soldier, policeman, collector, elder, spinner will appear.

KODOLI STATION

EQUIPMENT—Brownie Orphanage; Boarding Schools for Boys and Girls; Bible School for Women; Dispensary; two Churches; five Groups; seven Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—The progress of the church this year might well be summed up in one of the official war communiques. The report starts, "We progressed North of Kolhapur. The enemy violently counter-attacked. Artillery duel is proceeding."

Caste spirit unfortunately is not dead in this church. For years one caste, the Mahar, had everything its own way. Practically all the members came from it. The ties which bound them to their non-Christian fellow castemen were and are still strong. Now one of the cardinal doctrines of the Mahar is to have nothing to do with the next caste below, the Mang. So strong was this feeling that for years no Mang was admitted to this church. Fortunately that time is past. Mangs are now admitted. They attend the services and join in the communion with the others. This has not been accomplished without some friction and some persecution and quarreling among the castes, but this has not abated the progress of previous months. On account of the continual applications the session now meets regularly every Sabbath morning after Sabbath School to receive members into the Church and often there are from one to half a dozen persons to be examined. The Christians from among the Mangs have made very appreciable progress. They are among the most regular attendants at the Sunday School. For several months prayer-meetings were held in different parts of the town in anticipation of a special effort along evangelistic lines.

Sunday School Teachers' Class—

From a dozen to 15 Indian Christian men have gathered each week to spend an hour over the coming Sabbath lesson. This has meant more intelligent, more concerted, and more spiritual instruction in the Sunday Schools here in Kodoli, and in the outlying villages, on Sunday mornings. The Sunday School which meets in the church building, has an unusual attendance, a large men's class, a good sized young men's class, and infant classes for boys and girls which often mean 60 little people present on Sabbath mornings.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boarding School. There is a constantly increasing attendance in this school and on one occasion it rose to 203.

During the past year the Sloyd Department has been a busy place. Besides the 15 regular classes a week, we have had to add five extra classes to accommodate the long line of a, b, c boys. We have had an unusual number of boys over age for beginners, but whose parents have at last waked up to the fact that their boys need schooling. They are in age ranged from six to 12 or 13, and it has been difficult to class them so that the work could be accomplished. Many of these boys have run wild so long that they with difficulty understand their own language, and instruction falls on deaf ears until it is repeated again and again.

Work for Women. Mrs. Wilson has held her three Bible study classes every week while she has been in Kodoli. Of 18 women who presented themselves before the Mission's examination committee 17 passed. The weekly prayer meeting for women is also in her charge.

Miss Gauthey tells interesting tales of her work among the women:

Bible School for women in Kodoli. September 26, 1916, was an epoch-making date. On this day 20 out of a class of 39 women, young, old and aged, all illiterate, sat for their first Bible examination. It needed a great deal of coaxing and explaining to get 20 women to be willing to sit for examination. One old soul sent this message when she was finally summoned for the examination: "God's mercy is upon me, but excuse me, I cannot come to the examination." The women did well. It was pathetic to see their nervousness on examination day, but the effect afterwards was wonderful. They are taking up the new year's work with very great enthusiasm. They know now that they can do something. The part that they can take in the church service is also marked.

A new departure in Kodoli town work must also be told. Much had been said of the efforts made in various places to reach the Mahratta women, the middle class of India. It was proposed to try it in little Kodoli. Never in the history of this Station had Mahratta women gathered together for any Christian service. There was much prayer for at least some to come to the first meeting. The day came. The boarding school girls came to sing their beautiful Gospel hymns, illustrated with the large S. S. roll pictures. The Victrola, "Wonder Box of Kodoli" was also used. One by one they came, looking a little frightened, not quite sure of what was to happen to them. Finally 13 women and 16 girls and many children gathered for the service. Since that memorable meeting we have had fortnightly meetings, the highest attendance being 74.

Out-Station Work and Touring.—Aitavada Church.—This church of 77 members is composed mostly of farmers and day laborers. It is in dire need of a pastor to conduct regular services and minister to the people. At present the Sabbath School and the church services are conducted by the teacher of the day school; but he is too young a man to be able to cope with the situation and not a strong enough character to be a real help in the community.

About two years ago, quite a number of Mangs were baptized. They have been subjected to a great deal of annoyance and persecution at the hands of the village officer and as a result some have gone back into Hinduism. The others, however, are holding out firmly and faithfully, some of them stating to the officer that they are ready to suffer anything rather than give up their faith in Christ.

MEDICAL.—The Dispensary.

The Dispensary has gone on as usual this year under an Indian medical assistant. The towns people, the Christian community and the children in the boarding school have had medical attention as occasion called for it. On days when a physician from Miraj has been able to come, announcements sent to many villages around have brought large crowds. Curiosity is a large element in such gatherings, no doubt, for a white doctor is still to all the people around a wonder worker. Still many come because of true need, sickness in themselves or in their homes, and they are really helped. Often operations are necessary, and some few are done here by the doctor that same day; others are told to go to Miraj or to Kolhapur to be operated upon.

VENGURLE STATION

EQUIPMENT.—High School for Boys; Hospital; one Church; four Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—The evangelistic work has been carried on in the Mahar Wada. Visits are made every week and some sew while listening to the presentation of the Gospel.

The Mahars are interested to the extent of begging us to open a school for them, which is done might be the beginning of a fruitful work. How positive an evangelistic agency our Primary Schools are can be seen by comparing the numbers on the school rolls with the number on the Sunday School register. The enrollment of three schools is 145, while the enrollment of the Sunday School is 100, and it was only a short time ago that some boys from Parab Wada, who attended the George School approached Miss Thompson with the request that she conduct Bible Classes for them in English. She accepted quickly.

EDUCATIONAL.—The High School was opened in June, in the best building obtainable. There are now about 73 boys in attendance, the most of whom are Hindus of the upper castes.

The upper and lower standards both are well filled. We have had to turn some boys away because the Government rule forbids more than 15 per cent free students.

The power and influence of a school depend on those who make its atmosphere and we try to secure those masters who would make an atmosphere favorable to the presentation of Christ. Every teacher except one has been educated in a Mission High School, and College, and all are acquainted with the essentials of Christianity. The Head Master, Mr. G. V. Moses, is completing his fifth year of sacrificing service.

The work has been attended by some results which may be interesting in a scholastic way as well as spiritually. Last year, although not recognized, we sent up five boys for the Matriculation Examination. Of this number two, or 40%, passed, an average which will compare very favorably with that of the High Schools of the sister Missions.

There is a marked interest in Scripture study among pupils and teachers alike. The Missionary Sahib came upon his Sanscrit Teacher reading the Bible in a free hour, a second was found with the Psalms open before him, and a third asked the Manager for a copy of the "Life of Jesus Christ." This year we have been able to do what we could not do before—divide the boys into classes and give definite systematic Bible instruction. The "Life of Christ" is being taught. The boys are attending regularly and with greater interest than in the preceding year, and evince a marked interest in the instruction given as can be ascertained during the Bible conversation period when boys ask each other questions, as to what has been taught. That the thought of the Word is shaping their thought can also be seen in the frequent quotation of Scripture passages in an essay or in a debate.

MEDICAL.

There was a moderate increase in the number of people treated in the hospital—670 against 615 treated last year. 816 operations were performed, and of these 351 were major operations. The results of treatment show 394 cured, 190 improved, 48 are not improved, five eloped, 17 died. The death rate was 2.5970 and compares very favorably with that of the city of Bombay.

The report shows that receipts were about Rs. 2,000 above that of the former year, and totaled Rs. 12,276, but expenses kept apace and it was therefore necessary to use about Rs. 900 to balance the account.

SANGLI-MIRAJ STATION

EQUIPMENT—Sangli Industrial School; Miraj Hospital; Miraj Medical School; Miraj Leper Asylum; two Churches; 28 Groups; 22 Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—Of the evangelistic work in Miraj, Mr. Richardson writes:

The evangelistic work in Miraj and in the villages around for a good radius has been carried on throughout the year. The attitude of both Hindus and Mohammedans to the preaching of the Gospel is undoubtedly changing, for they frequently ask the evangelists to repeat their visit, and there is a keener desire to buy the Gospel portions and even the whole Bible. Another truth has been evident. Young Mohammedans and Hindus are not so keen about their own religion as they used to be. This, of course, makes it more urgent for Christians to be faithful in presenting the truth of the Gospel both by word and life before Young India becomes indifferent to all religions."

Dr. Graham writes of the work in the villages around Sangli:

The Movement toward Christianity, which began among the Mangs in the district about Sangli in November, 1913, is now reaching the Mahars, the caste next above the Mangs, in the social scale, and is also spreading to the adjacent parts of our Mission field. Although the number of converts is yet too small for the movement to be called a Mass Movement, it is tending in that direction. In 1911 the additions to the churches from the non-Christian community reported to Presbytery in our whole Mission field in Western India were only seven. Since this movement began there has been an increase of almost a thousand in the villages of the district about Sangli alone.

Miss Enright writes:

The work in Sangli town has been carried on without a break throughout the year, although plague was more or less prevalent for several months. By having my Bible women take their yearly vacation of one month in turn, two women have always been at work, and for nine months of the year, with Mrs. Graham's three, six Bible women have daily gone out into the homes with their message of love and pardon. High and low caste alike have heard from their lips the Gospel of redeeming grace, and when, on account of the plague, the town was largely deserted, the Bible Women followed the people to their temporary dwellings in the fields and preached the Gospel there.

The pastor of the church at Miraj reports:

The Sunday evening and mid-week services and the Sabbath School have been regularly conducted during the year. The people have shown great interest in the preparation for the Evangelistic Campaign Circles for Bible Study and Prayer, and also for the practice of "Bhajans," or native hymn tunes which have been formed. There are six circles of this kind among the Christian families and five among the medical students. These circles are held every day of the week in different places, and have greatly helped to foster a spirit of unity among the people.

Work Among Women. Mrs. Richardson writes concerning the women in Miraj:

The Miraj women have met regularly for prayer and the study of the Word throughout the year. Without exception, the subjects for discussion and consideration at these weekly meetings have been chosen by the women desirous of more light on particular questions. Opportunity is given to every woman to take some part in each meeting. The Chain Prayer is very much liked by timid women afraid to raise their own voices. One observes that the Chain Prayer leads from strength to strength that in the older Christians there is progress in the daily life, more earnestness, more devotion, and more voluntary service, that in the younger Christians there is a delightful responsiveness to instruction in the things of the Spirit.

The Dorcas Society meets monthly on the bungalow veranda, and at every meeting we seem to be playing the "glad-game." At the first meeting of the year awakened consciences decided to give regularly of their money, time and strength for the work of the Society. We are always making the best of things or the most of things, for we never have much money or material on hand. We are grateful for old garments and for all the mending and darning committed to us. After paying our year's bills, we close with 50 rupees on hand, 43 of which we have voted to contribute to the Miraj Church and the Bible Society.

EDUCATIONAL.—Mr. Richardson writes:

The four schools in the Miraj field have been open throughout the year and have been uniformly well attended. The Government examinations have demonstrated that faithful work has been done, often under trying circumstances—plague, cholera, and poverty being the most frequent obstacles to successful work. The desire for education is absolutely increasing and parents are more ready to send their children to school than formerly. All these children receive Bible instruction and the opposition to this, which used to be so common no longer obtains. One school in which there are no Christian children voluntarily began making Sabbath offerings, saying it was for the Lord's work. The offering consists of shells, marbles and pice, the total value for the months they have been giving being five rupees and twelve annas, about two dollars. The average attendance at the school is about 30, and if the clothes of the crowd were put up for sale it is doubtful if 25 cents would be realized, but they have made their offering gladly every Sabbath. If our Church at home gave in the same proportion, our Board would not know what to do with the money.

The school at Vita, an out-Station, about 35 miles from Miraj, has had a most successful year. The number on the roll of those in regular attendance is 98, being almost double what it was at the beginning of the year. A new school building has been erected and has had much to do with the increase in attendance.

Agricultural and Industrial School.—

A visit to the shop and fields would disclose a great deal of work going on. In fact, the shop is frequently alight at night for over-time work, but since this is a school and not a factory, our profits never thoroughly indicate the amount of work done. The six stone-masonry boys have been in great demand in the town, and have gained valuable experience in this way. During the rains when building is at a stand-still, they lay floor tiles or trim stones for which there is a ready sale. The 12 carpentry boys have been very busy doing all kinds of furniture work, and they, too, have often been hired in town, to their own advantage both in experience and money. In fact one large contractor has a standing order for all the boys we can spare. A special drawing teacher has been added to this department the past year. The seven iron workers under the direct teaching of our efficient and forceful foreman, are doing very well indeed. They not only do much work for the town people, but have also carried out a large order for steel trusses in a village nearby, and have just put up a hand pump in another village. At present they are working on a difficult bit of casting, such work being done nowhere else in these parts. The brass and aluminum department is about defunct this year, as Government has forbidden the export of aluminum from Great Britain, and besides the cost of equipment has always been beyond the majority of our lads. However, the teacher is turning his attention profitably to brass and iron casting work, for which there is so large a demand that we should develop it post haste if we but had the necessary apparatus. The tailors, of which we have a round dozen, are flourishing indeed under their new master, whose fame has brought three Hindu lads to study with him. They learn to cut scientifically, and even the youngest can cut and make pajamas, shirts, work aprons and children knickers, caps and frocks. All the boys can hemstitch and featherstitch, and a few do beautiful scalloping. Their specialties are underwear and children's frocks, for which they have filled orders from all over India. The newest and perhaps most interesting department is the agricultural, in which there are 11 pupils. A regular teacher, one of our own boys, who took a short course in the Poona Agricultural College, is at the head of it, and is proving a success. A large field outside the compound was rented this year, making in all about 20 acres under cultivation. There are two daily classes in theory, and each boy has his own plot of ground in which he grows both garden and field crops under supervision. A milch buffalo and four goats make the beginning of a dairy, and three pure-bred white Leghorn chickens, presented by Mr. Slater of our North India Mission, furnish object lessons in poultry keeping, which we intend to develop as soon as possible.

MEDICAL.—Dr. Wanless writes:

Plague prevailed in Miraj for four months of the year, resulting in considerable reduction of the attendance at the outdoor Dispensary. In spite of this, however, there was an increase of 19 in the indoor patients treated, and of 71 in the surgical operations performed. The income of the hospital also shows a substantial increase.

Dr. Inglis F. Frost joined the staff on October 1st, as a short-term colleague. His coming fills a felt want, especially in connection with the Medical School. The rest of the staff have continued their duties without interruption. While night and day waiting upon the sick, we are thankful to have had no case of serious illness among ourselves. During the year three honorary physicians served in the staff, graduates of the Bombay University, who while in the hospital for the purpose of securing post-graduate experience, have rendered valuable assistance in the professional work of the hospital, and have taken part in the teaching of the Medical School.

The close of the year 1915 saw the opening of the Clinical Building eagerly looked forward to during the three years it was under construction. The opening of this new building, costing about one lak of rupees ($33,500) marks a long step forward in the hospital equipment. This building is lit with electricity and is provided with modern plumbing and other up-to-date conveniences. It contains the medical school class rooms, eye wards and ophthalmic operating rooms, X-Ray Plant, consulting rooms, and operating room for out-door patients. A new hostel for medical students, having accommodation for 30 students begun during the year, is now completed. The new water tower has been erected, and sewage system, with septic tanks for sewage disposal have been completed. The Union Cottage, for sick missionaries of other societies, and erected mainly by subscriptions from those societies, has also been completed, making three such cottages now in use for European patients.

Our patients this year have come from places increasingly remote from Miraj. Africa, Burma, Ceylon and Arabia have been represented. The hospital ward services have been maintained and also the Sabbath School.

The out-door department, now housed in the new clinical building, is conducted with convenience, celerity and comfort to all. The central room is a waiting room and preaching hall. In it also Sunday School is conducted for children and eye ward patients. It is a busy place of a morning, when workers are on duty and in the consulting rooms and laboratory and the out-door sick are being cared for.

Miss Patterson writes for the Nursing Department:

The nine months spent in the Miraj Hospital were busy ones, and all my Indian helpers put their best into their daily work. The staff of Indian nurses has increased to 22, 13 women and nine men. Classes once a week are held in Marathi for the women, and in January five passed their examinations. The women find but little time for their study, because, besides the rush of work in the hospital, they have their cooking and other household duties to attend to when off duty. The men nurses are better educated and are taught in English.

The Medical School year opened in June with 20 students in the Senior Classes and 25 in the Freshman class. The new Clinical Building has enabled us to put the school on a more permanent footing, and with the added facilities for teaching and the ample clinical material, our students are able to acquire a first rate medical education.

All but three of the students in the school are Christians. The instruction is given entirely in the English language. The students come from different parts of India and speak collectively in their mother tongue, ten different languages. The majority are proteges of various Missions and are preparing for Mission service. A new element in the Freshman class is a group of four Syrian Christians from the Malabar coast. There is a Y. M. C. A. organization in the school. A council of the students has been organized, to which is referred for adjustment matters of discipline grievances and disputes.

Our four Out-Station Dispensaries have continued doing good work during the year. In the four dispensaries 11,884 new and 10,415 return patients were treated, a total of 22,299 treatments. In all 147 in-patients were treated and 620 operations were performed. These four dispensaries were conducted at a total gross cost of rupees 2,916 ($972) and had an income of rupees 418 ($139) towards running expenses.

LEPER ASYLUM.—Mr. Richardson writes:

Among all diseases leprosy is considered to be about the most loathsome, and is certainly the most dreaded. Today in India the lot of the leper is equally pitiable, and there are considerably more than 100,000 lepers in this country. The Interdenominational Mission to Lepers during the past 40 years has been endeavoring to bring some joy into the lives of these poor outcasts and has succeeded, and today there are scores of Asylums where thousands of lepers are being fed and clothed, medically treated, and instructed in the higher life. In almost if not in every case, these Asylums and Homes are superintended freely by missionaries of other Missions, so that the cost of administration is exceedingly small, practically all the money given for this work going directly to the support of the lepers. No less than 4,000 of these afflicted ones are entirely dependent on the Mission for food, shelter, medical help, and Christian teaching, and no less than 600 untainted boys and girls are being supported and educated by the Mission. Surely the saving of these children is worth all the money spent in the work. The cause is worthy of most generous support. In the Asylum located at Miraj there are now about 100 lepers. There are twice as many men as women. Nearly all appear very happy, and the hopeless look they had when they first came, has given place to a cheerful and hopeful expression in the majority of cases.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) The first step towards Christian Mission work in Japan was the sending of D. B. McCartee, M. D., a missionary of the Presbyterian Board from China, to investigate. He failed even to reach the country. In October, 1859, James C. Hepburn, M.D., and Mrs. Hepburn reached Japan. At this time the only other foreign missionaries were two clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Dr. Hepburn settled at Kanazawa, a few miles from Tokyo. In 1862 he moved to Yokohama. In 1863 the Rev. James Thompson joined the Mission. In 1869 the first converts—two men and a woman—were baptized by Mr. Thompson. This year also Mr. Thompson established a station at Tokyo. In 1873 two Japanese churches were organized in Tokyo and Yokohama. In 1877 the Church of Christ in Japan (Nihon Kirisuto Kokwai) was formed as a union of the churches established by various Presbyterian and Reformed Missions; a Union Theological School was established, and in 1883 a Union College. These were merged in 1886 in the Meiji Gakuin at Tokyo. The New Testament in Japanese was published in 1880 and the Old Testament in 1888, Dr. Hepburn being the leader in the translation work. In 1907 the Mission of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church was united with the Mission of our Church. The first station at Yokohama was given up in 1903.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

TOKYO STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Meiji Gakuin.—Union College and Theological Seminary, Presbyterians, Dutch Reformed, Church of Christ of Japan, also in part, the Northern Baptist Mission; President, Rev. K. Ibuka. Joshi Gakuin.—Boarding School for Girls; Bible Training School (for women); three Kindergartens and Primary Schools.

Uyeno and Kamejima Missions.—This is the work that was under the care of Dr. Thompson when he was called to a higher service. Since then it has been watched over by Mrs. Thompson with continued efficiency and peculiar interest and affection.

The Meguro Lepers Hospital is under the general care of the Kozensha, a society of which Mrs. McCauley and Mrs. Thompson are members. Besides its own inmates, this hospital cares for a number of lepers sent to it, for lack of room, by the Government Hospital.

In August of last year these Missions as well as our Sunday-school work and work for lepers met with a great loss in the death of Mr. Shinowara, for 24 years a most earnest and effective worker in connection with them; and for much longer a good minister of Christ Jesus. The work of the Missions comprises preaching services, Bible classes, women's meetings, Sunday-schools, classes for young men, magic lantern meetings, and meetings at private houses. Mr. Fujiwara reports the number of attendants at the Kamejima Mission during the year at 1,524, and the number of baptisms as six. Mr. Ishiwara's report for the Uyeno Mission is as follows: Baptisms, eight; applications for baptisms, 22; number of women's meetings, 25; average attendance, 11; Sunday-school scholars, 60; average attendance, 35; "Hearers and questioners" (five nights weekly), 2,127; "Hearers and questioners" (every Sunday at Uyeno Park), 2,683.

Keimo Primary Schools.—The school in Tsukiji was founded in 1879; that in Shiba, in 1880. The Tsukiji school has had a kindergarten attached to it since 1913; the Shiba school, since 1881. The tuition from the Shiba Kindergarten has always been sufficient to meet its current expenses. The greater part of Mrs. McCauley's time is given to the superintendence of these schools.

The number of pupils enrolled at the Tsukiji school during the year was 126. From the Primary School there were 10 graduates; and from the Kindergarten, 30. The statistics for the Shiba school are as follows:—Primary School: enrolled during the year, 126; graduates, 18. Kindergarten: enrolled, 140; graduates, 55. Twice a year all the teachers meet for a day's conference to consider matters affecting the interests of the schools. Daily at the close of the school, the teachers meet for prayer; and there is a weekly Teachers' Prayer Meeting. The teachers are all Christians.

Chihon Kindergarten (SHINAGAWA).—In April of this year, 16 youthful graduates from the Chihon Kindergarten, which is under the care of Mrs. MacNair, entered upon the more serious responsibilities of life in the Primary School. The vacancies thus made were soon filled. There are now 54 children in attendance; and considering the present situation and material equipment of the school this is cause for gratification. The teachers are all Christians and seem to be unusually appreciative of their opportunities for direct personal work in the homes of the little ones.

Tokyo Training School for Women Evangelists is under the care of Mrs. MacNair and Miss West. It has now 16 regular students in attendance. Besides pursuing their studies, they assist in 14 Sunday-schools and engage in various forms of work for women and children in the city and its suburbs and also in the country. This includes the visitation of the sick in their homes and in hospitals. The course of study offered does not include instruction in English, or prepare the students for the work of teachers or for the gaining of a livelihood in other callings. The sole purpose of the school is to fit Christian women for Christian work, either as unmarried women or as the wives of pastors and evangelists.

EDUCATIONAL.—Joshi Gakuin.—The number of girls in attendance during the year was 197. Of these 172 were in the Lower (Five Years Course) and 25 in the Higher Department. They come from all parts of Japan and from almost every class in society; but they all mingle together freely and naturally; and there are no distinction of rank among them other than that of rank in scholarship.

About one-third come from Christian families or a Christian environment, and about the same number are friendly to Christianity. The rest are either Buddhists or quite indifferent to religion. Besides the Japanese girls there was distributed among the various classes, an interesting group of nine Korean girls.

Of the graduates, nine completed the entire Eight Years' Course in both Japanese and English; two, the Eight Years' Course in English; and 25, the Five Years' Course in Japanese and English. Directly after graduation, four of the girls obtained positions in other Christian institutions. There are 60 church members; seven of whom were baptized during the year. The school has its Y. W. C. A., and also two Christian Endeavor Societies which furnish excellent training for Christian leadership. They also serve as organizations for carrying on works of Christian service. Various meetings for the nourishment and deepening of the Christian life are regularly held. The teachers and students are connected with 14 Sunday-schools; and in the daily Bible classes constant evidence appears of growth in Christian knowledge and character.

Meiji Gakuin comprises three Schools: The Chu Gaku Bu, or Middle School; the Koto Gaku Bu, or Higher School; and the Theological School. The number of students in the several Schools during the past school year was as follows: Chu Gaku Bu, 316; Koto Gaku Bu, 42; Theological School, 18. Of the theological students, 14 were Honkwa (Regular); and 4 were Bekkwa (Special) students.

The Commencement of the Chu Gaku Bu was held as usual in April (1916); and was immediately preceded by the Dedication Service of the new Chapel. The number of graduates was 34. The Commencement of the Theological School was held as usual in June (1916). The number of graduates, all of whom were Honkwa students, was five. One of these will leave Japan in August to enter Auburn. One of the others has been called to be the assistant of Mr. Hikaru, the pastor of the church in Otaru; and one will do evangelistic work in connection with the South Japan Mission of the Reformed Church. Thirty-one of the students in the Koto Gaku Bu, five of whom are Baptists, are there in preparation to enter the Theological School and of these, four of whom are Baptists, nine will enter the Theological School in September. The number of Christians in the Chu Gaku Bu is 50; in the Koto Gaku Bu, 41, or all but one. The baptisms during the year were nine. About 30 per cent of the students come from Christian families; and about 10 per cent have Christian connections.

The new buildings are the New Chapel and the New Sandham Hall. The Chapel is built of stone and brick. The stone used was from the Old Chapel, and rises about six feet above the ground. The outside dimensions are almost exactly 50 feet by 100. On the ground floor there are 104 pews which will seat 468 students; and there is room in the gallery at the end of the Chapel for 20 pews which will seat 80 or 100 more. The fine new organ, the gift of friends in America, is a great addition. The New Sandham Hall stands on the north end of the campus. It is built of brick and reinforced concrete; and is considered nearly or quite fireproof. The outside dimensions are almost exactly 63 by 45 feet.

The building contains rooms for the Koto Gaku Bu, with two for the Theological School. There is also in it an office for the Treasurer.

HOKKAIDO STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Northern Light School for Girls at Sapporo, and Kindergarten School at Otaru.

Last year our "Hokkaido Station" so-called, which covers an area as wide as Ireland, consisted of but two resident missionary towns, Sapporo and Nokkeushi. This year has added a third, Otaru, to the list where Miss McCrory, formerly of Sapporo, took up her residence last fall after Mission Meeting.

EVANGELISTIC.—In spite of Mr. Johnson's absence on furlough and Dr. Pierson's absence in Tokyo for three months while seeing his Japanese Annotated Bible through the press, the work has made real progress. We rejoice especially over the coming of the two new evangelists we noted in our column of needs last year, two places long pastorless thus being provided with pastors. Mombetsu and Seien. Besides this a successor to the evangelist in charge of the Kennedy Gospel Hall in Sapporo whom we lost last year has been secured, and the self-supporting church at Asahigawa, which lost its pastor in March, has already secured a fine successor.

EDUCATIONAL.—Hokusei Jo Gakko (Northern Star Girls' School).—The year opened with 124 students, of whom 35 were new. This is an increase of two in the entering class and of 31 in the total enrollment over the preceding class and of 31 in the total enrollment over the preceding year at the same period. During the year 14 others entered, making a total for the year 138, the average enrollment being about 120.

In March, 1916, a class of 12 was graduated,—four in the full course (of whom one had previously completed her Japanese work), four in the Japanese course, and four in special courses. Of these all were Christians, although two of them had not yet made a public profession of their faith. The greatest change during the year was brought about by the resignation, in July, 1915, of Mr. Nihira, for many years Principal of the school. This was necessitated by his removal to Kitami, the Northern province of the island.

At present perhaps the most enthralling subject of conversation at the school is the securing of shitei, or government "Recognition." That means, securing the privilege to our graduates of taking entrance examinations for higher schools,—whether government or those recognized as of similar standing,—and for High School Teachers' certificates. Until recently the need for these privileges has not been keenly felt. The chief requirements for "Recognition" are two: First, a minimum equipment for science and gymnasium costing at least $500; and Second, six or seven teachers with government certificates. Towards the former, we have perhaps $30 or $40 worth of chemical equipment; towards the latter, three such teachers. Until others of our graduates could be prepared (two or three years) an addition of about $300 (possibly a little less) above our present salary list would be necessary, to pay for such certificated teachers. A word about the new school year. It has opened auspiciously, with 57 new students (many attracted no doubt by our new dormitory), and a total enrollment the first month of 149.

OTARU

The increase in attendance during the past winter was probably due to the fact that a larger number of older children were attending than usual; then, too, the new building, which we moved into in October, probably served as a drawing card. Twenty-one little tots graduated in March and left us to enter the city's primary schools. The new school year opened in April, and our ranks swelled daily, until all the places were filled and we were compelled to start a waiting list.

KANAZAWA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Hokuriku Jo Gakko (school for girls); three Kindergartens.

EVANGELISTIC.—Dr. Dunlop's personal report says:

Normally in this field we are in touch with six distinct pieces of evangelistic work, as follows:

1. Our Second Church in this city, a mission aided church of about 30 members, the first church having long since attained self-support.
2. Street chapel work at two points in Kanazawa, lately increased to three points (population of Kanazawa now over 137,000).
3. Work in two towns—Matto (population, 7,000) and Tsurugi (5,000)—within 10 miles of Kanazawa, in the same county; this work supported by the Mission, but entrusted to Pastor Kawai of the First Church (self-supporting), Kanazawa.
4. Komatsu, a town of 14,000 people, 20 miles West of Kanazawa, with a resident evangelist.
5. Toyama, a prefectural city, nearly 70,000 population, 40 miles N. E.; organized church with resident evangelist.
6. Takaoka, a busy manufacturing city of 35,000 people, 25 miles East of Kanazawa; work barely advanced to the stage of organization, but long provided with a resident evangelist.

We had Dr. Winn's help for over two weeks this spring. He worked in all but two of the churches and street chapels in our field and left a blessing wherever he went. We have also had the meetings of the great National Evangelistic Campaign—during the first 10 days of May. Of tangible results there is not much to speak about, but all churches and chapels are better attended and people in general seem more approachable with the message of Salvation and Life. The Christians too have been benefitted by the months of prayer and work preceding the campaign itself. The school had a smaller entering class, but it is an inspiring school, 106 regular pupils and a few more who come for music, the tea ceremony, and flower arrangement.

EDUCATIONAL.—Hokuriku Girls School.—Miss Luther reports additional equipment, especially the Domestic Science Cottage, rendering "sincere thanks to our friend and near neighbor, Rev. J. E. Detweiler, for the large amount of time, supervision, and skill he generously gave to us, being entirely responsible for the erection of the cottage."

Kindergarten.—Miss Johnstone reports:

Kanazawa, over 100 children enrolled, "overflowing," six teachers; Toyama, over 30 children, two teachers; Takaoka, nearly 50 children, three teachers.

Mothers' meeting in Kanazawa, twice a month, average attendance of 18; in Takaoka, twice a month, average attendance of about 12; in Toyama once a month, improving in attendance, averages now eight.

OSAKA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Wilmina Jo Gakko (school for girls)—a fine property with buildings; Theological Training School; Kindergartens.

Domestic Science Class of the Hokuriku High School for Girls, Kanazawa.—An attractive Japanese building, as well as a place of much practical value to the school work.

EVANGELISTIC.—Dr. G. W. Fulton reports as follows:

My field of operations remains the same as a year ago, and the number of men associated with me in the work is the same, six in all. The workers in Himeji and Moriguchi have changed, the others continue at their posts. The two points in Osaka city Namba and Temma, have made ordinary progress, both steadily gaining in the number of believers and in the matter of self-support. Four have been baptized at Temma, and five at Namba, and the meetings in each place have improved. In Himeji there have been seven additions. I have given more attention the past year to the work in the village of Moriguchi, Suminodo and Takaida with their surroundings. I have visited these places regularly each week or alternate weeks, either for preaching or classes in Bible study. The largest meetings have been at Takaida, though there have been no baptisms in that field yet.

Dr. A. D. Hail reports:—

The experience of the past year in seeking the expansion and efficiency of the evangelistic work in the country villages emphasizes the need there is of keeping before the Board, the church and ourselves the importance of the five-year programme for assisting in church and chapel building. Every center of my own work could have its efficiency greatly increased by means of a suitable chapel for all the various forms of Christian activities called for by rural evangelization. There has been an increase in the number of Sunday-schools and of their efficiency as a Christianizing agency. We have everything to hope for in the line of good results accruing from the new Sunday-school arrangement which gives Japan a live secretary for this work.

Mrs. John E. Hail reports:—

The neighborhood Sunday-school on Sunday mornings has been continued throughout the year at No. 33, Kawaguchi. A number of social meetings have been held at our house in Kawaguchi, children's meetings, women's meetings, meetings for school girls, and general meetings for people from the churches and preaching-places.

Miss Mary H. Ransom reports:—

Since limited time and strength and location made it impossible to respond to all of these requests, I decided to concentrate mainly upon four places, viz.: Sakae, Tengachaya, Ibaraki and Takatsuki. I have conducted meetings for women in each of the above places and have also taught English Bible-classes in Tengachaya and West Church, Osaka. Under my direction my personal helper, Miss Suzuki, has assisted in the Sunday-school at Itami in Mr. Van Horn's field.

Mr. G. W. VanHorn reports:—

Our principal out-stations in the Tamba district are Kaibara and Sasayama. These are county towns of 4,000 to 6,000 people and centres of business and trade for large rural populations. The court houses and attendant offices are also here. Both are educational centres, having Middle Schools. Kaibara has a Higher Girls' School. Sasayama is a garrison town. These points were visited last March by the United Evangelistic Committee's workers, holding two meetings at each place, resulting in a large number of very hopeful inquirers.

Mrs. G. W. Fulton reports:—

Kaikwa Kindergarten completed its second year in March, 1916. Again a class of 20 passed out to enter the primary school, but these little folks have not lost their interest in the kindergarten. They still love to stop in on the way home from school to visit us and to help the new children in their work. The spirit of service as taught in the kin-already had an organized church in the East end, and though it better for them to take the other end of the town. They have carried on the work very well, and have two candidates for baptism from our former Sunday-school pupils. It took Miss Garvin quite a time to find another place for a Sunday-school, but when she finally found the place she had as many children as ever, 150, but the quarters were not as good. She had only a small narrow room. In addition to this Sunday-school Miss Garvin has conducted classes for girls and men.

KYOTO STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Two kindergartens.

The excitement of the Coronation lasted six months and brought thousands of people to Kyoto. Many of them heard the gospel message and carried tracts away with them." The great meeting in the Yoshida Student Church, which greeted Dr. Speer and which was composed largely of students, is still spoken of months afterwards, as are the smaller and quieter meetings held by other members of the deputation.

The changes in personnel and housing, occasioned by the death of Dr. Gorbold, are the transfer of Dr. and Mrs. Brokaw from Kure to Kyoto, and Mrs. Gorbold's moving to live with Miss Denton of the American Board Mission until summer and in a re-built house after that. Miss Porter's change from Fukakusa to Kyoto was required by throat trouble, which the doctors said would not get better in the damp surroundings of Fukakusa. In the first Station meeting under the newly constituted personnel, the entire charge of the kindergarten was committed to Mrs. Gorbold. The work growing out of the kindergartens, a women's meeting and a Sunday-school are also in Mrs. Gorbold's hands. In regard to the kindergartens, Mrs. Gorbold writes,—“With very little oversight, my kindergartens have been conducted by six faithful Japanese teachers. Only a few mothers' meetings have been held.” Now that Mrs. Gorbold's health is improving, she is taking up this feature of the work vigorously.

YAMAGUCHI AND SHIMONOSEKI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Baiko Jo Gakuin, formed by the union of Kojo Jo Gakuin at Yamaguchi and the Reformed Church School at Shimonoseki, now a Union School of the two Missions, situated at Shimonoseki. There is a Kindergarten at Yamaguchi.

EVANGELISTIC.—This work in Yamaguchi Station is divided by natural lines into general sections, one including Shimonoseki and the upper neck of Kyushu, and the other covering the northern half of Yamaguchi prefecture and a few towns in Shimane prefecture. This year we have covered the same territory as last, but have opened up several new preaching places. The work in the southern part of the field has been very materially affected by two things this year. The first was the union of the different churches in Moji into one Union Church and the second was the return to America of Dr. and Mrs. Ayres.

The North Kyushu district, all points of which are within an hour of Shimonoseki, by ferry and electric, has a population in round numbers of a quarter of a million—equal to the entire Japanese population in Chosen. Moji and suburbs have about 100,000, and Kokura, Waka- dergarten is thus bearing fruit. My work in the Evangelists' Training School is the same as last year, namely, oversight of the music and teaching two English classes. The students are more and more realizing the importance of having some knowledge of music.

THEOLOGICAL TRAINING SCHOOL.—The same corps of teachers has continued to render excellent service throughout the year. In place of Mr. Banno, who dropped out a year ago, we have called upon some of the experienced pastors of Osaka to give lectures on various phases of pastoral work. These lectures have been very practical and of great benefit to the students. A physician also has given a series of talks on health and sanitation, which have been of much value to the young men. The students have conducted upwards of 170 meetings in street chapels during the year, though with a diminished attendance—about 3,500 in all.

WILMINA GIRLS' SCHOOL.—Since "figures never lie" and since they tell their story most vividly by comparison, this report will begin by setting down side by side some of the most important statistics of last year and the present one so we may see where we have advanced and where we have fallen behind. In 1914-15 the total enrollment was 180; in 1915-16 the enrollment was again 180. In 1914-15 there was a total matriculation of 64. This year, up to the present, there have been 76 entering students. The enrollment in April, 1915, was 176. The enrollment April, 1916, was 198, showing a gain over last year of 22 students. Last year there were only four new students entering the second year; this year there were 22. There were no entrances in the third year class last year; this year there are six. There was a total of 25 in last year's second year; this year there are 65. With lower classes so full, we have the hope of larger graduating classes later on. There are now 35 girls in the graduating class.

HIROSHIMA STATION

Since our last report the Hiroshima Station has lost, by removal to Kyoto, Dr. and Mrs. Brokaw. We regret to report this loss, for Dr. Brokaw was well prepared for doing Country Evangelization, and delighted to do it. We quote from the report as follows:

EVANGELISTIC.—

The work at Fukuyama has advanced sufficiently during the past year to become an organized church, and the Sanyo Presbytery at its Annual Meeting last month ordered it to be organized into a mission church. The evangelist there has worked hard and has won quite a number of new people. Last December we had the first baptisms at Miyoshi. Three people were baptized, one a tinner of the town, one a Middle School pupil, and the other the wife of a teacher. The evangelist there has won the respect of the best people of the town, and the work is very promising. At Iwakuni on the West, which is in Yamaguchi prefecture, the work is the most hopeful of all the out-stations. The evangelist is very earnest. He has good meetings and many of them. The Christians are saving money for a church building, which we hope they may have in a few years. The independent churches at Hiroshima and Kure have both grown some, both have suffered from removals. At Hiroshima the pastor has held inquirers' meetings every night of the week three times since the first of the year.

Miss Garvin reports that since her last report the Christian and Missionary Alliance Mission has located three missionaries in Onomichi. For the sake of comity, harmonious relations, and brotherly love, we gave up our work in the West end to them. We did this because we matsu and Yawata each about 50,000. At present so far as our Nihon Kirisuto Kyokwai is concerned, there are but two evangelists for the masses in this the Pittsburg-Alleghany region of Japan. We ought to supply at least two more immediately.

In the northern section of the field, Miss Wells has continued her former work with the women, and with the kindergarten in Yamaguchi as well as Sunday-schools in Yamaguchi church and in Ogori.

The Yamaguchi church has had a very good year. There have been 21 baptisms, and there are now a number of inquirers to be baptised soon. The good thing about this year has been the number of baptisms among the town people. This is what we are working for now. We must have resident members if we are to have a strong, self-supporting church. At present considerably over half of the members of this church live out of reach of the church. This being a college town, fully half of the baptisms are students anyway, and they always leave. But we are now getting some strong families into the church, and it bids fair to become self-supporting within a few years. At a recent meeting of the officers it was decided to build a new church in seven years. The church in Yanai has had one of the most flourishing years in its history. It had 16 baptisms, has a Sunday-school of over 100 pupils with seven teachers, and raised over 600.00 yen ($300.00) from among its members. This church is the center for a wide circuit of evangelistic points. Yasaka has had a splendid year. The first man was baptised there just a year ago. Now they have services every Sunday, and Sunday-school. There are about 10 Christians there, though some of them have not yet been baptised.

Dr. and Mrs. Ayres carried on their usual work in the city of Shimonoseki, and Dr. Ayres, being relieved, somewhat, from the cares of the school buildings, was able to get out to his regular stations oftener as well as carry on an extensive correspondence. In addition to his work in Kyushu he visited Hagi and Yadomi in Yamaguchi province and Susa, Nijo and Tsuwano in Shimane province.

EDUCATIONAL.—Sturges Seminary.—This has been a very successful year in Sturges Seminary. Students have entered fully up to expectations so far as numbers go, and if the present rate of increase continues in the boarding department a new dormitory will be necessary at once.

Mrs. Curtis has been a most efficient teacher and manager of the girls this year, and the station is increasingly grateful that the places of the Misses Bigelow, who went home on furlough in July, could be so well filled. Miss Davidson's work has been largely routine teaching, but she has been peculiarly successful in that, and she writes that she has enjoyed it very much. These two have worked with the other teachers to their utmost to make this year a harvest year, and they have been richly blessed. There was dormitory room for only 50 originally, but this spring a house was hired as an adjunct to dormitory so that now there are 68 pupils in the two buildings. Twenty girls (Japanese) have entered from Chosen, Formosa, and China, also one native Loochooan. This is 11 more than last year.

MANCHURIA STATION

The Stations in Manchuria have nearly all been visited every other month. Five tours have been accomplished during the year. Some similar work has been done in Chosen and a visit of over two weeks made to the Hokuriku. Caution has been exercised in entering the Chosen territory lest it seem like intrusion to the powers that be.

The "Mrs. Winn Memorial Chapel" was built by Japanese friends in Manchuria, at Shakako, a suburb of Dairen. It has a beautiful little church both within and without. The dedication services were held Sabbath afternoon, October 3rd, 1915. After the day had been decided upon, it was remembered to be the third anniversary of the day when Mrs. Winn left Dairen for the last time. The Sunday before, we went to Shakako as usual. With her accustomed zeal she went from door to door inviting people to the meeting. Then, we met in a dirty upstairs room in an out-of-the-way place. The attendance was small and uncertain. In three years all that had been changed, and regular preaching services and Sunday school exercises were being held in the attractive chapel. It will be ten years next September since we first went to Manchuria. In that time five churches have grown up. April of this year found them all supplied with preachers: four ordained pastors and one evangelist. At one of the other stations a regular chapel has been opened and the sixth church seems near establishment.

The Dairen church has made a record this year which perhaps has never been surpassed in Japan. It received 246 additions. Of this number two-thirds were adult baptisms; a few were children and the remainder were received by letter. The Mukden church has made the next best showing and is a church with a good deal of life and missionary spirit. The church at Antung, though small, has developed a commendable spirit of independence and zeal. Your missionary receives a welcome in these churches and in many groups of Christians meeting for worship.

TSU AND YAMADA STATIONS

EQUIPMENT.—Two Kindergartens.

By the action of our last Mission Meeting the Tsu and Yamada field were united into one under the name of Tsu Field. It extends from Kuwana on the north to Kushimoto on the south, the full length of the east shore of the Kii peninsula, and half way across towards Osaka. The Methodist Protestants and Episcopalians have some work in the larger cities in the north, but aside from that all this territory, comprising all of Miye Ken and half of Wakayama Ken is left entirely to the care of the Tsu Station.

Kuwana, the first place on the north, is a large town of 20,000 or 30,000 people. The field is a difficult one, yet there have been some baptisms and the work is in a healthy condition. The next place, Yokkaichi, is a city of about 50,000 inhabitants.

We have accessions to the church, but the population is very shifting, and as many move away each year as are received. Shiroko is a large, overgrown country village of 4,000 or 5,000, quite off the railroad, though a keiben (narrow gauge) road has recently been built there. The work at Kameyama has been perhaps the most prosperous of any of our fields during the past year. Ueno is a town of considerable importance, having formerly been the residence of a daimyo. The work in Tsu city is chiefly carried on around two centers, one at the church in Tamaki-cho, where the evangelist is an ordained pastor, and the other nearer the missionary's residence largely under the direction of his helper, Mr. Hirao. The services at the Tamaki-cho church have been better attended during the past year. In addition we have also had a Bible-class of students from the Tsu Normal School. A meeting was started in the Post Office for the employes there, but the postmaster was changed and that meeting discontinued.

The work at Yamada is making quite a progress. Miss Riker, the resident missionary, may make more full report of the excellent work of the kindergarten as well as various Sunday-schools and other auxiliary work.

An auto trip of 50 miles south takes one to Nagashima, where begins a circuit of six more evangelists' fields extending clear down the coast to the end of the peninsula. Nagashima is quite a large town, perhaps half the people being fishermen.

In Yamada everybody above kindergarten age seemed exhausted for the rest of the winter by Coronation labors, but in the coldest of the season Evergreen Kindergarten reached an enrollment of near 60.

A monthly meeting of the graduates is held and every two months a mothers' meeting is cautiously attended. We have four vigorous Sunday-schools in Yamada on the Sabbath day and a not very vigorous Christian Endeavor Society for the older children of the church Sunday-school. A weekly teachers' meeting for lesson study is of great benefit to the Sunday-school work. The Commercial School work is kept up, also a class in English Bible of High School teachers and two classes weekly in English and Bible for boys. The church women's society meets twice monthly for work meeting and Bible study and sent a good delegation to the annual meeting of the Presbyterian societies of Mie Ken.

FUKUI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Two Kindergartens.

Mr. Detweiler speaks of the National Evangelistic Campaign.

Plans were made for a series of special tent meetings in five towns in the Ken, Sabae, Takefu, Awatabe, Fukui, and Tsuruga districts. (The last two were union meetings). Kyoto Station kindly loaned a tent, large enough for 300 people. In all the meetings the total attendance was estimated at about 3,500. Their attitude was one of real spiritual hunger. They had heard Christianity spoken ill of so much, heard it described as dangerous for the country, and as irreconcilable with the "Japanese Spirit," that they seemed to welcome the opportunity of coming to the tent and hearing directly for themselves.

Through the kindness of a fellow missionary, a small automobile has been placed at the disposal of Mr. Detweiler. It has enabled him to get a really close glimpse of a very small part of the 250,000 people whose spiritual hunger we are obliged to stay. The most of it has not yet been seen. How shall these people be saved unless the good news is preached to them?

Since writing the last report there have been 15 additions by baptism, 14 at Fukui and one at Tsuruga, where there has not been an addition for seven years. This total is twice that for last year, but if there were 1,000 a year, it would still take 250 years to save the 250,000 in the parish. The six Sunday-schools are in a flourishing condition, if judged by past standards. The banner school in point of attendance, about 80, is at Awatabe, a village where regular meetings were begun last fall. The Sunday-school teachers' class in Fukui is doing very thorough work and there is hope that the Bible Night School, which meets once a week in place of the usual prayer-meeting, will become a settled institution. In January regular work was begun among the ricksha coolies at Fukui R. R. station. After the 3:30 afternoon train is gone, a regular preaching service is conducted, with songs, prayers, and Bible reading.

WAKAYAMA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One Kindergarten.

This field, lying up the Kii river in the county of Naka, consists of the towns and villages of Kokawa, Nate, Tanaka, Iwade, Ogura to which have been added by way of extension this year the towns of Kami-Nate and Kita-Kishi. In the majority of these towns there are weekly preaching services, (for the most part in the houses of the Christians or the inquirers) and children's meetings. The average attendance on the preaching services is from five to 100 persons, while the average attendance at the children's meetings is from 30 to 100. The evangelist at Kokawa also holds a meeting at the railroad station once per week for the benefit of the workmen and the agents at the station.

In the city of Wakayama and the adjoining villages we have one self-supporting church and three kogisho. The church has had a prosperous year. There have been 13 additions by baptism to the membership. We have no separate records for the preaching-places. The average attendance at the church services has been about 40. The average attendance at the services at the kogisho at Wakanoura is five, at Kimiidera eight, at the preaching-place on Kagomachi, 20 at the children's meetings the average attendance is from 20 at Wakanoura to 75 at Kimiidera. In Hikata meetings are held several times per week, while in the other towns which constitute the field they are visited about every three weeks. The children's meetings have an average attendance of from 50 to 150, while at the meetings for adults the attendance averages from 10 to 50. Kuroe has been added to the number of towns in which regular services are held. The meetings are held in the house of a matting merchant. Weekly evangelistic meetings have been continued in both the preaching-places, and in Minabe, a town a few miles distant. The children had taken possession of all these places, but there are always a few grown people present. In Minato these are mostly women, in Minabe school teachers, in Yegawa fishermen and women. This work has added none to the church this year, but has not been without its effect on the children and their homes. The Buddhists are now getting up a Sunday-school and kindergarten of their own, saying that Christians teach children not to worship ancestors.

Miss Leavitt reports:—

First in my report, as holding the largest place in the last year's work, come Sunday-schools and other meetings for children. The church school has improved both in organization and attendance until the average attendance is well over 100. My class of girls enrolls over 30. There are seven regular and two substitute teachers. I made one trip in the mountains in April. The weather was not favorable for meetings, but I visited individuals. One of the Christians at Kirisugawa, having gone back to Buddhism, would not see me.

MATSUYAMA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Sunday School and Children's Meetings.

Early in the fall the little folks' meeting which was illustrated in the Mission Report last year was flourishing with a large attendance of the little ones who loved to come and several of the mothers who seemed to enjoy the meetings as well. A meeting was held for the mothers over which they were quite enthusiastic and our hopes were high. In January some of these women came to the social meeting for the church women held at the Mission house and afterward said they wished to be members of the church women's society.

Opportunities to teach English have been numerous. Two large classes of young men meet weekly. One class began with three who work in a tobacco factory and grew to number 20 from 14 to 20 years old, and they are working in post office, bank, etc. The English lesson is followed by one in the Bible and the Hymnal. About six weeks after this class began one of three came to tell us that they wanted to be baptised. He said, "We do not know much yet but we believe." There are a few very earnest Bible students in this class. The other class is comprised of students from the Commercial School and number 18. They read Mrs. Curtis' book, "The Story of Salvation," and learned to sing hymns. They called themselves the "Daniel's Band Class" and adopted "Dare to be a Daniel" for their class song. We have had a class from the Girls' Normal School and the church women's meeting has been kept up without interruption and by its work has been able to give the same financial help to the church and Sunday-school as has been their custom.

MEXICO AND GUATEMALA MISSIONS

MEXICO MISSION

MEXICO CITY: Capital of the Republic, in southern part of the State of Mexico; occupied in 1872 (includes Coyoacan and San Angel). Missionaries:—Rev. William Wallace, D. D., and Mrs. Wallace, Rev. Charles Petran and Mrs. Petran, Prof. R. A. Brown and Mrs. Brown, Miss Jennie Wheeler, Miss Jessie R. Bergens.

MERIDA-YUCATAN: in the extreme northwest of the Peninsula of Yucatan; occupied 1915. Missionaries:—Rev. H. T. Molloy and Mrs. Molloy, Miss Blanche B. Bonine.

JALAPA: State of Vera Cruz, about 125 miles east of Mexico City; occupied 1897. Missionary, Rev. H. A. Phillips.

CHIAPAS: In state of the same name, about 250 miles southeast of Mexico City. To be opened in accordance with new plan. Assigned:—Rev. W. E. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Vanderbilt, Miss Mary Turner, Miss M. Kate Spencer.

VERA CRUZ on the Gulf of Campeche. About 180 miles east of Mexico City. Occupied 1897. Missionaries: Rev. N. J. Elliott and Mrs. Elliott.

ZITACUARO, State of Michoacan, about 75 miles west of Mexico City. Occupied 1894. Missionaries: Rev. R. R. Gregory and Mrs. Gregory. Rev. A. G. Cheney.

On REGULAR FURLOUGH: For longer or shorter periods during 1916-17, all the Mexican missionaries have been in the U. S., but at the time of this report all have returned to the field except Mrs. William Wallace, Mrs. W. E. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Chas. Petran, Mrs. R. A. Brown, Mrs. N. J. Elliott, Mrs. R. R. Gregory and Miss Jessie R. Bergens.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) Work in Mexico under the Presbyterian Church, North, was opened in 1872 in Mexico City, and has been the center from which the work radiated both north and south. At first there were two Missions, a northern and southern, but these were united in 1894.

Following the proposed plan of occupation of Mexico by the various Boards at work there, adopted at the Conference held at Cincinnati, July, 1914, the Presbyterian Church, North, will have an exclusive responsibility for the evangelization of 10 states—Michoacan, Mexico, Guerrero, Morelos, Oaxaca, Vera Cruz, Tabasco, Chiapas, Campeche and Yucatan; that is, to occupy all the territory from Mexico City, South, and including work in Mexico City itself. This will mean the giving up of all the stations and out-stations heretofore worked by the Presbyterian Church, North, in the states of Zacatecas, San Luis Potosi, Nueva Leon, Coahuila and Hidalgo.

MEXICO CITY

EQUIPMENT.—City of Mexico—Mission Press, Church of "Divino Salvador"; Churches and Chapels in the out-stations. In the Federal District—College of Coyoacan, McMurtie Chapel, Converse Hall, Manse, Three Dormitories, Residence and School. Girls' Normal School at San Angel.

EVANGELISTIC:—

A successful Interdenominational Convention was held in the City of Mexico in November. Judging by the quality of the papers presented and the spirit which prevailed it was one of the most successful ever held in Mexico. Delegates came from a number of outside points. It brought inspiration and cheer to the native workers to whom the whole credit for the initiation and careful preparation must be given. One of the chief results of this gathering was the appointment of a committee to plan for a Regional Congress in Mexico City. The other results was the appointment of an Auxiliary Mexican Committee to cooperate with the Permanent Committee on Union Bible and Theological Institute.

EDUCATION.—On May 15, 1916, after two full years of closed doors, Coyoacan College was reopened under a new name—"Escuela Preparatoria Presbyteriana." The first day, eight students were present and one Mexican teacher. Most of the former students were either in the army or in government employ. By the end of the year there were 34 enrolled—all boarders.

In June, 1916, Prof. R. A. Brown, Principal of the School was compelled to leave Mexico on account of political conditions but the school was left in charge of a Mexican teacher. Prof. Brown returned to the field in November of the same year, and the school with an enlarged teaching force did intensive work along all lines to the close of the school year in December. Prof. Brown writes:—

The year has been much broken up on account of wars and rumors of wars, because of difficult transportation and worthless paper money. The number of students was not what we should have liked, but the school has been resurrected and the way cleared for the coming year. It was little wonder that the young men should still heed the very insistent call to arms rather than the invitation to return to the more prosaic halls of learning.

There were strange mixtures among the old students who did heed the call of their Alma Mater. For example, one young man had been the mayor of his home town under the Carranza regime; another had fought under Villa in the famous battle of Celaya; and a third had for a time marched under the banner of the terrible Zapata. But when they return to "Coyoacan," they forgot their differences and joined forces under the banner of Jesus Christ. There are representatives from as far south as Tabasco, and from as far north as the Texas border. Our teaching staff is well up to the best standard. The Government now requires instruction in military affairs, so we have a blowing of trumpets and a beating of drums that must make our neighbors think the Great General Headquarters has come into their midst. The school is now awakened at six o'clock in the morning by a series of bugle calls, and from that hour until near ten at night there is scarcely a period that has not its particular activity assigned to it.

Judging from the number of parents and relatives, and especially of widows, who have come to see about the possibility of leaving their sons in the care of "Coyoacan," I think that if we could open our doors to boys between nine and 13 we would soon have near 200 enrolled. But much of this work would have to be in the nature of an orphanage, though not all; for there are parents who are able to pay full tuition who would be glad for such a place as this to put their sons. There is no other boarding school supported by Protestants in the Federal District, nor even in all central Mexico north of Pueblo, which is looking after the education of boys or young men.

"Margaret McMurtrie Memorial Chapel," Coyoacan, Mexico

Some of the Coyoacan Pupils—1917.

In spite of two big fires, one of which destroyed the best part of the refectory, and the other wiped out completely one of the dwellings of the institution with all its contents; in spite of the stoning of the buildings that showed the sentiment of the people during the American occupation of Vera Cruz; in spite of the bullets that shuttled back and forth over the grounds between the battling Zapatistas and Carranzistas; in spite of death among former teachers and students; during these last three years of bloodshed, hunger and disease, "Coyoacan" has survived with but few signs of what she has passed through and today seems to enjoy even greater possibilities than ever of playing her part in the Christian education of Mexican youth.

SAN ANGEL NORMAL SCHOOL: Miss Jennie Wheeler.
Principal of this school writes:—

We had what may be called a successful year in many ways, even though difficult and trying in a great many things. We had 75 pupils in attendance, graduating five. The Normal department numbered 29, and the prospect for a larger number next year is good. Already application has been made for several new pupils. Miss McClelland of the Southern Presbyterian Mission has been assisting in the teaching.

The Government is promising almost exorbitant salaries in its schools, even to teachers just beginning. We cannot begin to compete with them. And our own teachers do not seem to have the spirit of sacrifice for our work, that I would wish them to have. It is the spirit of the times, however, and of unrest throughout the country. Just now it seems to many to be a matter of salary, but I am doubtful if all American teachers would be acceptable.

When we had to change to silver payments in October and prices advanced so very much, I hardly knew what to do. People have been unable to pay the tuitions, and I have received practically nothing in silver, but they have promised to pay up soon. There is no end seemingly to the number of girls who want to come, but there are not many who can pay the tuition. The Tabasco and Yucatan girls have numbered eight this year with applications from others for next year. We certainly need another school south of us, for the expense of coming up here is very great.

While the question of religious training in Schools has disturbed many, so far I have had the usual Bible Classes and religious exercises in the School, but we attend Sunday School and Church services in the Coyoacan church. It seems best to us to do this for the present as that church has a regular pastor.

PRESS:—

Our Press Manager Rev. Chas. Petran was absent from the field five months of the year, but kept in touch with the work by correspondence. Great credit is due to Editor Arellano, our chief clerk, Miss Maria Castillo, and Foreman Delgado for the efficient and faithful service which they rendered during this time, when almost all the missionaries were absent in the home land.

Mr. Arellano has had to write almost every article that appeared in our weekly El Faro, owing to the disorganized condition of the country.

Besides the editorials and resume of news, he has translated series of articles on agriculture, on social questions and in every number has appeared a complete sermon which has been of great service to our scattered and pastorless members. He has also adapted articles from the Westminster Teacher for El Fanal, our Interdenominational Teachers' Monthly.

Owing to the depreciation of the currency, the interruptions in mail service and the high price of paper, it has been impossible to push the publishing of new evangelical literature, but our circulation department has made use of stock in hand. In some ways our Press has never been of greater service in keeping our people in touch with each other and the work of the Kingdom.

EVANGELISTIC Work in Mexico City, Federal District and State of Mexico.

The State of Mexico, in the center of which lies the Federal District and the Capital of the Republic, largely mountainous in character, and densely populated with Aztec Indians. These Indians have naturally affiliated themselves with Zapata, and the mountains are infested with bandits, who approach the suburbs of Mexico City, wreck trains, and make travel unsafe. Many of their towns have been burnt by Government troops. As a result for over two years, our congregations of Ozumba, Ecatzingo, Tepe-coa-cuilco, San Pablo and San Andres have been isolated and the families scattered. On the other hand they have reinforced our Congregations in Mexico City and suburbs with their presence, even if they have lost their worldly possessions.

Elder Garcia of our S. Andrés Church was killed while trying to preserve his growing crops.

Work has been reopened in Tlalpam, former home of our Theological Seminary in an "upper room" set apart for services by Don Remigio.

Early in the year Rev. Francisco Alvarez came up from his Campeche field to take charge of our congregation in Toluca, capital of the State of Mexico. His wife is a most efficient helper. Special Bible Conferences were held during the year by Dr. Wallace, and the church raised a neat amount for furnishing their beautiful church. One of the church members is a butcher. Looking out on the woodclad slopes of the volcano nearby through a field glass from his house in the city, one remarked, "I see no Zapatistas." Our brother replied, "When those Indians have taken the city, you will believe what I tell you, that those woods are full of them." Our country members are constantly exposed to the forays of these Indians, and in turn tribute is levied on them by the government forces, but they remain firm in their faith, in spite of their distressing condition.

Dr. Arcadio Morales, in spite of increasing infirmity, due to a complication of physical ailments, after forty years of a pastorate continues his work, as pastor of the various chapels and central church in Mexico City, with all the optimism of youth. Added to his usual burden he has that of looking after the large number of Presbyterians who come floating in and out of the city as floatsam and jetsam of the revolution. These elements have helped to swell our congregations in all the larger cities, which have served as concentration points for the broken fragments of our dispersed country churches.

The Christian Endeavor Society and Woman's Aid have been reorganized under the leadership of two daughters of the pastor, one of whom is a recent graduate of Albert Lea College, Minn. These societies do an immense amount of charitable work in the prisons, and among the destitute of the city. Many of our members have come to the top in the Revolution, in the employment of the government, and are able to help "the poor brethren" as never before. Many of them also improve their new opportunities to recommend the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. Where positions of trust are to be filled, such as paymaster in the army, etc., there frequently is to be found "an evangelico." Lately a recreative society of young people was formed, interdenominational in character, and held its opening session in the Y. M. C. A. A literary and musical program was given, and a missionary, the only foreigner present, being asked to preside, had the pleasure of introducing one of Mexico's most notable poets, who recited one of his own compositions.

Dr. Pruneda one of Mexico's leading educators, and who has lately made a public profession of his faith in the Protestant church, attended a series of Bible classes given in the Y. M. C. A. by a missionary of our Church. He there stated that a number of fellow educators were dissatisfied with the agnosticism and positivism in which they had been brought up and were seeking for a spiritual solution of life's problems: that the evangelical churches had now their greatest opportunity for meeting the religious needs of such men.

AGUASCALIENTES

EQUIPMENT.—Church building, missionary residence, Normal School plant. This property is to be disposed of to other denominations who will work this territory under the Cincinnati Plan.

Early in the year Miss Turner and Miss Spencer went to Chiapas where their new station of work is to be established, but were forced to leave that point and went for a while to Guatemala. Later in the year, in August, they returned to Aguascalientes, and have since been engaged in Relief work until they can take up the work in Chiapas. Miss Turner writes:—

We are disappointed that we had to return from Chiapas before we could know more about the interior cities. We are so anxious to get back to our school work in some place. Aguascalientes is suffering because of this change in our work.

The weather in Aguascalientes is cold now, which causes an increase in typhoid. Unfortunately the Board of Health does nothing to check the epidemic. The town is in a deplorably bad condition. The garbage has not been removed from our front street for 48 hours and in that garbage is a dead dog. I advised the authorities yesterday and the answer was that they had no feed for the mules, so they could not work. I am going to pay some peones to at least carry the dog away. Prices have been put in silver or its equivalent and every one clamors for silver. The Government issues decrees that merchants must accept paper at two cents for one dollar. They have steadily refused for three days. Stores are closed, every few hours a new decree comes forth. How it will end no one knows. I do not know whether such conditions obtain outside Aguascalientes or not. Many, many people have nothing but paper money yet we are paying in silver, and there is not enough of that kind of money to meet the demand.

STATE OF MICHOAGAN

EQUIPMENT.—House and Church Building at Zitacuaro and Chapels and Houses where services are held at other points.

CHIAPAS

EVANGELISTIC: No equipment at present.

Of these fields, the Rev. R. R. Gregory gives the following report:—

My year's report really includes about four months' residence on the field, and that, when only a part of the field could be visited with safety. The last Mission meeting was called for the latter part of March, 1916. We left a week before because of the acute situation that at that time existed between the U. S. and Mexico. It seemed unwise to remain in the District. During the month of May very little visiting could be done in the District because of the growing unrest in many parts of the field. Also because of the scarcity of horses. The Mission felt it unwise to buy a travelling outfit, and those who had horses did not care to loan them because some fellows schooled in the philosophy that might makes right, might seize them. When we could get out, we usually had to go on foot a part of the way and then get horses from some of the members of the ranch congregations as best we could.

The latter part of May Mr. Vanderbilt and I started for Chiapas by way of Mexico City, to carry out our commission to explore that state for the purpose of opening work there. In normal times the trip from Zitacuaro to Mexico City is about 13 hours, that time we had to go in a round about way which covered three days, because the Zapatistas had interrupted the direct route. When we left the city for Chiapas we were told the situation there was quiet and normal. At Vera Cruz, the American Consul warned us not to go, also stating that if we went "we would have to be prepared at a moment's notice to take to the brush as a jack rabbit." Suffice it to say that we did not accomplish the purpose we had in view when we started. We were obliged to flee across the border into Guatemala, where we spent about six weeks, hoping that conditions would soon become such that we could return and after all make our trip into the interior of Chiapas.

The work in this field resembles that of a run-down farm. In using the figure, "run-down farm," I want to qualify that term by adding a run-down rich farm, a farm with boundless possibilities for cultivation. At present it is enough to discourage a worker if his horizon were marked by the present day—fortunately it is the morrow with its possibilities of a great and fruitful work that lures us on. No time during the last six years has it been possible to work the entire field because of the situation caused by the Revolution. This Michoacan field presents a big open door to our evangelical work in Mexico.

Last yar the chief official of the District adjoining the Zitacuaro District personally came to the Mission house and begged us to open up work and school in the country seat of his District. We had to turn down the urgent invitation because we had no one to send. Everywhere down in that district there seemed to be an open door such as we during the 20 years' connection with this field had never beheld. There has dawned a new day and the people are awakening to claim their birthright.

On one of our trips Mr. Vanderbilt and I stopped at two haciendas. It was dark when we rode through the gateway of the second one, but asking for the overseer made known our wish to remain over night. He did not recognize us at first, but true to the spirit of Mexican hospitality, which is very original in many respects, he very profusely invited us to stay for the night. At once they made ready to give us supper, but the overseer did not warm up to us as we had expected. In the course of conversation, one of his clerks entered who at once recognized Mr. Vanderbilt. He had been one of our school boys some ten years before. We then had something in common and were not looked on as strangers but guests. The best was gotten out for us and the attitude of the overseer changed. The Mission was reaping some of the fruits of its labors. He knew that we were in a business that had done something for the community. The school had been a wonderful factor in breaking down barriers and in opening up otherwise closed doors. That night we slept in one of the best rooms of the big ranch house. In the morning the overseer had his horse saddled and accompanied us to the boundary line of that large ranch and extended a most cordial invitation for us to stop over night whenever we passed that way again.

In the District the past year, aside from the American missionaries, there has been one ordained minister, two licentiates, a graduate of our Coyoacan Seminary, and Miguel Gomez, who has been associated with this work since 1897. The two others, former students of Coyoacan, have served some of the small congregations in outlying districts. Mr. Castillo continued another year pastor of the Zitacuaro church, and during our absence was looked to by the rest of the workers for directions. He has tried to be a faithful worker, and under last year's trying economic and political situation his work is to be commended. With the situation returning to normal so that the missionary can remain on the field and properly help to direct the work, our next year's report should be inspiring.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' School in Zitacuaro was a failure. Several problems arose during the missionary's absence, which made the opening of the school difficult, and the school was closed in October because of the urgent call for the teacher, Mr. Lopez, to return to his home in Northern Mexico. It has not been possible to find a man teacher, but a woman teacher, a graduate of the Government Normal School, has been secured.

The Girls' School was continued under the direction of a graduate of the San Angel Normal School with the assistance of the widow of one of our former helpers who died several years ago. She is a very capable worker and one of our best Sunday School teachers.

OUTSTATION WORK.—

The work at San Francisco, a small Indian town about two miles south of Zitacuaro, was under my personal care while in the District. Sunday School was held every Sunday afternoon and preaching service Wednesday evening. During the school vacation at Coyoacan, Mr. Torres, a young student studying for the ministry supplied there. This is a very interesting congregation. Twelve young men and women went from here to Coyoacan and San Angel.

Mr. Amigdio Ariceaga continued in charge of Tuxpan, Aguacate, Patamboro and Agostadoro, besides other small groups of believers. Under the circumstances of last year he did fairly well. This circuit needs to be worked up again. It shows that the missionary is still badly needed on the field to give counsel and encouragement and handle problems that the natives will not allow the native pastor to solve.

Mr. Miguel Gomez has continued living at Susupnato, and also directed the work at Tuzantla and other small Indian towns nearby. This circuit just now lies in the midst of the Zapatista movements. Since last Mission meeting this place was visited once and that was last May. The small Indian Village of Santa Cruz, a town of a few hours on horseback from here, a town made up almost entirely of Protestant Indians, was sacked and burned and the live stock driven away by the Zapatistas. Their little church, which they had built themselves and the organ they had bought four years ago for $30 gold were turned into ashes the same time that their homes were burned.

Further south is the town of Suspuato, a day's walk from Zitacuaro. Mr. Gomez brought me the pitiful news of the sacking and burning. Almost all of their clothes, kitchen utensils and animals were taken by the raiders. It goes without saying that Mr. Gomez's labors in this field were greatly interfered with and it was impossible to do anything constructive.

Our Church property at Tuzantla, a town about 40 miles south of Zitacuaro, has been in need of urgent repairs. About two years ago the roof fell in; since then it has been almost impossible to begin repairs. Two rainy seasons have added more damages to the walls until now our church property there resembles a ruin.

The last few months in Zitacuaro have been an inspiration. Out of the fire I have seen a new spirit born. The people here are looking forward as never before for the reality of things in their present life. In spite of a bloody and barbarous warfare, he who is interested in the people of Mexico instead of the things of Mexico, will find ample recompense for his labors among them, for in revolutionized Mexico, "Faith has still its Olivet and Love its Galilee."

Apart from the school work in Zitacuaro itself there are only two other day-schools, one at Aporo and one at Los Sauces. Mr. Gregory reports for these:—

Some of the sympathizers in Aporo have not the sufficient strength of convictions to come out and out for the Gospel. Several have not sent their children to our Mission day school and several have also kept aloof from the services because their Catholic neighbors began to boycott them. On a ranch some eight miles south of Aporo there are some 50 children without schooling. The people have offered to pay half the expenses of a teacher. The outlook at this point is very encouraging.

Los Sauces is a place of about 35 families. They asked that the Mission open a school and promised to provide the teacher's board and a part of the salary besides. A young woman in Zitacuaro, a most conscientious worker in the Sunday school, was selected and we made no mistake in giving her the school, for on my first visit there found an enrollment of 54 and an average attendance of 45. Most of the people there are of the peon class. They build a separate house, very rude of course, for their school, with poles and rough shingles split from pine blocks. The little room was too small to accommodate the crowd for their Christmas entertainment, so it was held out of doors. The parents were delighted with their boys and girls who took part. Their hearts have been won and there is no telling what will yet result from the $12 Mex. that the Mission invested in that school.

A few thousand dollars invested by the Church in the States in educating and preparing these young folks will bring more advancement than millions spent for arms. Mexico needs today a Christian education for her youth.

VERA CRUZ

EQUIPMENT.—Church building, missionary residence and piece of land.

JALAPA

EQUIPMENT.—Church property.

The Rev. H. A. Phillips has been in charge of the Jalapa-Vera Cruz field. He reports on these two places:—

EVANGELISTIC.—The Jalapa-Vera Cruz field has the town of Jalapa for its center and the following stations connected with it: Miz- antla, Las Vigas, Coatepec and Tlacclula. These last two places have been almost entirely cut off from connection with Jalapa, the former owing to the fact that all evangelical Christians have moved away from there, and the latter, having been almost entirely wiped out by a hurricane and a mountain slide, and what was left of the town carried off by one looting band and another. However, in the district around Tlacclula there remain many of its old members who are still faithful and hoping for better times when it will be possible to hold services there.

In Mizantla and El Porvenir there remain a faithful band of evangelical Christians who have been able to keep together and hold their Sabbath services at least a Sunday School.

In Jalapa the church has been making noble effort towards self-support. Our Sunday School provides its own supplies, each one brings his own hymn book and Bible. The congregation pays for the lighting, the cleaning of the temple, the sweeping of the street and also pays $15 Mex. toward the pastor's salary. In the year past the congregation has given to the Mission $40 Mex. toward repairing the pastor's house and also sent off $28 Mex. to the starving children of Europe. The Mission can well congratulate the Jalapa congregation for its noble efforts in these trying times.

The church in Vera Cruz, which has been under my supervision, has done some splendid service. This church has been under the care of the Rev. Jose Coffin, one of our very spiritual and spirited pastors, who has been busy helping the poor and needy people of that city. Sr. Coffin has established a free medical dispensary for the very needy and this dispensary has done remarkable things in a time when an epidemic of fever closed the port in the Fall and Winter of 1916-17. In this dispensary work the services of all classes of professional and non-professional men were enlisted. Medical men lent their professional services without pay and druggists helped at the dispensary while the general public gave funds to buy medical supplies.

A special work was carried on in the prison at Jalapa. Permission was given early in December to visit the prison and give talks on morality and temperance with the understanding that the basis of all our teaching is faith in God and Jesus Christ as our Saviour. These prison talks have been given twice a week since that time, and we hope that the seed sown may bring forth much fruit unto life everlasting.

Good results have also been had from a teacher's training class that has been held for the teachers of the Sunday school each Monday afternoon in the mission house. This seems to be one of the missionary's golden opportunities.

This report cannot close without an earnest plea that the Church in the home land take a still deeper interest in the evangelization of this, "our next door neighbor." Every dollar invested here in Mexico will bear fruit.

PERSIA

HISTORY.—Modern missionary work began with Henry Martin, who spent a little over a year in Persia in 1811-12. His stay will be ever memorable for the translation of the Persian New Testament and Psalms, and for the immortal example of devotion and self-sacrifice. The Basle Missionary Society and the Scottish Missionary Society left permanent memorials in an apology for Christianity to Mohammedans. "The Balance of Truth," by the Rev. Dr. Pfander, and in the translation of the Old Testament into Persian by the Rev. Dr. Glenn.

The Rev. Justin Perkins began work for the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, coming to Tabriz in 1834, and with Asahel Grant, M.D., settling in Urumia in 1835. The work was for the Nestorian Christians with a view to the revival of their ancient church. Fidelia Fiske ranks as one of the pioneer heroes in work for women. About 1860 the work changed from the old Nestorian Church to establishing the separate Syrian Evangelical Church. In 1870 the Missions of the Nestorians, now known as the Mission to Persia, was transferred to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. Work was established throughout the mountains of Kurdistan in Turkey. In 1869, the English Church Missionary Society established work in Isfahan in South Persia; this work has extended and they divide Persia with the Presbyterians. Roman Catholic Missions go back to medieval times; their modern missions began a little after the Protestant Missions. In 1899 a Russian Orthodox Mission was established in Urumia and the majority of the Nestorians in that region became members of the Russian Orthodox Church. In 1883 the Presbyterian Mission was divided into the East and West Persia Missions.

West Persia includes the province of Azerbaijan and the Nestorian region of Turkey. The largest body of Protestant Christians in Persia is the Syriac Evangelical Church, mainly in the Urumia region, with a communicant membership of about 2,500 and a body of adherents numbering about 10,000. Of late years the work has developed largely among the Mohammedans. The services of the missionaries during the famine of 1880, during several cholera epidemics and during the disturbances in 1915, together with the steady Christian life and work of the missionaries, have given the Mission a strong hold on the people of all classes. In East Persia a widespread evangelistic work is carried on together with strong educational and medical work. The field includes the provinces of Irak, Khorasan, Gilan and Mazanderan.

TEHERAN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—American High School for Boys; Iran and Bethel School for Girls; one Church; one Group; American Hospital for Men and Women.

EVANGELISTIC.—In modern warfare many days have to be spent in the trenches, grimly holding a hard won position, enduring hardships, men and munitions ever ready, vigilant, tense, eager, though making little real progress. Meantime the enemy, weakened by his fruitless assaults, exhausted in resources, under never relaxing pressure on all fronts. is obliged to retire, but only does so fighting inch by inch. Similar strategy has to be followed in contending with the entrenched forces opposed to Christianity. The past year was one of "holding on," and keeping up the mission work to its average. While no marked advance, so far as the statistics go, was visible over last year, yet there was no retreat or retrograding.

Perhaps the best thermometer of interest is the attendance at Persian preaching services on Sabbath mornings. Last year the average attendance was 202; this year (in so far as recorded) it was 201. Last year there were five members added to the church; this year there was the same number. Of Armenians, one man and two women; and of Persians, i. e., Moslems, one man and one woman were received into the church, the latter two being baptized. There were 44 catechumens under regular instruction. Of the 25 women: Mrs. Schuler taught a class of nine young Armenian women; Mrs. Boyce, 13 young women, Jewish and Persian; and Navabeh Khanum, three Persian women. Of the 19 men: Messrs Jordan and Schuler instructed 18, of whom nine were converts from Islam and nine Jews and Armenians; while Baron Hagobian had one Armenian pupil.

Woman's Work.—No one could have been more active and useful, day in and day out, week-end and Sabbath, than Mrs. Schuler, who bears up with willing shoulders a great part of the church work, and is tirelessly occupied with classes, meetings, and social duties. The Armenian community looks up to her

The American Presbyterian Hospital in Meshed, E. Persia.— Group of patients. The waiting room has been used by a good many as a reading room where they come and sit quietly and read the Bible for hours at a time. Others come not to see the doctor, but simply to buy books.

as "guide, counsellor and friend" in both temporal and spiritual affairs.

Here are a few of the activities that received the benefit of Mrs. Schulers' care: three religious training classes; three daily classes in Iran Bethel; women's Bible class on Sabbath morning, and girls' class Sabbath afternoon; Senior C. E.; boys' weekly brotherhood; 15 days' touring; and an endless number of calls made and received. It would be hard to imagine our medical work getting along all these years without Dr. Smith's constant and careful hand on the helm. No detail escapes her watchful eye, and summer and winter make no difference in her energetic labors. Mrs. Boyce reports the charity work of the Persian relief committee as having called for a good deal of work and worry with its problems. The white needle-work industry has taken many hours more. Over 80 tomans in wages were paid for needlework, and four women were helped by this means. A hard, engrossing, successful year of work was put in by Miss Allen in charge of Iran Bethel. In the autumn of 1915 Miss Allen opened up a branch of Iran Bethel in the home and charge of Moluk Khanum, a recent graduate of fine Christian character. This school was maintained throughout the year with a fair attendance, being financed wholly outside of the Board's appropriation. An important part in the instruction of the Boys' School, and especially the care of the boarding department was borne as usual by Mrs. Jordan in her quiet, efficient way. She was mother to the Persian boys' brotherhood, and organist at most of the church services during the year. A full day was spent by Miss Gardner teaching in Iran Bethel, with Persian study sandwiched in at odd times. For the three months that the C. M. S. missionary refugees from Yezd were living in Teheran, they rendered a willing and valuable assistance in school, hospital, and city evangelistic work. Miss Brighty of the Yezd Girls' School helped in Iran Bethel. Miss Sterling made evangelistic calls, and several times talked to dispensary patients. Miss Moore spoke at a number of meetings, as did also Mrs. White. We learned to highly esteem these dear fellow-workers, and were tempted to regret their return to Yezd. Mrs. Bird (or Miss Sutherland, as we then called her) was the busy nurse at the Hospital, holding a warm place in the hearts of all, and completing her language study.

EDUCATIONAL.—The American High School.—The staff of the school has remained almost the same as the previous year. The greatest change in the faculty was the addition of the Associate Principal, Mr. Boyce, fresh from his years of special preparation in the University of Chicago. While a large part of this first year has been devoted to the study of Persian, yet his assistance in teaching, in administration, in counsel, and in working out details of organization, has lessened the burden of the Principal and has been of great value to the school. The school and the mission are to be congratulated upon the decision of Mr. Bird to remain permanently in the work.

A number unable to return were boarders, and the enrollment was a few less than the normal capacity of the two dormitories. Financially, the condition was better than for some years, as there was a good balance at the end of the year. This boarding department, in addition to being self-supporting, is the one institution in the mission that is doing for Persian students what the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church does for students in America. Fees are remitted in part in several worthy cases, and in one case a most promising young man who is preparing for Christian work, has been wholly supported for the last four years, and there is little prospect that he will ever be able to pay back the actual money expended in his behalf. Of course it is the policy of the school that the boarding department shall be able to aid and even support, if need be, a certain number of worthy boys. In addition to the regular work of the school, the influence of the Christian teachers and the Christian boys of the school is worthy of mention. They are a large part of the group of Christians and are able to exert a far reaching influence outside of the school room, as well as in it—not only during the nine months of the school but during the summer vacation also. Enrollment: Persians, 276; Armenians, 181; Jews, 35; others, seven; Boarding Department, 33.

Iran Bethel School.—A few facts make the past year the most significant in the history of the school. The records show the largest enrollment, the largest native teaching force, the largest graduating class, and the highest average attendance; and this largest responsibility was met with the smallest missionary force.

Miss Murray had been transferred to Hamadan by the last Annual Meeting. Mrs. Schuler took work almost equivalent to two classes daily, and Mrs. Hope of the Bible Society taught a Bible class. Miss Brighty, one of the English missionaries in Yezd, who had come as a refugee to Teheran and who was the head of the Girls' School in Yezd, relieved Miss Gardner of two classes for a period of three months, enabling her thus to do a little language work and to help in the oversight of the school. The enrollment, including four teachers, who were doing some advanced work, reached 354 as against 346, the largest previous enrollment. The Armenians somewhat outnumbered the Persians.

The largest class ever sent from a girls' school in Persia received their diplomas on May 12. The class consisted of six Persians, one Jewess, eight Armenians, and one German. The commencement exercises were somewhat remarkable in that six of the seven Persian girls delivered their essays on Friday morning before a mixed audience. Heavy curtains of ivy were hung from the ceiling and, back of one of them, entirely shielded by a Persian flag, the girls spoke. This is just a step forward until the time will come when Persian girls will be as free as their more fortunate Armenian sisters.

MEDICAL.—Dr. Hoffman reports:

Dr. J. W. Cook had been instructed by Annual Meeting to go to Khorassan for the year, on a tour of investigation, leaving the Teheran Hospital closed. Because of disturbed political conditions, however, this plan had been given up, and Dr. Esseltyn had proceeded to Meshed alone, while Dr. Cook and Miss Sutherland had opened the Teheran hospital, and the work was well under way when we arrived. By this time the political atmosphere had cleared considerably, and it seemed quite feasible for Dr. Cook to start for Khorassan. Accordingly, Dr. and Mrs. Cook, with Mr. Donaldson, left Teheran, taking with them one hospital mirza and one hospital servant, and I was left in charge of the Teheran hospital. Dr. Mary J. Smith had arrived in Teheran, from her furlough in America, and had gradually taken up her usual work in the hospital and dispensary some two weeks later; upon the departure of Dr. Cook, she also took charge of the hospital accounts and servants, and managed them through the remainder of the year. Miss Myra Sutherland was already in charge of the nursing and operating room; she left the hospital April 1st, because of her approaching marriage to Mr. F. L. Bird, of the Boys' School. Miss Faye Fisher came out from America with Rev. S. G. Wilson of Tabriz, arrived in Teheran early in January; and gradually took up active work in the hospital some six weeks later. After Miss Sutherland's departure, she moved into the nurses' quarters, and assumed full responsibility for the general care of the women patients, operating room supplies and sterilizing, etc. for the remaining two months of the year. Rev. C. A. Douglas had charge of the religious services in the hospital, and of the work in the men's wards. Mrs. Douglas regularly attended the women's dispensary, and did personal work there, as well as in the women's wards; Dr. Smith and Miss Sutherland also did personal work and conducted daily worship in the women's hospital.

KAZVIN STATION (SUB-STATION OF TEHERAN)

Dr. E. T. Lawrence reports:

Surely the reaping time in Persia is not far off. With so many attentive listeners, and readers of the Word, and so much earnest praying, certainly many who are now groping in the darkness will soon find their way into the glorious light. With an open dispensary every day to attract the people, we have had many opportunities for conversation and discussion with our patients and have been highly gratified to find so many who really seemed interested in the great message. The sale of Scripture in Persian during the last year has been unprecedented; we sold more than ever before. Sowing the seed of truth is a glorious work notwithstanding that many fall on hard and stony places and are lost. However, it is a sweet assurance that some will fall in fruitful soil and is enough to inspire us to faithful service.

HAMADAN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—American Boys' School; Faith-Hubbard School for Girls; Boys' School at Dauletabad; Hospital for Men; Whipple Memorial Hospital for Women; three Churches; three Groups; three Day Schools.

Hamadan has been within the Turkish military lines for a large part of the year; this has meant the stoppage of most mail communications and the failure of the annual station reports to reach the Board. We have learned that the missionaries have carried forward the work in the various departments and have found unusual opportunities for useful and appreciated service.

The following are extracts from two letters reporting the work in Hamadan during the first half of 1916:—

On January 16, the first post came, and since then we have not been without news any great length of time. True it is that the letters dated back to September, but they were new to us and welcome. It was especially interesting when the post (which the insurgents had detained at Dauletabad) reached us. Then all the Christmas and New Year messages were enjoyed, for, though long past the day, we knew that the prayers and blessings had been ours just the same. As far as we know, none of the Hamadan mail was injured. The Dauletabad post was opened and burned there by the insurgents.

The real station work has met some drawbacks this quarter. The Moslem and Jewish women scarcely dared to leave their houses for anything. In fact an order was issued in December forbidding women to go on the streets. It is evident what the result was upon the work for women. At St. Stephen's the attendance had ranged from about 100 to 147 at the morning service. The Y. M. and Y. W. Christian Associations have held their regular meetings. The Friday meeting at Faith Hubbard School has not been as well attended as before, though there is always a helpful spirit. Nearly every day since the Persian New Year vacation, new pupils have been enrolling in the boys' school. The opportunity for medical work in Senna was excellent and Dr. Funk was able to meet all the chiefs of the tribes in that region. They showed profound respect for, and confidence in him. They are not particularly generous with their money when it comes to settling bills, but then, they are not the only people who have to be educated to pay their debts or to give money for a good cause. There were no further battles fought in Senna, for when the news of the coming of the Russians reached the city, the other party fled.

Dauletabad had some interesting experiences during the three months they were in the war zone, such as an engagement between the two forces when one surprised the other and they fought it out for nearly an hour. Again our workers were ordered to take down the American flag. Mr. Zoeckler went to headquarters to see why such a demand should be made of neutrals and found the usual excuse was given—"There had been a misunderstanding." Two American doctors, two nurses, and one English nurse under the Red Cross organization are in charge of the surgical work at present.

Even as Mr. and Mrs. Stead remained in Kermanshah while sending Miss Cowden up to Hamadan, so Mr. and Mrs. Zoeckler remained to be what help they could to their Persian friends in Dauletabad and to guard the new Mission property there, into which they have recently moved.

Peniel has started a new meeting for seekers after the truth among the Jews which seems to be developing interest, and Miss Murray has been having encouraging results from her work among the Armenian young men.

Her Sunday School class has an enrollment of 20, and many of them come to her also on Saturday evenings for a course of lessons on prayer, while some come on Tuesday afternoons as well for lessons in drawing. From among these young men three have come out and joined St. Stephen's church at a communion, at which six new members were received and seven children baptized. Three of the six were Faith Hubbard School girls and one was one of our school boys. In addition to this Armenian boy who has joined the church, two other boys, one a Moslem and one a Jewish Bahai, have given themselves to Christ. We held an Easter Service this year at Mr. Hawkes' house for the English-speaking foreigners, and about 14 were present, including the American doctors and nurses working in our hospital at the time under the Russian Red Cross. Faith Hubbard School held its commencement exercises, once for the Moslem ladies and the second time for everybody else. The governor was present on the latter occasion as he was also at the commencement of the Boys' School. The graduates from the girls' school were three lovely Armenian girls, who had stayed to do post-graduate work before taking their diplomas. Those from the boys' school were three Persian khans and one saidid. The latter, having taken simply the English course, had been free several hours a day to teach for us, and next year he remains as a full time teacher. The audiences at all three commencements were excellent and the exercises most satisfactory, showing, as they should, improvement over previous efforts. Those of the boys' school had a very pleasant surprise in an interruption made by the governor, who sent up word to Mr. Allen that he would like to give the school 50 tomans.

RESHT STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Two Day Schools, one for girls and one for boys; one Group.

EVANGELISTIC.—Conference of Communicants.—When it became evident that it was too severe a task for one man to do all the preaching, even with the occasional help of a brother missionary when he and his helper had full responsibilities of other busy departments also, it was decided to ask the members of the Communion to share the labor and the responsibility of the devotional service with us. The native members voluntarily assumed one-fourth of the Sunday services as their share of the burden, and the majority of the prayer meetings as their portion; later on, of their own accord, they took upon themselves half or more of the preaching services.

Besides Baron Hakob, the other native members of the committee chosen were Baron Harootiun, colporter of the British and Foreign Bible Society, Mirza Taghi Khan and Seyyid Hosein. The latter two are Moslem converts and also teachers in the school. The Sunday School has been superintended by Mrs. Murray. In this department, the lack of proximity to the Girls' School, which has remained in the old quarters, has been felt; but there are indications that this handicap can, to a large degree, be overcome. As far as the present members of Resht Station are aware, the banner attendance 84 (boys, 45, and girls, 39) is also the banner attendance in the history of the Sunday School in Resht.

Work for Women.—Last year the Y. W. C. A. was reported as a most active factor in work for women. This year, because of the absence of one of the most enthusiastic members, pressure of other work, and illness of most of the members at one time or another, it was impossible for the Society to equal its past record.

Two meetings were held with an average attendance of 40 or more each. We had hoped to continue then with a meeting each month, but cholera prevented us. As usual, the Society conducted weekly Friday morning prayer meetings in school in which the usual interest was manifested. The work of Miss Braine-Hartnell deserves special mention. Besides helping in the Girls' School, where her chief work lay, she was active in the Sunday School, taking a class for women and calling on several to attend. She also worked among the women in the dispensary Saturday mornings and in the spring started an afternoon "at home" for Persian women.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys' School.—The threat of a cholera epidemic and the consequent order of the Kar Gozar that all schools should be closed, cut off five weeks in the spring. Although the cholera subsided and the schools were allowed to remain open from eight in the morning till noon, yet the decided uncertainty as to whether the cholera would really cease or blaze out again made it wiser to let the school remain closed.

For various reasons, it seemed best not to try to graduate a class this year. Of last year's graduates, two are assisting Dr. Frame in his dispensary, one is with the American Drilling Co. in Baku, and the fourth has been attending a school in Teheran. The assembling of the rebels, generally known as the Jungle Brothers, variously reported at 400 to 4,000, daily supposed to fall upon the city and expel the Russians, together with other supposedly impending disasters, kept the people of the city in an unrest that held the attendance low till after the rabble of the jungle were dispersed about February 1. The great increase did not begin till after the Persian New Year Day in March. Compared with the statistics of last year, we note the following: There were 36 Moslems, 11 Jews, four Armenians, one Zoroastrian, and one Greek.

MEDICAL.—Dr. Frame reports:

The work in Lahijan had been abandoned. For a year after my departure it was carried on fairly successfully, but my assistant there suffered a nervous breakdown which necessitated his return to his native climate. This proved not without its advantages, for a large supply of drugs ordered for Lahijan just as the war broke out was thus available for my work here this past winter. In Resht our effort this year has been, in reopening the work, to profit by the failures of the past. The number of physicians in Resht is increasing, some of the men being of fair ability. It is not our policy or desire merely to practice medicine among these doctors, nor to offer help to the poor which they cannot give, but to offer the whole community professional services which others do not give. With this in view, therefore, we have tried this past year to introduce two new features, viz., the testing of eyes for glasses and better ophthalmic work generally, and better laboratory methods of diagnosis.

KERMANSHAH STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One Day School; two Groups.

Kermanshah, for even more of the year than Hamadan, has been within the Turkish military lines; with the cutting of mail communications, the station reports have failed to reach the Board. Word has come through, telling of the injured ankle of Mr. Stead which has curtailed his activity, and of the very useful service of all three members of the Station. The following is an extract from Mrs. Stead's interesting report-letter of April, 1916—the latest to reach the Board:

The Russians retook Kangavar. For about a month the two armies looked at each other across the little pass about ten miles this side of Kangavar. The Germans had hired all the chiefs of tribes and owners of horsemen at the biggest wages that had ever troubled their imaginations besides giving to every individual who could get a horse and gun from 25 to 30 tomans a month, and to men who would provide a gun and go on foot 15 or more tomans, so that practically all the Koords and Loors in the region were in arms. As they were in the affair simply and solely for the money, they were most inconstant in their service. When asked why they were taking wages from the Germans, they said: "If God rains money from Heaven upon us, shall we not eat it?" We have received many kindnesses from all who have come and gone here, and because all have been disposed to be kind to us, we have been able to render some assistance to our friends of both sides. The Germans kept a guard at the houses of both the British Consulate and the Bank all the 11 months they were here. Otherwise the property would have been robbed and the buildings spoiled by city thieves. About a month or six weeks before they left they occupied some of the buildings, and Mr. Stead wrote again, asking that household goods found there be either sent to us or guarded against being destroyed by servants, and that in the event of their leaving he be notified so that he could take over and lock up against thieving that would be done between the time of their leaving and the arrival of the owners. This they also willingly did. A wounded Russian prisoner was handed over to us, with money for his care, until we should be able to give him back to his people. The Russians have done us a great kindness, though not in the line of property. A hundred tomans was given to the medical work by the General for a few days' care of some of the soldiers until their own hospital arrangements could be gotten in order. For these things and a constant exhibition of friendliness in many ways, we feel that we have great reason to be thankful. We have been put to some considerable inconvenience and our work has been interfered with, not intentionally, but by war conditions, but we have not been made to feel uncomfortable about it. The Week of Prayer was observed by meetings in the mornings in the house of one of our evangelists in the Jewish Quarter attended by from 24 to 45 persons, and in the evening at the dispensary chapel attended by 15 to 25. The regular Sunday services at Faizabad have been unusually large, while those at the dispensary have been smaller than usual, except while the place was full of refugees. Our daily evening prayers in the study have had not less than 18 in attendance all winter, and for several weeks 28 or 30. While our refugees were here they all came in and we had to use two rooms. No touring has been done by the missionaries, as the city was in such condition that they couldn't leave and the villages so that little could have been done, but the native evangelists have been out as usual. They have been leaving rather a bad time. During the time of great trial just after the prisoners were sent off to Bagdad, four meetings for prayer were held in the home and most of the Catholics in the city attended. Since then the Catholic attendance at our regular services has been greatly increased, nearly every family being represented every Sunday. When the Russians were arriving, our house filled with refugees. Most of these were Jews and Chaldeans, Turkish subjects resident here. We closed the school, piled the desks in one end and gave up the school-room and all the dispensary rooms to this purpose.

The Nizam es Saltana left with Dr. Petros 500 tomans for the care of the patients who had to be left in the Turkish hospital. As he couldn't go there himself while in refuge, I took over the work, expecting to hand it back to him as soon as we could get him released, but typhus kept him a prisoner, and the work remained with me. The Germans also handed over to Dr. Stead 40 Turkish pounds for the care of the sick they left behind. There were two hospitals, one known as the German hospital and the other as the Gendarme hospital.

MESHED STATION

Dr. Esselstyn reports:

In October and November I spent 15 days among the villages around Meshed, visiting 15 of them. From November 15th to December 10th, inclusive, I made a tour to Sabzevar, meeting Dr. and Mrs. Cook and Mr. Donaldson, and returning with them to Meshed. During the 26 days we had many interesting and splendid opportunities for service. On returning from Sabzevar in December, it was too late in the season to undertake the long tour to Seistan because of high water in the Hamun, and also political conditions down the frontier would have prevented us even if high water had not. Touring in Khorasan was also out of the question because of disturbed conditions. Khorasan and Seistan are larger than all the rest of the East Persia Mission (probably 150,000 square miles in Khorasan and Seistan, i. e., the size of the six New England States plus New York and Pennsylvania). We rented a house for medical work and opened a small ten-bed hospital. It consists of three rooms downstairs, a dispensary, waiting room, and children's ward; and three rooms upstairs, a surgery, men's ward, and women's ward. By a curtain across the middle of the waiting room, it was divided so that the men had one side and the women the other. We put benches and carpets into this room and a glass-front show case for Scriptures. On the south side of this waiting room is a large veranda. The Sunday services were held in this waiting room, and the Scripture selling and daily reading and preaching were carried on here during the week. The work done has been in every sense medical-evangelistic or evangelistic-medical work, and so closely together have the two been carried on that neither was first or second, but the two were one. We have had no holidays in the dispensary since it was opened. Each day's work was begun with prayer in the dispensary at which the missionaries and native assistants were present, and prayer was offered with each case on the operating table just before the operation. Immediately after morning prayers, Dr. Cook began treating patients, Mrs. Cook took charge of the Bible selling, Scripture selling and preaching among the women, and Mr. Donaldson and I took turns working among the men, and thus all the patients and the friends who came with them heard the Gospel, and some of them bought Scriptures. We wish to make special mention of the fact that this work for women, begun and carried on by Mrs. Cook, who is the first lady missionary to Khorasan, is the first work for women ever undertaken in this province by any missionary lady. We have sold 4,165 copies of Scripture in the hospital waiting room, in 12 languages.

On Sundays at 9:30 a. m. we held the Persian preaching service in the waiting room. The largest number present was 45 (32 men and 13 women), and the average attendance was 26. We also put copies of Scriptures in several languages into the wards and they were freely read by the patients.

The largest number of patients treated in a single day was 255, and in a single week was 1,166, with 36 operations, and in a single month was 5,061 with 122 operations. And all this was done by Dr. Cook with only one native assistant. The receipts from patients during this time amounted to krans 12,163.40, which was enough to furnish the hospital for immediate use and pay all running expenses.

URUMIA STATION

EVANGELISTIC.—

The new year began with fear and trembling, no one knowing when it would be necessary to pack and take the road again in flight from the Turks. Three times during the winter women sat up at night baking bread for an early start in the morning. A few church buildings were re-roofed, some others were refitted with doors and windows, and where that was not possible, the congregations were gathered where they could be gotten together—anywhere in the village. Frequently separate meetings had to be held for the men, women and children, as no one place would accommodate all.

In the whole of the Barandoos River district we had but one place of worship left out of nine and one worker left out of six. This district was the most completely destroyed. During the winter two workers have been employed here. Kasha David of Ardishai has served the whole river, baptizing, marrying, burying, giving the sacrament and preaching.

Rabi Silem Khan, graduated last year from the college, was sent to the large village of Dizetika in charge of the village school. He soon developed himself into a preacher as well as teacher and general caretaker.

On the Nazlu River the churches have all been supplied except the parish of Nazi-Oousie, which was without a preacher till the spring when Rabi Stapon was appointed there.

The City River has been well served in all its churches. All except Guelpaschen have had their pastors, and that church has been served by one of its elders who has done quite satisfactory work. The church at Geogtapa, burned by the Kurds, was re-roofed early in the fall. Windows and doors were furnished for the church at Wazerabad and small repairs made to other churches, while the manses at Geogtapa, Alwatch, Shereabad were repaired and made habitable for pastors. In many of the churches evangelistic services were held with excellent results. In Geogtapa 100 new members were added, in Sipurghan 20 and in other villages smaller numbers were added.

In all the villages congregational lines have been broken down, and persons of all denominations have worshipped together. Our pastors frequently held services in Russian Orthodox churches, and orthodox congregations gathered to hear the Protestant pastors. Evangelistic pastors have been called upon to baptize their children, to marry their young people, and to bury their dead. In most places until now communion has been given to all church members without distinction of denomination, but with great emphasis being laid upon the one necessity of personal examination.

No attempt at reorganization has been made, nor can we yet attempt such work. The need for this is great, and it is necessary that something along this line be done in the near future, but just when to begin and along what lines is a question which will require the combined thought and effort of the whole mission.

EDUCATIONAL.—*American School.—At the time for the opening of the school year there was still a good deal of uncertainty as to whether a school could be continued even if it were opened. Of the other two foreign schools in the city one was not opened at all and the other was opened only irregularly; but we, hoping for brighter prospects, went about cleaning up the filth left by the refugees in the winter and spring and at an expense of about 100 tomans put the building in good condition for the reopening. In the City Department, the only department that was open, this year's enrollment of 180 has been exceeded only once, viz., in 1912 to 1913.

There has been no important departure from the policy of the last two years. The temporary closing of the boarding department at the Kalla by the Mission was only to meet the unusual conditions of the past year resulting from the war. The boarding department for wealthy Moslems, closed two years ago, was not reopened this year.

The course of study was substantially the same as that laid down by the school's Executive Council three years ago. The post-graduate course, however, and the theological course were omitted. The teaching force was correspondingly reduced to one missionary (who taught only one subject) and eight other teachers, two Moslems and six Christians. All these but one were men who have been members of the faculty for years—the exception being in the Russian department. Rabi Pius had been employed to teach Russian at the beginning of the year, but after a few months he left the school without notice and on returning a few weeks later he found his position filled by another, Rabi Polus. 11 boys received their diplomas and ten boys graduated from the Primary Department. All but one of the members of the graduating class are members of the Protestant Church, and of these, four have expressed their desire to prepare themselves for the Gospel ministry. (It is noteworthy that all four of these are boys from the mountains.) Under the direction of Mrs. Cochran these boys have throughout the year held regular religious services for the patients in the hospital, and have in other ways shown a helpful spirit, and it is to be hoped that the way will be open for them to prepare themselves for the ministry.

Fiske Seminary.—Syrian Department.—The average attendance for the year was almost 55 and the percentage of attendance .98 plus. During the year 14 girls dropped out.

On account of the unsettled conditions here, two members of the graduating class left in December to go to Russia, one to Moscow and one to Tiflis. This left only five to graduate. Three new teachers had to be secured. The services of Rabi Ister, our experienced and capable teacher, were, therefore, more than ever appreciated. Her sweet Christian life, refined by the losses and sufferings of the previous year, was a strong influence in the school. On January 24 we began the special week of prayer in the Seminary. Every morning earnest appeals were made at the devotional services and again in the afternoon meeting in our parlor when Kasha Yaku of the American school spoke. All the teachers met once or twice a day for prayer. On the last day, opportunity was given for all who took a new stand or renewed their consecration. All but one girl expressed herself in some way, in prayer, by reading Bible reference or by profession of purpose to lead a new life.

The course of study followed this year was practically the same as it has been. For a number of weeks the last period of Thursday afternoons was devoted to a spelling match in which the whole school took part, to practice in hymn singing, or some other general exercise. Friday afternoons were entirely given up to sewing.

February 29th, after taking dinner at the Seminary household where all the missionaries were invited to meet him, Mar Shimon and the Metropolitan were escorted to the large Assembly room of the school where the teachers and girls were all gathered to receive their Patriarch.

We are planning for a boarding department this fall, and trust that the same Hand that made it possible for the school to continue last year may prevent any catastrophe that would result in its closing this year.

The Persian Department of Fiske Seminary was opened November 22 by Miss Lamme during my absence in Salmas and turned over to me after my return the middle of January. The opening of school was delayed, first by repairs necessitated by the occupation of the building by refugees and second by the Muslin month of Moharrem, or mourning, which comes this year just about the time for beginning school.

We have not had a large school, an average attendance for the seven and a half months of 20, owing to the breaking up of the school last year, and the uncertain political conditions. There were 25 new girls during the year, but some of these dropped out. There were four teachers employed, two for regular work all day, and a sewing teacher and a Persian mirza each for half a day. The religious teaching went along much more easily than two years ago. Though there were still those who "didn't want to be done good to," there was no open rebellion.

There were 160 Muslin women present at Commencement besides a few invited Syrians. There was a very marked contrast between this day and the same day eight or ten years ago, in outward appearance. The governor's wife, as first lady of the city, sat up front with uncovered head and European dress, and several others followed her example. Only one school girl wore the Chudra and Muslin Costume.

The Jewish Department was open two and a half months because of uncertain conditions. There was an average attendance of 11.

The closing day brought us the largest number of Jews we have ever had, about 150. Through most of the exercises, the crying of the babies and the chattering of the women were not very soothing to civilized nerves, but the audience were not troubled about such things, and after being served with iced sherbet at the close of the services, went away happy. Most of the children are very poor, dirty, underfed, half-clad, undisciplined, but affectionate and lovable, and their mothers are very much like them, except larger.

Village Schools.—During the year there were 41 schools under the management of the Educational Board. The enrollment in these schools was 1468 pupils—914 of them being boys, and 550 girls.

This year we had one school more than last year, and the number of pupils increased by 227. The increase in the number of schools and in the number of pupils is due to the fact that we had eight schools for the mountaineers, which involved 177 pupils, which we did not have in previous years, also, the other sects having no schools in the plain, a considerable number of pupils poured into our schools.

There is no doubt that we have lost a great many pupils of our own church, owing to the fact that many have died and many more have gone to Russia or moved away; the Syrian nation has been decreasing gradually on account of exodus to America and Europe.

MEDICAL.—Dr. Packard reports: The plight of the Hospital a year ago was a sad one. The assistant physician and druggist had gone with their people. All of the medical students had fled. The cook, washer-woman and cleaners, as well as all of the caretakers, both men and women, save for one man and one woman, were gone, as were also household servants. To add to the difficulty there was not a single physician left in the city. All had fled. Mrs. Packard and Miss Burgess were morning inspectors of the hospital, while I was physician, druggist and general utility man, and had to go to the city every day to look after the sick there and frequently out to the Jewish Hill where the Russian Counsel was ill and where the small Russian force were stationed.

The government took energetic steps to have the Christians return, and their efforts were encouraged and strengthened by the military, and slowly this travel-stained, weary, broken, foot-sore, poverty-stricken, twice-looted nation returned home, in many cases to ruins. It is not strange, therefore, that cholera broke out among these unfortunates, and that many were buried by the way before they got back. The Hospital, which had not been closed during the summer, began a period of brisker activity in the fall and the medical class took up its studies, which had been interrupted by the disturbances in the country.

The great event of the medical year in Urumia was the coming of Dr. and Mrs. Ellis. Dr. Ellis shared in the teaching of the medical students until the completion of their course three months after his arrival. Five men were given their diplomas, but the times were too unsettled to permit of a public occasion. These men are all busy in the practice of medicine, one in the Batanduz River, one in the Nazloo River and one in Khoy, while two are in the Red Cross service, one in Geog-tapa and one in Hayderabad. Miss Burgess, having completed her first year language examinations, is now ready to take up the matter of training nurses for the hospital.

Refugees Returned to Urumia—The women and small boy are Christians who had been carried off by the Kurds and after nearly two years of forced captivity have at last been returned. The two Kurds are the men who brought them back. Thousands of others never came back.

The resignation of Mr. Labaree and his departure for America thrust the Legal and Relief distribution work upon me and Dr. Ellis took over the full responsibility of the Hospital and Dispensary work. Dr. Muller's return from Tabriz brought another worker into this department, and medical work for women has been opened in the city. Dr. Muller also has charge of the women's clinic in connection with the regular work of the dispensary at the hospital.

The Mission Press.—The "Rays of Light" have been regularly issued each month. Being the only Syriac paper published for the greater part of the year, it has been in great demand. The articles relating the "Destruction of Urumia" have been very acceptable to all the nation as all feel that they have had a part of the sufferings.

MOUNTAIN FIELD

Dr. McDowell reports:

It is now two years since we have had definite word from our churches on the far side of the field. Our helpers, who were dependent for their living on the salaries they received from us, were in great straits. The money orders they had received from us had become so much worthless paper and it was impossible to get specie to them. How some of them have subsisted is still a mystery. The situation of the Nestorian Christians was rendered still more trying and perplexing by false reports spread among them; by demands for military service; by savage threats and specious promises. Their enemies, apprised of their defection to Russia, were rendered more savage in their hatred and more determined to wipe them out; orders were at once issued for the extermination of the Nestorian Christians, and, as we have learned recently, these orders were carried out in the region of Jezireh and Sert with ruthless cruelty. The people made a brave resistance, but were gradually forced out of their valleys and into the more inaccessible mountain tops, where they were held in a state of siege. A well planned and simultaneous attack from three sides sent the Christians flying down two narrow valleys, a great horde of Kurds and Turks at their heels, killing or taking captives all who fell in their way. That the bulk of the people escaped seemed to them miraculous, but was explained by the fact that the various tribes of Kurds engaged were suspicious of each other in the matter of the plunder. The great unorganized multitude of men, women and children, some 40,000 in all, marched through hostile territory, and the third day came out near Bashkala, where they found an encampment of Russian troops. The sight of a Christian army, I have been told, almost drove them frantic with joy.

These 40,000 Nestorian Christians crossed the Turkish border into the beautiful plain of Salmas, where they were about as welcome as were the children of Israel to Balak when they pitched their pilgrim tents on the plains of Moab. Since then they have been living as refugees, dependent upon charity for their daily bread. Little by little, perhaps half of these people made their way down to Urumia, where they have been cared for along with the other war-stricken people. In Salmas some 20 villages were reluctantly opened to them for habitation, otherwise they would have perished from cold. Three or four thousand were in the deserted villages of Albak and Bashkala.

What of those who lived on the western side of the field? We are thankful to report that so far as we have been able to learn, the Christians have not been massacred in Supna Elkosh and about Mosul, though they have suffered much in other ways. But it is with a sad heart that we come to speak of our people in the region of Jezireh and Sert. The most heartrending news comes from these districts. There have been massacres of the whole villages and among those who have fallen victim to the hatred of the Turk have been many, nearly all, of our helpers. A few survivors have reached us from those regions, and their testimony is such that it cannot be doubted. After the first massacre there were many Kurds, who from various motives were inclined to spare the survivors, but the Turkish government would not permit it. New and strict orders were issued for the extermination of the Christians, and severe punishment was threatened upon all Kurds who should harbor them or aid them to escape. This brought about a second massacre. But even in spite of such orders, it is to be recorded with thankfulness, and to be remembered to the credit of the Kurds, that there were Kurdish chiefs who refused to obey the orders and gave shelter to Christians or aided them to escape. Undoubtedly in days to come we shall learn of kind deeds wrought by Moslems for Christians.

It is fitting that we record the names of those of our helpers who have lost their lives in this catastrophe to the nation. 1. Rabi Zaya of Baz.: who while rendering services for the besieged, fell into a crevasse of a glacier and was killed. 2. Kasha Daniel, brother of Rabi Zaya; our most gifted and most useful helper in all the mountain field. He was an effective preacher; was the head of our mountain high school; had just completed a dictionary of the Kurdish language and was about to begin the translation of the New Testament into the Kurdish; he was the chief counselor of the whole tribe. 3. Kasha Khayu of Jelu: Killed by Kurds in a most brutal fashion. 4. Kasha Elea. 5. Kasha Sargis. 6. Kasha Mattai. 7. Muallim Musa and his sixteen-year-old son, Philip. 8. Rabi Khatoon, Bible Reader among the women of Jezireh. Those missing are Berklio of Dihi, Rabi Ishak of Mar Yokhanan, Rabi Yokhanan of Attil, Hanna Elea of Monsoria, and the wives and children of all our helpers in the region of Bohtan and Attil.

TABRIZ STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Memorial Training School for Boys; Tabriz Girls' School; two Churches, and three groups; two Day Schools; Colton Memorial Hospital for Men; Whipple Memorial Hospital for Women.

The death of the Rev. Dr. Samuel Graham Wilson has bereaved the hearts of hundreds of friends, the lives of multitudes to whom he ministered, and the work of the West Persia Mission. A railroad accident while on furlough detained him in America until the fall of 1915 when he responded to the call to supervise Armenian Relief operations in the Caucasus. This service he was rendering with signal and fully appreciated ability and devotion when on July 2, 1916, ill with typhoid fever, he was called from the ranks for higher service with his King.

EVANGELISTIC.—There have been far more opportunities than workers to take advantage of them, and yet some advance has been made.

While the missionary force has been the smallest in years, the native evangelistic force has been larger. The advent of an Armenian pastor for the church in November set Kasha Moorhatch free for city Moslem evangelization. Besides this there were Rabi Yephrem, who had been loaned from Urumia, and B. Garaped, who has been forced for health and other reasons to spend the year here. In April, Esther Lazar became a Bible woman. These four have been engaged almost exclusively in work for Moslems. The most serious need of the schools from an evangelistic standpoint is for an adequate teaching force so that the Christian teachers may have some free time to improve the great evangelistic opportunity afforded by the students and their homes.

The Church Work has been reported elsewhere in full. The noteworthy features are the securing of an Armenian pastor after an interregnum of ten years, the large attendance at the Turkish services conducted by Kasha Moorhatch, including many regular Mohammedan attendants, and the baptism of a Moslem convert. Also the setting up of a new Christian home, the bride and groom both being converts from Islam.

Two regular week-day meetings for Moslems have been held this year: one Friday mornings at the bazaar center, where the attendance has been irregular and consisted largely of strangers; the other at the house of the principal of the Memorial School. This latter has been well attended and has given an opportunity for very free discussions and for Christian instruction. The most hopeful feature has been the regular attendance of a number of men, one or two of whom seem sincere inquirers.

The work in the outlying regions has had several marked features this year (a) It has been intensive rather than extensive. The touring has been concentrated on a few centers, principally Salmas and Maragha and some places lying between them and Tabriz. This has been due partly to the condition of the country, which has made distant tours or those in certain directions unwise; partly to the exigencies of relief work which demanded Mr. Pittman's presence in Salmas, and partly to the belief that longer stays in a few places are more valuable than flying trips through many. The touring has been done chiefly by missionaries rather than by natives. Five missionaries made 11 tours, visiting 49 places and occupying 608 days, while four native evangelists, making tours to 35 places, spent but 64 days, or only one-tenth of the time missionaries were out. Four ladies, Misses Holliday, Grove and Shaw and Mrs. Pittman, spent 400 days in touring, while only one missionary man was able to get off, Mr. Pittman, though he spent 208 days from Tabriz. The loss of Mr. Labaree was heavily felt. In Salmas the Pittmans, living in the Mohammedan city of Diliman, where a few years ago no Christians were allowed to reside, found the most cordial welcome among all classes and opportunities for calls and religious conversations limited only by their strength and the length of the days. They report that the relief work brought them into close touch with many people never before reached and was of real evangelistic value in opening new avenues of approach. They also emphasize the need of opening Christian schools in those centers of the outfield.

Work for Women.—The work suffered a great loss in the departure of Mrs. Labaree for America on account of ill health. The weekly prayer meeting for Moslem women of which she had charge has been kept up in her home (although for sometime she had been unable to attend it) led by our Bible woman, Degeen Tocuhee.

Miss Holliday spent five and one-half months in the villages, where she reports good work among men and women, and while in the city her time is spent making and receiving calls, holding weekly prayer meetings for both Armenian and Moslems, and in every way her constant aim is to lead men and women to Christ. Miss Grove, since married to the Rev. F. N. Jessup, was added to the force of evangelistic workers for women when she resigned from school work a year ago to give all her time to evangelistic work, principally in the homes of the school girls, where she always finds a warm welcome and among the girls in the school. Her daily Bible lessons for girls in the school, her private talks with them in her office, her visits in the homes, her untiring efforts to bring the gospel to this special class of Moslems, we know has borne fruit and will bear more fruit in the years to come. She also made a tour of five weeks in Khoi. Miss Beaber, while busy teaching and superintending the Girls' School, also holds daily Bible classes for the girls, the study of the Bible being placed first in the curriculum of our schools. Miss Shaw spent about a month in Ilkechee last spring and reports good work. She also taught a Sunday School class of girls in English, played the organ for the Sunday School part of the year and added her bit to the evangelistic work while studying the language. Mrs. Pittman spent five months and 18 days in the villages where she reports good work, and when in the city made and received calls.

Memorial School.—117 students registered, many of them being newcomers. This was a considerably larger number than the previous year and the prospect seemed bright for the new term. But cholera was already in the city and increasing rapidly in our quarter of Tabriz, so after the second day it seemed advisable to postpone the opening of school and to give word of conditions here to the parents of our boarders, a number of whom had already arrived. It was not until a month later that the epidemic was over and it was safe to commence lessons. The average attendance, 198.3, and the number attending at the close of the year, 198, were both larger than last year when the nominal enrollment had been greater.

For the first time we have had four classes in the High School. The disturbed condition of the country for many years now has prevented many students from finishing their course, and as a consequence some classes have dropped out altogether, so it has happened that though the first students to graduate from the twelfth class (i. e., from a four years' High School course) received their diplomas in 1912, this year is the first when all four classes have been in attendance. Mr. Gifford again very kindly offered to assist and conducted most of the Bible and English lessons in the High School most efficiently. We could not have gotten on without his aid and are most grateful for the time and strength he gave and the interest he shows in the welfare of the school.

No report of the school year would be complete without reference to the return of Dr. Samuel G. Wilson and his death, which has caused such widespread grief. When we received word in December that Dr. Wilson was returning, there was eager anticipation on the part of all in the school. Preparations were made by teachers and pupils alike to welcome him on his arrival—songs and speeches in Armenian, Persian and Turkish were composed and learned. When his coming was delayed there was great disappointment, and when at last on May tenth he arrived in Tabriz, practically the entire school from the oldest teachers to the smallest kindergarten boy, was at the station to greet him. In all the speeches and references to Dr. Wilson, then and later, it has been noticed how Mrs. Wilson is loved and remembered equally with her husband and how lasting is her influence among the former school boys, who speak of her as their "mother." The joy in Dr. Wilson's return was augmented by the hope that it meant Mrs. Wilson, too, would return where she is sorely missed, especially by the poor, who remember her sympathy and frequent visits. The Memorial School will ever be identified with the name of Dr. Wilson.

The Girls' School has just finished a remarkable year. It opened as usual, but during the week cholera developed so rapidly in the city that it was thought best to close the school again. We had also an unusual number of applications from Russian girls and a number of Armenian and Persian girls who had applied for Russian lessons so we decided to test their willingness to pay extra and engaged a Russian teacher, enrolling nine Russian girls.

Many of the Syrian and Russian girls knew no other language than their own. There was also a much larger number of Armenian girls than usual. Miss Grove kindly came to the help of the school in teaching two Bible classes and one in Persian Grammar, looked after the housekeeping, besides doing the very important work of visiting in the homes of the pupils.

There was an unusual amount of sickness, and we regret to record four deaths. Despite this the regular work was finished in a very satisfactory manner. We had the largest enrollment in the history of the school, the highest number of classes, collected the largest amount of tuition and expended the largest amount of money. Fifteen years ago the enrollment was 77 and the receipts were 100 T., less than one-tenth of the expenditure. This year with an enrollment of 229 the receipts were 1009 T., which amount was equal to 29.7% of the expenditure, or between one-third and one-fourth. The graduating class was small, only three girls, but they have done very well. Two of them applied for church membership. The closing exercises of both Persian and Armenian departments were given to large appreciative audiences.

MEDICAL.—Dr. Vanneman reports:

The medical work in my charge the last year has been mornings in the dispensary and afternoons for medical visits. I have also had a few cases in the hospital. But as the hospital is not yet fully equipped with beds, most of the cases there have been surgical under the care of Dr. Lamme and Dr. Fleming. My dispensary is open about three hours every morning. The average attendance of patients is about 45, but the total attendance of people, including friends of the patients and their servants, is about twice that. The dispensary waiting room is, therefore, a good center to reach the people, and for this purpose Baron Garopet has spent his mornings in the waiting room talking to and reading with those present. All kinds of disease and all classes of patients are found in the waiting room. Many are very sick people, brought in carriages or on donkeys, or on the backs of their friends' or relatives. A large number are little children and babies, who suffer greatly. The receipts of my department have been, for many years, more than self-supporting. The surplus receipts go toward the running expenses of the hospital. Number of patients, 13,195; number of medical visits, 880.

Colton Memorial and Kirkwood-Whipple Hospital.—Dr. Fleming reports:

The hospital has had a successful year, but being so new to the country and to the work here, I find myself without definite standards by which to measure either success or failure. Taking all things into consideration, I think it has been a satisfactory year. The equipment of the hospital is still very incomplete. During the winter 14 adult patients was the largest number we were able to have at one time. Many of our surgical instruments are old, and are showing signs of wear. Many hospital supplies are expensive, many very difficult to get at all, while some are unobtainable at any price. Our stock of drugs has become so depleted that it is becoming increasingly difficult to treat dispensary patients, even by making all sorts of substitutions for the drug that would first be chosen for the case. In spite of these difficulties we have managed to operate without mishap, and with a reasonable measure of success.

Dr. Charles W. Lane has been in charge of the hospital and has maintained a dispensary open six days in the week. He has responded also to outside calls. From November to March, Dr. Laura Miller responded to the calls for a woman physician, keeping the woman's dispensary open five days a week, seeing outside cases, receiving patients in the hospital, and assisting Dr. Lamme in operations. Her work was greatly appreciated both by us and by the natives. Since Dr. Muller's return to Urumia, I have had the woman's dispensary twice a week, have received patients in the hospital and have been Dr. Lamme's surgical assistant.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) Before the American occupation of the Philippine Islands a man could not safely offer a Bible for sale. In July, 1898, a conference of representatives of different foreign missionary societies was held in the Presbyterian Building in New York upon questions of comity in the missionary occupation of the newly acquired Spanish territories. A mutual understanding was reached that the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions should enter missionary work in the Philippine Islands, if it should so desire. Meanwhile the Board received a special gift of $1,000 toward the establishment of a mission in the Philippines. At a meeting of the Board on November 21 of the same year, the Rev. James B. Rodgers, of Brazil, asked for transfer from that field to Manila, for the immediate opening of mission work. He accepted the appointment. Work was opened in Manila on April 21, 1899. Other missionaries followed at once. The mission was organized in December, 1899. In April, 1901, a union meeting of Protestant evangelical missionaries planned the occupation of the islands so as to avoid overlapping of work. This meeting formed the Evangelical Union. The territory assigned to the Presbyterian Church was the southern part of the island of Panay and the islands of Samar, Leyte, Cebu and Bohol.

In the first ten years, about 10,000 people joined our churches; every person who joins the church assumes that he has the privilege and obligation of telling some one else the goods news. In addition to direct evangelistic work, special stress is laid on the education of native evangelists and teachers. In 1904 a school for Christian workers was established at Manila. The Bible Seminary became, in 1907, a union enterprise with the Bible Seminary of the Methodist Mission. Later the United Brethren came into the federation. At Iloilo is another instance of union in hospital and industrial work with the American Baptists. At Dumaguete, Silliman Institute gives well-rounded education of heart, head and hand. Through her students Silliman has become a great evangelistic force in the Philippine Islands. Cebu has won its way through much hardship to a high place in the work of the church. Six other stations have sometimes been conducted in the face of strong opposition.

MANILA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Ellinwood School for Girls; Ellinwood Dormitory for Boys; Ellinwood Dormitory for Girls; the dormitories are for students in Government schools; Union Bible Seminary; union of Methodists, Baptists, United Brethren and Presbyterians; 12 Churches; 25 Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—The work of the three Tagalog stations is of such a nature and so united in the Presbytery that there is danger of repetition. At the last meeting we adopted three projects which, if faithfully carried out, will give a better organization.

The Presbytery through a committee on location studied and took action assigning the pastors to their places. Petitions for the services of certain pastors were presented to the Presbytery and by them approved or disapproved. The locations of four of the pastors were changed. This year the expense of the shifting was borne by the Mission. We commend this method to the other Presbyteries, for we must anticipate any restlessness or desire on the part of the people to manage their own affairs and give them all the responsibility that they are willing to carry. This has made for an excellent spirit of cooperation on the part of the ministers and elders.

In Batangas, Pastor Zarco has been in charge of the Lipa, Batangas, Ta-al churches and their neighbors and Pastor Gathchalian of the Kalaka-Balayan and Nasugbu churches. In each case the circuits have been far too large for any one man to adequately develop. The general spiritual condition of those who remain in the churches seems excellent. I purposely limit the adjective to those who have remained faithful for it must be admitted that the loss has been excessive. We have a good many goods on our shelves that are damaged. The Tondo church have a round 400 if not more on its rolls, has courage to report 150, and seldom has an audience above 100.

During the past dry season, we planned two series of Institutes to be carried on by two bands of workers. The program failed in one or two places, but due to the special faithfulness of Miss Bartholomew who undertook all that she had planned for herself as well as the part that was planned for Miss Hodge, most of the meetings were held. We held four such Institutes in Batangas Province, three in Cavite and one in Rizal. We laid special stress on the evangelical services each evening, but seemingly failed to attract many new people.

The second special action taken by the Presbytery was the adoption of the cooperation system used by the Home Board in America to help needy churches. The church or group of congregations that needs help is to ask for it through the Presbytery. The aid to be given is paid directly to the pastor.

In the third place, the Presbytery was incorporated and is ready to hold property. The deeds of two pieces of property have already been transferred to the Presbytery and two others are being prepared.

EDUCATIONAL.—Ellinwood Seminary.—The Seminary work has been notable in three ways. First, because of the fact that we have had a larger number of Presbyterian students enrolled in the classes than in any previous year. The total was 18.

It has been borne home to us more and more that if we desire truly to harvest the fields of God in these islands, we must have a deeper and more abiding yearning in our hearts for laborers in the harvest fields. Whenever a young man shows an earnest desire to preach the Gospel to his people, we believe that desire should be given its full face value, and even when his notion turns out to be a mistaken one, we should have faith enough to believe that God would make it evident before he has gone too far in his course. In line with this general policy, we have encouraged a number of other who are studying in other schools and have considered them enrolled as special seminary students. There are eight of such young men who believe and whom we believe are likely to get into the ministry later on. We have accepted them in the Dormitory as work-students and are allowing them to pay their way by work upon the grounds and buildings. This has given us the problem of caring for from 30 to 35 men either on scholarship or as work-students.

The second way in which the Seminary year has been made notable has been through the union with us of the Christian Mission, which placed a man upon the faculty and enrolled ten students in the classes. Their entrance into the Seminary life is significant in many ways and, certainly, would seem to bring the day of a single United Evangelical Church for all the Philippines very much nearer. Mr. Kershner, the Christian Mission representative upon the faculty, is a man of broad spirit and splendid intellectual gifts, so that his acquisition is a very real gain to Seminary efficiency. The Christian and Missionary Alliance working in Mindanao have also sent us two fine young men as students. The enrollment for the year has been as follows: Methodists, 21; Presbyterian, 18; Christian Mission, 10; United Brethren, four; Christian Missionary Alliance, two; a total of 55. Added to this may be put the Presbyterian special class of 15 men taking Homiletics.

The third notable development in the Seminary life has been the much more thorough, active, and organized participation in evangelistic work which we have been able to effect. For many years the students have participated in the propaganda work of the Malate Congregation, which holds its afternoon services in the Ellinwood building. This year the extension work of the Malate Church has centered very largely around the barrio Sunday Schools. The total attendance of the eight morning barrio schools added to the attendance at the afternoon central school has reached a total of over 800, although perhaps 550 or 600 is nearer the average attendance.

We desire to make of Ellinwood an institution which may be described, for want of terminology, as an evangelistic institutional parish church, combined with a thoroughly spiritualized and practical educational plant, both parish church and educational plant being so identified and inter-related that the one will furnish the opportunity and the other, plant and workers. That is, we want a parish for our students and unlimited opportunities for service, and we want a plant for our church to develop along all lines of proper church activities. We certainly have the parish and it is a growing one, and we are moving forward to the getting of the plant. The Dormitory residents have numbered more this year than in any previous year, so that the living rooms of the Indiana Avenue building, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Long, have been turned over to the students for residents. The Christian Mission has opened a handsome new dormitory not far away on Calle Taft, conveniently situated to the University; and there are far more dormitory accommodations in Manila this year than ever before, yet the number of applications continues to increase everywhere and the Mission dormitory is evidently an institution which has come to stay. We had a hard and trying year—cholera laid siege, and one of our boys was attacked, although we feel he contracted the disease in a visit to his home in Pagsanjan.

Ellinwood School for Girls.—The regular school work had 22 Bible students and 26 Dormitory residents, most of whom were students at the Medical School or the University.

After the Christmas Holidays, at the opening of the Methodist Girls' Dormitory, eight of our University girls transferred to the new Dormitory, which is nearer the new University laboratories, leaving us 18 Dormitory residents from January until April. The first week in February the girls attended the Convention of the Philippine Sunday School Association, furnishing a part of the special music, teaching in the model Sunday Schools, and the teachers helping in the Conference. Miss Bartholomew attended six of the Bible Institutes, and in three more the women's and children's classes were carried on satisfactorily by our Filipino teachers. Three Filipino teachers and four undergraduates from the school helped in this work, two or three at each Institute, furnishing special music for services, teaching new songs, giving lessons in hygiene and care of children, training Sunday School teachers, and teaching model Sunday School classes.

The Book Depository has done its usual business during the year, the sales amounting to $2709.34, this sum being realized from religious books in general, hymn books, Bibles, Christian Endeavor, Sunday School, stationery, supplies.

The Leper Work has been operated from Ellinwood as in other years, using a paid Bible woman and voluntary workers from Tondo and from among the lepers themselves. We have maintained work in two centers; namely, at the San Lazaro Hospital in Manila and at the Culion Leper Colony on the island.

The Ellinwood Church is, as would be supposed from its name, the Student Congregation. It meets for its preaching service at eight o'clock on Sabbath morning and for Christian Endeavor at eight in the evening. It continues to furnish us the chief inspiration in our work.

ILOILO STATION

EQUIPMENT.—25 Day Schools; Union Hospital, supported by Baptists and Presbyterians; Dunwoody Dormitory, for students in Government Schol, supported by Baptists and Presbyterians; 29 Churches; 16 Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—There has been the proverbial 5% increase in new members, 75% of the congregations have regular preaching services in addition to the Sunday School, 5% have weekly prayer meetings, 2% read the Bible daily, while 20% would do so if they could. There are 5% who have family worship and 3% of the parents teach their own children something of the Word of God. The attendance of the Sunday service is reported as being 50% of the total membership and while 55% are reported as growing weaker, 54% are reported as growing stronger in spiritual life.

A premium was offered for the best plan for self-support, and 13 candidates for the premium presented their plans. Most of them leaned toward some form of pledges of produce, instead of money as the most feasible and profitable. We have announced to the people that the Presbytery must take the place of the Mission as an administrative, as well as an advisory agent and will labor toward placing this responsibility upon the Presbytery, which is the proper church body to carry it instead of the Mission.

The usual training class was held in September with the country preachers. Owing to the presence of cholera at the time, a number were prevented from attending, but 16 came, and the class was continued for the regular time of three weeks. Sunday School work interests everyone. The convention held in Iloilo in May was well represented and much interest shown. The keynote of the convention was teachers' classes in every school and extension of the schools to include other barrios. The Iloilo Sunday School without help from the foreigners has established five branch schools during the year, with a total enrollment of about 100. The Christian Endeavor Society, numbering 50 among the students and other English-speaking young people, has prospered, and been the means of bringing a number to the Lord. The attendance and interest has kept up well, and the society has shown itself to be a profitable branch of the evangelical work. About a year ago, a Junior Society was organized and has gathered in some 45 of the younger boys and girls.

The Chinese congregation has not grown in numbers during the year, but the services have been kept up regularly and have been fairly well attended by the members and a few who are not members.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Kindergarten which was started by Mrs. Doltz over a year ago, has been carried on since her departure by Mrs. Berger.

The total enrollment is now 90, and the average attendance 65. The receipts from fees are sufficient to pay for four teachers and all apparatus with a surplus on hand. It is hoped that we may be able to start a second one in another part of the city in the near future. The 13 day schools started in Antique province by Mr. Doltz have been kept up during the year since his departure. The reports from these schools are very encouraging and show that the rudiments of learning may be acquired without much expense by those who are not accessible to government schools.

MEDICAL.—There have been fewer outside calls, and this is due no doubt to the fact that physicians are increasing in number in Iloilo all the time.

In 1900 when we came there were but two licensed Filipino physicians in Iloilo; now there are ten besides two American doctors who take outside practice. A new class of 13 nurses began training under the efficient care of Miss Benedict in June. They came from Leyte, Cebu, Western Negros, Iloilo and Antique provinces. This is just as we want it, as in this way we hope to make the good influences of the Mission Hospital felt over a larger district. A few of them are members of the churches, but most of them are not, though all are intensely interested in Bible study and attend the services at the chapel freely. We hope to take in about ten new nurses each year, and to graduate about the same number. It is an example of the influence of the Gospel in dispelling superstition, to remember that apart from one graduate nurse, members of the Protestant churches were the only ones who volunteered to help out at the cholera hospital. We are pleased to announce that the Nurses Home is under construction.

DUMAGUETE STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Silliman Institute; Hospital; one Day School; 10 Churches.

EVANGELISTIC.—There have been no marked changes, but slow and steady progress in the work the past year. All of the old force of paid workers have continued faithful to their duties on their respective fields, and two new workers have joined the force.

There has been continued good feeling and harmony both among the workers themselves, and between the churches and the Mission. The disturbance that has divided some churches in other parts of our Presbytery in connection with the independent movement has not been felt at all on our field. A Bible and Sunday School conference of two weeks was enjoyed by our pastors at Cebu. A ten days' Bible class was also held in the hills for the northern field. A Sunday School rally was held in August, and 26 teachers in attendance returned to their homes with new interest and enthusiastically carried back with them to their barrio Sunday schools a banner to be competed for by five neighboring Sunday Schools. A real happy occasion was the special day at Amblan in connection with the dedication of the chapel on September 3rd. At Bais 1,100 Pesos has been pledged on the field for a new church building, and at Guijulngan 1,500 Pesos has been pledged towards a new church building. Both of these congregations plan to build next year.

EDUCATIONAL.—Silliman Institute. Silliman graduated a class of 11. 25 were given high school diplomas. It is expected that we will have 12 Americans and seven Filipinos on the faculty; in addition there are 19 student instructors. The enrollment for the year totaled 834. Eight young ladies have matriculated, seven of whom are in the High School course and one in the College course.

Martyrs Even in the Philippines.—This little boy, whom we see bashful in his every day clothes and smiling over his first complete American outfit, is the only one left out of an entire family of Christians who were murdered because of their faith by some of their ignorant, superstitious neighbors. He is the special charge of the Rev. Wm. J. Smith and lives at Silliman Institute, Dumaguete, where he is being educated.

The attendance for the year has been larger than any previous year, and the number refused admission has been larger, especially the number of paying applicants asking for a place at the beginning of the year. The sympathetic bond between the teachers and pupils has been the strongest asset of the school's popularity in the past. The new Science Building, which is nearing completion, will be a real aid to the work of the school. We hope to add to the equipment each year, especially the library,—the pitiful library. With the completion of the Science Building, we shall have room for our work in science, which we have never had before, and this will in a measure relieve the pressure for rooms for the other classes.

The reputation of the school has not suffered in the recent elections. There are now holding office in the Islands former students as follows: One Governor, one Deputy Governor, one Assemblyman, seven Presidents, four Vice-Presidents, besides an unknown number of minor office. During the 15 years, two students have received the degree of B.A. Of these one is a pastor; seven are studying in the U. S.; 10 are students in the University of the Philippines; 14 are teaching; seven are in government positions; nine are agriculturists or business men; four have died.

MEDICAL.—Dr. Miller reports: We responded to numerous calls that came by telegram from patients living in towns in Northern Leyte. Surgical operations were frequently performed though our facilities were poor, as we had neither a suitable operating room nor the help of any nurse.

We were somewhat crowded, having in our house at one time 17 Filipinos, 12 of whom were dormitory boys and five were patients in different stages of convalescence. In February we left Tacloban for about two months to relieve Dr. Hall and his family while they took a much needed vacation at Baguio. We had scarcely settled down again in Tacloban when we received a call to Dumaguete to take Dr. and Mrs. Langheim's work during their absence on furlough. Although the work here is chiefly among the 800 Silliman students, yet we daily treat out-patients from towns as far distant as Bais in one direction and Bacong in the opposite. Not long ago, 83 treatments were given in one morning. At first we had regular days for visiting Tanhay, Sibulan and Lasuriaga, but they have been discontinued during the rainy season.

INDUSTRIAL WORK.—So far during the present school year we have had 106 interno work-students and 148 externo work-students.

The work-students who are internos have been assigned to the following tasks: Five to office duties, 12 are instructors, six work in the printing office, 19 work in the dining rooms, six are watchers, three are employed on athletics, three are sweepers, one has charge of the sales cabinet, one is a lighter, one is the Silliman tailor, and 49 are employed in the shop. The 148 externo working students are given a miscellany of jobs. They report for work four half days per month, and for these four half days are giving their instruction, which otherwise would cost two pesos monthly. The ice machine at Silliman is no longer operated, as it was a losing proposition and as Dumaguete now has an ice plant operated by another company. The work-students made tables, sawed wood, ran the ice machine, crushed rock, made concrete pipe, repaired the Silliman buildings, painted the Silliman dwelling houses, made coprax, tables and chairs, etc. They constructed an addition to the Silliman kitchen, and a new nipa dining room 80 by 30 feet. They made the furniture for the new hospital and for the new dining room.

CEBU STATION

EQUIPMENT.—The Sneed Dormitory for Boys; The Emerson Dormitory for girls. Both of these are for students in the Government Schools. 15 Churches; 12 Groups; one Day School.

Mr. Jansen reports: The evangelistic work of the Station suffered for some months, in that the evangelists had to occupy their time largely in holding the members together during opposition, but that has again helped the members to a clearer understanding of God's Word and plans, and has helped to build up the congregations in general.

The following congregations have either built new churches, or are prepared to do so at once: Medellin, Logo, Binangcolan, Media Onze, Paril, Tagamakan, Tagbobonga, Banhigan and Toledo. In seven of the places they expect to build of durable materials and to enlarge for Sunday School purposes. Sunday School work is becoming a stronger and stronger feature of our work, and our Sunday School conferences have been an inspiration, and are eagerly looked forward to by the whole constituency. The city evangelist was ordained and made assistant pastor in Cebu, and both he and his wife are doing their very best in the interest of the work. Two additional elders and two deacons have given us an earnest set of officers, though as yet unexperienced. The envelope system has been introduced, and seems after six months to be the best way in which to receive collections; added to this a number give what they can weekly or monthly. Our city Sunday School has more than doubled in numbers, and is well organized; the children's department is under Miss Heywang's care. A class of young Chinese of the best class has lately been formed. Three other Sunday Schools have been fully organized and equipped in three outlying barrios, and the work is being followed up with visits to the homes with a view to interesting the parents and other adults.

Sneed Dormitory. Mr. Perrin writes:

I took charge in March with 41 students, five of whom were full work and three half work boarders. Owing to the difficulty experienced in collecting old debts at the beginning of the school year, we introduced a new cash-in-advance system. Although it was a little difficult at first to make the boys understand and live up to it, it is now working beautifully, and a great improvement we find it. Since we know just the amount of working capital, we find it possible to carry seven full work and five half work boys. We now have 44 students besides two American teachers.

Emerson Dormitory.—Perhaps one of the best indications of the continued success of the Emerson Dormitory is the fact that the Catholics are at last fulfilling their dire threat to build a dormitory of their own, after exhausting all their resources to interfere with our work and keep the girls from attending our dormitory. A fine concrete building is now in process of construction on the Sanbag Road almost opposite the High School building. We hear they are going to reduce the board.

We expected to open the Playground for the children of the neighborhood in the afternoons, but the second day I was awakened at five A. M. by five big boys, who with estatic grins and attempts to be very quiet were trying out the teeter. From that time we ran two sessions, from dawn until noon, and from noon until dark. Two of the older girls helped in the morning and two in the afternoon, playing games with the children and rounding them up in groups for songs and Bible stories and distributing cards or leaflets to take home. I have counted 60 children on the grounds at one time, and different ones came at different times. In June the dormitory began to fill up again, and during the first month of school and Teachers' Institute combined, we had 31 girls, which is about all that we can handle with present equipment. The 10 teachers left at the end of the Institute, others have joined us and the average maintained has been twenty-five regular students, with transients, most of the time. We have prayers morning and evening and all of the girls attend the church, Sunday School and C. E. service every Sunday. Three are teachers in the S. S. and also attend the Teachers' Training class.

LAGUNA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Six Churches; 13 Groups.

Dr. Hamilton reports:

The particular outstanding fact suggestive of progress is the beginning of the work of construction of the Student Church at the College of Agriculture at Los Banos.

Several years ago we were assured that every municipality would be provided with a municipal cemetery, as required by law. That was the assurance given me by the then Executive Secretary of 1913, just before we left on furlough. He assured me that by the time of our return every town in Laguna would be thus equipped. Shortly after we left he was transferred to the position of first Civil Governor of the Moro country, and we return to find things regarding cemeteries exactly as we had left them, which things persist unto this day. Without doubt this condition strongly militates against the growth of our churches in certain localities. A short time ago the missionary and several Laguan pastors, together with a number of members of the church of Pila, held a quiet, orderly street meeting, having secured a promise from the Presidente of Pila for the protection of the meeting from any interruption. This, however, did not prevent the said high official from coming with some of his minions of the law and breaking up the meeting, causing the people to disperse from their places in the street. Our brethren of the Seventh Day Adventist faith, by the continual preaching of their peculiar doctrines through a period of three or four months in the town of San Pablo, where they secured large crowds of listeners, disturbed the minds of many of the members of our church there regarding the particular day to be kept as the Sabbath, and several lectures were given at the time of the Class for Workers in March, to allay these fears and to establish the validity of Sunday as the Lord's Day.

New Work was taken up for a short time in Magdalena and continued for several months, until funds gave out, the work being discontinued with regret, as a number of people had become interested and have since asked that the meetings again be begun. Visits continue to be made to Cabuyao by a student in the Senior class of the Union Bible Seminary. The time has apparently come when all the patient labors of years in building up the local church organizations in ecclesiastical methods and training them in Presbyterian polity is beginning to bear fruit in practical cooperation through Presbytery with the Mission. All felt that the meeting of Manila Presbytery in Calamba last January in many ways marked an epoch in the development of our native church organizations. There was evident a most satisfactory initiative on the part of native pastors and elders in handling problems; a plan of cooperation between Mission and Presbytery was decided on regarding the location of pastors and also looking toward self-support. The question of self-support is not wholly solved, nor has nearly the progress been made that could be desired, and much in the whole problem is discouraging, but there is more hope in the situation than otherwise.

LEYTE STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One Church; eight Groups.

The island naturally divides itself into two divisions. The northern part of which has the Samarenyo dialect of the Visayan language, and the southern part of the island which uses the Cebuano dialect.

Thirteen congregations have been established during these years. Seven of these are partially organized, and one is an unorganized church. We have two church buildings and seven chapels. Two of these chapels were built this past year. The station employs four paid evangelists and one Bible woman. Besides these helpers, we have one ordained Filipino. One of the drawbacks to our work in many places is the lack of municipal cemeteries. While the law requires the municipalities to establish these cemeteries, politics and opposing forces often block the way. One of our evangelists was arrested and found guilty for the infraction of the law regarding the burial of the dead. The case has been appealed to the court of First Instance, and we believe the verdict of the Justice Court will be reversed. We would greatly rejoice if some executive action could be taken by the government to enforce this law with regard to the establishment of municipal cemeteries. The desire of our stations is to bring our congregations to self-support as rapidly as possible.

The beginnings of a dormitory were made last year by Dr. and Mrs. Miller when they used the lower part of their house for a dormitory for boys. Because of the opposition to our work in Tacloban, there was need of patience and tactfulness in making the start. This year a house was rented, as we felt that the time had come to have a separate building, in order that we might influence more boys. We have been greatly encouraged by having 25 boys this year.

Mrs. Rath is conducting a kindergarten every week except Saturday and Sunday. This school is filling a need in Tacloban, and is aiding materially in placing the right kind of influence about the children.

ALBAY STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One Church.

Mr. Brown reports:

If we gave any theme to our report this year we would call it "A Year of New Buildings." We have our new home that is centrally located. It is just across the street from the Provincial building, and a block from the public plaza and another block from the main road that runs through the province. There is not a better location in Albay or in Albay Province.

Our Dormitory is one of the finest buildings in Albay. No one can pass through Legaspi without seeing it. It is neat, plain, and yet artistic. The grounds are gradually being put in shape, so that it will be one of the features of Albay. This building, the gift of the Milwaukee churches, is going to make Milwaukee famous. We have at present 28 students. In this dormitory we have an auditorium that seats comfortably 200 people; in the dedication of the building, we had over 300 seated. The dedication was a red letter day in our history. The most prominent people of the Province were present and spoke. The building is now entering into its social service for the district.

We have been building the foundation for self-support. In this building we have found that the foundation sank in the boggy ground of the manana habit; that the soft soil of spending every cent that comes in as soon as they receive it makes it hard to keep money until Sunday; and the quick sand of not trusting their own brethren in the administration of funds and in getting tired of continuing a good work further weakens the foundation.

We have 43 outstations or barrio meeting places in our district out from the centers that number 15. In adult baptisms we have gained 59 over last year. We do not count in this six soldiers and six dormitory boys, who signed pledges dedicating their lives to God. There has been at least eight new places of preaching opened up and a general acceptance of the Word is manifest. During the year every congregation in Sorsogon has been visited at least once, and some of them twice. In Albay every congregation has been visited at least twice, and some of them very frequently.

TAYABAS STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Seven Churches; four Groups.

Mr. Magill writes:

The station was opened ten years ago. Tayabas has a population of 225,000, most of whom live in towns, of which there are 32. During the last few years we have had the help of three good ordained Filipino evangelists, which has increased the efficiency and amount of work. During these ten years we have had no great awakenings, nor any great spontaneous movement on the part of the people to the gospel. In some places there has been strong and even bitter opposition, and in other places they have heard the Word of God gladly. The most of the fruit that has been gathered in the vineyard here has been "hand plucked." Thousands of Bibles and portions have been sold and distributed over this province, and many of them have been read. In the town of Baler, in the north of Tayabas, it was found that there was a copy of the Word of God in every home in that town. This had been done largely at the instigation of the Treasurer of the town, who is a loyal Christian and has established a little church there.

During the present year, we have been over our field once, conducting a week's Bible classes in each church. Classes are taught six or seven hours a day and special services are held at night. Helpful subjects are chosen and conferences and discussions are held; S. S. methods, giving, self-support, Sabbath observance, the Christian life, prayer, etc., are some of the subjects considered. Also singing classes are conducted. We find that these special classes and services have been fruitful in all of our churches, and we are planning to try to have two such classes and conferences each year instead of one. It has been one of our greatest joys this year to receive on profession of faith a number of children of the ages of 10 to 12, who were baptized a year ago, and who have been brought up in our Sunday Schools and in Christian homes. They are the "first fruits" of infant baptism in our field. They have known nothing of Romanism by experience. They are truly Protestant Christians. This year two of our churches, one at Tiaon and one at Sariaya, have assumed half the salary of Rev. Isabelo, amounting on their part to 25 pesos. Another church has signified its wish to pay a half salary as soon as they reconstruct their church this fall. Two congregations are talking of planting a little coconut grove. The question of self-support in its large sense is one of our largest problems today.

During the year we have not been without our discouragements, our distractions, hindrances and problems. Without the church, we have to meet strong and bitter opposition on the part of Romanists, and at times persecution, as has happened twice this year.

BOHOL STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Two Churches; eight Groups; Hospital.

The Island has an area of 1,441 square miles, with a population of 315,419 in 1910; but nearly all the inhabitants live on the rocky coast in a very precarious way, while in the interior, great stretches of good land lie neglected. The founding of a government agricultural colony and a yearly appropriation for a road to it are good signs. The increase of the knowledge of the Bible and its contents, is also considerable though obedience to the truth is not so conspicuous. The majority of the converts have been from the mountain people, and mostly from the "colorum sect," which probably has no organic relationship with that of Tayabas, or of other islands. The people of this sect have little to do with the church of Rome, although they retain all the idolatrous elements, adding to them the sacrifice of pigs to "diwata," the old deity of the Bisayans, and the offering of bowls of rice to the spirits of the dead ancestors. A great wave of gambling activity has swept over the island and has damaged and hindered our work. It has almost wrecked Mrs. Graham's class of women. A number of hitherto regular attendants seem quite surprised that she disapproves of the vice. We have had three Bible conferences in Tagbilaran during the year. This method of instruction by bringing the people together here fits into the medical work, as it does not so greatly interfere with the routine of the dispensary work. This year three congregations have built chapels at their own expense. The medical report shows a large and varied work.

CAMARINES STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Dormitory for Boys; one Church; nine Groups.

The year was ushered in with a series of typhoons which for number and violence was the worst in the history of the province. With the natural slowness of the country, the shortage of material and the lack of money, the work of restoration dragged on in a half-hearted manner.

In the middle of June, cholera broke out and we have been besieged by it ever since. It even invaded our dormitory and home, but, fortunately, with no more serious results than to give us a good scare and make us redouble our precautions. Practically all the evangelistic work outside of Naga has been done by Filipino helpers. Of these, three have devoted their whole time to the work; one, a student, has given part of his time to the work around Naga, and the others have helped in their local congregations as opportunity offered. Including both adults and infants, 101 persons have been baptized. The work is progressing nicely in the Partido of Laganoy and the district around Daet. Buhi, also, is manifesting considerable interest, and the evangelist in charge reports a group of people ready for baptism. In March a group of non-Christian negritos upon the slope of Mt. Isarog baptized.

The work in Naga has been principally with the students. The Dormitory work has gone on much as in former years. At the beginning of the school year all indications pointed to a banner attendance, but so many were frightened away by the cholera that our attendance is now only a little better than it was last year. Fully 75% voluntarily attended the Bible Class, C. E., and preaching services. During the year a reading room was established in the Chapel and is open three nights each week.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) The missionaries in Siam were first led to consider this field by encountering a settlement of Laos refugees near Petchaburi. Rev. Daniel McGilvary and Rev. Jonathan Wilson in 1863 were authorized to explore the unknown regions to the north and see what the prospect might be for a mission. Reaching Chieng Mai, they were kindly received by the governor, who invited them to settle there, and promised land for a residence. In 1867 Rev. and Mrs. McGilvary reached Chieng Mai and established the first mission among the Laos. Dr. and Mrs. Wilson followed the next year. These pioneers were each permitted an active service on the field of more than 40 years. They were soon encouraged by the conversion of Nan Inta, a man who had thoroughly studied Buddhism, and was dissatisfied with it. He made an intelligent confession of faith in Christ, which he maintained until his death. Seven other converts were baptized within a few months. Soon came persecution and martyrdom, which, in the end, produced a deep impression for good. In 1878 an incident occurred in connection with the mission work which led to an appeal to the king. This resulted in a "Proclamation of Religious Liberty to the Laos." It was not until 1883 that reinforcements to the force of workers arrived. From the Chieng Mai mother church 13 other churches have been organized. The growth has been due, first of all, to the Christians themselves. The people have become Christians by families and have endeavored to win their own relatives first. The Scriptures have always had a prominent part.

In 1893 the country was visited by a terrible famine. By the aid of money sent from America the missionaries were able to distribute relief, which did much toward opening the hearts of the people to Christianity. At Chieng Rai, nine days by jungle rail northeast from Chineng May, an immense outlying district has been under the care of the station. Encouraging work has been done among the mountain tribes living in the region. The medical work has grown, through great difficulties, to important proportions.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

CHIENGMAI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Prince Royal's College; Theological Training School; Parachay a Boarding School for girls; Hospital; Leper Asylum; Press; 23 Churches; 31 Groups; 19 Day Schools, one being the Phraner Memorial School.

Out of 24 missionaries assigned to this station, nine were on furlough for all or part of the year.

EVANGELISTIC.—The City Church has been under the care of Rev. William Harris. Rev. See Mo has done most of the preaching and pastoral work. The preaching has been done acceptably and creditably by this efficient Lao Pastor. The Sunday afternoon services of this church have been held in five different villages and at Prince Royal's College. The Christian community at Ban Den, a part of the City Church, deserves special mention. The Christians have moved their church building to a good position on the main road, have opened up an avenue to this road, and are otherwise improving the property. The attendance at the afternoon service runs well over 50.

The Lampoon City Church is in charge of Rev. J. H. Freeman. Rev. William Harris has had pastoral oversight of this church since the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman on furlough.

The Out-Village Work in Chiengmai Province was left largely to native evangelists under the supervision of the missionaries. Mr. Collins still has charge of three churches, and in these sections there has been the usual amount of evangelistic and colporteur work done, but there has been no extensive growth. Dr. Cort in addition to a large medical work has single charge of five churches. In one of his churches a new chapel was built and 17 adults and seven children were baptized during the year. Dr. Cort and Mr. Harris have co-operated in the care of the Leper Church and the one at Me Ka Wak. Thirty-four persons united with the leper church. In addition to the evangelistic hall in the city, Dr. Mason has had charge of five country churches.

Boy Scouts of Prince Royals College, N. Siam.—The Boy Scouts of North Siam are organized into companies, one company for each of the districts of Chienmai, Lampang, Pre, etc., but His Majesty who is the head of the Boy Scout order in Siam, has been graciously pleased to grant us the honor of organizing a company in the Prince Royals College in Chien Mai, to be known as Company V. No other school in N. Siam has this distinction.

EDUCATIONAL. —

Prince Royal's College has passed the goal toward which they have been working for several years, i. e., a net enrollment of 200 exclusive of those who come and go during the year. The average attendance has been 150. The number of paying students is increasing, thus making it possible to help more poor but worthy boys. For the first time for many years the College closed free from debt.

The Teachers' Institute held at Prince Royal's College was well in advance of anything the College has hitherto accomplished. There was an attendance of 84, and every station but one was represented. There were also visitors from South Siam who greatly helped with lectures. Various short courses were given by both foreign and native teachers with a view to unifying the work of all the schools of the Mission and to helping and inspiring the teachers who attend. The results have been far reaching.

The Chieng Mai Girls' School, known also as the Parachaya School. The pupils have passed the annual government examinations with higher averages than usual. There have been a larger number of girls from other stations who are preparing for teaching. There has been also a larger proportion of paying students. A band of King's Daughters and a band of Busy Bees among the smaller girls each meet weekly. Mrs. McGilvary has been able to continue her sewing class and her counsel and sympathy have been very helpful.

The Phraner Memorial School has sustained its reputation for good primary work. Mrs. Cort has met with the teachers twice each week for conference and training in addition to the study of English and Music. The four native teachers have given faithful service throughout the year. The total enrollment was 146 and the average daily attendance about 80.

The Lampoon School.—A flourishing day school has been in session, taught by a daughter of one of the Elders of the Lampoon Church. The attendance has been good and the work of a high order.

MEDICAL.—One of the biggest events this year was the opening and establishing of systematic medical training. The new Medical School opened May 17, 1916, in temporary quarters in the uncompleted Infirmary of Prince Royal's College with a class of seven men.

The construction of the first Laboratory Building is making good progress under the direction of Prof. Reid. The realization of the dream of Christian Siamese physicians with an adequate scientific training and strong spirit of Christ-like service seems already in sight. The hospital has an efficient helper in Muang Chai, a man who has grown up with the institution and has developed into a really good physician. The admissions into the hospital have been somewhat less than last year, but the total number of days spent in the hospital is considerably larger. The free work is considerable, due to the numbers of outcasts who come to the institution; and the mortality is quite high, because the majority of the cases are of chronic nature, and many of them are unfortunately incurable. The European Ward has been occupied once, and considerable new equipment, secured on the recommendation of Dr. Bovaird, has been added. In spite of the large number of relatives and friends, who come with the patients and insist on sleeping and storing their goods in the same room with the patients, it has been possible to keep the wards in better sanitary condition than before, and a partial drainage system to the river has been installed. These friends who come with the patients give opportunity to reach more people through the daily chapel and Sunday evening services, and the attendance at these services has ranged from 20 to 50. Dr. Cort is responsible for the medical care of the boys in the college, the Girls' School and Theological School. He also conducts a daily clinic at his office. 64 trips were made to the Leper Asylum, and 79 trips to out-villages.

LEPER WORK.—The year has been a most interesting one as it has included the beginning of the hypodermic treatment with chaulmoogra oil. There are 195 patients in the institution, 14 more than last year.

Twenty-one of the inmates died from epidemic disease prevalent in the province and from their own malady: 14 ran away during the year, and eight runaways of previous years returned. Residence at the institution is entirely voluntary and shifting of residence cannot be prevented. 41 new patients were admitted, 34 of whom have been baptized, and the others are all studying that they also may be received. Financially the year has been a trying one. The new treatment is expensive, and the improvement in health due to the treatment improves very markedly the appetite of the inmates. The tabulated results of the experiment with Chaulmoogra mixture, so successfully used in the Philippines, is as follows: Patients under treatment during year, 145; died from other causes, four; discontinued, five; still under treatment, 136; not benefited, six; improved, 53; much improved, 50; very much improved, 16; free from all objective and subjective symptoms, four; free of all symptoms except slight stain, two; new patients, seven. No patient has been classed as very much improved unless tubercles have practically disappeared and sensation and perspiration returned to the anesthetic areas.

LITERARY.—The Mission Press. During the year the Press has printed over 80,000 copies for the Mission.

There were 28 employees during most of the year. We now have all of the New Testament in Lao with 11 books of the Old Testament. The native paper in the vernacular with the Bible School helps has been issued every month. This paper has a circulation of 1,100. As in previous years, the Press has supplied each station of the Mission free of charge with tracts, small hymnals, and leaflets, as called for in the evangelistic work.

LAKAWN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Kenneth MacKenzie Memorial School for Boys; Lakawn Girls' School; three Churches; 14 Groups; five Day Schools; Van Santvoord Hospital.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The Lakawn City Church.—

It is the aim to establish a working Church in Lakawn, where each member is doing his or her bit. With this idea in mind, the Elders, Deacons and other workers were appointed in pairs to act as leaders or caretakers of groups of Christians, and in every capacity they are to impress upon the people the necessity of four things: (1) regular study of the Bible; (2) daily prayer; (3) regular attendance at the Church services; (4) the responsibility and privilege of teaching others. The plan is working well. The regular Sunday morning Church service and Bible School have been combined in one service, beginning at 9:30 and lasting until 11 o'clock. By this plan, all attend both Church and Bible School, and but one lesson is considered at one time. At 4:30 o'clock a vesper service is held, which includes a brief sermon and considerable music. The attendance at the afternoon service has increased more than 100 per cent. Ten weekly Bible classes are held outside of the regular Bible School and those of the day schools and hospital. A weekly song service is held to enable the people to become familiar with the newer hymns. The Church employs an Elder as Assistant Pastor, whose salary is paid entirely by the Christian people. The offerings of the Church have been materially increased this year by the adoption of an envelope system. These envelopes are of leather and are made and given by the tannery. After the contributions are taken out and counted, the envelopes are returned to their owners by the Elders and Deacons.

The Out-Village Work.—Four months were spent in touring among the country villages covering a wide territory. Some remote sections were visited where no missionary has been for a long time. In most of such districts the work has been exceedingly difficult, because of the people's fear and suspicion of the missionary. One trip was made by river boat to the southern part of the Province. The people in the villages along the river were more accustomed to seeing strangers and as a rule were quite ready to listen to the message and to receive literature. In fact, the demand for books was so great that the stock was soon exhausted. The two country Churches at Muang Nyow and Chahome were visited a number of times, and considerable time was spent at both places teaching both Christians and non-Christians. The attitude of the outside people in these sections is very friendly, and a number are on the verge of coming into the Church, but no one seems to have the courage to break away from heathen friends and from the spirits. On one trip a visit was made to several villages of Karen Christians who are Baptists. They had not seen a white missionary for a number of years and gave the visiting missionaries a very warm welcome.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Kenneth McKenzie Memorial School for Boys.

There has been a large increase in attendance, and with only two known exceptions, every Christian boy is now in school. There has been ten months' school with five native teachers in the scholastic department and two in the industrial department. The daily average attendance was about 70. Eight boys in the fifth standard passed the government examinations and have gone to Prince Royal's College to continue their studies. Exhibits of industrial work were made at the state fair in Pitsanuloke and the national fair in Bangkok. A gold medal and certificate were received from Pitsanuloke and a second prize from Bangkok.

The Lakawn Girls' School has had a year of slow, steady growth. School was held nine months and there was an average daily attendance of 31 with a boarding department of 12 girls. The native teachers have all done good work. Two of them have had training in Bangkok, which is a great help to the work here. Monthly examinations and report cards have made a noticeable improvement in lessons. A weekly teachers' meeting also helps.

The Lakawn Market School.—The enrollment was 115 and average daily attendance 70 for the nine months. This school has been run on a self-supporting basis. It is intended principally for non-Christian children with the evangelistic purpose uppermost. The children have done much committing of Scripture and hymns to memory. Kru Noen has had three assistants, but she has remained the main spring of the school.

MEDICAL.—The coming of the railway has widened the sphere of usefulness of the medical work, both in the way of making it possible for patients to come from greater distances, and for the physician to cover a wider territory. Patients have come from quite distant provinces the past year.

Preeda ward, for Europeans and high class patrons, was occupied four times during the year, and during the busy season the general wards were overcrowded and patients were compelled to sleep on the verandas. Our work has been of a general scope. The Market Branch of the Dispensary continues to widen its sphere of influence among the traders from distant districts and people from distant villages who come to the city. One of the two dispensaries opened in competition to us in the market has gone out of business, and our income has shown no decrease as we feared it might. The death of the oldest assistant was a severe loss to the institution. He was well known and had done much to build up the work. He left our service for a time, but when it was decided to open the Branch Dispensary in the market he returned, and much of the success of that work is due to his devotion. The three drug assistants are studying English under Mrs. Cook's direction. The head assistant has done considerable work in Materia Medica diagnosis and Tropical Diseases. The assistants are now able to do considerable out-call work, much of the routine of the laboratory, and in the absence of the physician perform operations. The financial condition of our work is more satisfactory than anticipated in view of the prevailing conditions in the drug market, etc. We have been able to add some equipment of furniture in Preeda Ward. Fourteen accepted Christ through the influence of the Department.

PRAE STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' School; Girls' School; two Churches; eight Groups; five Day Schools; Hospital.

EVANGELISTIC.—The City Church.

A more faithful study of the Bible has been one of the promising features in this Church during the past year. For six months a weekly Bible class for men and women in the Parables and in Isaiah was held. The Monday morning class for Elders in the study of the New Testament Introduction has been continued all the year. A Thursday evening native prayer meeting has been held from home to home around the Mission compound. Some of the Christians have shown marked improvement in leading these and other meetings. The City Church has nine out-village centers connected with it, and is very generous in its gifts to help the work in these groups. During the year an envelope system was introduced in the City Church and the offerings increased 23½% over those of the previous year. The Pre Christians are demonstrating their spiritual growth in their offerings. Four Deacons were installed during the year. The Bible School has made marked improvement. There is a better attendance and the interest taken by both teachers and students is much improved.

The Out-Village Work was hampered the first half of the year by lack of funds. After April 1st five Evangelists were used for longer or shorter periods, and in some cases gave very encouraging reports of their work. Mr. Beebe spent two months in touring, besides many week-end trips, and Dr. Park has helped in numerous short trips to the country. In all eight new families and 12 individuals have decided to take Christ, but many of these were too late to be received into full membership during the past year. Many of the Christians are doing effective work in teaching their non-Christian neighbors. The new work at Lap La is the most encouraging work of the year. In this district five new families were received and others are much interested, including many influential people.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' School during the past year has been run on an entirely self-supporting basis as no mission funds were available for this work.

It was impossible to carry on a boarding department, as the receipts were sufficient for a day school only. Thus many of the country boys were without an opportunity for schooling for about a year and a half. The native teachers have been given a great deal of responsibility, which they have carried with credit. Seven of the boys have gone to Prince Royal's College for study. There was an average daily attendance of 37.

The Girls' School was conducted on a self-supporting basis also, no appropriation being available. The Siamese teacher ran a small boarding department throughout the year. There was an average daily attendance of 29, but so few of this number were Christians that it was difficult to keep up a strong Christian influence. Two of the older pupils have been sent to other schools for advanced work. Seven girls have united with the Church this year. This school is looking to better things in the near future.

MEDICAL.—The problem of inducing Christians to pay for the drugs which they receive has been met in part by sending drugs into the out-villages in the hands of Elders who receive them at one-third discount and sell them at the dispensary retail prices. Only the simpler remedies are thus used but such remedies used in time often abort attacks of malaria and prevent serious results.

This plan also enables the elders to do very effective evangelistic work. Encouragement comes from the assurance that the Christians are growing stronger in their belief and less afraid of the spirits. Chapel services have been conducted daily at the hospital with good attendance. Almost as many people have heard the Word explained in these Chapel services as attend the City Church throughout the year. A shortage of drug stock occurred and the sales were somewhat curtailed on that account, but the financial condition is more satisfactory than previously.

NAN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' School; Girls' School; Hospital; one Church; 13 Groups.

EVANGELISTIC.—The City Church has had a good year. The great commission has been constantly urged upon all—the officers, Evangelists and people of the Church, and there has been an increased heartiness in the response. The Spirit of God has accompanied the means, the Church has been spiritually nourished and is gaining in grace.

The church maintains a mid-week prayer meeting, regular weekly meetings for women and girls, also weekly meetings for Bible School teachers, and the regular Sunday afternoon meetings at the Church and Schools. The Church has voted to buy an organ with the accumulated balance of church funds on hand amounting to nearly 500 ticals. The Christians have been very generous in giving throughout the year, keeping up not only their own work in the city but also giving to the out-village work. 32 Christian communities are scattered about the province and are connected with the City Church.

The Out-Village Work in Nan Province has increased with the work of the City Church. The field has been extensively toured and the Word has been preached more extensively and intensively than ever before. Dr. Taylor's work has been supplemented by the work of a force of eight or ten native Evangelists, who are under the care and training of Dr. Peoples. Six of these are employed regularly throughout the year, and the others are farmers who serve from the end of harvest until the next seeding time, thus giving them seven of the best months of the year for evangelistic work. During eight months of the best season, the regular evangelists spend most of their time in active itineration. They start out in all directions from the City in pairs, to be gone for a period of three or four weeks, and when they return present and discuss their written reports in open session. Then eight or ten days are spent in study before going out again. The Sabbaths are spent, as far as possible, with Christian families. The remaining four months of the year are spent chiefly in study, and only a few short trips to the country are made. Even while at study, the week ends are spent in the country, and the experiences of the day are reviewed and discussed. Thus almost the whole area of the Province has been visited.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' School has had an excellent year with an average attendance of 66, of which 38 were boarders, and four regular teachers. This year 34 boys passed the Government examinations.

The classroom work is augmented by a literary society, which furnishes drill for the boys in public speaking and practice in composition work in Siamese, Laos and English. The boys have a weekly prayer meeting of their own aside from the regular morning and evening prayers, and they attend all the services of the Church. The new building is a great blessing.

The Girls' School.—Nature study was a feature of the term's work and a splendid collection of butterflies was made. In January the school moved into its comfortable new building, which is used for the double purpose of a school and teachers' residence. There was an average daily attendance of 52, with a boarding department of 20 girls.

MEDICAL.—The medical work at Nan is maintained under greater difficulty than any other Station of the Mission, because of inadequate equipment and lack of European and wealthy native and official support. The work as a whole has been more encouraging and successful than ever.

H. S. H. Prince Bovaradej, Viceroy of the northern provinces, visited Nan, and through his influence permission was obtained to treat 100 soldiers at the barracks for hookworm, in order to ascertain the percentage of infection. The conditions of the test were—diagnosis before treatment, blood test, and a history record of each individual before treatment was administered. The results showed the following percentages of infection: Hookworm, 100%; round worms, 55%; tape worms, 28%; pin worms, 25%. The mental and physical improvement has been so satisfactory that the commanding officer is seeking permission to have all the soldiers treated. The treatment is not confined to the soldiers, but the civil population receive attention also. Lantern slides and charts are in hand, but funds sufficient to meet traveling expenses are lacking, so that it is impossible to go out into the villages and instruct the people as to how they may avoid infection and to administer treatment. For the above reason effort must be confined to those who come to the hospital. It is hoped that the Government will take up the matter and institute a crusade that will in time eradicate the malady.

CHIENGRAI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Kennedy Boys' School; Girls' School; eight Churches; 11 Groups; 11 Day Schools; Overbrook Hospital.

EVANGELISTIC.—The City Church has had a good year of advancement.

There are many encouraging signs of spiritual growth among the members of this Church. They have volunteered to take the responsibility to carry the Gospel to 50 country villages. This work is under the direction of the Session of the City Church, which has continued the support of its out-village work at Payow, in Muang Yong north of Chieng Rai Province and further north in the Chieng Rung field, where a new station is to be placed. Besides caring for this very large extension work, the members of this Church have given generously for other causes. The increased contributions and other evidences show a decided growth in the spiritual life of this Church. Some of the young men, who seemed lost to church activity for a time, are coming back to more faithful service. The women of the Church show great faithfulness in their Christian duties, and especially in the Thursday afternoon prayer meeting. The men of the Church are most zealous in attending the teachers' meeting every Friday afternoon. Indeed, the faithful study of the Bible has been one of the leading features of the work during the year. The Sunday afternoon service is held in four sections, ably looked after by four superintendents appointed by the Session. The Church has shared in the blessing that has come with the two annual conferences for Bible study and consideration of policy and methods.

The Out-Village Work in Chieng Rai Province: At one village the Christians, under able leadership, raised 75 ticals for the completion of their new chapel. They also started a school, paying the teacher 12 ticals a month, half of which was given by the native Christians. At another village the Christians raised nearly two-thirds of the teacher's salary. At several other places the people increased their offerings. This is largely the result of the conferences held in Chieng Rai—one in October and the other in March. Each of these conferences were attended by about 25 leaders from the various Christian centers, and it was brought home to them that unless they assumed the responsibility the work would suffer. During the year all but one of the almost 50 Christian communities have been visited at least once. As some of these are far apart, it is impossible to spend much time in any one. In the out-villages 79 were added to the Church, of which 47 were on confession of faith. There are now nine churches in the Chieng Rai field, including a new church at Muang Fang, which is six days from the City.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Kennedy School for boys has been greatly strengthened this year by the return of two teachers from Prince Royal's College in Chiangmai. Since their return considerably more Bible teaching has been done in the school and the boys are committing a great deal of Scripture to memory.

The industrial work has consisted of rope making, brick laying, cleaning, grading and carpentry. Outside of school hours, six boys are studying anatomy, physiology and care of the sick with Dr. Lyon. Through the year there has been an average daily attendance of 46 with 19 in the boarding department.

The Girls' School has had a good year. There has been an average of 25 day pupils and seven boarders. In June a class of older girls passed a public oral examination in Freeman's "Life of Christ," which was a credit to both the girls and their teacher, Elder Lah. This year has seen the end of the men teaching in the school, which was formerly necessary because of the lack of women teachers. However, the coming of two girls, who have been under training in Bangkok and Chiangmai, makes men teachers unnecessary. The great event of the year was the coming of Miss Niederhauser in February to live with the girls and be their teacher. Although she was unable to talk to the girls, she soon won their hearts and the influence of her example among them has done much to change and mould their lives.

MEDICAL.—The medical work has touched more people than in any previous year, and the records for the in-patient department show an increase of 20 per cent over the previous year.

The prosperity is due to a number of causes, among which are the increase of population, better education, and especially the loyalty of the Christians, who never lose an opportunity to boost the work. This Station, located the farthest inland, draws patients from great distances, from tribes in the vast region to the north where mission work has not yet been permanently established. These representatives of almost numberless tribes speak a medley of languages and dialects, and one of the assistants is able to speak four dialects fluently and another two. These tribes live nearer to nature than the population which inhabits the territory of Siam proper, have not enjoyed as many advantages of civilization, hence live under most unsanitary conditions and habits than the people contiguous to most of the other Stations. Their extreme isolation withholds from them the opportunity to secure other than their own crude remedies, and the institution at Chiengrai holds out to them a helping and sympathetic hand. The surgical cases have almost all been of a serious nature, due to the fact that the non-Christians come to the hospital only as a last resort. The field of work covered is a wide one and the report shows no less than 54 different ailments treated in a total of 202 in-patients. One of the most successful cases was that of a young Christian girl, whose sanity was restored by two surgical operations. The prevailing prices in the drug market has raised the cost to two or three times that of three years ago. The earning capacity of the people has not been increased, and in fact it is less than in most of the other Stations. Sufficient quinine to cure an ordinary attack of malaria costs the equivalent of eight days' labor.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station see above list.) The first visit made to Siam by any representative of our Church was for the same purpose which had already brought other missionaries there—namely, to find access to the Chinese. In 1838, Rev. R. W. Orr spent a month in Bangkok, and recommended to our Board this country as a field of effort, not only for the Chinese, but for the Siamese themselves. The Rev. W. P. Buell was sent to Bangkok in 1840. Remaining until 1844, and doing good foundation work, he was compelled to leave the field, and it was not until 1847 that the next missionaries reached Siam. From that time until the present, continuous work has been maintained. For several years following 1847 the foothold of the missionaries was precarious, as the king so exerted his despotic influence upon the people that none of them could be induced to rent or sell any house to the missionaries. The first convert was the Chinese teacher, Qua-Kieng, who was baptized in 1844 and died in the faith in 1859. A good record is also given of the first native Siamese converted in 1859.

Bangkok was for many years the only center of missionary work. In 1857 the mission was permanently established in the section of the city known as Sumray. A school for boys was opened in 1852 which, in 1889, was merged into the Boys' Christian High School. The Harriet House School for Girls was begun in 1874. Medical work was the chief means of gaining favor. American missionary physicians have always been the trusted advisers of the king in introducing modern medical methods. In 1869 a press was sent out. It is the most complete publishing establishment in Siam. The whole New Testament was first printed in 1843.

When Petchaburi was first visited in 1843, every attempt for Christianity was repulsed by the authorities. In 1861, however, it was by the urgent request of the governor that a station was opened at this point. In answer to earnest appeals, the missionaries from Bangkok made annual tours to Nakawn, beginning in 1892. As a result of long itinerating tours by Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Dunlap in the Puket region on the Bengal side of the Malay Peninsula, a station was opened at Tap Teang in 1910.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

BANGKOK STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Theological School; Bangkok Christian College, supported by receipts on the field; Boon Itt Memorial Institute; The Mission Press, supported by receipts on the field; eight Day Schools; five Churches.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The First Church at Sumray has done faithful work throughout the year, and the Sabbath morning services have had an average attendance of 30. The mid-week church prayer meeting, after being dropped for a considerable period, was renewed. They support their pastor and have made contributions to the Home Mission Fund and other causes. Sumray Sunday School has an average attendance of 90. The Second Church at Wang Lang has taken a great stride in advance this year. After careful consideration of the church membership, a special meeting was held and the members who lived nearer other churches were asked to take their letters from here. There are now three rolls of membership; one representing the members who attend regularly; one representing the members who live in different cities or so far away that they cannot attend; and the third roll are those who are entirely indifferent to the church and do not attend because they have broken their church vows. These latter are placed on the church prayer list for special intercession. A Sunday School is held in connection with the church, the attendance being about 30. The Third Church has extended the work among the Chinese to a small extent. Two additional preaching services have been held in the city chapel. A small chapel has been built in the garden district of Bangkok. Two small day schools were organized in connection with these chapels, the total enrollment being 30. Two additional Chinese helpers have been employed, and one man who had served one year as a preacher released. The Krit Sub Sampantawong Church has the Sunday morning preaching services conducted by Dr.

W. G. McClure and two of the teachers in the Bangkok Christian College. The attendance is about 100 and is probably more than four-fifths made up of students and teachers. "Soldiers of the Cross" is the first men's organization for active church work ever established in a church in Siam by their own initiative. The purpose of this band is to look up delinquent members and try to induce them to attend church and take more interest in Christian service.

The 11th Annual Conference of Christian Workers was opened by Dr. McFarland, who has long been most intimately associated in this work. The subject this year was "The Church of Christ," since the care, the development and use of the church is considered to be the subject of the most vital importance to the Christians of Siam at the present time. Touring.—Two trips were made to the Panat Church during the year. One trip was made by Dr. W. G. McClure accompanied by an evangelist. The second was made by Dr. and Mrs. McClure. Practically all the homes were visited.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Harriett M. House School at Wang Lang reports an enrollment of 177. Four of the teachers and ten of the larger pupils have united with the church this year. Nine girls were graduated having completed the ten year course. Seven are teaching in Christian schools.

One of the strong branches of this school is the Hua Lampong School, under the financial care of Dr. McFarland. It has had a most successful year in every way. Miss Hicks, the head teacher, is becoming well known and greatly appreciated among the patrons of the school. Nearly all of the children are from the higher classes of Siamese so that the influence of this school is being widely felt. Sunday school there, is under the care of Miss Galt, and she reports an average attendance of 35.

The Girls' School at Sumray numbers about 50. This is a Primary School and some 12 girls or more have come from here to continue their studies in the H. M. House School.

The Bangkok Christian College.—The work for the past year has been much the same as in former years. The faculty has been enlarged, the attendance has increased and the financial status has improved. The present enrollment is 246, or 26 more than at the same date last year. The number of boarders during the term has an average, close to 100.

The income of the school has given a fair margin for repairs and improvements after meeting all local expenses, including books ordered from abroad. Items of repairs aggregating a large sum have been met out of school funds. The curriculum of the college has been revised and a new class added (11th Standard). There is in process of formation at present among the students a Boy Scout Band, under the auspices of the Government Educational Department. The College is glad to be able in this way to show a spirit of loyalty to His Majesty the King and of Patriotism among the students. The College Press, which is as yet the only form of real industrial work in connection with the school, has been in operation throughout the year, and has been the scene of busy activity on many occasions. Practically all of the students who received help have had a hand in the work of the Press.

While the Sumray School is sometimes called a branch of the Bangkok Christian College, it is practically independent, and is a real part of the Christian community in which it is located, and has its share in giving character and permanency to that community. The average attendance has been 75.

The Y. M. C. A. of Bangkok, for that is the place that the Boon Itt Memorial Institute for men is trying to fill in every way, has had a very successful year in getting members and the finances necessary to keep it going.

All the activities of Association life that are possible in Siam have been carried on in the Institute, and more than 30 men have made use of the building and its activities daily for the year. Due to the unceasing activity of the General Secretary, Mr. Steele, the membership has been increased a full hundred during the past year, and there are now 255 paid-up members. A good Bible class has continued throughout the year without a vacation and the classes in English have been more or less regular. For a part of the year a class in instrumental music was conducted.

The Mission Press.—The great war has affected the general work of the Press. The enormous increase in cost for raw materials, manufacture, and of freight rates, has caused a considerable increase in the prices for job work. However, it has been possible to keep up the regular run of work, without increasing the prices for printing tracts and there is no intention to do so as long as the Press is able to make expenses.

PETCHABURI STATION

EQUIPMENT.—The Pradit Witiya School for Boys; Howard Memorial School for girls; Petchaburi Hospital and Ratburi Hospital; five Churches; 56 Groups and three Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—The usual Sabbath morning service, the Sunday School and the mid-week prayer-meeting have been kept up through the year without a break.

Weekly meetings of the societies for women, young men, boys and girls have been held, and much interest has been manifested. The weekly offerings are taken in envelopes, and all members, including children, are expected to contribute. The annual local Conference for Christian Workers was held for three days. The attendance was large and included more of the country people than in former years. The subject was the work of the Holy Spirit in founding the Christian Church. In connection with the Petchaburi church there are Christian Endeavor societies for girls and one for boys under 15 years. An organization like a Y. M. C. A. has been started for the young men, who are the life and hope of the church. Two Bible women have been at work visiting from house to house, teaching and leaving portions of scriptures. A six weeks' School for Women was held with success. Seven out of eight learned to read by the word method. 14 others memorized the Child's Catechism, one a blind woman. Three more are still at work in their homes memorizing it.

Touring.—During the past year Dr. Eakin has been the only member of the Station engaged in itinerating work. This field includes nine provinces. Four tours were made to the Kanburi region where the work among the Chinese is making fair progress; but the three northern provinces and the province of Chumpon in the far south were not reached. However, some groups in out-of-the-way places have been visited by our native preachers, who report that the people enrolled were steadfast.

Sacred Images Claimed by the Jungle, S. Siam.—Until very recently it was counted of more merit to build a new temple than to keep an old one in repair. As a result Siam is full of ruined temples and here is an example of how nature again claims her own.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Howard Memorial School for Girls has an enrollment of 83.

The boarders have a few minutes of silent prayer and reading before taking up the duties of the day. In the evenings they have met with the Principal to read a chapter of Acts in English followed by three or four prayers, led either by the pupils or teachers. There has been a cooking class held weekly. During the past year 71 different pupils have attended the Boys' School. Three of the larger boys and one former pupil united with the church during the year. The spirit of the school is predominantly Christian, and the boys are working to win the remaining boys to take their stand for Christ, but are still kept back by strong pressure at home.

The Suriwongse School at Ratburi has had three teachers in charge during a part of last year, but now only two are doing duty there. The total attendance during the year was 101, of whom 56 were boys and 45 girls.

By action of the Executive Committee last April, it was decided that the Training School for Christian Workers should be transferred to Petchaburi this year. Nine students were in regular attendance during the term of four months. The work has been greatly handicapped by the lack of suitable text-books in Siamese, and by the fact that only three or four of the students could write readily enough to take notes on the lectures. Yet they were earnest and diligent, and the result was well worth while. Most of these men are evangelists, and like to preach the Gospel and persuade people to accept Christ. But now that our work has mostly passed beyond the pioneer stage and we have hundreds of believers who are to be trained in the worship of God and the practical duties of the Christian life, these preachers were not equal to the demands of the situation. Hence the necessity of more training.

PITSANULOKE STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' School; Padoong Narce School for Girls; one Church; Hospital.

EVANGELISTIC.—

The little chapel in which the congregation at Pitsanuloke had been worshipping in for over 12 years past, has been torn down; but not until funds had been pledged and the contract let for erecting a much better and more permanent building on the site. The church had been slowly accumulating a fund for this purpose by weekly offerings through several years past. To supplement the funds thus in hand, a special subscription was circulated and about 2500 ticals pledged by the Christians in that field. Practically every member of our regular home congregation is also a member of the Sabbath School. The Sabbath evening prayer meeting, led by different members in turn, has been well sustained, with an average attendance of about 25. Special classes have been organized for the instruction of catechumens or new members. There is also a mid-week Bible class. Miss McClure and her Head Teacher have started and are carrying on with encouraging results a second Sabbath School in the market school room. The usual attendance ranges between 30 and 40. The local market services have been conducted as usual, with generally large crowds of country people attending. From general observation, there seems now quite a hesitancy between accepting Christianity or infidelity. Many say they cannot believe in Buddhism any more, but follow the old customs as the course of least resistance. There has also been manifested some hostility to Christian teaching, especially by some of the Buddhist priests.

EDUCATIONAL.—Miss McClure has continued in charge of the Day School for Girls, while Rev. and Mrs. Cooper have charge of the Boarding and Day School for Boys.

In May last, a primary branch school was started in rented quarters near the market. One Siamese teacher was transferred to take care of his new work, and her former position was filled by a new teacher just graduated from the Harriet House School. The schools have had a successful year, with increased revenues and growing patronage. There are daily chapel exercises in each school, and religious teaching is included in the work of every grade. The enrollment was 156, viz., 67 in the boys' school, 47 in the main girls' school, and in the market branch school 30 girls and 12 boys.

MEDICAL.—One of the notable events of the years was the dedication and formal opening of the new hospital building March 29 with religious exercises, and a dinner.

There was a large attendance, including many local officials of all ranks from the highest down, and several hundred ticals were added on that occasion to the building fund. Parts of the hospital had already been in use for about three months, and since the official opening most of the 18 rooms have been in use all of the time, and on several occasions we have had every room filled with patients. The new hospital chapel has been in use since March for daily morning services, which are well attended, and a marked improvement is noticed in the attention given to the speaker.

NAKAWN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' School; Girls' School; one Church; five Groups; Sritamarat Hospital.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Bethlehem Church in Nakawn Sri Tamarat has had another year of progress and earnest effort but the increase has not been large.

So many of the members live in the country so far from the town and church that it is hard for them to be regular in attendance. The Chinese Christians form a large part of the city membership.

Touring. During the early part of the year long tours were made along the coast by Dr. and Mrs. Wachter, and Dr. Watcher has made several other tours to the nearby vilages. Here, as in other localities, more response is met with among the Chinese than the Siamese. The latter seem so indifferent.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Boys' School at Nakwan Sri Tamarat this year has been on a separate compound from the Girls' School and under the care of Miss Cooper who returned from furlough in time to start the new year.

The school has had a good year, and the interest of the boys in the manual training feature of the school is manifested by the results. Mrs. Eckels has been in charge of the Girls' School which has met under their house. The attendance has increased and the girls seem to value their opportunity of getting an education. The school is training these girls in Christian principles which can not help but bring results.

MEDICAL.—The Hospital at Nakawn Sri Tamarat has had another busy and profitable year.

In spite of the additional cost of drugs, the fees have not been raised and much charity treatment was given. One day each week was set apart as "hook-worm day," when all who wished were treated free for this disease. A great many have taken and profited by the treatment.

TAP TEANG STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Hospital, one Church; eight Groups; one Day School.

EVANGELISTIC.—The new Church at Tap Teang continues to be a joy to the eye and heart. There has been inaugurated a hoe-day, for all to come with tools and keep the grounds in trim.

The resident missionaries and native evangelists, when not on tour, have continued the Sunday morning preaching services and Sunday School with an attendance of about 40. Preaching every third day in the booth rented in the market, three Sunday prayer meeting groups conducted by the people, the mid-week prayer meeting led generally by a missionary, visiting and receiving of visits and classes complete the tale.

Touring has been vigorously prosecuted in all directions, eastward to Pantalung, Singora, etc., north to Kow Kow, Tung Song, Kow Sate, Takua Tung, Renong and points between, south to Satul, etc., west to the islands Tarutao, Lantar, and points between Panga, Puket, etc. Mr. Snyder's time has been largely taken up in this way. Miss Christensen has also made one tour and Dr. and Mrs. Bulkeley one, by sail boat. Good interest has been found at almost all points.

EDUCATIONAL.—The School in Tap Teang which accommodates both boys and girls has an enrollment of 31 pupils and two Siamese teachers.

According to the plan of this school, the Christian pupils or children of Christians do not pay tuition unless they take English. Others pay one tical a month or three with English. The Christian boys frequently lead in the morning school prayers. The Industrial Work of the school has continued, the boys finding the material, preparing it and weaving mats.

MEDICAL.—The Tap Teang Hospital has continued its work as usual.

One of the evangelistic assistants became a Christian while he was a patient in the hospital. He is now doing the laboratory work in the hospital and preaching in the market. Treatments for hook-worm have been in progress with some measure of success. The hospital staff assisted the Government in suppressing an epidemic of smallpox. The average number of in-patients has been larger, and the hospital seems to be growing in name and usefulness. Daily services are held in the chapel, the staff leading in turn with the evangelists. Many patients have expressed belief, but none have been baptized.

EXPLORATION TOWARD EXPANSION

After sundry preliminary experiences and delays, Revs. R. C. Jones and W. G. McClure were ready to start from Korat into the great unexplored northeastern territory of Siam.

The immediate destination of the party was the Roietch Monton, having a population of about 600,000 people. The party was welcomed by the Government officials, and assigned to a rest house just outside of the city, half a mile from the market. The officials were mostly Bangkok men, and were very kind and gave every assistance required. The city showed many signs of modern improvement, with new Government buildings, some new streets, and new barracks for soldiers. One well attended and well regulated Government School, with 150 or more pupils, existed in the city, and several remodeled schools were said to be in the surrounding country. The need of mission work was evidently great, and the way open for immediate occupation, if the mission were ready to occupy. The people were chiefly Laos, industrious and well disposed. They showed little fear or suspicion, though unaccustomed to Europeans. One of the remarkable things observed throughout was the lack of fear on the part of the children and women, so different from other parts of Siam. It would seem a most opportune time to begin work at Roi-etch, if the Mission were ready; from the fact that the field is as yet unoccupied by the French Catholics, while they are numerous in the neighboring provinces.

The occupation of Korat in the near future will bring Roi-etch more within the range of itinerating work; and will in time, no doubt, make more or less permanent occupation of Roi-etch possible.

BRAZIL

THE HISTORY OF PRESBYTERIAN WORK IN BRAZIL falls naturally into two parts. Begun just before the outbreak of our own Civil War, it was carried on during the early years with small means. After 28 years of work, a new period began for the Brazilian Church. In 1888 the missions of the Northern and Southern Presbyterian Churches of the United States were united to form the Synod of Brazil. 34 churches were connected with our Mission and 18 with that of the Southern Church, making in all 52 churches, which were divided into four Presbyteries. This Synod met every three years and was entirely independent, having no relation to General Assemblies in the United States. Perplexing questions arose, and the growing divergence of opinion, not on matters of doctrine but of policy and practical methods, became so acute that, in 1903 seventeen ministers and nine elders, with a large number of followers, withdrew from the Synod and formed an independent Presbyterian Church. This unfortunate schism greatly retarded the growth of the Brazilian churches. The first General Assembly of the Brazilian Church met at Rio de Janeiro in January, 1910. The meeting was marked by a spirit of great earnestness and intense desire for the spread of Christ's kingdom.

HISTORY.—In 1871 a station was founded at Bahia, the oldest city in Brazil. The residence of the Archbishop of Brazil being at this place, the ecclesiastical element has been dominant. Villa Nova is situated in a sparsely settled region, frequently suffering from drought and famine. It is a center for itinerating tours extending 100 miles east and 200 miles west. Some preaching places under the care of this station have been opened in fanatical and intolerant communities. There was established in 1906 a farm school, founded as a self-supporting training school for the boys and girls of the interior churches. The location chosen was Ponte Nova, a 'point five days' journey from Bahia City. The success of this school has proved the wisdom of its existence. In 1909 work was established 600 miles inland up the river Sao Francisco, the headquarters being first at Carinhauha and about two years later removed to Caetete. Throughout the wide region falling under the care of this center there has been bitter opposition on the part of the Roman Catholic Church. Work was established in the State of Minas Geraes in 1912. The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Brazil, learning that the Central Brazil Mission was in shape to cover its territory—one worker to 50,000 square miles—asked the Mission in January, 1912, to occupy Matto Grosso, a world in itself, with over 500,000 square miles, or one-sixth of the United States. A mission was begun here in 1913. The work of the Central Brazilian Mission is notable for the plan followed; instead of making fixed stations the missionaries carry on their evangelistic work by frequently changing the place of residence. The missionary forces is thus not an entrenched but a mobile force.

PARISHES OF THE PRESBYTERY OF BAHIA—SERGEPE: Bahia—Rev. Gal-dina Moreira. Cachoeira—vacant. Aracaju—Rev. Rudolpho Fernandes. Cannavieiras—Rev. Estevan de Araujo. Canal—Rev. Manoel Antonio de Silva. Macahubas—Rev. Joao Capistrano Monato de Sousa.

Last year several changes were decided upon as to the location of missionaries. The close of the year finds the Reeses in Ponte Nova instead of Villa Nova, the Andersons in Bahia instead of Estancia, the McClements in Villa Nova instead of Caetete, and the Shorts in Kansas City instead of in Bahia. Mr. and Mrs. Short's resigning from the Board's service, necessitated the Andersons taking up the work in Bahia. Mr. and Mrs. Reese were not released in Ponte Nova by the return of Mr. and Mrs. Bixler until November 1 and Mr. and Mrs. McClements had to hold on to things in Villa Nova.

Last year we reported the fact that a general drought had caused untold injury to man and beast throughout this section of Brazil. This year's reports state that flooded rivers and inundated regions hindered the itinerating work, and no doubt caused sickness and suffering to many. In general we believe there have been better crops and that there is less suffering and want than the year before. Brazilian exchange is lower now than a year ago, which fact does not speak well for the general financial condition of the country. As to political conditions things remain about where they were last year, almost as bad as they could possibly be, judging from what we see, experience, and read in the Brazilian newspapers.

From different personal reports of the missionaries, it appears that a weak effort is being put forth in some localities to hinder the work of the Gospel and in other places a more concerted and sustained opposition confronts our missionaries, which fact bears testimony to the vitality of the Gospel.

The Mission rejoices over the arrival of Dr. and Mrs. Wood. That a medical man was much needed is proven by the fact that an urgent call to Ponte Nova was awaiting him when he landed in Bahia, and since his arrival in Ponte Nova he has been busy treating those who come to him. The resignation of Mr. and Mrs. Short came as a surprise to the Mission, and their leaving has made a gap in our ranks which we trust will be speedily filled.

BAHIA—SERGIPE PRESBYTERY

In September the Rev. Galdino Moreira came to take the pastorate of the church in Bahia. He is a young man, graduate of the Theological Seminary and served for some time as pastor of the Campinas Church. We are happy that after an interval of nearly four years the church in Bahia has been given such a good preacher and that the Presbytery has been strengthened. The work of the Presbytery will be further strengthened during the coming year by the services of the Rev. Mr. McCall who will serve as Presbyterian Evangelist. Steps will be taken to stir up the Church to fill and discharge her obligation to support her pastors. Two candidates for the ministry, Srs. Augusto Dourado and Antonio dos Santos, hope to complete their studies in March, 1917, and be ordained. In all probability Sr. Augusto will receive a call from Estancia and neighboring Sergipe churches, while Sr. Antonio, if all goes well, will be sent into pioneer work in the North of Minas.

BAHIA

EQUIPMENT.—Three Churches; and three Groups.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have been teaching the two candidates above mentioned. Until the coming of Rev. Galdino Moreira, Mr. Anderson helped in the Bahia Church. Mr. Anderson reports having received and forwarded to Syria through the New York Treasurer, $1432.32, money received from Syrians for relatives.

VILLA NOVA

EQUIPMENT.—20 Groups; one Day School.

Mr. and Mrs. McClements have continued their language study. Mr. Clements has journeyed 800 miles during the year visiting all the field except the places on the railroad. He writes:

In the latter part of April, Mrs. McClements and I moved to Campo Formoso, a village about 12 miles from Villa Nova and off from the railroad. Here we remained until October. When I was not traveling, I conducted here a prayer meeting every Wednesday night, and on Sunday afternoon a Sunday School, and in the evening a preaching service. The prospects for spreading the Gospel in this place are very bright. Our believers are held in the highest respect by the Romanists. The president of the village is our most aggressive believer. The believers themselves have started a school and on their own initiative have raised over $200 to build a church. One man who earned only $75 per year gave $50 for the construction of the church. During our stay here the Roman church held a "Holy Mission." Perhaps a better designation would be a "diabolical mission;" for at this time more drinking places were opened up, more public gambling existed, and more immorality could be seen on every hand. We were told on good authority that the two Roman missionaries themselves drank a liter of the strongest rum per day. These priests from Bahia occupied the larger part of their time in condemning the Protestants. No terms were too harsh to characterize us. They condemned our school, saying that its very existence was a reflection upon the State. They charged us with teaching atheism and disobedience to parents, and pronounced curses on anyone who allowed his children to remain in school. The best thing brought out by this mission was the little attention given to the words of the priests. Notwithstanding the charges brought against Protestants in general, we were treated with great respect even by the Romanists, as if they wanted to make up for the unkind words of their priests. Not a man withdrew his child from the school, and the night school, started just before the opening of the mission, had to be restricted to the gentler sex to prevent overcrowding.

ESTANCIA

EQUIPMENT.—Two Churches; four Groups; two Day Schools.

Since our last report, the Estancia Field has been visited by the Rev. Rodolpho Fernandes of Aracaju. Candidate Augusto Dourado spent six months there also, much to the satisfaction of the believers. Mr. Anderson was able to make only a short trip to four places for the purpose of disciplining some of the members.

LENCOES FIELD

EQUIPMENT.—Ponte Nova High School; two Churches; 13 Groups.

Ponte Nova School.—Mr. and Mrs. Reese have had a very full year in Ponte Nova. They have had the responsibility of the school on their shoulders and besides this Mr. Reese has made some very much needed alterations in the house. No other man in the Mission could have planned and carried out so successfully the alterations. He writes:

Unfortunately no evangelistic itineration has been possible during the year and the field has consequently fallen into a backward condition. The reason for this lack of itineration is that all the year I have been preoccupied with the alterations and additions to the school home. For years Dr. Waddell had planned to improve and increase the accommodations for the girls by raising the roof and adding a first floor above the present one. It was decided that this had better be done during Mr. Bixler's furlough since the family wing would then be used by the girl pupils during the process of alteration. The job has given an immense amount of work owing to the fact that everything, even the flooring boards, had to be prepared by hand. However, the work is now done more or less satisfactorily and the school is able to accommodate twice the number of girls that have been accepted hitherto.

I ought to add that two welcome visits were made in the field by Rev. Joao Capistrano and Mr. McCall. The latter reports having found considerable interest in many places and serious need of discipline in others. There were 15 professions of faith.

Miss Jayne writes:

My time is quite occupied here in the school and only occasionally I have time to visit our neighbors who send children to our primary school. Although the parents are quite indifferent to the Gospel, perhaps by means of the school we may keep some of the little children for the Master.

CAETETE FIELD

EQUIPMENT.—School for Boys and Girls.

The following extracts from Mr. McCall's report show what a busy and successful year he has had:

This year's work has been somewhat broken into, as I had to make a trip in the North Minas Field and an extensive trip through the Lencoes or Ponte Nova Field. We have had a very blessed year as well as a very busy one. The rains gave us pasture, and while they did not add to the comfort of our travel, yet they made it possible for us to keep our animals in such shape that we have been able to cover more ground than usual. This has necessitated my being away from Caetete about 200 days, and obliged my wife to do much pastoral work in addition to her own distinctive labors. Nearly 3700 miles have been travelled and some 3555 of these in the saddle. Thirty-nine have been received on profession of faith, and 17 children baptized. We anticipated a larger ingathering, but several are getting ready for a public profession of their faith, while others who seem ready are holding back. One very promising feature of this work is the large number of children in families of the believers and those interested in the Gospel; this gives much hope for the permanence of the work.

Mrs. McCall has also had a year of hard work. She writes:

Up to this year I had been actively engaged in teaching in our day school, but in January I became freed from this work except as "directora" and general supervisor. One of our last year's graduates, who is anxious to study for the ministry and could not go away this year, was engaged to help our Ponte Nova teacher, the payment for his services being the tuition in that school for one year. Thus I have been able to do more visiting and developing work, preparing of Bible lessons and missionary meetings; also I have had to do some private tutoring of unruly and backward pupils from prominent families, whose good will could not be lost from the gospel standpoint.

UMBURANAS

The following extracts are from Miss Williamson's report:

The month of November and part of December were almost wholly occupied in nursing a serious case of fever and in teaching the class of children who came to me for the five school days of the week.

On Christmas Day, as a Festival such as we usually have, seemed far beyond the comprehension or grasp of the most of the people here, I decided to arrange a simple but substantial dinner and call in the very poor women and children, as at that time people as well as animals were suffering for want of food. The invitations were accepted, I might say appropriated, as many came in on their own initiative, with alacrity, there must have been between sixty and seventy people here. When all seemed happy and satisfied, I invited everyone into the front room for a little Christmas service. We sang some appropriate hymns and had a very brief explanation of what the Christmas season means to us, after which the guests left in high good humor.

NORTH MINAS

EQUIPMENT.—Four Groups.

Mr. Graham has travelled extensively in North Minas and Goyaz. He reports his impressions of the trip into Goyaz as follows:

In many respects the Goyaz trip was the best I have ever made. Some of the things that most impressed me are (1) the readiness on the part of the people to hear the Gospel; (2) the scarcity of priests in those parts and the consequent liberty of conscience to be found with the people; (3) our great present opportunity. The way is open and there is but little to oppose our work. From Formosa, where some Dominican monks have a convent, to Porto Nacional, where there is another group of priests—a distance of over 500 miles—there are only two priests. There are at Arrias and Chapeo and both are old. The priests go out to distant towns once a year on the occasion of the annual feast day. They do the marrying and baptizing, and take the money from the people, but leave them absolutely without a knowledge of the Gospel, which ought to be given to them while the way is open. There is talk of a bishopric being established in Santa Luzia, and a Roman Church school at Posse. These may make our work more difficult.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) The city of Rio de Janeiro was chosen as the center of missionary operations in 1860. The first missionary was the Rev. Ashbel G. Simonton, a man peculiarly qualified for pioneer work. To his wisdom and faithful work the success of the S. Brazil Mission is largely due. He began preaching in a small third-story room, his first audience consisting of two men who had been his pupils in English. São Paulo, the capital of the state of that name, the seat of a large law school, attended by students from all parts of the country, was early chosen as the educational center of mission work in Brazil. A beginning was made by Mrs. Chamberlain, who gathered children of church people in one of the rooms of her house. During the succeeding years, primary, intermediate and high school courses were organized. In 1886, Horace M. Lane, M.D., was sent out to superintend all the educational work in São Paulo. Under his efficient direction the Eschola Americana became a large factor in the life of Brazil. The system of graded schools is crowned by MacKenzie College, designed to give the Brazilian youth such advantages as American colleges offer. The college, though in close harmony with the mission, is controlled separately. At Curitiba, the capital city of Parana, the Eschola Americana has developed into a very important and flourishing institution.

The first station in the State of Santa Catharina was opened at the capital, Florianopolis. The Theological Seminary, formerly at Sao Paulo, was removed to Campinas. The Brazilian Church supports the Seminary except for the salaries of missionary professors. Extensive itineration has been done from Castro and also from Guarapuava. Ponta Grossa is the most recent station occupied by the mission.

The National Church has done well. The movement for a better understanding and true co-operation between the Presbyterian Church and the Independent organization, and the efforts of the Brazilian Evangelical Alliance to tighten the bonds that bind the Protestant bodies, is a most hopeful sign.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

CASTRO STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Christian Institute; Industrial School for Boys and Girls; American School for Boys and Girls; Theological Seminary in union with other Protestant bodies in Brazil; 9 Churches; 26 Groups.

The annual reports of our missionaries for this year are full of encouragement and inspiration, and reveal a normal and steady growth of the work of the Mission. It is a significant fact that not one of the reports speaks of any opposition which has succeeded in seriously hampering or crippling the work, and we believe that at no time in the history of our Mission has our work had a higher standing or has the attitude of the general public toward our work been more sympathetic than during the past year. The Mission and our work in general has felt deeply the helpful influence of the Panama Congress and the Regional Conferences which followed it, and we believe that we are only beginning to reap the benefits which those conferences are destined to exert upon our lives and work. We have felt as never before the importance of the great work in which we are engaged, and we are more conscious than ever before of the fact that the Home Church is standing back of us. We believe, as one of our missionaries expressed it, that the hour of destiny for South America has struck and that she is coming into her own. Dr. and Mrs. Halsey's and Mr. Trull's brief visit to Brazil was a great source of inspiration and help, not only to our missionaries in the fields visited, but also to the missionaries and Brazilians who came together for the Regional Conference in Rio.

Miss Dascomb, our senior missionary, presented the following cheerful report:

I had expected to be useful in translation and coaching backward pupils, but a partial failure of eyesight, let us hope it is temporary, prevented. My present role is co-operation, to watch for opportunities to save the time and strength of Mrs. Hallock, and to join far-distant Miss Kuhl in prayer for the welfare of the Curityba School of Brazil, of our native land, and of the World.

The report of Mr. G. A. Landes tells of the work in Ponta Grossa and outlying stations. He says, in part:

The work in the field under my care has been, during this year, one of sowing and cultivating the soil rather than that of gathering the fruits. The work has been carried on with considerable difficulty, owing to the hard times. Many of the members of our church have had to seek work in other parts of the State; others live so far away that they can seldom attend worship. The attendance at our meetings in Ponta Grossa at present averages about 25, and the attendance at Sabbath School about the same.

A feature of special interest in the report of Mr. Kolb is his visit to Rio as delegates to the Regional Conference there, and his subsequent visit to the Gymnasio Evangelico at Lavras, and to Mackenzie College. Worship and Sabbath Schools held at half a dozen villages in chapels or in homes, baptisms, catechizing and reception of members show that "much seeding has been done," as much as could be done in a region stretching for 350 miles with a scattered population of 70,000 where two Lutheran pastors ministering to their German families, are the only other Christian workers. In the town of Guarapuava itself, Mr. Kolb says that the church services have had fair attendance, but "not much of a dent has been made on the town as far as appearances go." 12 persons were received here on profession. The work at Mandory deserves special mention. The great event of the year was the Christmas festival. The chapel, that has been enlarged, was too small to accommodate the people. The exercises produced a very favorable impression and Mr. Kolb believes that some of the unreasonable prejudice against the Gospel has been removed.

Mr. Bickerstaph reports a general awakening in all of his field, a strong desire for more of the missionary's time, and also a desire for more books fit for the needs of his extensive work.

During the year he has traveled over 1,200 miles on horseback and stage, and has opened up new work in two places. On one of these trips he preached 27 times in 13 places, sold 125$000 worth of books, and baptized 13 children; 25 adults made profession of faith, and 35 are studying the Bible preparing to profess. There has been in this field a steady, healthy, growing interest, so that the people left to themselves carry on the work. Altogether, he has baptized 41 children, received 52 adults on profession, two by letter, sold 600$000 worth of Bibles and hymn books.

Mrs. Bickerstaph tells of a happy year spent near Castro at the Instituto Christao in charge of the girls and boys of this place. In the city is a large Sunday School and one of the good things about her work during the year at the Instituto has been seeing the faithfulness of her Sunday School class of 20 girls.

The outstanding feature of the report of Mr. Lennington (who spent the year on furlough) was his inspiring account of his attendance at the Panama Congress, from which we transcribe the following paragraph:

So it was very fitting that while the great Pan-American Congresses on science, finance, commerce, etc., should meet and treat of the time interests of the Americas, in February last there should meet on the Canal Zone at Panama, a Congress which should treat of the eternal interest of the Americans. Oh, fellow-workers, do you wonder that, as I sat in the great audience room of the Hotel Tivoli and looked into the faces of the 159 delegates from North America and Europe, of the 115 from Latin America, and 187 from the Canal Zone, my eyes filled with tears and my head went down in grateful praise to Him Whom we serve in this far land? I shall ever be grateful to God for the privilege of attending what I consider one of the most epoch making conventions of the Church of Christ on earth, as for ten days those representative men and women sat with rapt faces listening to the burning pleas of men and women who knew of what they spoke and plead for their countrymen, there was burned down deep into the Church of Christ that she cannot neglect the work in Roman Catholic countries without being recreant to her duty to the crucified and risen Lord.

Upon their return from the Mission Meeting of 1915, Mr.

and Mrs. Salley found their work at Lages seemingly completely undone. A fresh impetus was given by the meetings held during Mr. Carriel's visit in January, resulting in the beginning of a young men's Bible Class with some 15 members. Two of the members made profession of faith.

A short trip to Curitybanos in March, to Rio de Janeiro in April for attendance at the Regional Congress, and the return journey with encouraging services at Laguna, Curitybanos and many other points were some of the interesting features of the work. The work of the winter was altogether in Lages. The Sunday School showed most encouraging gains, the enrollment being increased to 60 and the average attendance to about 40. A notable fact in connection with this work was that 80% of the children on the rolls were from non-Christian homes, and 35% were from homes that are not in special sympathy with our work. The change of the location of the worship-hall to a better locality opposite the theatre, brought an immediate increase of about 300% in the attendance at the evening service, and about 50% at the morning service.

A long evangelizing trip, not without its adventures, began the year for Mr. Carriel; south to Rio Negro and Florianopolis, thence inland five days on horse to Lages, where services were held for eight days in the Municipal Theatre. The situation there impressed him with the need of always continuing a work once begun. The attendance at the meeting began with about 150 and increased to 250 the last night. His addresses and violin playing were appreciated by all the people, and especially by the young men. The journey ended late in January. Two trips for the purpose of organizing Sunday Schools are recorded as part of February's work. In March he took charge of the Instituto Christao at Castro, in the absence of Mr. Midkiff. Preaching while Mr. Bickerstaph traveled, and instruction of the men's Bible Class were additional duties during Mr. Carriel's stay in Castro. Since March the work of the Instituto Christao has been under the care of Mr. Carriel who reports excellent progress on the part of the students. He says in part:

The enthusiasm for study in the Institute is remarkable. We had to prohibit the boys and girls from studying after 9:00 P. M. The students have shown the same enthusiasm for work. They made banisters for the stairs, screwed down the desks, which they had made, made a table and a Morris chair for the front room, some three or four dozen chairs for the dining-room, class-rooms and for the Castro Sunday School. A new store-room was fitted out with screen shelves for food, and several large compartments for sugar, flour, mandioca, etc. Considerable work was done, completing the windows of the carpenter shop and making others to give better light for the work. Two chicken houses were put up, gates were made, and iron fasteners made by the boys were put on the other gates and doors; repeatedly plows were mended and handles made, and iron braces adjusted. About one and one-half kilometers of barbed wire fence were built and some 30 acres of corn, beans and mandioca planted.

The Escola Americana at Curityba under Mrs. Hallock has done fine work. Mrs. Hallock reports in part as follows:

During the school year, commencing February 1, the Escola Americana has matriculated 218 pupils. Average attendance for the year, 162. Our teaching force numbers nine class-room teachers and one assistant, special teachers of Portuguese, French, German, Sewing, English, Bible

River Party at Work—The Survey Camp connected with Mackenzie College. This Camp is composed of members of the Engineering Class of Mackenzie. They work on this farm for a part of their vacation, the use of the farm being given them rent free, they in turn doing all the surveying required by the owner in return, for the use of the farm and for their practice work.

"All Hands and the Cook."

and Music. Miss McPherson at the Internato has charge of the boarding pupils, and also teaches a few classes. With reference to school ideals, the report reads as follows: "The only way we can hope to hold our pupils and gain others is by making our school better than any others, so much better that though the parents do not like our religious instruction, they will send their children to our school because of the excellence of its preparation for the Gymnasium, the University and for the business life. With this in mind, we have tried to do good, honest work each day, knowing that God must bless such endeavor." Mrs. Hallock mentions the abiding influence of the Misses Dascomb and Kuhl's work, and the manifest divine guidance in the midst of the Roman Catholic opposition, hard times and other perplexities and problems.

Mr. Philip Landes reports the weeding out of undesirable elements in the congregation at Cuyaba, Matto Grosso, encouraging attendance upon the regular services and generous contributions by the believers, and especially the opening up of marvelous opportunities for the preaching of the Gospel in the capital and throughout the State. The discussion with the friars, which he felt it his duty to take up in defense of the faith, has been the means of bringing the distinctive doctrines of Protestantism to the attention of thinking people throughout the entire State of Matto Grosso, his articles being read and favorably commented upon by the President and principal authorities of the State, thus reaching a class of people that could not or would not come to our services. Another great opportunity came to our Cuyaba missionary in his appointment by the President of the State as provisional professor of English in the "Lyceu Cuiabano."

Dr. Porter reports that the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Brazil which met February: (1) Tried more wisely and effectively than any meeting of the Assembly since it came into existence in 1910 to conciliate divers views of the Church polity. (2) Adopted almost unanimously a paper designed to conciliate the Independents and open the way for official conference between the committees of the two churches. (3) Adopted unanimously, and after prolonged consideration, the paper declaring that the Church had become of age and thought it best that the Missions should act as independent of the Assembly, the missionaries retiring from the Presbyteries, with the exception of the missionary professors in the Seminary, and the Assembly appointed a special committee to confer with the Executive Committee and with a similar committee of the Mission of the Southern Presbyterian Church, and propose a plan of cooperation between the missionaries and the Church. All the discussion of this subject was marked with the same Christian courtesy and gratitude toward the missionaries as appeared in the communication of the stated clerk of the Assembly on this subject, addressed to our Board, Executive Committee and missionaries. Dr. Porter reports a growing spirit of unity and cooperation in the Campinas churches, in so much so that all of them are receiving many converts, chiefly from the student class in that educational center. With reference to the Seminary, Dr. Porter says:

The Seminary is compelled to report to the directory this year a lowering of the level of study and spiritual quality in the students due to the unwise readiness of the Presbyteries to accept candidates of immature character and inefficient preparatory study. The professors believe that the missionaries can aid the Seminary by spreading the doctrine that novices should not be sent to the Seminary until they have been tried out in some form of Christian service.

MACKENZIE COLLEGE

During 1916 the work developed as to quality and breadth, and the workers cooperated in perfect harmony. We quote from the report:

A four years' Commercial Course has been planned and goes into effect early in 1917. We also offer a new course in Architectural Engineering. The increasing number seeking preparation as Industrial Chemists and the reputation acquired through the success of our graduates has led us to present this course in a more exact form. The organization into Lower and Upper Commercial Courses, Lower and Upper High Schools, General, Civil, Electric and Architectural Engineering, Industrial Chemistry and Literary Courses, permits one man to direct a department and to do considerable teaching also. The Engineers' Camp was organized and administered efficiently; nothing like it is attempted by any other school in Brazil. Mr. Holland is the new professor in Electrical Engineering. Senor Mattathias will return to our staff in 1917, and Mr. Coleman will undertake the directing of the Day School. The Boys' Scout organization has accomplished wonders.

The religious life of the institution has improved considerably. The presence of a Faculty, practically all Christian men, makes itself felt. The whole attitude of the student body is changing, and Protestantism is being held worthy of consideration.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) The first Protestant Mission in Chile was established by the American Foreign Christian Union, and was transferred to the Presbyterian Board in 1873. In 1846 Valparaíso was occupied by the Rev. David Trumbull, D.D., sent there by the Seaman's Friend Society and the American and Foreign Christian Union. Dr. Trumbull labored mostly for the English-speaking people, but did much for the Chileans through the press and in connection with our mission, with which he co-operated until his death in 1889. In 1866 Rev. A. M. Merwin took charge of the Spanish work. He began to preach in 1868 and a church was organized in 1869. The Rev. W. E. Dodge was sent out in 1882; he was soon called to be associate pastor of the Union Church of English-speaking residents, but was identified with our mission. Succeeding missionaries carried forward regular church work, established a school for boys and girls, a Sheltering Home for orphan children, and a religious paper known as "Heraldo Evangelico." In Santiago, the capital, one method of conducting evangelism has been by means of chapel services in different quarters in charge of a band of lay evangelists. The Instituto Internacional, a boarding school for boys, was begun in 1876; in 1898 the name changed to Instituto Ingles. The students have been drawn from influential families in Chile and other parts of western South America. The church in Concepción was founded in 1880. Work was started many years ago at Copiapo, but had a checkered existence until recent years.

In 1888 the government granted the mission a charter, whereby

"those who profess the Reformed Church religion according to the doctrines of Holy Scriptures, may promote primary and superior instruction, according to modern methods and practice, and propagate the worship of their belief obedient to the laws of the land"; and "this corporation may acquire lands and buildings necessary for the expressed object, and retain the same by act of the Legislature."

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

SANTIAGO

Santiago, the capital of Chile, situated in a wide valley at the foot of the Andes, about 116 miles from Valparaiso, Chile's chief sea-port, has with its suburbs a population of from 450,000 to 500,000, and the work of the Station is limited to this centre.

EVANGELISTIC.—The Regional Congress of Santiago, celebrated in the first half of March of the present year with the attendance and cooperation of the distinguished delegation which came from Panama, as also the preaching of the several eloquent servants of God from other countries in Latin America, has left with us a grateful memory and a great stimulus to our work.

It was one of the great outstanding features of the year. It has impressed our workers, given them vision, widened their sympathies, and stimulated them to better work. It is possible that it has given an impulse to a deeper feeling of nationalism, and to the Presbyterians has evidently been the occasion to bring to the fore the national aspirations to participate in the administration of our common Christian work. Moreover that Congress has opened a new horizon of hopes for the future of the Gospel in the new continent of which our country forms a part.

The plan of self-support, discussed at that time and since ratified by the Board of Foreign Missions, has started a movement to form a sinking fund to buy the church building. "This is one of the first things that we ought to obtain if its mission is going on to a real self-support." The pastor assures the Superintendent of the Station that this is not interfering with the work of self-support on the old lines. All branches of the church's work are carried on under the immediate direction of the session, thus maintaining unity and due supervision.

One thing brought into relief by the Congress, the general study of the field and of the principles which should underly our work, is: How much has been left undone! What a vast field is yet to be entered! How great our need of forms of work almost unknown amongst us! But greater still, what a tremendous need of TRAINED native leaders there is; how much room has come to light for wise investments of funds also. And above all, how much need there is of GOD in all of our, or rather His work, that has been entrusted to us!

The Sunday School received a good impulse from a rally day which brought together about 480 people, and was the occasion of starting a new men's class. For a number of months it maintained 16 classes, closing with 15. The membership for the year is 373. But the roll is kept clean by being made over every quarter.

Presbyterian Chapel, Santiago.

Church of the Redeemer—Santiago—A successful year—Atmosphere of the church elevated. More interest in the Scriptures, more eagerness for prayer and active service among the members.

The percentage of attendance has been as high as 587 for a quarter, falling in another to 580, for the year. One reason for this good percentage is systematic visitation of non-attendants, another the effort to keep the teaching on Biblical lines and the teachers well prepared. An impressive Decision Day resulted in about 60 signatures to the cards. There are 15 teachers in the Church School and five substitute teachers, and a live teachers' meeting for a considerable period maintained an attendance ranging between 20 and 30, teachers from several other schools being almost always present also.

The Evangelistic Committee is one of the most active organizations of the church; it conducts weekly meetings in Poblacion Carmen, and fortnightly open air services, distributes tracts which it buys, makes visits, etc. The attendance at the open air meeting has reached as high as 200.

Progress in the spiritual life of believers and a visible increase of converts is noted. If this spirit of union and co-operation continues, made fervent and guided by the Spirit of God, we may expect a good harvest in coming years. Moreover, notwithstanding financial difficulties in the world and in Chile, the year has been the best from the point of view of its finances that has been known.

Public Worship and Other Meetings.—

The former has been conducted without interruption. The Wednesday night prayer-meeting has an attendance of about 50. Many are so scattered and live at such a distance that it is hard to get them together for a mid-week meeting.

New Chapel in Providencia.—The meetings in a new Gospel Hall in Providencia have attracted a goodly number of people. Meetings are held there twice a week.

Temperance Society.—with a membership of 105 active members; works for total abstinence and has held 34 sessions with an attendance of 27 members. Besides it has held a number of meetings of a social character and of propaganda with considerable success.

The services in the Evangelical Chapel on the corner of Santa Isabel and Credito, opened February, 1915, have gone on along the same lines as in the first year, with additions and natural developments.

During this year there have been living in the neighborhood of this chapel 29 adults who are members of evangelical churches. Of these nine do not attend its services, but the other 20 do, and the larger part of them with considerable regularity. This has become practically the church home of 13 of them. It became evident to the workers that the time was ripe for the organization of a church. And steps were taken to this end in the last quarter of the year.

Cinco De Abril.—After some considerable searching, due consideration and prayer, the most propitious place for opening another chapel under the Mission's direction appeared to be in that large division of the city formerly known as Chuchunco, but now called Esmeralda, that lies west of the R. R. and Alameda Station and south of the "Quinta Normal."

It is a section of the city largely shut off from the rest, and with a population equal to a small city where there is no evangelical work carried on.

It was planned that services should be held Sunday and Thursday nights, and also a Sunday School. The work had hardly got under way when a persecution broke out which continued until September.

EDUCATIONAL.—Since the last Report of the "Instituto Ingles" was written, one school year has closed, another graduating class has gone out from us, with what was, in the judgement of many, the best Commencement exercises we have ever had. An audience of almost 500 people were present, three young men were graduated in the High School course, and four others received Certificates of work done in the Commercial Department. The American Ambassador was present and delivered his Embassy Medal, and expressed great satisfaction at the showing made by our graduates and at the unusual interest manifested by the large attendance in all the exercises of the evening.

Of the three young men graduated in the High School course, one is now a student in the Colorado School of Mines, at Golden; he was admitted on diploma and without examination, as one other before him was admitted, and as others have been admitted to other schools and universities. Another of the class is studying Agriculture in the State School of Agriculture, in Santiago, and the other is employed in a commercial house of Santiago. Of the four who completed the Commercial Course, all are employed, either at home with their parents, or in the commerce of the country.

The Instituto Ingles is sending, in comparison with the numbers of its student body, as many or more students into the American universities than any other institution in Chile. And we have the satisfaction of knowing that our representatives are head and shoulders above the average Latin American student, morally, and that intellectually they do not fall behind their fellows.

The religious work done in the school during the year has been especially effective. There has been an excellent spirit among the boys in regard to the religious work. Interest in the morning chapel service has been marked; the Y. M. C. A. has had an unusually large membership; the Livingstone Club, as usual, has had a full quota of members; the older boys, particularly, have manifested interest in the classes of Bible History and have asked questions on points of doctrine that have opened the way to say some very practical things in regard to evangelical truth and practice.

The acceptance of the resignation of Dr. Browning, who has done such faithful service as head of the School, for the position of Educational Director for Latin America, working under the Latin America Continuation Committee, has created a great problem for the Mission. It will be very difficult to find a worthy successor. In the large work to which he goes he will be followed by the good wishes and prayers of all who remember his devotion to the work of education in our Chile Mission.

VALPARAISO

The population of Valparaiso and Vina del Mar is 275,000.

The work of the Station is Evangelistic and Educational. There are organized churches in Valparaiso, Vina del Mar and Santa Inez, and 10 out-Stations with 11 Sunday Schools and three Christian Endeavor Societies. There are nine schools, including the Escuela Popular.

EVANGELISTIC.—In the Valparaiso Church the usual services have been maintained with an average attendance of 115 Sunday evenings and 45 in the prayer-meeting. Special meetings have been held with greatly increased attendance.

This church has suffered decrease in attendance at all its services on account of the extremely severe winter and the prevailing epidemics. All its agencies, such as the Sunday School, Christian Endeavor, Women's League, and Workers' Training Class, have been continued with success. This latter organization is attended by the older and more developed members of the church. It has done faithful and efficient work during the entire year. In the Monday night meetings its members have studied the Book of Acts and a course in the Parables. Five preaching places have been maintained by the members of this class, and one of the bright spots in the work of the year has been the opening of a new preaching place in Cerro Cordillera, one of the largest and most densely populated hills in Valparaiso. They are nearly all men who work hard during the day, but are willing to sacrifice themselves in order to preach the Gospel to that great needy district.

Church Finances.—The church has paid its monthly quota of 300 pesos during the year, and has a specially creditable record of self-support.

Vina del Mar Church.—The church here greatly needs the help of a Chilean pastor. While some progress has been made, yet the gains are not what had been hoped for.

Several difficulties opposed themselves. First, the lack of competent church officers who, in the absence of a pastor, can take the lead. There is a small group of good workers, but they are too few. Since the crisis and the accompanying scarcity of work and low wages began, socialism of an irreligious type has grown rapidly among the artisans, making them less responsive to the overtures of the church. Then too, there is the lack of adequate equipment for social and educational work, which would help to overcome this difficulty.

The Sunday School has eight classes and an enrollment of 102; the average attendance has been 75.

Santa Inez Church.—This church under the direction of Sr. Diaz has gone on well. It feels that better equipment for social work would be a means of gathering in many more members. The monotonous, commonplace lives of the working-class people, if they can be brightened by innocent diversions or helpful intellectual pursuits, are made far more receptive to the Gospel. Stolid indifference engendered by vice is difficult material to work upon.

The day-school has done much in this neighborhood. A night-school would give better results, and further equipment would do still more. As a field for social uplift work, Chile offers a field unequalled in opportunity and promise. A swing in the rear of the church, a few innocent games, an occasional concert or lecture, are appreciated to the full.

One new feature of the work this year has been the co-operation with the Y. M. C. A. They have taken charge of the Sunday night service on one occasion in Valparaiso with very satisfactory results. Their educational committee has also secured lecturers on practical topics to go to our various centers and speak on vice and gambling, hygiene, and kindred subjects. These efforts have been well received by the people, and we expect to continue and enlarge these activities.

The work of the Out-Stations may be summed up in the phrase "continued activity with varying success." There is an ebb and flow of the tide of activity determined by the conditions which happen to exist. In all of the eight Out-Stations the report speaks of the faithfulness of the workers under the stress of a shortage of workers and with untrained leaders. In some cases as at Chorrillos where the nuns used their influence to keep the people from attendance, there has been opposition. This has been regarded as a challenge and none of the work has been discontinued.

The work of the Escuelas Populares this year has been stimulated by the fact that many of the teachers attended the Congress in Santiago. Most of them returned with an entirely different attitude toward the work.

The large attendance and the superior class of children has made things move along more enthusiastically, and the discipline has been very easy. The total enrollment for the month of June, which is usually the best month, has been 781. The boarding department has been very full and the girls have given the least possible trouble. The fact that they are preparing for teachers gives added seriousness and a sense of responsibility that has a splendid effect on their character. Five of the girls have become members of the church this year. And as quite a number of the girls know how to play, they have been able to help in the music in the "locales."

TALTAL

Tocopilla.—The Tocopilla church is in a most flourishing condition. The entire church, the larger part of which is in the Pampa, is enthusiastic in the work. Under the leadership of Don Pedro J. Munoz and Vicente Aroza the church has been kept spiritually vivified. This has been done in spite of some untoward conditions.

In August, three of the Oficinas of the German Company closed down. There resulted from this 7,000 people left without means of a livelihood. Only Rica Aventura remains belonging to this company, and they cannot say how long they may continue working. Of course, some of our people will be able to obtain employment in the other establishments, as there are five others operating with full number of workmen. Among these is "Coya," where there are nearly 4,000 souls, and we have but a beginning among them. This has been on account of the lack of time to open any other places, and we thought that it were better to work the fields occupied, rather than to scatter effort over a greater field and accomplish less. Tocopilla Peregrina keeps at the top of the list. The meetings held there in August were inspiring. They have dedicated one night in the week to a house-to-house prayer-meeting led by a different person each week. And as Peregrina and Santa Isabel are less than half a mile apart, the members in one attend the meetings in the other, visiting back and forth among themselves. So when we had a general meeting in the new, large, electric-lighted room in Santa Isabel for the celebration of the Lord's Supper, all attended from both places. We had more than 100 in attendance and about 25 members took part.

The prospect of a new church building has been a great encouragement. $2,000 Chilean currency was collected from the people, to which the Mission voted $3,000 from the Kennedy fund. There is a plan also to look toward the establishing of a school in a room on the street as soon as practicable. So we will be able to draw support not only from the town but from the Pampa as well. There are many in the Pampa who would send their children to the port to such a school.

Gatico is attended from Tocopilla, being about 30 miles south by sea.

The mines there continue to be worked with more than 1,000 operatives in both mine and smelter. They and their families make up the greater part of the inhabitants of the small port and the entire population of the mine "La Toldo." There are several families in the mine and one or two in the town, and for the meetings we have a good room furnished as usual, and with electric light furnished by the company. Sr. Munoz tries to visit them for 15 days every three months.

Taltal.—The church in Taltal is smaller in membership than Tocopilla, but it is a church with practically all the work being done in the port with little or none in the interior.

There are but few members in the Pampa as compared with Tocopilla. But the church in the port is the most active that we have north of Valparaiso, and others who have visited it have said that it is the most active in all the north section. At one communion service there were 138 in attendance with 57 members partaking.

Chanaral.—For many years we had a work in that old port. Recently it has taken on new life, and the future looks very bright for them.

The American Copper Company, which is opening up the great deposit in Potrerillos, 100 miles interior from Chanaral, is building its railway, and will build another port for Chanaral. Already there is more movement in the place than in any other from Taltal to Coquimbo. In the little building which was erected as an Angelican Chapel, we have still a faithful band who met and who have kept fanning the embers to keep up a little flickering flame.

CONCEPCION STATION

EVANGELISTIC.—The spirit of the church is good. A number of members are endeavoring to bring in new people as well as help the regular attendants. Some 30 have signed the temperance pledge, three catechumen classes have been held for six months to accommodate men, women and children.

The Evangelistic Committee has some very efficient members. They attend to week night meetings in the pampa, hold open-air meetings on Sabbath morning and have been going in companies of twos and threes to a mining camp ten or 11 miles distant. At these meetings there have been as many as 300 people. Tracts have been distributed and Bibles and other religious books sold. One member of this committee is a shoemaker, who has been very active in bringing new people in from right around where he lives. Another shoemaker, who has been known for years as a terror, has been faithful in attendance for six months and has given up liquor and tobacco. There is a great seriousness on the part of the young men and older boys and the Christian Boys' Club which has the use of one of the rooms of the Mission house, is having a perceptible influence over some of them. The Women's and Young Ladies' League meet together fortnightly for sewing, brief Bible study, reading of some worth-while book and conversation on hygiene, home-keeping, care of children and kindred topics.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Escuela Popular has had an entire enrollment of 125 very nearly evenly divided between the boys and girls..

There has been a decided influence against the school. The priests have organized two catechism classes, one Sunday morning, the other in the afternoon, not far from our school, and evidently have been working to get the children away from the school. Prizes are given for constant attendance. One little boy told his teacher that the priest had said that the devil was in our school and that all that went there were bad. The teacher asked the child if he had ever seen the devil, and receiving a prompt negative, told him to ask the priest how it was that he, who lived so far away, could know that the devil was in our school when the boy, who was there every day, had never seen him.

At Chillan regular preaching services have been held and a mid-week prayer service maintained.

Some 3,500 tracts have been distributed throughout the year and meetings have been held in six different parts of the city, using stereopticon views of the Life of Christ and temperance. Most of the church members study their Bibles and pray, speaking to others of the Gospel, and their lives are worthy of their profession.

OUT-STATIONS OF CONCEPCION

Rancagua.—Established 1904. No Resident workers but one church with a membership of 21.

The charge of the services remains largely in the hands of the elders. They feel, and with reason, that the great need of the church in the present hour is the stabilizing influence of a resident leader. In spite of difficulties, however, the church is active and alive. It seems to have caught something of the spirit of the Santiago Conference and is reaching out to those round about. Various members of the congregation make occasional trips to Rosario, 14 miles south of Rancagua, where they hold services in a room granted them by the Superintendent of a large lumber firm. This man is himself interested in the Gospel, and there is hope that in the near future we will have a considerable group in this town.

In every direction from Rancagua, there is an open field, but the laborers are few. In each place it would be very easy to gather a group. In Graneros, six miles to the north, there are several families who would gladly welcome an evangelical worker. The Rancagua church is anxious to do its part in accepting the challenge; but it needs a leader. To prove their interest and good faith, they have a fund, raised by monthly subscriptions, for Home Missions, which they desire to use in just such work as their field offers.

In the mountains above Rancagua are the great mines of the Braden Copper Company. People who have lived there and know the Superintendent, assure us that we would be given perfect freedom to conduct whatever work we could in Spanish and English, and that we could undoubtedly count on the active support of several influential persons.

San Fernando.—Established 1903.

During this year there has been little evident advance made in the work of the church; in fact some who were moved with enthusiasm have returned to their former immobile state.

Sr. Villa has been faithful in his preaching and visitation, and he feels that he is just now beginning to gain the confidence and good will of many new people with whom he has worked.

Curico.—The condition of this church has never been better than now. The last year has been one of gradual awakening, and the present moment finds the congregation united and willing.

Additions during the year have not been numerous; nothing sensational has happened; but there has been a gradual gathering of momentum. A Bible Study Class, started six months ago, has been attended faithfully; the Ladies' Aid, after several violent spasms, got under way and is running smoothly now; the Jr. C. E. has continued its good work. Several hundred tracts have been distributed and a number of books sold.

Unsolicited, three Chilean members have pledged 100 pesos each toward a new building; at least two more have a private fund for this purpose; the Liga and C. E. Society contribute regularly to the church funds, and at the last meeting of the Bible Class, the members requested a change in the rules which would allow them to take a weekly collection, because "we want to help too." With this spirit we begin the new year.

The work among the children is especially promising; one would scarcely recognize them as the same that we found here two years and a half ago. One youth has already entered the church and more are about ready.

The father of one of our families has recently been making money fast; the effect upon the mother and daughters, who are members, was such that there was danger of losing them. But the reaction has come and they are now quite faithful. The family lives in the best part of town and is more or less socially ambitious, yet they come to the poor little chapel to worship in spite of all the social disdain. This means much in Chile.

Talca.

The condition of the Talca Church is good. The congregation, like all the rest, is not a rich one, but it has fulfilled its obligations in financial matters regularly and has made no retrenchment.

There is a good sized corps of workers in the various societies. For nine months during the past year, preaching services were held in a suburb in a room provided by the members. In a recent survey of the city we found that there is plenty of opportunity for this kind of work and also for primary schools. One section of about 20 blocks has no primary school—this is in a poorer section. A small hall in the church property could also accommodate some 40 children.

Linares.—

This little group has remained firm and the interest has increased. Seven were just recently received as members of the Talco Church, making a total of ten church members in Linares. The Sunday School is held in the home of one of the members, as there is no one competent to direct it publicly in the local.

HISTORY.—(For the date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) After the wars which freed South America from Spanish domination in 1819, the northern section was constituted a republic, embracing the present States of Ecuador, Venezuela and Colombia. The natural diversity of the population soon caused a division into the three republics which now exist. Rev. Horace B. Pratt, the first missionary sent to Colombia, reached Bogota June 20, 1856. At that time the government interposed no hindrances, but the priests and the ignorance of the masses of the people greatly retarded the circulation of the truth through the press. In 1858 two more missionaries arrived and the mission was established in the face of bitter Papal opposition. The first church was organized in 1861 with six members. A girls' school was opened in 1860 and in 1890 a school for boys. In the face of many discouragements, including civil war, the church and school made slow and painful progress. Work was begun in Barranquilla by missionaries transferred from Bogota. When the need of a suitable building for a school became pressing, funds were secured for the purpose, but the ecclesiastical authorities persuaded the governor to refuse a permit for the re-opening of the school on the ground that it was controlled by foreigners and Protestants. After the loss of several months, permission was finally secured by the intervention of the United States Consul. Constant opposition was not strong enough, however, to prevent the school becoming the largest in the city. At Medellin a church was organized, an excellent day school carried on and much evangelistic work done until 1907, when failing health obliged the missionaries in charge to leave. The church continued its existence, but the station was not reopened until 1911. Work in Colombia has always been hampered by lack of adequate missionary force. Sometimes the whole responsibility of a station and school has fallen upon one or two missionaries.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A Statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

BOGOTA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Boarding School; Girls' Boarding School; one Church; three Groups; one Day School.

EVANGELISTIC.—During the week of prayer, a remarkable series of evangelistic meetings was conducted by Mr. Baker, ex-Methodist minister from Cuba.

The church was crowded all the time, and many decision cards were signed. Some of these who signed are preparing to join the church, but the majority have retired. A meeting of the members is held monthly to resolve whatever points may come up. A church social is held every three months. A small prayer meeting is held in an ante-room before all the evening services, which are invariably followed by after meetings whose character varies from testimony meetings to prayer meetings, and whose attendance varies from 10 to 50. The main meetings are attended by about 100 to 150 people. More come to special services. Nine names have been removed from the roll for drink or immorality. The introduction of the envelope system has (a) raised the Sunday night collections, (b) made possible a payment to our outstation at San Lorenzo, (c) enabled us to abolish the grant for repairs received from the Board, and (d) to dispense with the annual grant of the Board for S. S. work.

Special Training.—A special four days' conference for the teachers of the boys' school and colporteurs was arranged, and the results were manifest in the enlarged outlook of the men. All the missionaries have given some time to personal interviews. Still, we must confess that we are still far from realizing the seminary ideal. Two young men have made special progress.

SAN LORENZO.—

This outstanding has held its own. The initial enthusiasm has passed; 20 pupils are in the school; some itinerating work has been done. The priest has sustained a bitter opposition. Our chief difficulties have been the persistent belief, fostered by the priests, that we give money or other rewards to members; the fact that our Protestant marriage has no legal recognition; and, just lately, Russellism.

EDUCATIONAL.—Boys' School.—School opened with 69 on the roll. A young engineering student has proved a great success as a teacher. He is most interesting and is one of those comparatively rare Colombians who teach for the love of it. Mr. Warren writes:

The boys have worked very cheerfully and there has been a good school spirit throughout the year. The definitely religious part of the work has been along three lines: (1) Morning prayers, consisting of two hymns, a short portion of the Word of God, a practical talk and prayer; (2) the class Bible classes; (3) the after school Bible classes. We attach most importance to this last method, as attendance at the other two is compulsory, whereas the boys who come to the after school classes have to sacrifice some of their precious playtime to do so. This class has opened the way to personal dealing with the most interested ones. Senor Bautista, one of the teachers, has been a great help in this. He has come to the office every day for prayer with Mr. Allan and myself. In this way the work has been very definite. Then, too, after dinner at night, we have had a short family prayer meeting with the teachers and two of the boys who are church members. Mr. and Mrs. Birtchett always come to this and have helped us greatly. In Colombia, it is a very common thing to separate religion and daily living, so that the boys who say they belong to Christ stay for a short testimony meeting after our special Bible class, and, if during the day they have let the flag fall, they say so frankly and we remind them of the necessity of trusting in Christ for keeping power in the school room as well as in the playground and at home. Then we give each other helpful verses and finish by a circle of prayer. The boys concerned say that this quiet time is a big help in conquering temptation and have asked that it be continued during the holidays. The boarding department of the school has come out even, and we have been able to put a new stove into the kitchen, which will considerably lighten expenses in the coming years.

Girls' School.—School opened with an enrollment of 79. During the year there have been enrolled 102, but girls have come and girls have gone and school closes in November with an average attendance of 65.

There are three regular class room teachers, dividing the school into three sections, and an annex, where the girls are of all ages. The annex is our school for the very poor children, who cannot pay even the moderate prices of the other courses. It is very hard to classify a Colombia school according to ages, for many come to us advanced in years with almost no schooling even in this city, the Capital of the Republic, where brilliant intellects and wealth abound among the upper class, and yet on every side so much ignorance and poverty keeps the lower classes down. Where superstition and fanaticism abounds, ignorance reigns supreme.

Besides the regular course in the three R's, we have classes in drawing, piano, stringed instruments, embroidery, dressmaking and bookkeeping. Hygiene is taught by Mrs. Austin, who is a graduate nurse. The day is dawning when there are openings for women bookkeepers and typists in offices, so some of the more enterprising girls are taking these classes extra. Cleanliness, discipline and order according to our Anglo-Saxon interpretation, are not evident. It would amuse those at home to see the efforts to keep the school clean and with at least a semblance of order. The girls do most of the work about the house, changing their tasks the first of each month.

This Station supports a little school outside of Bogota and the teacher also has services on Sunday in the same room. Here too the priest has done all possible to stop the work. When the work began some two years ago, he threatened the parents and those interested, but finding that that was of little avail in a liberal town, he is trying another tact now in offering gifts and clothing as rewards for attending the public school.

The Colombians call this institution a Colegio, though our work extends but through the grammar grades. There is higher education for the men, but we take the girls as far as any school save the Normal School. But with conditions as they are in the public schools, we cannot advise our girls to teach, for they would have to attend mass regularly with their pupils every Sunday and go to confession at intervals and teach the Roman dogmas in the schools instead of the Bible. All the boarders and some day pupils attend church and Sunday School. There is also a service for the boarders on Sunday morning in our parlor. On Saturday nights we have a sing and the girls look forward to it and sing the gospel songs.

LITERARY.—The relatively small number of subscribers to our monthly paper may be due to the following reasons: (1) The character of the present Government (Conservative and ultramontane), and the predominance of the Roman clergy who prohibit the reading of all literature not approved by the Church; (2) the smallness of our evangelical constituency. Signs are not wanting—such as the unification of the liberal political elements, now in progress, the general protest against clerical interventions in politics, extreme measures recently adopted in an annual conference of Bishops which provoke resentment and tend to weaken the influence of the Church, etc.—to justify the belief that a new era of greater freedom is approaching with larger usefulness for Christian literature.

BARRANQUILLA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Boys' Boarding School; Girls' Boarding School; one Church; two Groups; six Day Schools.

EVANGELISTIC.—There has been an encouraging activity in the church which has been shown in the increased attendance in all the services as well as in the Bible classes held during the week, and in the increased number of Cottage Meetings. The average attendance last year in the evening services and at Sunday School was estimated at about 95; this year it has grown to about 125. One of the good points about the Barranquilla Christians is that the whole church goes to Sunday School and to the mid-week prayer meetings.

Perhaps the most encouraging part of the City Evangelistic Work has been the Cottage Meetings under the direction of Senor Rafael Berelly and faithfully assisted by the men of the church, who take turns in conducting the meetings, of which from five to nine were held weekly most of the year. With the Cottage Meetings, the week-night Bible classes and the regular services, the men are engaged in Christian activities every night of the week. The men and the boys, with their eager faces, form a conspicuous part of the regular services where they make up about three-fourths of the congregation. The women and girls, too, have shown their desire to help in the evangelistic work by means of the Woman's Missionary Society and the Tabitha Society.

The work at Barrio Arriba (The Upper Ward) grows most encouragingly with three weekly services on Tuesday, Friday and Sunday evenings, besides the morning Sunday School and an Inquirers' Class on Sunday afternoons. This work is carried on by the Colombian Christians. The funds for its support, including the rent of the house and the salary of the teacher in the day school, are contributed by personal gifts from the members of the "Mother Church" and by the sums above mentioned given by the Woman's Missionary Society and the Tabitha Society. Senor Eloy Carbonell and his wife, who are both Christian live in the Barrio Arriba house, and to a certain extent are responsible for the work. Senor Carbonell is a carpenter and works at his trade, but he takes his turn at leading the evening services, conducts the Sunday School, teaches the class for adults, and of his own initiative organized the Inquirers' Class for Sunday afternoon and teaches it.

The meetings at Siape were discontinued after the rains set in, partly because of the impracticability of the long walk, and partly because the families who were most interested in the Gospel have come to Barranquilla to live.

During the year, three visits to Cartagena were made to administer the Lord's Supper to the little shepherdless flock there. We began work in Puerto Colombia and found the people eager for meetings and the study of the Bible, but the work was discontinued because of the heavy rains.

EDUCATIONAL.—In spite of the European War which so seriously affects the financial conditions of the coast towns in South America, the Girls' School numbers have remained about the same, an average of about 100 girls. Plans are under way to begin the course in Domestic Science as soon as the additional rooms are finished, which the generous gift of the Woman's Board of Philadelphia is making possible.

The Boys' School in many ways has had a very successful year. Deeper interest than ever before was shown in the Bible classes; 120 boys were registered and the daily attendance was unusually good. The standard of scholarship was raised considerably and three boys form the graduating class from the High School Department. Financially the year was also quite successful.

Besides these two well-established schools under the care of the missionaries, there are six little independent, self-supporting, evangelical schools, which are being conducted by our Christian women. In these schools, 142 children are being educated, of whom 105 are girls and 37 are boys. Of these schools, the largest has an enrollment of 52, and the smallest of two. In each school daily Bible lessons are taught, hymns are sung, and the schools are distinctively known as Protestant Schools.

LITERARY.—During the year the young men of the church began to publish a weekly paper called "El Verbo Cristiano" (The Christian Word). This paper was afterward made a semi-monthly and is really a very good little sheet showing depth of thought and of spiritual life of the contributors.

MEDELLIN STATION

EQUIPMENT.—One Church; one Day School.

At the beginning of the year, Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank were the only missionaries on the field. Mr. and Mrs. Barber, on account of ill health, were on furlough. With the help of the native evangelist, Sr. Norberto Navarro, the regular services were kept up, Sunday School on Sunday mornings, and services on Sunday and Wednesday evenings.

Mr. Cruickshank also continued the Bible study class begun by Mr. Barber. Even though this is a strong Catholic Center, the attendance at the services has been very encouraging. The average attendance at Sunday School is 30. In the evening the chapel is almost always well filled, and an orderly crowd, afraid to enter the building, listens in the street. There seems to have been a great change in the attitude of the people; when the work was first begun here, they tried to interrupt the services in all kinds of ways. Now there is very seldom a disturbance of any kind.

Sr. Navarro and his family have taken up work in Antioquia. Regular visits had been made to that city for some time, and the little band of believers had been held together by one of the natives, himself only recently converted. As that seems to be a field full of golden opportunities, the Station risked the extra expense made necessary by the opening of an out-station. Sr. Navarro has met with much opposition, but in spite of all, the work has been going steadily forward. School work was begun in Antioquia some months ago, and at present there are 15 boys and girls in the school, all children of church members, or of those who attend services and have requested to become members.

BUCARAMANGA STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Two Groups; two Day Schools.

This outpost of Christian service is about 200 miles from the nearest mission center and is now occupied by a single, courageous soldier of the Cross, Mr. Charles S. Williams, whose wife is ill on furlough in the homeland. He writes:

Of course there are more delectable things than being in a lonely, almost hidden spot all alone, and I am not insensible to the fact that there is a certain element of risk in it, but I am not so sure that the element of risk has anything to do with a call to duty anywhere, much less when it means abandoning a work like this. My work has suffered sadly by my absence and neglect, due to illness in the home. But, with it all, it is hard to think of giving it up. One's heart is where his treasure is, and I feel that there is much treasure here. It is no little thing to feel the warm friendship and sympathy of so many people, people who look to me for many things, and who will be shepherdless if I go. It is wrong in principle to try to carry on a work which is so isolated, with one family, or one person, as it has become now, but it is wrong in principle and practice to abandon a work which has been started, which has been the object of so much sacrifice, and which has become the center of so much interest. It must be remembered that in a general survey, even from the viewpoint of the number of Stations and of missionaries, we in Colombia are far below the average for even Latin-America. To abandon a Station would seem a decided step backwards. I have not taken any steps to secure property, as I have been waiting for a definite decision from the U. S. I feel that it will be forthcoming, for the times and the seasons are ripe now. But I shall not be disheartened should nothing result. I have a much better house than it had been possible to secure before. I have it because the depression following the European War reduced the rent enough to make it possible for us to rent it within our budget. In it I hold services, slowly regaining lost ground through the interruptions. The school is suspended this year. It was too late when I got back to try to reopen it. Whether there will be a possibility to go on with it next year I do not know. It is too much for me to carry out the school alone and do my preaching or pastoral work. It is difficult to get efficient teachers, and the one I had went to Bogota, largely on his wife's account. He has sought employment there. So I am alone.

CERETE STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Three Groups; two Day Schools.

Dr. Jarrett reports: The Cerete Station consists of a group of preaching centers and schools in comparatively small towns—hence the missionary in charge must do a lot of traveling, on horse-back and by canoe and launch.

Campanito, where the work was started, is about 30 miles from the River Sinu, and the Mission House is on the edge of a great forest. The rainy season this year was exceptionally heavy and brought an unprecedented amount of sickness among the people. The work of attending to them came very heavily on Mrs. Jarrett during our frequent absence from Campanito. Roads were so bad that the journey between Campanito and Cerete was often lengthy and difficult, and sometimes dangerous. Meetings at Campanito have maintained a high level. It is an inspiration to see the chapel on the hill crowded morning and evening on Sundays, many of those present having come miles to attend. Week night services are held in the large reception room in the mission house and consist of Bible classes for men and women. Night school was held for a part of the year, and the day school suffered the loss of most of the bigger boys and girls, who are early needed for work in the fields or home. This year has been very marked in this respect, but little ones are coming along to fill their places, and the earlier we get them the better.

In Vilches I lost the services of my helper, Sr. Redondo. The work as a consequence slowed up a bit, but I was able to secure the services of Sr. Manga of the Barranquilla Church and the work soon went ahead again—four regular services each week, a mixed school and much visiting in the region around. We opened a fine new hall in Cerete, and that has put new life into our work there. Both here and in Vilches there are a number of candidates for church membership. In spite of these many regular services, time has been found to visit many places up and down the river and off into the country. Thousands of books have been circulated and meetings held in market places, private houses, etc. Several of the great Feasts in the region have been visited when the whole time (two or three days) would be taken up in distributing books, preaching, talking, discussing to the great crowds gathered from over a vast area, who come together on these occasions to buy, to sell, to drink, to gamble, to dance, to sin and in some cases to attend the religious services of the saint in whose honor the feast is held. The priest is busy baptizing, marrying, saying prayers and masses, and makes a large sum of money, as all the services have a high tariff. It is a grand opportunity for the missionary to meet people from remote regions and to place literature in many distant villages and homes.

GUATEMALA MISSION

GUATEMALA CITY: 60 miles from the seaport of San Jose; occupied 1882. Missionaries—Rev. William B. Allison and Mrs. Allison, Rev. Linn P. Sullenberger and Mrs. Sullenberger, Miss Henrietta S. York, Miss Laura E. Morrison.

QUEZALTENANGO: 125 miles northwest from Guatemala City; occupied 1898. Missionaries—Rev. Paul Burgess and Mrs. Burgess.

RESIGNATIONS: Dr. Mary E. Gregg, Rev. and Mrs. Elmer E. Freed

FURLONGHS: Rev. and Mrs. Linn P. Sullenberger.

HISTORY.—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) Early in 1882 the attention of the Presbyterian Board was called to the fact that in all Guatemala there was not one Protestant church service held, while in the capital were many Europeans and Americans. Assurances were given of the sympathy of the President of the republic and of freedom of religious belief. The first missionary reached Guatemala City toward the end of 1882. The plan adopted was to gather an English-speaking congregation and organize a Protestant Church. Services were held in private residences. By April, 1883, the new missionaries were fully established. A Sunday-school was organized and attended by the children of the President and others in high positions. By the close of the year the new chapel was filled. Spanish work was established and a chapel built in 1891. Two churches were organized in 1892, one of Spanish-speaking and the other of English-speaking people. In 1894 the English church became independent. A girl's school was organized in 1884, but was closed in 1891. At the beginning of 1913, another School for Girls was opened in a fine new building.

Medical work was begun in 1906, and in 1913 the hospital was opened. In connection with the hospital is a training School for Nurses.

In 1896 a lot was purchased in Quezaltenango and a church and parsonage built, largely with funds raised on the field. In 1902, a terrible earthquake nearly destroyed the town, and great loss of life occurred. A volcanic eruption followed which ruined the plantations around the city. These calamities interrupted all progress for a time. In 1912, a church building was dedicated. When the building was proposed, contractors refused to undertake the building of a Protestant church, and the work was performed by day labor under the constant supervision of the missionaries.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

GUATEMALA

The past year has been one of continued blessing upon the work, and we must first of all thank God for His direction and blessing, for to Him belongeth the honor and the glory.

EVANGELISTIC.—Guatemala Station.—The regular services in the church, Guatemala City, have continued as heretofore, but with new and additional fruitage.

The average attendance has been higher than any year of the last 13. Many people have heard the Gospel for the first time, and there have been conversions, giving wonderful evidence of the mighty work of the Holy Spirit.

The Sunday School.—This part of the work has been especially gratifying. The membership has now run beyond the 300 mark. During the past 12 months there has been an average of 245 at the S. S. service each Sunday, with an average offering of 153.30 pesos ($3.83 gold) for each Sunday of the year, or a total of 7,871.60 pesos for the year.

The Out-Station Work has been peculiarly blessed in every part of the field in connection with this Station. The workers are all overburdened, each one with several times as many preaching places as can be handled by any one man. If the native force were doubled to-day, the force would be still wholly inadequate. During the past year in this Station 68 souls have been added, and as many more are on the waiting list to be received when they more clearly understand the great importance of this step.

Work Among Women.—Mrs. Allison writes:

My regular work has been with my Bible classes for women on Sundays and Wednesdays, playing the organ and leading the singing at the seven regular weekly meetings and Mr. Haymaker's extra classes.

Among the 152 women enrolled in my Sunday morning Bible class, a goodly number are Christian serving women.

EDUCATIONAL.—The Girls' School has continued with some interruption through the year. The resignation of Rev. and Mrs. Freed left the responsibility largely upon Miss Morrison. As she was learning the language she was greatly handicapped but she faithfully carried on her task. She writes:

In October came other responsibilities, such as the management of the servants; the final examinations; the final program; the reception of the parents and settling accounts; the oversight of trunk packing and the departure of the girls. This latter duty gave me a splendid opportunity of meeting the parents and of gaining their confidence for the next year. It was gratifying to see their satisfaction and to have a great majority of them reserve places for their girls for the coming year. Since then I have been arranging for the new year and superintending the cleaning and repairing.

MEDICAL.—The Hospital work has been greatly interfered with by the resignation of Dr. Rankin, but has been kept open through the kindness of Dr. Struse of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The opportunity for Mission charity work among these people is unsurpassed anywhere. Many are very poor. The influence of their church has kept them ignorant and debauched them. Although the Government has instituted free schools all over the country, they affect the older generation little or none. Their two principle causes of disease, according to themselves, are anger and bathing. Many do the latter so infrequently that it probably gives a greater shock to their system than they can stand.

As to the work of the hospital, it is greatly handicapped by lack of funds and equipment. Almost daily patients are turned away, chiefly operative cases, because we have not the funds to care for them.

QUEZALTENANGO STATION

Mr. Burgess writes:

During the past year I have been constantly in charge of the work in the Quezaltenango field, except for the few days I was absent to attend the Annual Mission Meeting in Guatemala City. My activities may be briefly summed up by saying that I have preached 270 times during the year, and taught more or less 150 hours of classes of one sort or another. Of the sermons preached, 112 were in the Central Church in Quezaltenango and the rest in the towns round about. Four different languages have been used in preaching—Spanish, Cakchikel, German and English. German services are held monthly. During the past year we have received 89 into Church membership on profession of faith. The number of communicant members in the Quezaltenango field is now 426. There has been a notable advance in the gifts of the native Church under the envelope system, which is now in its third year. At the present writing there is only about 1% of the money pledged for the work of the church as yet not paid in. The total of contributions on the field has been $13,509.00 native currency. This has enabled us to continue slowly the enlargement of the church which is made necessary by the increasing number of attendants upon the preaching services and the Sunday School to go forward with the construction of the chapel in Sija, to pay for the light and upkeep of the chapel and for the salary of Pedro Poz, the Indian pastor.

The work has advanced to a point now where an additional missionary and family are indispensable to the harmonious development of the work in this field. The actual number of services held under my direction during the past year has been between 1,300 and 1,400, and as yet the whole Indian population is almost untouched. If another missionary family would come, one missionary could devote himself to the Indians entirely. They are the key to the situation in this field and should be neglected no longer.

VENEZUELA MISSION

CARACAS: capital of Venezuela; situated at an elevation of 3,500 feet above the sea level; about ten degrees north latitude; 23 miles by rail from the sea; occupied tentatively 1897, as a station, 1912. Missionaries—Rev. T. S. Pond, D.D., and Mrs. Pond, Rev. F. F. Darley and Mrs. Darley, Rev. Merlyn A. Chappel and Mrs. Chappel.

HISTORY.—Early in 1897, Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Pond were transferred from Colombia to open a tentative work in Caracas. The field was unoccupied by any mission, though evangelical services were held by the agent of the American Bible Society, while for two months Sr. Ferrando, formerly a Capuchin monk, had had Bible classes in his own house. The scattered members of a disbanded church organization, once under the care of the Methodist Church (South), warmly welcomed the new missionaries. In the midst of unfortunate, moral and intellectual conditions, which can hardly be exaggerated, a church was organized in 1900. A Sunday School and a day school were also organized, the latter having become the "Colegio Americano," or High School for Girls and Young Women. In the lower department are found young boys as well as girls. An industrial class for the women and the sale of laces and embroideries has helped many to keep their families from starvation.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

CARACAS STATION

EQUIPMENT.—Colegio Americano; one Church; one Group; one Day School.

The attendance on the Public Services, while fluctuating, has held a higher than usual average. The attention has been quite serious and the audiences have lately increased in number. This is, also, the case at the Eastside Chapel, although, there, poverty often interferes with attendance. We are glad to note a marked advance in the Gift of Giving, also the practice of tithing and otherwise systematizing the weekly contribution. The natural advance in spiritual gifts, due to this sacrifice (very real) for the Lord's work, is in evidence. The ordination of two Deacons was the occasion of gladness and hope for both Mission and Church, whose increasing membership has called for the formal setting apart of these co-laborers, approved of the brethren.

The visit of Mr. and Mrs. Pond to the Congress on Christian Work in Latin America was for the delegates personally a spiritual uplift and an epoch-making event for the proper presentation of the actual need for Christian work and workers in this part of the Papal Continent.

The Regional Conference at Barranquilla, Columbia, was inspiring and highly practical and progressive in aim and method. A specially grateful outcome was the visit of Rev. Charles Miller, D. D. to Venezuela as the delegate who could report to the Board on the state and needs of the Mission.

Girls' School.—The Colegio Americano has had a satisfactory year. The opportunity for the broader education of girls is growing; as our staff increases and our work develops we plan to make the institution an ever expanding power for good, radiating long and strong lines of influence from this capital city.

SYRIA MISSION

HISTORY—(For date of the opening of each Station, see above list.) Pliny Fisk and Levi Parsons went as missionaries to Palestine, sent out by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, which organization had support from a considerable proportion of American Presbyterians of the New School body until 1870, when the reunion of Old School and New School branches took place. In the readjustment, the Mission of Syria was transferred to the Presbyterian Board. Jerusalem was selected as the first station, but was soon abandoned for Beirut. The first missionaries in Syria, Rev. William Bird and Rev. William Goodell, landed at Beirut on October 16, 1823. Opposition was soon aroused by their circulation of the Scriptures and other books. The country was very unsettled, the missionaries returning in 1828 to Malta. In 1830 Mr. and Mrs. Bird returned to Beirut and resumed work. The land has been frequently disturbed by political commotions, which have had their effect upon the missionary work. A very serious drawback has been the constant emigration of the most enterprising young men and women. The first printing in connection with the mission was done at Malta, where the American Board had an establishment as early as 1826. In 1834 the Arabic portion was transferred to Beirut, where it has remained in active operation. Weekly and monthly journals, Sunday School lessons, text-books and educational books of all grades, leaflets, hymn books and the Bible, have been issued for the Arabic-speaking world. Schools were begun in Beirut in 1824, the missionaries receiving girls as well as boys. The American School for Girls was established in Beirut in 1861. In 1866 the Syrian Protestant College was opened with a class of 14. While independent of the Board of Foreign Missions the College has always maintained a close connection with it. In 1908 Dr. Mary P. Eddy opened the first sanitarium in the Ottoman Empire for the treatment of tuberculosis. In 1844 the secession of a considerable body of members of the Greek Church resulted in the establishment of a Protestant group at Hasbeiya, at the foot of Mount Hermon. Persecution followed, but in 1851 a church was organized. Medical work began at Tripoli in 1863. The Tripoli Girls' School is the outgrowth of a school established in 1873. The Boys' School at Tripoli and Suk ul Gharb have had a prosperous history. Government interference has sometimes hindered the work at Sidon, closing schools and churches and depriving Protestants of their legal rights. Gerard Institute, formerly Sidon Academy, has filled a useful place; in 1895 an industrial department was added; there is an orphanage maintained in connection. Sidon Seminary (for girls) was founded in 1863, with a view to training teachers.

NOTE.—The present missionary situation in each field is summarized in the General Introduction. A statistical Summary by Stations appears at the end of the Report of each Mission.

No report has been received this year from Syria. See resume in Introduction, pages 45-48.

GENERAL SUMMARY—MISSIONS OF THE BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE U. S. A., APRIL 1, 1947

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

OF THE

BOARD OF FOREIGN MISSIONS OF THE

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Board of Foreign Missions disbursed for the work committed to it by the Church for the year 1916-17 the sum of $2,525,369.03.

Its receipts to take care of this disbursement fell short of its obligations by $61,111.33. There is a deficit in the year's accounts, therefore, represented by this amount, the capital account of the Board being impaired to this extent. This capital account is represented chiefly by the Presbyterian Building at 156 Fifth Avenue and by approximately $200,000.00 reserve and banking funds.

The exigencies of the war and the consequent high price of silver throughout the world have entailed large additional and unforeseen expenditures, the Board having been obliged to add $106,000.00 to its obligations for the year in order to take care of the increased cost of exchange in China and Persia. It will be seen that even adding this amount to the appropriation for the year, as the Board was compelled to do, the deficit on the entire year's account is only $61,000.00 so that had the Board been able to avoid the war emergency items there would actually have been a surplus of some $45,000.00.

However, these additional emergency expenditures must be taken care of currently and not allowed to pile up and embarrass the Board in the future and consequently the deficit of $61,000.00 for the year must be faced now. A deficit carried over from previous years amounting to $35,000.00 brings the present deficit to approximately $96,000.00. This deficit ought to be, and can easily be wiped out during the coming fiscal year if the church determines to do it. With a continuance of the high cost of exchange in silver countries and other war emergency items the Board will be called upon for some $200,000.00 additional to its normal appropriations and with this deficit will require an increase in gifts from regular sources of between 20 and 25 per cent.

The total cost of the work for the year just closed compared with that of the previous year is as follows:

Total Appropriations 1916-17.....	$2,525,369.03
Total Appropriations 1915-16.....	2,255,918.29

---

Increase over last year in expenditures.. $ 269,450.74

This is the largest appropriation for any one year in the history of the Board covering a period of eighty years.

The total receipts and credits from all sources as compared with last year are as follows:

Total Receipts for year 1916-17.....	$2,464,257.70
Total Receipts for year 1915-16.....	2,287,398.81

Increase in receipts for 1916-17..... $ 176,858.89

There are three main divisions to be observed in the Appropriation Account. There is the annual budget represented by what are called the Original Appropriations made by the Board at the beginning of the fiscal year to take care of the established work and keep it going. Secondly, there are what are called Added Appropriations representing emergency items for which the Board is bound to provide to meet the sudden calls and cases of exigency which are sure to arise in the conduct of a great and complicated work. Thirdly, there are what are called Special Appropriations, which are made by the Board only on receipt of funds designated for certain objects, the moneys received for these objects not being applicable to the regular appropriations or to take care of the going work. The following table shows the amounts represented in these three phases of appropriations for the year 1916-17:

Original Appropriations .....	$1,828,323.24
Added Appropriations .....	170,281.33
Special Appropriations.....	526,764.46

Total ..... $2,525,369.03

The keenest interest, of course, centers around the Original Appropriations, representing the original budget for the year to take care of the normal and established work, and the receipts representing contributions toward that work. An examination of the increases or decreases in gifts from the regular sources, therefore, will reveal the measure of responsibility which these sources of revenue for the work feel toward the primary obligation of the Church in foreign lands.

A table of receipts from these established sources toward the Board's regular budget for the year 1916-1917 compared with the year 1915-16 follows:

Statement of Receipts applicable to the Board's Regular Budget for the year 1916-17

	Churches	Sabbath Schools	Legacies	Individuals, etc.	Women's Boards		Total
					Women's Societies Individual Gifts, Legacies, Etc.	Y. P. S. C. E. and other Y. P. Organizations
1917 .....	$807,451.71	$86,676.46	$145,401.38	$138,452.17	$426,978.11	$66,226.08	$1,671,185.91
1916 .. . . .	802,874.78	80,150.32	139,749.40	140,296.34	413,086.49	63,619.80	1,639,777.13
Increase .....	4,576.93	6,526.14	5,651.98	.....	13,891.62	2,606.28	31,409.78
Decrease .....	.....	.....	.....	1,844.17	.....	.....	.....

It will be seen that offerings from the Churches increased less than $5,000.00, or slightly more than one-half of one per cent. over the preceding year.

Offerings from Sunday Schools increased $6,500.00, or approximately eight per cent over the preceding year, a very substantial increase.

Receipts from Legacies in accordance with the policy adopted some years ago, which was approved by the General Assembly, are divided, the sum of $125,000.00, if received undesignated, being applied toward the regular budget and the balance added to the Educational Endowment Fund, the income from this Fund providing for the cost of higher education conducted by the Missions. In addition to this $125,000.00 there are certain sums each year received from Legacies definitely designated to be applied outside the regular budget, and these this year have added approximately $20,000.00, making the total amount from Legacies to be applied toward the budget $145,400.00. Last year the total was $139,700.00, showing an increase on this account for the year just closed of $5,651.00. The receipts from Legacies in excess of the amounts above described which were added to the Educational Endowment Fund were $67,938.13, the total amount received by the Board during the year from Legacies being $225,829.31.

The Educational Endowment Fund, which is thus strengthened each year from the Legacy Account and occasionally by other gifts, now stands at $1,379,794.71. The Board in establishing this Fund planned that it should reach a total of $5,000,000. and will gladly receive special gifts toward it from those who are interested in developing an educated leadership for the native Churches in the Mission fields.

Contributions from Individuals and Miscellaneous sources toward the Budget have fallen off for the year just closed as compared with the preceding year by about $1,800.00, although there is a substantial offset to this decrease in the increase of special gifts from these sources as will be seen later.

Amounts received from the six Women's Boards show an increase over the previous year of $13,891.62 for the regular budget, a very gratifying showing in view of the substantial increase from these sources in the matter of special gifts to take care of special work on the field. The accounts of the Treasurers of the various Women's Boards will not exactly agree with the figures of the Asessembly's Board inasmuch as the Women's Boards make some necessary deductions from their receipts and because the Assembly's Board is not always able to appropriate amounts received from Women's Boards within the period reported. The Women's Boards, therefore, may report amounts sent to the Assembly's Board Treasurer which the latter is not yet able to enter in his report of receipts.

The Young People's Societies have increased their gifts for the year over the preceding year $2,600.00.

It will be seen that the total increase for the year for the regular budget from these sources over the preceding year amounts to $31,400.00 approximately.

For additional information and as a matter of interest in making comparisons, we give below a table showing the percentage of increase in receipts applicable to the Board's regular budget from all the regular sources, the receipts for four separate years being compared in each case with the year 1917.

Average Annual Increase in Receipts Applicable to the Board's Regular Budget.

		1917	Average Annual Per cent of Increase
1913	$1,375,521 00	$1,671,185 00	.052
1914	1,340,398 00	1,671,185 00	.081
1915	1,618,457 00	1,671,185 00	.015
1916	1,639,777 00	1,671,185 00	.016

A special effort was made in 1914 to reduce the deficit which stood at approximately $200,000.00 in that year, considerable sums having been received as a result. This is made apparent in the increase of approximately eight per cent in gifts that year as seen above.

A table of special gifts appropriated for special and additional work and for additional property on the field for the year just closed compared with the preceding year follows:

Statement of Special Gifts Covered by Special Appropriations for the year 1916-17

	Churches	Sabath Schools	Legacies	Individuals, etc.	Women's Boards		Total
					Women's Societies Individual Gifts, Legacies, Etc.	Y. P. S. C. E. and other Y. P. Organizations
1917 .....	$108,140.07	$4,507.38	$12,489.80	$297,535.19	$104,092.02	.....	$526,764.46
1916 .. . . .	66,885.21	2,731.91	192.81	234,056.12	82,338.24	$14.00	386,218.29
Increase .....	41,254.86	1,775.47	12,296.99	63,479.07	21,753.78	.....	140,546.17
Decrease .. . . .	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	14.00	.....

It is encouraging to see an increase from almost every one of these sources, the Individual and Miscellaneous column showing the large gains over the preceding year of $63,400.00. Receipts from Churches increased on this account over $41,000.00. The total increase over the preceding year of special gifts requiring special appropriations amounted to $140,500.00.

The actual amount received in special gifts from these sources, as will be seen above, for the year 1916-17 was over a half million dollars. It is very heartening to have the Churches and the other regular sources of gifts take a keen interest in the special property needs and other special items representing for the most part advances in the work abroad, and especially has it been encouraging to note the response in gifts made to the Special Campaign conducted during the past year for extension in Latin America, Siam and two or three other fields, a part of which is represented in the increase in special gifts and appropriations just referred to. It must be constantly kept in mind, however, that the most important work under the Board, the primary work, the work which must be supported, and which the Missions have voted is the first obligation to be met, is represented in the regular budget of the Board and by the appropriations granted to the Missions at the beginning of the year. So while we would hope that there might be no diminution in these special gifts, which represent for the most part new and enlarged giving, we must emphasize the necessity for maintaining the receipts for the general work of the Board which is, of course, represented by the regular budget; and not only must these receipts be maintained, but they must be increased each year with the increase of the missionary force, the extension of the regular work under the care of the Missions and the additional cost of transportation and supplies.

Adding the receipts from the regular sources given for the regular work to those designated for special objects and for advance work, we give below a table of total receipts for the year as compared with the preceding year as follows:

Statement of Total Receipts for the Year 1916-1917.

	Churches	Sabbath Schools	Legacies	Individuals, etc.	Women's Boards		Total
					Women's Societies Individual Gifts, Legacies, Etc.	Y. P. S. C. E. and other Y. P. Organizations
1917 .....	$915,591.78	$91,183.84	$157,891.18	$435,987.36	$531,070.13	$66,226.08	$2,197,950.37
1916 .....	869,759.99	82,882.23	139,942.21	374,352.46	495,424.73	63,633.80	2,025,995.42
Increase .....	45,831.79	8,301.61	17,948.97	61,634.90	35,645.40	2,592.28	171,954.95

It will be seen from the above that the total receipts from these sources for all objects under the Board, including special items, increased over the preceding year by $171,954.95.

In accordance with the policy of the Board affecting the Evangelistic Expansion Fund, established out of the Legacy from Mr. John S. Kennedy, the sum of $75,000.00 has been taken from that Fund and added to the receipts of the year. There is now left in this Fund to be expended in current work, in amounts to be decided by the Board, from year to year, the sum of $308,537.17.

In addition to the above described receipts there is a net amount to be credited into the year's account from income from securities, etc., of approximately $127,000.00.

TOTAL RECEIPTS.

From Exchange Account, Field Savings, Field Receipts, etc., there is a further credit of approximately $63,000.00. Adding all these additions and credits, to the amounts received from the regular sources of the Church we have a total amount under receipts of $2,464,257.70.

It will be interesting to note a comparison of total receipts and credits for the ten year period just past and a comparison of each of three years last past, with 1917. Such a table with the percentage of increase for the periods named follows:

COMPARISON OF TOTAL RECEIPTS AND CREDITS.

		1917	Percentage of Annual Increase
1907 . . . . .	$1,268,057 00	$2,464,257 70	.094
1914 . . . . .	2,171,260 00	2,464,257 70	.04
1915 . . . . .	2,286,819 00	2,464,257 70	.0385
1916 . . . . .	2,287,398 00	2,464,257 70	.077

This table shows nearly ninety per cent. increase for the decade and nearly eight per cent. as between the last two years.

Some additional explanation following the summaries briefly described above will be in order.

WAR EMERGENCY ITEMS.

First, with regard to the additional obligations entailed on account of the war:

The Board in January 1917, when the rise in the cost of silver in China and Persia became acute, issued an appeal for $265,000.00 on account of war emergencies. The average cost of the Mexican dollar in China over a period of years has been 47 cents; today it is costing 61 cents, and it has been as high as 62 1-2 cents. 312,000 Mexican dollars were appropriated to the China Missions for the fiscal year 1916-17 for the evangelistic, educational and medical work. To buy this has cost the Board $24,000.00 more than was estimated. To give the 465 China missionaries amounts approximating the usual equivalent of their salaries, has cost the Board for the six months, October to April 1st, $29,000.00 more than was set aside for these salaries.

The Board credited into the Depreciation Account of the Presbyterian Building the sum of $6,481.97, representing the net profit from the Board's share of the receipts from the operation of the Building for the year. While this sum did not equal two per cent., or $11,195.26, of the Board's share of the cost of the building which has heretofore been annually set aside in the Depreciation Account, it was deemed wise not to add to the Board's deficit in order to build up the Depreciation Account, especially in view of the fact that it would cost far more today for structural replacement of the building than it did when it was erected in 1895.

There has been received from the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation during the year the sum of $71,085.02, representing amounts which have been expended in certain medical work in China under the Board's appropriations. This assistance and co-operation generously given under the approval of the Board and applied under direction of the Board on the field is most welcome.

The Special Campaign carried on during the year under the approval of the General Assembly in order to make possible some expansion and advance in the work in Latin America, including the Philippines, in Siam, in Persia, in India, in Japan and in China has yielded approximately $565,000 in cash and pledges. The cities of Pittsburg, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Baltimore were visited by the Campaign Teams of Officers and Assistant Secretaries of the Board and furloughed missionaries, and the response to their presentations while not yielding as large sums as might have been expected considering the magnitude and scope of the work and the urgency of the appeals, has been substantial. Smaller cities and towns have had one or more representatives also speak on behalf of the Advance Movement and a considerable Campaign has been conducted by mail. It is hoped that the Fund will attain a total of at least one million dollars by October 1st, 1917.

In all this work, as well as in connection with raising funds toward the Board's regular budget, the six Women's Boards have rendered untiring and effective service. It will be noted from one of the tables printed earlier in this report that these Women's Boards have collected from their Societies and have remitted to the Board's Treasury the sum of $530,695.13, or more than half of the total amount received from Churches and approximately one-fifth, or twenty per cent. of the total amount received by the Board from all sources, including the various credits. It is quite apparent what a tremendous source of strength these Boards are in the support of the work and it reveals in part the reason and desirability for the Women's Boards having a more intimate relationship to the Assembly's Board in the work of administration. This has been happily provided for during the past year.

BALANCES FOR MEXICO.

The Board is holding balances of Mexico appropriations unused during the past two years amounting to $63,920.67, which it is planned to use, in whole or in part, toward the rebuilding and rehabilitation of the Board's Stations in Mexico when the conditions there will permit. This money was allotted and appropriated for the work in Mexico, but owing to the disturbed conditions has not been expended.

SECURITIES.

The securities owned by the Board held to secure its various funds amount to $3,507,251.80.

RESERVE FUND.

The Board's Reserve Banking Fund stands at $207,142.86.

SPECIAL GIFT AGREEMENTS.

Special Gift Agreements entered into by the Board during the year with donors amount to $39,790.00 and Agreements which have lapsed during the same period amount to $1,578.51. The total of Special Gift Agreements now in force amount to $436,888.63.

ENDOWMENT FUNDS.

The Endowment Funds of the Board have increased during the year by $123,517.69, the total of Permanent Endowment Funds, the income from which is credited into the General Receipts and applied toward the regular work each year, standing at $1,888,649.72. The Special Endowment Funds stand at $879,430.57, the income from these Funds being used for certain specific work almost exclusively within the budget of the year.

ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES.

The total cost of administration in the Home Offices was $160,036.43, or six and one-half per cent. of the total receipts for the year.

However, it ought to be kept in mind that those items of cost in this account which represent purely and simply administrative expenses amounted only to $89,743.94 or 3.64 per cent. of total receipts.

Other disbursements listed under administrative cost, but covering promotional work among the Churches and including the printing of the Annual Report, which is a large item ordered by the General Assembly, amount to $70,292.49 or 2.86 per cent. of the total receipts.

In other words, the bare cost of administration aside from the work which the Board does among the Churches, requires only four cents out of every dollar to be deducted. However, if we consider the promotional expenses, the cost of literature which is distributed among the Churches and the travel of Secretaries in going to and fro among the Churches, as legitimately to be included in the administrative cost of the work, even then we are obliged to deduct only six and one-half cents from every dollar to cover all these costs, the balance of 93½ cents out of every dollar contributed being applied to work on the field.

REMITTANCES FOR SYRIA RELIEF.

Syrians and others have continued their very large remittances to the Board to be transmitted to the needy ones in Syria for their relief, although during the latter months of the fiscal year, that is, for January, February and March, remittances were not in such large amounts owing to the fact that it has been impossible to transmit and apply the funds to and for the sufferers. The total amount remitted by these people located in the United States, in South America, and from as far away as Egypt has been $1,950,886.96. The Board has allowed interest on the balances of Syria funds in the hands of the Board for the year at the rate of two and one-half per cent., or $12,500.00.

The Board has been able to transfer other relief funds to the near east from the various Relief Committees.

We suggest a perusal of the detailed schedules which follow on the succeeding pages of this report and we believe that the comparisons made will be of some interest to the friends of the work.

The audit of the Board's accounts for the year has been made by the firm of Patterson, Teele & Dennis of New York, and a copy of their Certificate will be found on a following page.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. E. STIGER, ESQ., Chairman Finance Committee, Board of Foreign Missions, New York.

SIR:—

We have examined the accounts and vouchers of the Treasurer of your Board for the year ending March 31, 1917.

The cash and securities have been verified, either by actual count or evidence of deposit, and found in accord with the book records.

We have verified the total receipts for the year, as shown by the carbon copies of receipts, and have ascertained that all moneys so shown have been properly accounted for.

The statements of disbursements by Field Treasurers for the fiscal year just closed—and in some cases the fiscal years ended March 31, 1915, and March 31, 1916—have not been received in New York at this date, consequently the mission balances and some other accounts shown by the Balance Sheet are subject to change, according as expenditures have been more or less than the appropriations for the past year, and the deficit will also be changed accordingly.

We have verified the Balance Sheet herewith with the books and accounts, and, subject to the foregoing statement, the Balance Sheet, in our opinion, presents the correct financial condition of the Board.

Respectfully submitted,

PATTERSON, TEELE & DENNIS,
Accountants and Auditors.

NOTE.—The grand total received from Women's Boards for the year, including Young People's Societies, was $597,246.21.

"Income," since the year 1907, has included profits from operating Presbyterian Building and 5 West 20th St. Property, and beginning with 1915, is decreased by the amount paid as interest on Special Endowment funds and on Special Gift Agreements.

The unusual increase in Legacies in 1912 was due to $331,637.77 received from the John S. Kennedy Fund and appropriated that year for buildings and new property.

Previous to 1909 certain credits arising from adjustments and included in Schedule 7 were not considered as belonging in this schedule; but since that date the totals of the two schedules have been made identical.
